WILDCATS MIX IT UP WITH ROSE POLTYECH

Game Marred By Roughness Gives U. K. 33 to 12 Victory

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN

Just what constitutes a basketball game?

To one whose experience as a spectator of college athletics was limited the exhibition given Tuesday night by the Wildcat tossers and the five from Rose Polytechnic, of Terre Haute, it would have appeared a mixture of Gaeco-Roman wrestling, boxing, tag, football and who's-got-the-button?—yes, Geraldine, even spell it "buttin'." That was done, too.

The final score was 33 to 12, which means that the Cats were a little better at staying on their feet in the clinches and a whole lot better in their passing and shooting. One of the Roses, whose fame cannot be perpetuated in the Kernel because the writer was in the gallery and could not get his name, must have been dreaming rosy dreams of his girl back home, because he just doted on hanging on the neck of one our bunch of huskies. Referee Hinton did not care for the moonlight stuff and finally drew the strings on his career.

The visitors used a peculiar style of play, trusting to luck and shooting ability rather than passing. Most of the time they played at their end of the floor; then they would make a concerted rush which would carry them as far as Boone Simpson or Doc Rodes, at which time the works would go wrong and Kentucky would get another goal.

The Wildcats really showed a big improvement over their work in previous games. Simpson led in the scoring, but his passing was hardly equal to that of the rest of the machine. When he gets a little more experience at the middle position he will be a whang. Schrader and Cap'n Boo and Pug were on the job with that real old passing and the redoubtable Doc did well, especially at the times he felt like going around the floor and cleaning it off. Every time he threw the ball right meanly and it landed on the wall he ruined a dumb-bell. Doc was treated to a nice blue eye by one of the gentle visitors.

The story of the game would not be complete without mention of the work of Pat Campbell, Ben Marsh and Paul Anderson, who did much to add to the pugilistic atmosphere of the affray.

JUBILEE PICTURES TO BE SHOWN IN NEW YORK.

The motion pictures of the Golden Jubilee held in October and the Silver Jubilee of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, held last June, will be shown at a dinner of the New York Alumni Club in February.

SCHABER PRESIDENT OF UNION SOCIETY

The union of the Union Literary Society was weakened Saturday night when J. V. D. Chamberlain, a union carpenter of Uniontown, Union County, Kentucky, U. S. A., vacated the chair in favor of Herbert Schaber, the newly-elected president. The other officers elected were as follows: vice president, F. W. Potts; secretary, C. O. Clark; treasurer, J. C. Cole; attorney-general, V. C. Chapman; sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Hudson; critic, Jesse Gregory; librarian, Mr. Davis, and janitor, J. D. V. Chamberlain.

Mr. Gregory, president of the Democratic Club, will lecture to the society on the Webb-Kenyon bill Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

COURSE IN ATHLETIC COACHING IS ADDED

Designed Primarily For Use In High Schools By Graduates

TIGERT HAS CHARGE

A course in coaching an athletic team, designed especially for students in the University who expect to do athletic coaching after graduation, has been added to the curriculum this semester.

Dr. Tigert, whose knowledge of coaching has made him an authority on intercollegiate athletics, will be in charge of the course, assisted by "Dad" Boles.

For several years there has been a demand for such a course, especially by high school teachers. In all probability a similar course in athletic coaching will be taken up in connection with the summer school, bidding fair to rival the famous Zuppke school of athletic tutorage, which is operated at the University of Illinois during the summer season.

The course will embrace the coaching of baseball, track and basketball teams and will also give a comprehensive course in teaching gymnasium and physical training.

Football coaching will constitute the main instruction. Dr. Tigert is a student of the varied methods of football coaching and their relative effectiveness. He employs, in directing his Wildcats an original system of play which has proved successful in many cases, as Sewanee will make testimony and Mississippi A. and M., Tennessee and practically all the Kentucky teams have good reason to accept as true. With open center and ends out it has made a big hit on the defense.

But Dr. Tigert is also authority on the well-known and dangerously successful "Vanderbilt style," which is used by nearly all the high schools in Kentucky and most of the colleges. The divers methods, systems and styles will be taken up in the course and their effectiveness considered.

1917 KENTUCKIAN TO HAVE MANY FEATURES

Annual Will Be Most Expensive Ever Published Here

SENIORS ARE WARNED

The 1917 Kentuckian will be the only official publication of this year's Senior class. It is to be about a four-hundred page, handsomely bound leather book. The type pages of this book will be five by seven inches, and are to contain more features than have ever appeared in a previous issue of the Kentuckian.

There are three features contributing to the success of a college annual—money, time and material. Of these three factors it is predicted that the 1917 Kentuckian will be a happy combination. Certain it is to cost several hundred dollars more than any Kentuckian has ever cost. But no one need have any fears about its financial success if he had seen its industrious business manager chasing the silver eagles.

If labor can set a high-water mark for a Kentuckian, you can't afford not to sign up for this publication. The editor-in-chief has (without the advice of his profs), set aside the entire month of February for work on this book. Almost constantly he is to be found in the long office in the basement of the Education Building and were you to look into the office you would know that the Kentuckian is not to be the work of one hand. There you will always find one or more of the ten industrious members of the Kentuckian staff.

As for the material that is to appear in this book, there has been an almost unlimited supply from which the editors could select. With pictures from two of the biggest celebrations in the history of the University, and with more beautiful girls than have ever before registered at this school, the editors are content. There has so far been only one retarding feature. There are many Seniors who still intend to have their pictures made. Some of them will not go to the photographer until the 14th, and will call to see their proofs about the 18th. The editors have said that the copy must be in their hands by the 15th. To all those that persist in waiting there seems little chance for representation.

To turn to the bright side, there are hundreds who have already done their part. For these the Kentuckian is planning a big celebration "K" dance at Buell Armory Friday night, February 9th. If you are to appear in the 1917 Kentuckian the editors will be expecting you there and hope to dance with you.

Co-operation is to your own interest as well as the editors'. Get that picture now and be ready before the last call.

ELSWICK IS HEAD OF HENRY CLAY SOCIETY

At the last meeting of the Henry Clay Law Society of the University, officers were elected for the present year. The date for the annual debate with the University of Cincinnati Law School is still unsettled, but it is probable it will be fixed within the next few weeks. A committee from the society has been chosen to select a subject and set the date for the meeting. As yet, nothing has been heard from Cincinnati.

The newly-elected officers of the society are: K. C. Elswick, president; Paul Gossage, vice president; R. H. Whitten, secretary; A. D. Crenshaw, treasurer; Virgil Chapman, attorney general; E. L. Allen, chaplain and R. C. Back, sergeant-at-arms.

WESLEYAN TAKEN INTO CAMP BY FAIR GO-EDS

Outclass Winchester Girls at Every Stage of the Game

WIN BY 35-18 SCORE

The lady Wildcats opened their basketball season quite auspiciously last Monday night, when they handed the girls of Kentucky Wesleyan College a 35-to-18-defeat on the local gym floor. The visitors, outclassed and outplayed at every stage, nevertheless put up a game fight and deserved commendation for their work.

The stellar performance of the evening was that of Miss Celia Cregor, Kentucky's center, who scored sixteen points and passed the ball in a manner that brought cheers from the crowd which occupied the bleachers and the "galleries." Miss Ellwanger and Miss Crane, newcomers on the squad, did excellent work at forward and Misses Innes and Haydon had a great deal to do with the prevention of counters for the Winchester girls.

Miss Drake, guard, did the best work for the visitors. Her encounters with Miss Crane were among the most interesting features of the game.

The results follow:

STROLLERS AGAIN AT WORK ON 1917 PLAY

Play, "The Lion and the Mouse," Has Dramatic Scenes

REHEARSAL TONIGHT

With rehearsals Monday night, tonight and Friday, the Strollers got down to work again after a week's enforced cessation of hostilities because of exams. It will be easy for the forty or more actors to learn their parts in "The Lion and the Mouse" after the practice in "boning" necessary during last week. Although none of the parts are as yet decided it is believed that Stage Manager Marsh will be able to announce definitely an actor and an understudy for each of the parts before next week. Before that time there will probably be lively competition among the three or four who are out for each of the seventeen parts.

The large number in the "squad" and the enthusiasm manifested at all times, together with the unusual amount of ability displayed, promises well for the success of the biggest show the Strollers have ever attempted. The difficulty this year seems to be to select the most capable one from a number of aspirants for a part rather than to find some one who is capable enough. Rehearsals are being held three or four times a week, and will continue until the show is presented, probably early in March. The rehearsal tonight will be at 7:15 o'clock in the Strollers' studio.

"The Lion and the Mouse" differs from many of the earlier Stroller successes in that it is not a straight comedy. It is a drama of depth and intensity of feeling. There is, however, running thru it a vein of delightful comedy, which has raised it in popular favor. The powerful third act, when Shirley holds in her hands the life of one man and the future happiness of several others lingers long in the memory of any one who has seen it acted.

The story of this year's play is of the fight a young girl makes against the most powerful man in America. Shirley Rossmore, returning from a pleasure trip of several months in Europe, finds her family reduced in circumstances and her father completely broken in health and in spirit. Judge Rossmore, of the Supreme Court bench, had incurred the enmity of the monied interests by several of his decisions and thru their political power they were able to have him impeached on the charge of accepting bribes. There are two letters which will show the innocence of Judge Rossmore. These are in the possession of John Burkett Ryder, the richest and most powerful man in America, who is responsible for Rossmore's false accusation. Shirley determines to get the letters.

ALUMNUS URGES CARNEGIE BENEFIT

Application by the University for admission to the benefits of the Carnegie Foundation is urged in the current issue of the Kentucky Alumnus, bi-monthly publication of the Alumni Association.

"There are a number of scholarly men on our faculty who are worthy of the benefits of the Carnegie Foundation," the Alumnus says. "It is unfair to them to deprive them of these benefits because the institution as a whole does not measure up to standards.

"The University certainly could lose nothing by the careful scrutiny of the trustees of the Carnegie Foundation."

The Alumnus endorses the action of the Board of Trustees in passing a resolution to prevent nepotism in the University and Experiment Station and also the proposal that no person be appointed on the academic staff who does not hold an academic degree.

MAGAZINE METHODS ARE EXPLAINED BY SPEAKER

Motion Pictures of Large Publishing Plant Are Shown

400 STUDES ATTEND

The methods employed in making and circulating a large magazine were explained in detail in a lecture given by Chas. Sumner Crossman, prominent scholar and educator of Philadelphia, at the New Chemistry Building, Thursday afternoon, January 18.

Students of the University and of Morton High School, more than 400 in number, attended the lecture, which was illustrated with motion pictures of the work as done by the Curtis Publishing Company. This company's plant is one of the largest in the world, by which more than 12,000,000 copies of The Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal and Country Gentleman are distributed each month.

In the production of these magazines more than 3,500 persons are employed and some of the most elaborate printing presses and other machinery are used.

Before this time, she has gained some fame as a writer of short stories, and shortly before her arrival home her first book is published. The central character of the book, an unscrupulous millionaire, has been drawn from Ryder, and recognizing himself, the "Lion" sends for Shirley. Attracted by her personality he gives her a commission to write his biography, and with her real identity unknown to him, she takes up her residence temporarily in the Ryder home.

The plot is further complicated by the fact that Shirley had met the son of Ryder, Jefferson Ryder, during her European travels and the two had become greatly attached to each other. Jefferson, a clean, unselfish young fellow, who disapproves of most of his father's actions, is on the point of leaving home when Shirley arrives. He stays and becomes her accomplice in the attempt to steal the letters.

Several weeks pass, during which John Burkett Ryder becomes very fond of the young authoress and Mrs. Ryder learns to depend on her at all times. Ryder has determined that his son shall marry Kate Roberts, the daughter of Senator Roberts, his political ally, and in order to hasten the distasteful match, has his son's engagement announced against his will. Jefferson decides he can endure his father's treatment no longer. He goes to the library where he meets his father and Shirley and a tremendous scene follows. Jefferson defies his father; John Burkett Ryder discovers Shirley's real identity and learns that the woman he trusted and had learned to like had stolen the letters from his desk. Shirley, undaunted by his accusations, tells him just why she stole the letters; that her father was dying, and makes him feel her contempt for him because of his inhuman cruelty in hounding her father to his death bed.

All night long the "Lion" remains in his library with the girl's words ringing in his ears, and before the morning a tremendous change has come over him. He realizes that in order to retain the love of his son and the respect of Shirley, the one person whose esteem he wants, it is necessary for him to admit defeat for the first time in his life. So he calls his henchmen and orders that Judge Rosmore be acquitted, and when Shirley leaves for Washington to witness her father's vindication, with her goes Jefferson Ryder. The no mention is made of it in the play it is presumed they lived happily ever after.

Scattered thru the play, of which this is the bare outline of the plot, are

TO THE SENIORS.

There will be an important meeting of the Senior class this afternoon in chapel at the regular time, and I wish to impress on every member of the class that it is his duty to attend. The class dues as fixed are not considered just by certain Seniors, and I have been notified by them that they desire a reconsideration of the question. As there is a possibility that the action taken at the previous meeting does not represent the sentiments of the majority of the class, I have called this meeting to give every member of the class an opportunity to state his views. Unless a large proportion of the class is present, a reconsideration will have no real force. Therefore I urge all Seniors to attend.

At the same time the dedication of the Annual will be voted on.

WILLIAM SHINNICK,
President Senior Class.

45 ARE REGISTERED—FLUNK-OUTS DROPPED

Between forty-five and fifty new students matriculated in the University at the beginning of the second term, Monday and Tuesday. Most of these were mid-year high school graduates, and their enrollment brings the total registration for the year to nearly 1,000.

A few students were dropped from the rolls of the University on account of the working of the "fifty-fifty" rule, which automatically eliminates all students who fail in half their work. The work of certain professors has come in for a great deal of criticism on the part of students, who allege that unfair examinations were given. The percentage of fizzes in some courses is very large.

CADET HOP BRILLIANT EVENT.

The cadet hop which was held in Buell Armory Saturday afternoon, was one of the most delightful social events of the year. Dancing was enjoyed from 4 to 6 o'clock, music being furnished by an orchestra. Several hundred guests were present and the chaperones were President and Mrs. H. S. Barker, Captain and Mrs. John C. Fairfax, Dean Anna J. Hamilton and Miss Marguerite McLaughlin.

many rich humorous scenes. Shirley's lines sparkle with wit, and there are several characters who introduce much comedy. Chief among these are Fitzroy Bagley, Rev. Pontifex Deele, Jane Deele, Miss Nesbitt and a maid.

Revenge — Seekers Overwhelmed In the Opening Contest

SCORE STANDS 31-21

The Wildcat basketball squad started the season auspiciously Thursday, January 18 by beating Centre College 31 to 21. This means that in spite of financial troubles, Kentucky will have a basketball team that will do things.

The Danvillites, eager for revenge because of a certain recent football defeat and confident that they would easily outclass the Wildcats, started off by making seventeen clean points. This two-point advantage at the end of the first quarter made the Wildcats hump themselves and Longworth, Ireland and Schrader began to get busy brightening things up so that when time was called the Wildcats had ten points to the good.

"Pug" Longworth, right forward, started for Kentucky with five field goals and excellent floor work to his credit. "Dutch" Schrader, veteran of many basketball battles, did the foul throwing for Kentucky, making nine out of fifteen of the fouls thrown. Montgomery and McDowell were the stars for the Centre team with Diddle running them a close second.

George Gumbert, captain of the Wildcats, played his last game for Kentucky, as he has gone to accept a professorship at Marion, Ky. "Doc" Rodes was right there with the defense stuff, easing Dr. Tigert's worries for finding a good guard.

The summary and line-up follows:
 Kentucky. Position. Centre.
 Ireland ..... Diddle (2)
 Left Forward.
 Schrader (4) ..... Davis (2)
 Right Forward.
 Longworth (10) .. Tate (2) and Bell

 Rodes ..... Montgomery (4)

 Gumbert (2) ..... McDowell (4)

A STUDENT'S LAMENT.

(Apologies to Bill Shakespeare.)
 As I have tears, I need must shed them now;
 The day these cards came out right glad was I,
 Expecting to have passed in all my work
 I looked upon my grades with beating heart,
 And cries of joy were framed upon my lips.
 But look! In French a fifty did I find
 See what a mark the nightmare Physics brought,
 A forty in the Math I rarely cut!
 And as my tear-dimmed eyes that mark did see,
 Mark how my heart in anguish full did beat.
 To think that e'en in Math I did not pass,
 For that as you must know was e'er my forte.
 But last of all I held a grievous sight.
 In Latin I had flunked by fifteen points!!
 That was the most unkindest mark of all;
 For I had memorized the "pony" whole,
 And thought I knew old Virgil thru and thru.
 This caused my cup of grief to overflow,
 And led me to give utterance to my woe.

K. I. A. A. TRACK MEET SCHEDULED FOR MAY 9

The annual K. I. A. A. track meet will be held at Georgetown, May 9. Coach Robert Hinton, of Georgetown, will be in charge of preliminary arrangements for the meet. Competing athletes will be required to have passed twelve hours' class work in the semester preceding his taking part in athletics. The new ruling was passed at a conference of representatives of the institutions in the association at the Phoenix Hotel, Saturday afternoon. The rule does not make Freshmen ineligible.

STUDENTS' FORUM

ATHLETIC MATTERS.

To the Kernel:
 In view of the fact that the special committee on athletic matters was not allotted sufficient time in which to file a full and complete report of its investigation before the last issue of the Kernel, I felt it my duty to make the following statements as a supplement to the former report.

First, the clause, "We feel justified in recommending the payment of the additional fee on account of the fact that the State's appropriation is inadequate for the support and maintenance of the institution," which appeared in the Kernel, was changed in the final report to read as follows: "We feel justified in recommending the payment of the additional fee because we believe that it is the most feasible way at this time of relieving the present impending financial crisis of the Athletic Association."

Second, concerning the question that was brought up in the meeting at the time the report was made, there are two reasons why the amount received from the University does not correspond to an amount equivalent to $5 for each student enrolled in the University. One is that the University books show a credit of approximately $200 on this account, which has not yet been paid. The other reason is that a number of the enrolled students have not paid an incidental fee and others have not paid the full $15. If anyone questions this explanation, he may verify it in five minutes by an inspection of the University books.

Third, I do not feel the necessity of an explanation as to why we do not model our association after that of Transylvania or certain other colleges.

Fourth, the fact that we gave Vanderbilt 60 per cent of the gate receipts is not an example of poor business, since practically all contracts for football games between teams of equal standing give the visiting team an option of a specified amount sufficient to cover expenses or 50 per cent of the gate receipts. The Vanderbilt game proved the best business transaction of the year, notwithstanding the fact that we had to offer them as a special inducement an option of 60 per cent of the gate receipts.

Fifth, the committee believes that H. E. Curtis has rendered as much, or more, real service to the athletic association as any other individual, and that he has received no remuneration and very little appreciative recognition. On the other hand, we believe that he has been very unjustly and severely criticized by some members of the student body.

Sixth, the committee drew its conclusions and made its recommendations only after our athletic matters had been fully investigated and the situation was thoroughly understood.

Respectfully,
 J. P. RICKETTS,
 Chairman.

PATTERSON SPEAKER AT WOMAN'S CLUB

President Emeritus James K. Patterson addressed the Woman's College Club at its regular monthly meeting held Tuesday afternoon at his home. His subject was "The Evolution of Woman."

Miss Mabel Pollitt acted as hostess, and Miss Frances Jewell presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. B. English.

CLOSE GAME WON BY GEORGETOWN TIGERS

Wildcats Make Game Fight, But Lose By 22-19 Score

TEAM IS CRIPPLED

The Wildcat quintet, sorely crippled by the absence of Captain Gumbert and Schrader, went down in defeat before the Georgetown Tigers Saturday night by the score of 22 to 19.

Altho handicapped by a 13-to-9 score against them at the end of the first half, the Wildcats put up a game fight and in the beginning of the second session they staged a rally and for a time it looked as if they had struck a winning stride.

Simpson played his first game at center. Longworth was shifted to forward to work with Ireland, while McKinney, a Freshman, worked at guard. Rodes played well at guard. Taylor, Georgetown's premier athlete, an all-Kentucky forward last year, played the stellar game for the Tigers, making a total of five goals from field.

The line-up follows:
 Georgetown—Henderson and Sommers, forwards; Taylor (c), center; Adams and Wohlbold, guards. Substitutes—Campbell for Longworth.

Kentucky—Ireland (c) and Longworth, forwards; Simpson, center; Rodes and McKinney, guards. Substitutes—Anderson for Henderson.

Goals from Field—Kentucky: Ireland 1, Longworth 2, Simpson 2, Rodes 1, McKinney 1, Campbell 1; Georgetown, Henderson 1, Sommers 2, Taylor 5, Adams 1.

Free Throws—Sommers 4 out of 9; Ireland, 3 out of 7.
 Referee—Littick, of Centre College.

CONTRACTS AWARDED BY SENIOR CLASS

The Senior class has awarded contracts for commencement invitations, Senior ball programs and caps and gowns. The invitations and programs will be made by the E. A. Wright Company, engravers, of Philadelphia, and the caps and gowns will be furnished by Cottrell & Leonard. Senior rings were made by the Miller Jewelry Company, of Cincinnati.

The committees which decided on the above contracts and the specifications were: Rings, Maury Crutcher, F. M. Crum and C. P. Dotson; invitations, C. P. Hatter, W. M. Adams and G. B. Nance; programs, Newland Waters, C. W. Harney and O. L. Lancaster; caps and gowns, J. P. Ricketts, M. U. Condit and John Rawlings.

GRIBBEN ACCEPTS POSITION WITH LEXINGTON FIRM.

Eugene Gribben, a student of the University last year, and until recently employed in the art department of the Louisville Herald, has severed his connection with that paper to accept a position with the Direct Appeal Advertising Company, of this city. During the time he was a student here Mr. Gribben was a student in the department of journalism, and was a member of the art staff of the Kentuckian.

Frank advice to parents of Stanford University students and prospective students has just emanated from Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the institution, in which he deprecates extravagance and other drags which tend to retard the real purpose of the college.

Quo Vadis?

There is a man in this college whom you envy. There is a girl who gets better grades than you do. Some one has been given honors and you have not. You are wondering why this one or that one is so much more popular than you are.

Why is it?

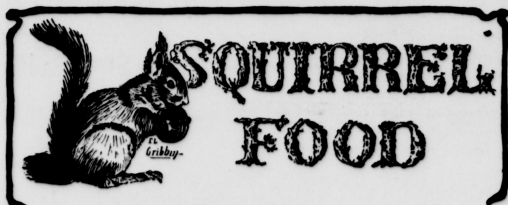

Is it because he stands in with the "gang"? Is it because she has a "stand-in" with the prof and he gives her good grades because he likes her? Is he or is she more popular than you are just because of a false social standard? Possibly so. In some cases, undoubtedly so.

But remember this, and it is written in the law that changeth not, your present standing may be due to false standards, it may be because of things over which you have had no control, but your future must be as you yourself will it to be!

Do not admit your weakness in the past by blaming your present on something over which you had no control. Realize that more than half your past failures were due to your own inability to cope with what came. It matters not what your difficulties were; other men have surmounted obstacles greater than any you have yet encountered, and you admit yourself a weakling if you are not able to fight your limitations as they fought theirs.

The position, the honors, the popularity of the man or woman you envy will be yours if you yourself are able to demonstrate that you are powerful enough to take them. The past is gone, the present is going, and the future stretches before, an unknown country in which there are no paths except those you yourself hew out thru the heart of the mountains of granite. The path lies where you choose to place it; either along the heights of position and honor and popularity, or in the shadows of obscurity and oblivion.

Whither are you bound? —M. J. R.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

Now that exams are oval, suh, the weary student can once more shave, take a bath, and pick up his billiard cue, preparatory to another semester of hard work, suh.

But Where Do the Cows Come In?

Mr. J. C. Nall has purchased a number of milk cows recently, with intentions of running a dairy.—Elizabethtown Mirror.

Lykelle Pomes No. 17.

'Twas Saturday night—the movie screen
Miss Fuclouse was to show.
A bunch of fellows hard besought
One student, Skaggs, to go.
"My thanks," he said, "dear buddies,
I can't neglect my studies."

Then It Grew Colder.

She: "Isn't the wind keen?"
He: "I dunno. I ain't so crazy about it."

Profs who have unusually high enrollment in their lecture courses needn't get puffed up over it. If text books go much higher some of us unfortunately will have to take lecture courses exclusively.

Letters From Home.

Dear Son: Wish you could have been with us for the week-end. We had a big egg dinner Sunday. A friend in the country sent us an egg. Your mother found a nice cranberry in the market and we had cranberry sauce to go with it. I thought of you when I carved the egg and wished you could be with us to enjoy some of the white meat. I remember how well you liked the white. But I should not tantalize you with such a recital, for there was not enough left to send you any. After the dinner there were only a few scraps left, with which your mother made hash, etc., etc.—Father.

Picture Puzzle.

Cut the picture below in sections. Paste the pieces together in their proper order and you will have an excellent diagram of a Freshman's mind during examination week:

Somewhere in France.

He: "Will you marry me?"
She: "I love you, Harold, but you are too poor."
He: "By manipulating the stock market I have recently amassed a fortune of 500 Irish potatoes."
She: "Oh, Harold!"
(Curtain)

Help!

Prof: "What is the difference between a department store and a bibulous florist?"
Stude: "One keeps boots and shoes and the other keeps booze and shoots."
Many a domestic science student knits her brows when she should be threading her needle.

The general impression was that the College of Agriculture was a peaceful institution until the following notice appeared on the bulletin last week: "Mr. ...., Mr. ...., Mr. .... and Miss. .... will call at the office of the Dean immediately in order to arrange conflicts."—Sunday's Leader.

UNDERWOOD RAPIDLY BECOMING FAMOUS

The Hon. Thomas Underwood, Jr., sporting editor of The Kentucky Kernel, is now connected with the Lexington Herald, and is winning considerable fame as a writer of wild and weird stories. The Kernel staff is of the opinion that his training on this well-known sheet is proving invaluable to him. Tom has not denied this. He has not been given an opportunity to do so. However, his story of last Sunday concerning the activities in connection with an oyster supper at a rural school was of the very highest type of humor. He is a man of much newspaper experience, having been at various times on the staff of a Hopkinsville paper and the Lexington Leader, in addition to the Herald and the Kernel.
Mr. Underwood is still attending classes and is nominally a member of the staff.

H. J. EVANS RETURNS TO COMPLETE UNIV. WORK

Is Greeted By Master Reporter and Master-piece Results

Editor's Apology—To fill yawning columns what am with news what ain't is a hard proposition and as the Kernel was short on copy this week it was necessary to run all stories without cutting them. The following interview with Mr. Evans by a budding young journalist was run in order to give the reading public some idea as to the trials and tribulations of the news editor whose duty it is to take such stuff and put it into readable form. As the author, who rooms in the first division of the old dorm, desires his name kept secret for obvious reasons, we will not divulge it. The story follows:

He has returned. His smiling face greeted me as I tripped lightly down the walk towards town and perforce I must interview him for the Kernel.

"I am a reporter for the Kernel," said I, "and your name is"—"Mr. Herndon Julian Evans," he replied. I rolled a cigarette for him as I knew he didn't smoke. I puffed away on it myself and under the influence of the B. D. smoke, he loosened his tongue and I received the following information.

Mr. Evans while in college was a reporter on the Kernel staff and first sergeant of Company A under Captain Ben Mahoney, who is now on the border with the National Guard. He entered the University in the fall of 1914 and matriculated in the Department of Journalism, where he made good from the start. Mr. Evans left last February to become a reporter on the State Journal at Frankfort, but the call of education and college life was too great, so he says, and he is indeed a modest fellow, so he also says, and he turned his footsteps once more towards Lexington and his old friends.

CO-EDS USE STEAM ROLLER IN ANNUAL SOCIETY ELECTION

The members of the Horace Mann Literary Society will be compelled to submit to the rule of women during the coming semester as a result of the last meeting of the society. When the society was called to order the cynical smile on their faces showed that the girls had something on their minds they weren't telling about. When the election of officers was called, a political machine was thrown into operation that made the "Old Guard" look like a second-hand Ford and the fair co-eds took the meeting by storm. Miss Lois Ammerman was selected to wield the gavel and Miss Coy Wilson was selected to assist her as vice president. Miss Pansy Meyers was elected treasurer and Miss Mariam Horine sergeant-at-arms. Owing to his feminine characteristics the girls condescended to allow Mr. E. E. Kelley to be elected to the position of secretary.

The society has formulated plans to have the most unique contest ever held on the U. of K. campus some time in the spring. The event will be an oratorical contest in which the girls and boys will compete on equal terms, the winner being awarded the twenty dollars recently donated the society by President Barker.

HURRY-UP YOST IS VISITOR AT UNIVERSITY

Michigan Coach Discusses Football With the Wildcats

IS ANDERSON'S GUEST

"Hurry-Up" Yost, the famous football coach of the University of Michigan, and a man of national reputation in the world of sport, was the guest of Dean F. Paul Anderson at the University, Monday. Mr. Yost, whose first name, by the way, is Fielding, spent much of the day in meeting the members of the football team and discussing the game with them, explaining the mysteries of the great play which he originated, and which Walter Camp has characterized as the greatest football play ever invented.

Mr. Yost is also a leading light in the mechanical engineering field and is a personal friend of Dean Anderson, the two having been associated as men of affairs in the mechanical and electrical world for several years.

During his visit at the University, Professor Yost called upon Dean Miller to learn the results of the latter's study of the geological conditions of the part of Kentucky now coming so rapidly to the front among the leading oil-producing regions of the country. Mr. Yost stated that the early predictions of Dean Miller in regard to the oil region had all been vindicated.

"Hurry-Up" Yost takes much interest in the Wildcats and while here showed his keenness at sizing up players. "Dutch" Schrader, he said, must have been a great football player for he had just exactly the right kind of legs. He also guessed that "Dutch" was some kicker.

The leader of the University of Michigan eleven stands for cleanness and squareness in college athletics as well as everything else which tends toward the betterment of the great national college pastime. He doesn't smoke and is a total abstainer.

"None of my players are smokers or drinkers," said the great coach, "and I also, would not spend fifteen minutes trying to develop a dirty football player. They are a disgrace to the game and besides dirty playing does not pay even temporarily."

EGG PRODUCTION ON DECREASE LAST WEEK

The weather during the past week was so unfavorable that it was necessary to keep the birds in the egg-laying contest closely confined to their houses which was the reason given for the decrease in production at the close of the twelfth week of the egg-laying contest at the Experiment Station poultry farm.

Because of the rain and damp weather the birds were unable to get as much exercise as they should have to do their best in the way of egg-production and as a result 345 eggs were laid as opposed to 429 of the week before, which was a loss of 84 eggs.

Pullet 723 again won the individual honors with a perfect score for the week and pen No. 21 won first place with a production of 25 eggs. Pen No. 15 secured second honors with twenty-four eggs and third place went to No. 4 pen with a production of twenty-two eggs, all results of the past week.

The light breeds continue to hold their own and also lead the heavy birds with a production of 181 eggs during the past week against 164 by the heavy fowls.

SENIORS RECOMMENDED FOR POSITIONS IN JUNE

Unique Request For Grads Received By Dean Anderson

OTHER MECHAN. NOTES

A. W. Davies and M. M. Montgomery, Seniors in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, were recommended to W. W. Lowe, representative of the Henry L. Doherty Company, of New York, for positions on graduation in June. The Doherty concern, brokers, handles business for many of the largest traction lines in the East.

J. Rufus Watkins, of the '15 class of civil engineering, left recently for Richmond, Va., where he will enter the engineering department of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. He will work under the direction of A. E. Copeland, also a graduate of the University, who is head draftsman for the company.

The following is an extract from a letter received by Dean Anderson from the Babcock & Wilcox Company, of Barberton, Ohio, in a request for two graduates in the '17 class. The request was made thru Perry Cassidy, an alumnus and former instructor of the College of M. & E. The qualifications are as follows:

"Send us two men with sparkle in their eyes.
"Men who eat three square meals a day, and who digest them properly.
"Men who have the strength of vision and the purity of purpose of Sir Galahad.
"Men who can take discipline of the severest kind without batting an eyelash and without a word in reply.
"Men who can make other men, from the lowliest 'wop' to the general superintendent, love them and want to work with them.
"Men who can realize that the most complex and intricate engineering problem is only a synthetic combination of simple problems easily solved if only segregated and taken in detail.
"Men of strict personal cleanliness, both mind and body, who would not hesitate to come to their plant on an emergency call, even in evening clothes, and climb in a boiler or jump in an oil pit, if the conditions required it."

JOB'S WAITING FOR U. OF K. SENIORS

Positions are awaiting about ten members of the graduating classes of the classes of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering and the College of Arts and Science, according to a letter received from Kendall Weisinger, representative of the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Weisinger will come to Lexington tomorrow to confer with students in regard to accepting positions with his company.

The company plans to teach the men graduating from the College of Arts and Science the principles of the telephone business preparatory to giving them positions in the executive offices.

Members of the Senior class of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering will be interviewed next week by George H. Pfaff, representative of the General Electric Company, of Schenectady, New York.

TWO PROMINENT CO-EDS LEAVE THE UNIVERSITY

Misses Crabbe and Geisel Identified With Many Activities

BOTH ARE POPULAR

In the University's halls two niches are now empty. Will others step in or will there be a re-arrangement and these niches be no more? is a question as yet unanswered.

They were filled by Miss Frances Geisel and Miss Anita Crabbe. Each was identified with nearly every line of undergraduate endeavor. Miss Geisel will continue special work in the University during the second semester and will receive her degree in June. Miss Crabbe will not continue any University work.

Miss Geisel will take charge of the department of house economics in the Daysville High School. Miss Crabbe will return to her home in Louisville, where she has accepted a position on the reportorial staff of the Louisville Times.

Miss Geisel's prominence in college activities began when she was elected vice president of her class in the Freshman year. Since then she has held various offices.

In the several roles of accompanist for the Choral Club and Girls' Glee Club, vice president of the Prohibition Club, member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, delegate to the Blue Ridge conference, member of the Chi Omega fraternity and the honorary Senior society, Staff and Crown, she has been equally efficient.

Miss Crabbe is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity. Last year she was managing editor of The Kentucky Kernel, an office never before held by a girl. Miss Crabbe was editor-in-chief of the girls' issue of the Kernel, which was a decided success. This year she is on the Annual staff.

MISS BECKNER HONORED.

Miss Elizabeth Beckner, a Freshman at the University, has been appointed a page for the Continental Congress of the D. A. R., which will be held in Washington in May. The appointment came to Miss Beckner thru Mrs. E. G. Boone, State Regent of the D. A. R., and is the second time she has been so honored.

NOLAND—BROADDUS.

Miss Hattie Noland, of Richmond, and Mr. Bower Broaddus, of Muskogee, Oklahoma, were quietly married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Only the members of the immediate families of the contracting parties were present.

The bride is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity and is a graduate of the University. Mr. Broaddus is a graduate of the University of Missouri and is now a prominent attorney in Muskogee.

In Honor of Miss Noland.

Miss Margaret Baker was hostess Thursday afternoon at a handkerchief shower given at her home on East Maxwell Street in honor of Miss Noland. A course lunch was served and there were bright toasts and good wishes for the bride-elect.

Miss Mary K. Venable and Anna Wells entertained Saturday with an afternoon tea and napkin shower in honor of the bride-elect. The guests were the members of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity, of which Miss Noland is an alumna. Saturday evening, the bride-elect was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Roberta Sandusky.

NOTICE!

MRS. LAFFERTY TO ADDRESS HISTORY CLUB.

Mrs. W. T. Lafferty will address the History Club at its next regular session, February 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The topic will be "Early Railroads in Kentucky." The History Club feels that it is fortunate in securing Mrs. Lafferty as its annual visiting speaker. All are invited to attend that meeting.

KERNEL STAFF!

Members of the staff of the Kernel are requested to have individual pictures made at once if they desire representation in the Kernel pages in the Kentuckian. These pictures must be made before February 6 in order to get in, as the design must be made after they are all in the hands of the artist.

FRANK GRAINGER ILL.

Frank Grainger, a Junior in the Mechanical and Engineering College, was stricken ill about two weeks ago and is now at the Good Samaritan Hospital in a very serious condition. His trouble has been diagnosed as typhoid fever with complications.

Grainger is one of the most popular students in the University and his friends are all hopeful that he will soon be out and at work again. However, from present indications, he will be in the hospital for a number of weeks and may not be able to return to college this semester.
