ABOUT THE LIBRARIES

L.S.O. Softball Game and Picnic

Featuring the M.I. King Kongs vs. the Special Collections Super Gnomes. Loosen up your muscles and sharpen up your appetites.

Warm-up practice begins at 2:30. The softball game takes off at 3:30. Picnic at 5:15.

Spectators who get tired and sore from watching all that practice are warned to bring their own liniment. But please! Don't put it on the table instead of the food you're bringing.

Fill out the form being circulated to tell what you are bringing, and sign up for a T-shirt.

Reimbursement of Meal Expenses

The University will no longer reimburse meals charged on credit cards by the credit card receipt. The only acceptable documentation is a printed receipt from the restaurant. (This does not apply to people receiving the state allowance which goes with a printed hotel receipt.)

Reserve Readings

Everytime you see a faculty member or a TA, remind him to submit reserve lists early. A second notice has been mailed to the faculty. Larry Greenwood and Gary Stottlemeyer will be grateful. Also, Government Publications needs information on documents to be put on reserve.

"It and "Them" Get in Shape

Anyone interested in getting in shape for the upcoming big move, should contact Bill Bull, Bob Turner, or Kaye Harmon in the Circulation department. Conditioning facilities cover a large area in the main library and range from old classics to the most up-to-date. Arrangements should be made in advance for your free "shape-up-for-the-move" program.

ABOUT THE LIBRARIANS

Toni Powell

Toni Powell's bibliography, Literature Searching in the Agricultural Sciences, Lexington, Kentucky, University of Kentucky Agriculture Library (n.d.) 27 p. (mimeo) lists and annotates, by broad subjects, indexes and abstracts in the various areas suggested.

At Conference

So many have been, and gone, and done that we cannot keep up with them. Spring meetings of all kinds of library organizations have seen staff members serving as presiding officers, as discussants or presenters on programs.

ASK SIGGY

You can. At the University of Louisville. Career guidance by computer can give the nuts and bolts data on occupations, and some facts about the Searcher, but it will not tell what occupation is best.

From elementary school age through college and beyond, it can be a help in matching life styles to abilities. Read all about "Career Guidance by Computer" in Mosaie, v.10, no.1, Jan/Feb. 1979. (A publication of the National Science Foundation)

COPING WITH STRESS

The workshop of the Multidisciplinary Center of Gerontology of the University of Kentucky will be of interest to a wide variety of those who provide services to older people. It should also be of concern to librarians, who help make available to those workers the information upon which they base their theory and their practice.

The Actors Theater of Louisville, through their Aging Awareness Task Force will begin the activities with "At Last". The month of May has been declared Older Americans Month, 1979 by President Carter and this workshop is a fitting way to celebrate. For further information, see Mr. Willis.

LIBRARIANS AND PUBLISHING

University Extension is offering a short course (May 14-June 18 Mondays 7-9:30pm) entitled Writing for Publication; the cost is $35.00. For further information, see Faith Harders or contact University Extension.

Call for Papers & Essays

The University of Southern Mississippi is making a "Call for Papers and Essays" for the 29th Mountain Interstate Foreign Language Conference to be held October 18-20 at West Virginia State College. A statement of intentions, etc. is requested by May 10. For further information, see Mr. Willis.

Texas University Fellowships

The Graduate School of Library Science of Texas University will award several master's level fellowships for students from ethnic minority groups or economically deprived families. For further information, see Mr. Willis.
