And you hold it down there long enough

Tennessee Meets Varsity Track Men Here Saturday

By J. D. ADAMS

The Wildcat athletes will meet their second Southern Conference test of the season Saturday when they close the University of Tennessee series at the home of the only team to defeat the Big Blue in the competition last year. A great struggle is expected, and both teams won their meets last week-end, the vols defeating scores of 834 to 2834.

The Volunteers have the best track team ever to represent the Knoxville institution, due to the fact that the University of Tennessee has abolished baseball as a collegiate sport and possibly the Knobel campus is used up for the track team.

Result of the defeat imposed upon them, by the Orange and White last season the Wildcats are anxious to whip the boys from the hills of Tennessee. But the chances are highly probable that when the Tennesseans return to their fair they will carry the seal of "Shipwreck" Kelly.

The Springfield demon, "Shipwreck" Kelly, will again flash against the Wildcat Saturday. The Knobel Kentucky captain, who is high point man in the Vandy meet last week end, will enter the centennial 220 yard dash. He will assume an additional burden when he enters the 440. The Volunteers from which he was able to place in the 100, 220, and 440, and 880 yard dashes, and the 110 yard high jump. He will also enter the javelin Saturday.

Led by such men as Clark, Captain Corbett, Hickman, and the Volunteers will put up a strong fight. Especially in the field events are the Tennesseans strong. Boasting of a shot putler, Hickman, is also well known to the Cats as a football player. He threw the iron ball 44 feet last Saturday to better the Tennessee record by two feet and is expected to do as much this Saturday. Kelly will send Andrews out to stop him if possible.

Hamilton, N. Y. (NSFA)—Girls are better sleepers than men, according to Dr. Donald Laird, "expert" on the subject of sleep and professor of psychology at Colgate University, where research in this survey was made.

An intercollegiate good sleep contest was held between the men at Colgate and the women at Skidmore college.

Resulting figures showed that girls have less trouble going to sleep, wake up fewer times during the night, are less restless, and have fewer dreams.

In addition, fewer girls have to be wakened in the morning and in general feel more peppy and less roughly and are less foggy mentally in the morning.

Prof. Laird attributes this to the theory that members of the feminine sex are neither as active physically or mentally as men.

Only four hours may be sufficient to recuperate physically, he maintains, "but mentally may need eight hours more to be completely rested."

French Club Will Be Guests of Patroness

Miss Margaret Horsfield, patroness of Le Cercle Francais, will entertain the club with an informal party Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home in Warren court. This will take the place of the annual banquet given by the French club.

At this time Misses Eleanor Dawson, Nelle Mahan, Dorothy Teegarden, and Susan Jane Turner will be pledged to Fleur de Lis, honorary French organization, for their outstanding work in the French club this year. Misses Nelle Mahan and Mary Elizabeth Price will be in charge of the program which will consist of playing bridge in French.

Sara—(Watching love scene in movies) Why don't you make love to me that way?
Frank—Say, do you know the salary he gets for doing that?
The Proper Odds
David R.—What'll we do tonight?
"Thuck Randa"—We'll spin a coin. If its heads we go to the movies, if it's tails we go to the dance—and if it stands on edge we'll study.

Dean C. W. Reeder To Speak April 25

Junior Dean C. W. Reeder, of the College of Commerce and Administration at the Ohio State University, will be the principal speaker at a meeting at the Committee on Improvement of Teaching, at 1:30 p. m., Saturday afternoon, April 25 in McVey hall. The subject of his talk will be "Improvement of Teaching at Ohio State University."

President Frank L. McVey will address the committee at 7 p. m., Friday, April 24, in McVey hall. The subject of his talk will be "What Constitutes Good Teaching."

Dean Reeder is in charge of instructional problems in the College of Commerce and Administration and is familiar with what is being done in other colleges in the matter of improvement of teaching. Ohio State is outstanding in its attempts to improve college teaching and a program emphasis has been placed upon the question relative to the improvement of teaching.

This should interest the co-eds at Princeton, a men's dancing chorus of 32 members has been organized. The director says that the public in general is tired of the "new" dances, and thinks that there is a big future in choruses composed of men. What does the director think the bald-headed men (to say nothing of the college students) secure all the front seats at musical reviews. But then the little demsel, old maid and possibly the married women who would flock to the front sections might pay.

Co-eds at Purdue are really energetic. Twenty-nine per cent of the girls enrolled in the school of home economics last year earned part of their expenses and at the same time carried the regular schedule of work.

Dean Everett Lord of Boston University says that due to the increased capacity of a college graduate a college degree is worth $72,000. How important a graduate should feel and doesn't.

A Yale alumnus believes that a New York branch of the university at the hotel Biltmore would be a need.

No novelty—Wiley: "There's an old clothes man at the door."
Hubby: "Tell him I've got all I need."

The first part of this week we went out to watch the gas center in the company of two austere gentlemen of the Carolinas.

Of the attractions along the rialto at present, the best is "Sleeping Out" at the Ben Ali. This highly amusing farce was held over for the remainder of the week and it deserves it.

Certainly one of the most talked of pictures, both in and out of the studios, is "Trader Horn." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production which begins a week's run at the Ben Ali Sunday.

We Choose At this writing (Wednesday) we select Alice Bruner to be Queen of the May.

Ordinary Occurrences It occurs to us that we have been told that the Triangle enforcement to the Girls is almost at an end.

The Girl with a Rose Mary Grace Heavenridge Pal Grace takes our rose away from us this issue because she is another of the three girls who keeps Kimega alive; because she is always bored but seldom lets other people know which we think is truly an accomplishment; because she is always active; because she has been the Kimega nominee in great many contests for campus beauty honors; because she is not nor has ever been in love with anyone; because she is not too smart; because she seldom sneers at anyone; because she is well liked by everyone who knows her.

Alpha Delta Theta Trouble

It seems that the very charming sisters of Emily Hardin, co-society editor of the Kernel, beauty and May Queen nominee, holder of other campus honors—have decided that dear Emily has too many things and that roses should be more evenly divided between the sister. They refused to support her for May Queen, instead that she withdrew from the race, acted generally like good sisters.
