M'VEY ORDER CHANGES BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

Executive Reorganizes Council at Request of Prof. Enoch Grehan

POLITICS IS CITED AS REASON FOR CHANGE

Six Instead of 10 Members Comprises Personnel of Board

A revision in the personnel of the Board of Student Publications has been announced by Pres. Frank L. McVey in a letter to Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the Journalism department.

The board consists of but six members, three of whom are students. Only two of the persons appointed by President McVey are new to the publications council.

In the past a great deal of criticism has been heaped upon the board for playing politics in its executive business.

The letter which Professor Grehan received from President McVey follows:

February 15, 1933 Professor Enoch Grehan, Head of Dept. of Journalism, University of Kentucky: Dear Professor Grehan: I am writing to you regarding the Board of Student Publications...

Kampus Kernels

Have you heard the tale of student McGuire? Who fled to the dispensary with his pants on fire?

The conductor of this column has lost his fountain pen. It's been lost some time. Strangely enough he'd like to have it back, and even will offer a reward.

Two Talented Lexingtonians Have Program

Sunday Musicals in Memorial Hall Presented by Students

Conforming to the high quality standards of the Sunday afternoon musicals, two of Lexington's most talented young musicians, Richard Allison, baritone, and David W. Young, violinist, presented their delightful program before an appreciative audience, Sunday afternoon, February 19, in Memorial hall.

The selections, which were general favorites including numbers by both classic and modern composers, were rendered in a manner worthy of older and more experienced musicians.

Of the first group of selections, sung by Mr. Allison, "Twilight" by the selectionist, Augustus DeLamb of God" by Bizet, in which the skill of the two artists was combined with that of the pianist, Mrs. E. A. Cheek, to produce an artistic and pleasing effect.

The second group by the violinist, Mr. Young, consisted of three movements, "Allegro con Brío," "Allegretto quasi Andante" and "Fugue in G major" of the Sonata "Crispido Children"

Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education, spoke before the Rotary club of Winchester, Friday, February 17 on the subject of "Crippled Children."

Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education, spoke before the Rotary club of Winchester, Friday, February 17 on the subject of "Crippled Children."

Another phase of welfare work for the city of Lexington is the training of the class of children who are sent to the Greendale Reform school in Lexington, Ky. It is the opinion that the only proper step to be taken is to remove the institution from its present location and to transform it into an educational institution.

PLAY FIRST GAME 4:30 P. M. FRIDAY WITH 'OLE MISS'

Mississippi Five Is Giving Rupp Jitters Since Their Game with Tide

Undeclared in Southeastern conference play and leading the loop by virtue of their eight wins, Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats basketball team will leave, 9:20 a. m. Thursday for Atlanta where they will participate in the first annual "Big 13" tourney.

On a basis of their record in the Southeastern conference competition, the "Cats rank as favorites, but Coach Rupp is far from confident his boys will win the tournament.

Friday at 4:30 p. m. in the Atlanta auditorium, the "Cats play the Mississippi five. The Ole Miss team gave the Crimson Tide of Alabama a close fight before succumbing to the Crimson by a small margin and Rupp is uneasy about the outcome of the game.

All of the games, with few exceptions, are expected to be close. Alabama and Vanderbilt, co-favorites in Kentucky, are both in the top bracket, while the "Cats are in the lower bracket, which looks tougher than the one above.

Coming to the tournament with an excellent record for the last few years, the "Cats have been unable to win the crown, being dropped from the play in the quarter-finals.

Drawings by George Bridgman while awaiting the jury for his exhibition as not pure enough to be exhibited were "The Spirit of the Dancer" and "The Goose Girl" by Laurent.

Students of the University will hear Max Montor, noted German actor, recite selections from Goethe's "Faust" at the third hour Friday in Memorial hall.

LIFE'S FUNNY THAT WAY

Twice only yesterday, it seems, I wanted you.
You only laughed at me.
Only yesterday that I knew not what to do.
And lived in misery.
And then, in time, as persons always do, I grew indifferent—anyway.
It seems that now when I didn't care, you do.
But then—Life's funny that way!

Well, that's something about cigarettes I never knew before

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!

MILITARY BALL

14 Original BLUE DEVLIS The 3 Ink Spots FOSTER JOHNSON, Tap Dancer

Wildcats Win Second Game From Commodores, 45-28

Knock - Down, Drag - Out Affair Made of 'Cat-Commodore Tilt'

By GENE LITES With four regular players, Captain 'Aggie' Sale, Ellis Johnson, Darrell Darby, and George Yates, making their final appearance in Lexington in a Wildcat uniform, the University of Kentucky Wildcats won a rough and tumble affair from the Vanderbilt Commodores, 45 to 28, Saturday night. This ended the regular playing schedule with 17 victories and three losses; no defeats within the Southeastern conference.

Commodores Are Rough Many times during the game the Commodores protested against the way the game was being officiated. Foster, Vanderbilt center, received a technical foul for expressing his disgust by bouncing the ball to the floor so that it rebounded to the ceiling. A total of 28 personal fouls were called during the fray, with Scoggins and Fortune of Vanderbilt leaving the game by the foul route. Despite Captain Sale being the high scorer of the night, the Wildcats, he too left the game via the foul route.

The first five minutes of the tussle seemed to be a foul throwing contest, with Kentucky getting the better of it. Foster made the first field goal of the tussle after Kentucky had collected two free throws to Vandy's one. Scoggins made a field goal, but the Commodores out in front. It was not until DeMoisey was ruled into the game that the Wildcats managed to draw away from the Commodores. With Sale and DeMoisey doing most of the scoring, the Wildcats managed to have a 19 to 12 advantage at the intermission period.

At the start of the second half, Kentucky got right and scored 11 points while Vandy scored three. After this spurt of scoring, Vandy started hitting the hoop and got within four points of the Big Blue, the score being 28 to 24 after about ten minutes of playing. The Wildcats then began machine-gunning the basket and gradually grew away from the Tennessee outfit. Kentucky was never in danger of defeat from this point until the final whistle. During this scoring spree, the Commodores were able to score but two field goals, while Kentucky scored 17 points, running the score to 45.

Julius Foster, 200 pound Vandy center, who was the star of last season on account of playing professional baseball, led the Commodores in the second department by making four field goals and two free tosses, a total of 10 points.

There is no doubt that Huggins was the star of the game, making ten field goals and six free throws, a total of 28 points. The Wildcats' "Little" Davis played a bang up good game by holding Huggins, one of the best forwards in the Southeastern league, to one field goal. Kentucky made 18 field goals out of 20 attempts good, while Vandy missed eight out of 16; many personal fouls were called, 26 against the Commodores and 12 against the Wildcats.

Two Lexingtonians Present Program

(Continued from Page One) No. 1, Apus 8, by Grieg. The silk-like quality of Grieg, interspersed by more sombre and thoughtful passages, was beautifully interpreted by the artist. It will suffice to say of the third group, sung by Allison, that the progue from "I Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo, was endorsed by an old Irish air, "Till Take Thee Home Again, Kathleen." The melody and sweetness of "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn-Achorn, and the imagery in tone of "Cadi" by Albeniz, displayed the versatility of the violinist. Perhaps the most effective solo by Allison was "A Kingdom by the Sea," by Somervell, which was the first number of the fifth series of selections. This was followed by "Just For Today," by Seaver, while the concluding solo for the baritone was the simple Negro love lyric, "Ma 'Lindy Lou," by Lily Strickland.

Lawyers Celebrate 25th Birthday

The most complete law library in the state of Kentucky and one of the best in the South is to be found at the University. Starting from a few scattered sets, the library now consists of a modern collection of 20,000 volumes. This library contains all of the reports of the American courts of the last resort, the published reports of the intermediate courts, the reports of Alaska, Hawaii, the District of Columbia, forty-five legal periodicals, including the Harvard Law Review, the English statutes from the Magna Charta to the present, the statutes of Ontario, and of the Dominion of Canada. All these are being constantly consulted by law and legal practices, with a view to discovering methods for improving Kentucky practices.

The literary and legal organ of the law school is the Kentucky Law Journal, published by the students of the Law School. This contains articles, comments on Kentucky cases by Law school students, and book reviews. The Law Journal has rapidly advanced in its effort to rank with the best legal periodicals of the nation and has been frequently cited. It was made the official organ of the Kentucky state association in the spring of 1932.

In the Law school, as evidence of the progress not merely in material things but in esprit de corps and constructive scholastic attainment on the part of its students, a chapter of the Order of the Coif was established in the fall of 1931. There are only two other American schools which have been awarded a chapter of the Coif. This order is an honorary legal society which stands in the same relation to Law that Phi Beta Kappa does to Arts and Sigma Xi does to Science, and Sigma Delta Chi to journalism.

"The Law school," stated Dean Alvin E. Evans, "may be regarded as having achieved genuine distinction in the advance it has made in legal education and in the contributions, which it has already made and will make in the future, to legal scholarship and to social progress."

McVey Reorganizes Publications Board

Professor Enoch Grehan, when asked for a statement explanatory of the executive order of the president, had this to say: "It will doubtless be recalled that three years ago I asked and obtained from the University senate, authority to establish a board of student publications. This board, in order to be representative of the student body, was composed of heads of student organizations with only two faculty representatives on it. These were members of the journalism teaching staff. A majority vote was thus purposely given to the students.

"This step was taken, because The Kernel, which had proceeded from year to year by the process of staff members voting to perpetuate themselves in the various offices, has within the last nine years, under leadership of the department of journalism purchased a valuable printing plant and thus achieved a legal property status without regularly established authority. The department of journalism believed at that time that control, at least of The Kernel and allied publications, should be vested in students who owned the plant and were responsible for student publications.

"This board had not been in existence 60 days when it became involved in campus politics, and although several embarrassing situations ensued as a result of political maneuverings, fortunately no serious harm was done. It was the opinion of the department of journalism and advisers for whose judgment it has profound respect, that it would not be wise longer to subject a plant that has cost the students approximately $27,000, now all paid for except about $4,000, and for several years supplying work to students to whom it being paid annually about $4,500, to even a remote possibility of further political manipulation. For this reason the head of the department of journalism asked the president for the foregoing executive order, reducing the board and changing its personnel which leaves The Kernel and its allied publications in the hands of at least three men who have for years considered themselves financially responsible for their conduct and academically concerned in their problems. With the cooperation of the three students appointed by this order, we feel that we can assure those interested in student publications that they will be free at least from possibility of future embarrassment through campus politics."

Famous last lines—"But I can't marry two men!"

A few minutes before the Vanderbilt game Coach Rupp was in the coaches dressing room talking things over with some newspaper men. The gist of his lamentation was the Atlanta tournament, just a few days off, its results of the past and its speculated results of this year. From the sound of the things Rupp had to say it gave the decided impression that he did not trust tournament play.

"If I win tonight I have the right to claim the Southeastern conference championship without dispute," said the basketball mentor. "Regardless of the outcome of the tournament, we are still champions of the Southeast. The winner of the tournament is merely a tournament champion."

Each year, as far back as any of us can remember, Kentucky has been a dangerous contender for that crown; each year the Wildcats have entered the tournament one of the ceded teams, and each year they have been eliminated by an inferior team. There was no doubt in the minds of the crowds last year but that Kentucky was the best team in the South. The year before the newspaper men, just prior to the final game, placed five Kentucky men on the All-southern, but when Kentucky lost in the final they just had to place Berger of Maryland in place of Bronston, which in turn threw Worthington out of the ranking. At that there were three Wildcats on that team. We were the best! And this year we return to the tourney-favorites! Will the past hold us to the line, or will this dizzy dame Fortune smile on him. At the time I was most indignant at the deliberate fouls and the unnecessary roughness of the Commodore players. They came here with the idea that they could not beat the 'Cats playing straight ball, and that a rough game might upset the routine of their play. It did not do as they soon found out. The cause for editorial comment is that after they were found out, they couldn't take it. Coach Cody complained that the 'Cats were walking and not being called. Their heavy center, Foster, when called after a pre-meditated foul slammed the ball to the court so that it rebounded to the ceiling. It was all so unnecessary cause we could beat them without the advantage of the foul chances. We didn't like the officiating either. It was a 50-50 break for the two teams.

100 Attracted By Stroller Tryouts Approximately 100 students Tuesday attended a preliminary try-out for the Stroller spring revue which will be produced under the direction of Hugh Adcock and his assistant, James Curtis. A second try-out will be called within the next two weeks, according to a statement by the director.

Adolph Rupp and five of the worlds best basketball players? Influenza has not settled in the lair of the 'Cats this year. Four of the team are seniors. They can all take it as was evidenced in the Vanderbilt game Saturday, and at the same time they can give it. Moon Mullins, of Tennessee says of Kentucky, "I can't see any other team as Southeastern Conference champions. These two gentlemen, Sale and DeMoisey, on one and the same team will probably make the Wildcats too tough for all comers in the regular scheduled games." And that is just indicative of the ideas of the southern schools. Kentucky is, without a question, the Southeastern Conference champion, but at the same time let us hope that the same Wildcats will annex the Tournament crown next week in Atlanta!

Speaking of the way Kentucky can take it recalls the Vanderbilt

At the will of the magician she leaps twenty feet into the air to reach her trapeze. She uses no ropes, no ladders! A phenomenal leap for a woman... or a man!' EXPLANATION: Josie didn't jump... she was sprung! The twenty-foot leap is not dependent on Josie's ability, but on a powerful spring mechanism hidden beneath the stage which propels the artist upward through the air. The force is so violent that the lady wears a light steel jacket which protects her from injury as she starts her astonishing leap.

IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW' and 'Magic has its place... but not in cigarette advertising. Consider the illusion that there is a mysterious way to give cigarettes a superior "flavor." EXPLANATION: Cigarette flavor can be controlled by adding artificial flavorings. By blending. And by the quality of tobacco used. Cheap, raw tobaccos can be "built up" or "fortified" by the lavish use of artificial flavorings. Such magic, however, seldom holds the audience. Your taste finally tells you the truth. The cigarette flavor that never stales, never varies, never loses its fresh appeal, comes from mild, ripe, fragrant, more expensive tobaccos... blended to bring out the full, round flavor of each type of leaf. It's the quality of the tobacco that counts! It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Because Camel actually pays millions more every year for choice tobaccos, you find in Camels an appealing mildness, a better flavor. And Camels taste cooler because the welded Humidor Pack of three-ply, MOISTURE-PROOF cellophane keeps them fresh. NO TRICKS ..JUST COSTLIER TOBACCO'S IN A MATCHLESS BLEND'
