Rolling Along With The Blue Machine

BIG BLUE MACHINE, By Russell Rice, Strode Publishers, $9.95

A Review by Rick Bailey

Once upon a time, Gene Stewart remembered, Kentucky was leading Mississippi 25-5 after a few minutes. Even then, the game was already decided when the Rebels called a time out.

As his players gathered around him, Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp had to say something. He "could only scowl," Stewart recalled, "and stated, '... This ain't gonna beat anybody!' Everyone laughed.

"In seeking total perfection, I believe he (Rupp) felt that everyone is always capable of giving a little more or doing a little better. His tongue-lashings and criticism made players achieve more than they actually wanted to."

Gene Stewart, a reserve at Kentucky a decade ago, made these comments to Russell Rice, UK's sports information director and author of "Kentucky Basketball's Big Blue Machine," a volume covering the Wildcats' illustrious hardwood history.

This is Rice's second endeavor to chronicle UK's athletic past as part of Strode's college sports series. A year ago, he published "The Wildcats," a book about Kentucky football.

Volumes like this are often superficial accounts of the past burdened beyond belief by statistics and boring details.

Rice does much better than that. An experienced journalist with a lively writing style, he has put together a readable, entertaining history to interest the most fanatical of Kentucky fans and other followers of the sport.

Rather than just fill pages with meaningless stats and trivia, Rice has chosen other approaches to broaden and enliven his subject.

Life with the Big Blue is seen through the eyes of former players such as Stewart. Rice calls this technique "echoes." He also takes "time out" for special chapters on such Wildcat heroes as Issel, Hagan, Grevey, Cox, etc.

Everything is chronicled in "Big Blue Machine" from the beginning through the years after World War II to the present. It includes the "Fabulous Five," the point-shaving scandal and suspension, the Fiddlin' Five, "Rupp's Runts" and a new era with a new coach.

Some highlights:

✓ The origin of the "Fabulous Five."

"Patton's Third Army freed Cliff Barker from a German prisoner-of-war camp; a national ruling allowed Wallace Jones and Ralph Beard to play four straight years together; the Army nurtured and developed Alex Groza into one of the finest pivotmen ever to wear the Kentucky colors; the Navy matured Kenny Rollins into a fine floor leader."

✓ The prediction of Phog Allen, Rupp's coach at Kansas, speaking in Lexington in 1948.

Allen, Rice writes, said gamblers throughout the country were seeking to control the outcome of football and basketball games, and that colleges and athletic conferences were not doing one thing to protect their athletes from the criminal element.

✓ The prediction of Adolph Rupp.

"The gamblers couldn't get to our boys with a ten-foot pole."

The gamblers, of course, had already gotten to some of Kentucky's best players. The resulting scandal would threaten Rupp's barony in the Blue Grass. In fact, the Southeastern Conference suspended UK for one league year. And the NCAA asked schools not to play the Cats during the 1952-53 season.

But Rupp survived. Five years later he won his fourth NCAA championship with the "Fiddlin' Five." Kentucky has not won since despite two appearances in the title game.

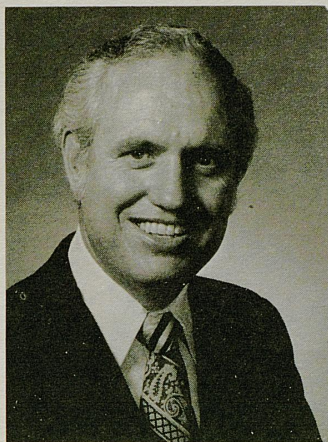

✓ Cotton Nash's arrival at UK. And the arrival of something else.

Author Rice quotes Rupp about the defense UK used one night to defeat Tennessee: "It was a transitional and shifting man-to-man backed by a hyperbolic paraboloid between the ball and the basket." In other words, the zone defense came to Kentucky.

✓ The latter years of Rupp's coaching career. Rice writes that assistant Joe Hall, failing to receive assurance he would succeed the Baron, left for St. Louis. A week later, he was back in Lexington. Three years later, but not without acrimony as Rupp fought mandatory retirement, Hall was Kentucky's coach.

It's all here in "Big Blue Machine." He is thorough and interesting in his travels through the years of Wildcat basketball including Hall's NIT championship team. The journey is a worthwhile for basketball fans in general and Kentucky fans in particular.

Rick Bailey is a columnist-staff writer in The Herald-Leader sports department.

UK Administration

JULIAN MORTON CARROLL became Kentucky's 58th governor on Dec. 28, 1974, succeeding Wendell H. Ford, who was elected to the U.S. Senate. Carroll was elected to a full four-year term as governor in November 1975 and was inaugurated in December of that year. Born in McCracken County in 1931, Carroll attended Paducah Junior College after graduating from Heath High School. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1954 and received his law degree from UK in 1956. Before becoming governor, Carroll served three years as lieutenant governor and ten years as a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives, the last four as Speaker of the House. He is an active member of the Optimist Club and a former Jaycee. He attained the highest office in Kentucky for laymen of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in 1966-67 when he was named moderator of the Kentucky Synod. The Governor and his wife, Charlann, have four children.

PRESIDENT OTIS A. SINGLETARY came to Lexington in August, 1969, from the University of Texas, Austin, where he was executive vice chancellor for academic affairs. Dr. Singletary, who is eighth president of the University, served a total of eight years at Texas, progressing during seven (1954-61) of those years from instructor to professor, associate dean of Arts and Sciences and assistant to the president. Then for five years (1961-66), he was chancellor of the University of North Carolina, although he was on leave from October 1964 to January 1966 to serve as director of the Job Corps, Office of Economic Opportunity.

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN became assistant director of athletics at UK June 1, 1972, and succeeded Harry C. Lancaster as AD July 1, 1975. A two-time consensus All-America, he led the Wildcats to 86 wins in 91 games and the 1951 NCAA championship and was co-captain of the undefeated 1954 team. He scored a then-record 41 points in leading Owensboro over Lafayette in the championship game of the 1949 State Tournament. He was a five-time All-Pro with the St. Louis Hawks.

JOE B. HALL

Kentucky Head Coach

Now in his fifth year as head coach of the Wildcats, Joe B. Hall stands tall as keeper of a tradition that began three-quarters of a century ago and has put the Wildcats at the head of the collegiate basketball field in number of games won.

Although he garnered no nationally ranked personal coaching honors last year, it was generally agreed that Hall did perhaps his best coaching job, guiding one of the youngest Wildcat teams in history to the National Invitation Tournament championship.

During his previous three years as Wildcat coach, Hall had received such honors as two-time SEC and two-time Coach & Athlete "Coach of the Year" awards; nominee for Kodak's 1975 "Coach of the Year" award; coach of three consecutive UKIT champions; coach of SEC champion and co-championship teams, and coach of the 1973 Mid-East Finalists and the 1975 NCAA championship finalists Wildcats.

He started last season without four senior starters—Jimmy Conner, Kevin Grevey, Bob Guyette and Mike Flynn—who had led the Wildcats to the National finals. In fact, the only returning starter was Rick Robey, a 6-foot-10 sophomore center who scored over 10 points a game. Robey, who was to be shifted to forward, suffered a knee injury and missed 18 games. The other starters were a senior who played only 51 minutes in 14 games the preceding year, a junior, and either two sophomores and a freshman, or three sophomores.

As inexperience, a tough schedule, Robey's injury and lack of depth took their toll, the Wildcats dropped to 10-10 in late February. Out of the SEC race, they rallied to win all their remaining games, including a victory over conference champion Alabama on national television, before sweeping the NIT.

The secret of the 1976 Wildcats was a teamwork that included every player on the bench. Throughout the stretch run, Hall kept calling on different players in key situations and each responded accordingly. This was true especially in the final regular season game, played in Memorial Coliseum, where subs rallied the Wildcats in a come-from-behind overtime victory over Mississippi State that allowed them to bow out of the Memorial Coliseum era with a victory.

And throughout the NIT, different players kept stepping to the forefront to take up the slack for the Wildcats, who were in an unaccustomed underdog role. That squad was the epitome of a Hall-coached team: a hustling, rugged defensive, driving offensive unit that refused to buckle under pressure.

With only Warford gone from that team and with Robey hopefully recovered from his injuries, Hall faces the ensuing season with a little more ammunition than he had a year ago; however, the schedule is difficult and the challenge in the conference is greater than ever.

Such challenges are second nature to a person who stepped into the shoes of the nation's winningest basketball coach (Adolph Rupp) and has kept the Wildcats in the limelight ever since.

Entering this season, Hall's 10-year record stood at 155-92, excluding a 17-2 record on a 1974 tour of Australia, and that record was compiled against nationally ranked non-conference teams and teams in a conference that fast is becoming recognized among the toughest in the nation. Broken down, it shows a 57-50 five-year mark at Regis, a 19-6 record at Central Missouri, and a 79-36 four-year record at Kentucky.

Hall began his tour as UK head coach in rather auspicious fashion, becoming in 1973 the first rookie coach in the SEC to be designated Coach of the Year by his fellow coaches and by Coach and Athlete Magazine.

Gathering such honors has been one of Hall's trademarks during a coaching career that began at Shepherdsville (Ky.) High School in 1956 and continued through Regis College and Central Missouri State College before he returned to UK July 1, 1965, as an assistant to his former coach, Adolph Rupp.

During Hall's two years at Shepherdsville, the Cougars won a Mid-Kentucky Conference title and he was named "Coach of the Year" in 1958. He then served one year as a freshman coach and five years as head basketball coach at Regis College in Denver, Colo., where he was also athletic director and earned special recognition as coach of the champion independent team in the area.

While in Denver, he also coached the Capital Federal host team in the 1964 AAU tournament and was selected as head coach of the AAU Stripes in the Olympic trials at Jamaica, N. Y.

His next move was to Central Missouri, where he coached the Mules (19-6) to their first MIAA Conference championship since 1951 and their first Christmas Tournament title in history. He was named MIAA "Coach of the Year" (1964-65).

A three-letter winner and team captain in both sports in high school at Cynthiana, Ky., he played freshman basketball and one year of varsity basketball in the "Fabulous Five" era at the University before transferring to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he set a school single game scoring record and was team captain. Coach Lon Varnell, upon retirement, rated Hall as No. 1 of the three best players he ever coached.

After touring Europe with the Globetrotters in 1951, Hall returned to U.K. in 1955 to complete requirements for his B.A. and later (1964) received his M.A. at Colorado State University.

Returning to U.K. again in 1965 as assistant coach and head recruiter, he was instrumental in adopting a running-conditioning program which obviously paid huge dividends as the Wildcats capitalized on speed and endurance to offset a lack of size and advance to the championship game of the NCAA Finals. Hall then successfully recruited six prep All-Americans, including all-time U.K. scoring leader Dan Issel, to form the nucleus of a varsity team that won three straight conference championships and was followed by a team that won three more consecutive SEC titles.

Hall became No. 1 varsity assistant and head freshman Coach to Rupp after Harry C. Lancaster was named permanent athletic director Feb. 1, 1969. His record with the freshmen was 60-15, including an undefeated (22-0) season (1971-72) which resulted in the Kittens being crowned National Freshman Champions by the Basketball News.

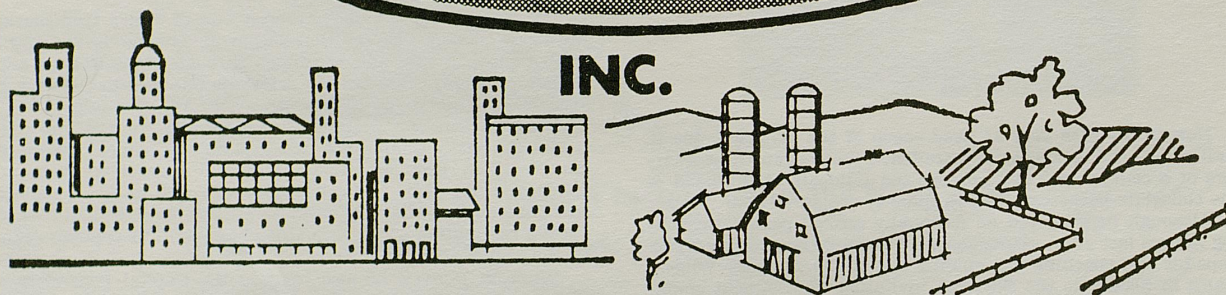

During his first season as head coach, the Wildcats won their last nine conference games to sew up the SEC title.

He is married to the former Katharine Dennis of Harrison County, Ky. They have three children—Mrs. Rick Derrickson of Lexington; Kathy, 20, and Steve, 15.

WILDCAT COACHING ASSISTANTS

PARSONS

LONG

DICK PARSONS, Assistant Coach

Entering his fifth year as Joe Hall's top assistant is Dick Parsons, a native Kentuckian who gained academic and athletic distinction at both the University and Harlan High School.

An organizer who goes about his duties with a flair for efficient productivity, Parsons is in charge of the pre-season conditioning program as well as handling scouting assignments and purchasing equipment.

Parsons returned to the University in 1969 as head baseball coach and before giving up that position to join basketball on a full time basis, molded a team (1971) which established or tied 15 school records.

He first came to UK in 1958 after an outstanding career as a four-sports star at Harlan where he had a three-year basketball scoring total of 1,276 points.

A consistent player who made few mistakes at UK, Parsons was known as a fine outside shooter and for his aggressive defense during three years as a starting guard. He scored a career high 21 points against Mississippi as a sophomore.

He holds the distinction of captaining two varsity sports at UK—basketball and baseball.

He was a two-time (1960, '61) recipient of the coveted A. B. Chandler award, given annually for the player best exemplifying the qualities of leadership, scholarship, character and ability. Only four other Wildcats have twice been so honored since the award was originated in 1951.

Holding more Wildcat baseball records than any other player, he was an All-Conference shortstop in 1959 and 1961, All-NCAA District 1960, '61, and All-American '61. He hit .400 his senior year.

He was an assistant football coach at Glasgow High School two years and baseball and basketball coach at Boyle County High from 1963 to 1968.

While working on his Master's Degree at the University in 1968-69, he scouted, recruited and helped with the Wildcat freshmen, later accepting a part-time assistantship in basketball in addition to his baseball job.

He is married to the former Celia Cawood of Harlan. They have a daughter, Kathy, 10, and a son, Ed, 13.

LEONARD HAMILTON, Assistant Coach

An energetic young coach on the move is Leonard Hamilton, who begins his third year at the University after a three-year tenure at Austin Peay State University.

A defensive coaching specialist who can demonstrate on the court as well as illustrate on the blackboard, Hamilton has had a positive impact on Wildcat defensive philosophy.

A native of Gastonia, N.C. he lettered three-years in football and twice in basketball as a prepster. He was basketball team captain two years at Gaston Community College in Dallas, N.C. where he scored 54 points in one game, set a record for most field goals in a season, and was All-Region and All-Tournament.

He graduated from University of Tennessee-Martin in 1970, where he was team captain, led in assists and steals, most valuable defensive player, and All-Conference and All-Tournament. He was elected "Mr. Volunteer" by the student body and played in the Kentucky-Tennessee All-Star game.

At Austin Peay, he coached the freshman team, scouted and recruited. During his three years there, the Governors went from last place to first in the OVC, appeared in two NCAA tournaments and were nationally ranked in scoring.

He is married to the former Claudette Hale. They have a son, Lenny, 6.

JIM LONG, Assistant Coach

A native of Detroit, Mich., Jim Long joined the UK staff last year as junior varsity coach and scout on a part-time basis.

A 1965 graduate of Notre Dame High School in Harper Woods, Mich., he won two letters in basketball and three in tennis.

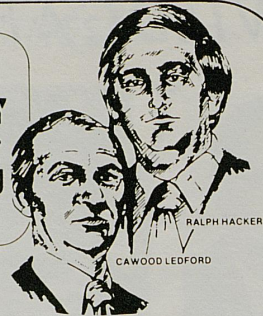

He completed requirements for a B.S. degree in Foreign Language (German) and a teaching certificate from the University of Michigan in 1970.

After a three year teaching stint at Grand Haven, where he was head junior high and assistant varsity coach, he returned to Michigan to earn a Master's degree in Secondary Education in 1974. While working on his Masters degree, he was junior varsity coach at Saline High School.

A veteran organizer of summer basketball camps, Long worked three years at Michigan's camp and twice at Kentucky's, serving last summer as UK's camp director.

In addition to his coaching duties, Long will lend his talents to recruiting and scouting.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

As the second oldest university in the state, Florida State University continues to revere its historic past while at the same time setting high standards for the future.

Since its founding in 1857, when it was known as the Seminary West of the Suwannee, the University has forged out a sprawling campus with nearly 22,500 students—an all-time high—and boasts of a faculty that is both nationally and internationally recognized.

It has been a year of change at Florida State. Members of the University community witnessed not only the resignation of Dr. Stanley Marshall, President of Florida State, but also the possible fascinating discovery of new chemical elements. And, despite the lingering economic slowdown, the University proceeded in building projects—both under way and on the drawing boards—the total almost $15 million.

Long known as one of the top research institutions in the nation, Florida State University continued receiving millions of dollars for research efforts. One grant, awarded to the Career Education Center, was for $900,000, while another from the Lilly Endowment, Inc. for $275,716, went to the University's Charles MacArthur Center for American Theatre. The Center eventually will be housed in a multi-million dollar complex located next to the Fine Arts Building.

During commencement exercises for some 6,000 students, the University awarded honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degrees to Board of Regents members Chester Ferguson and Stephen O'Connell, former president of the University of Florida and State Supreme Court justice.

Also during commencement, Elena Nikolaidi, professor of voice, was named Distinguished Professor of the Year, the highest honor the University faculty can accord one of its peers.

Another member of the music faculty, Carlisle Floyd, who since has accepted a position with the University of Houston, received the 1975-76 American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) award while at Florida State. For Floyd it was the 15th consecutive year he had won the award.

As in years past, the University has brought to campus many outstanding personalities to lecture and perform for the community. Included among the notables were trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, newsman Daniel Schorr, playwright William Saroyan and actress Celeste Nader.

In addition to approximately 90 different baccalaureate fields of study at the undergraduate level, 58 doctoral programs and more than 85 master's degree areas, the University offers a variety of innovative and challenging special programs. Florida State maintains study centers in Florence, Italy, and London, England, which are open to all State University System students, and the University's Department of Hotel and Restaurant Administration annually conducts a summer program of study in Switzerland. There also are cooperative programs with Florida A&M University and Tallahassee Community College and courses geared to special and honor students.

HUGH DURHAM

Florida State Basketball Coach

Over the last ten years, Florida State's basketball program has become recognized as one of the most successful in the nation. It is no coincidence that the same period marks the tenure of Hugh Durham as Head Coach.

His record speaks for itself — 191 victories and 78 defeats.

Winning on the court is only part of Durham's story, however. During his tenure Florida State has become favored recruiting ground for the pros. No fewer than nine Seminoles have been drafted by the pros with several now active, including NBA All-Star Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics.

Those players who choose not to go into professional ball have also met with success, with several going on to graduate school, medical school or law school and others starting on coaching careers of their own.

"We make a total commitment to the individual," says Durham, who has seen well over 80 percent of his players earn at least a bachelor's degree. "We realize that for many of our players, basketball is not going to be a career. While we are trying to develop the playing ability of all our athletes, especially those with the potential to play pro ball, we also try to see that all of them are prepared in other areas as well."

Durham teams have been winners in all but his first season as head coach. That first year saw an injury-riddled Tribe struggle to an 11-15 record. Since that time, no Durham-coached team has won fewer than 17 games. The 1969-70 squad finished 23-3 and the 1971-72 Seminoles went to the NCAA finals before settling for a 27-9 record.

Florida State has been a part of Durham's life for the last 20 years. First as a player and now as a coach. As a player, Durham was one of the finest guards to play for the Seminoles. His three-year varsity scoring total of 1,381 points ranks sixth on the all-time list. He was as much a leader off the court as on, earning membership in the Gold Key Honorary and being named to Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

Following graduation he was named coach of the freshman team and still holds the record for the best winning percentage (.900) with a 9-1 record. He became a fulltime assistant to Bud Kennedy in 1961 and was named head coach in 1966 following Kennedy's death.

During his tenure as an assistant coach, Durham also served as coach of the FSU golf team and his squads were highly successful, winning 48 of 54 dual matches. One of his golf recruits was Hubert Green, former PGA Rookie of the Year.

Durham holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Florida State in business. He and his wife Malinda have three sons, David (16), Doug (12) and Jim (eight).
