W.A.A. News

The mess meeting last night was very successful. It was very interesting to hear what W.A.A. is doing at other colleges. Anne Otter's report, about the Centre co-eds and what they are doing was interesting. We also enjoyed the reports of the girls who were members of Transylvania, and U. of L. last year. The ping pong tournament will start this week. Playing may be done either in the Woman's gym, the Women's building or at Patterson hall. There will be a ten cent entry fee to cover the cost of the balls and for a small award which will be given to the winner. The tournament must be played off by the end of this month.

Next week is the last week of hockey before the tournament games. Practice is coming along fine and we have some very good players. Most of us have received bruises and such on our skins but that only makes the game more exciting. The tournament games will start the week of November 15th. Every girl out for hockey must play in two games to receive her hockey points. This is a major sport and will give you 100 points.

There will be a W.A.A. council meeting in the Women's gym Tuesday night at 7:15. Final plans for our big dance, to be held November 12th, will be made. All council members must be present. Tickets for the dance are now available. They can be obtained from Miss Warren in her office at the Women's gym any day before 4 p. m.

Friday November 12, the "Sport Queen" who will reign over the "University Swing Session," that is to be given by the U. K. Swimmers and the W. A. A. November 12th.

King, executive secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, Louisville.

Dr. Eddy To Speak At Youth Meeting

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author of twenty volumes on international relations and social and religious questions, will speak at a youth meeting at Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p. m., Sunday, November 21.

Sesqui-Centennial Pre-Christmas Services

The general program of the Sesqui-Centennial celebrating the centennial signing of the Constitution has been told in the columns of The Kernel. From time to time specific undertakings and programs will be called to the attention of the student body.

Professor Van de Wall has been requested to have charge of the matter of presenting colonial music and he is asking for the co-operation of every one of us. It seems to me that nothing can be much more fascinating than to investigate the accomplishments of our ancestors with reference to their music and drama and their art, generally. The dramatic and other artistic features of colonial life will be presented subsequently.

Professor Van de Wall is investigating the sources of our early colonial music and the English background of it. It will be a great educational achievement for us to become familiar with this phase of early American life. If this is presented in a program of Christmas music, choruses ought to be ready to perform some time before Christmas and it is none too soon for us to begin at once. I hope all who possibly can will take an active part in the effort.

How Arrow Reformed a Bad Actor

Not so long ago, all Oxford shirts were notorious shrinkers. Now there's one, at least, that isn't. It's our Arrow Gordon. For Arrow has Sanforized Gordon—making it absolutely shrink-proof (a new shirt free if we're wrong). But Sanforizing isn't Gordon's only claim to fame... it has the Mitoga form-fitting shape, too. And it's topped with the finest collar in any man's country—$2 an Arrow collar.

Midway Phi Tau led 2-0 until midway of the third quarter when successive sleeper passes to Mohney tied the score. Each team traded first downs on short runs by Cole and Baker at the last period break. Cole picked up another Phi Tau point on a quick snap, but A. Baker retaliated with a 20 yard pass to H. Walker, good for another point. At one stage in the game, on consecutive plays, each team was penalized 15 yards for holding. SAE lost 30 yards via this route and Phi Tau's 55.
In the most spectacular game played so far this year, ATO came through with a strong last half presentation to gain the final round in the once beaten bracket with a 9-0 win over Sigma Nu. ATO flashed a well guarded running attack several nice punter punts and with Carr inflicting the heaviest damage, led 5-0 at the half. Midway in the third quarter the ATO offense came to life and scored two first downs on passes from Scott to A. Angelich and Williams, placing the ball on the Sigma Nu 25 yard line. Scott then fired a pass to Williams in the flat zone to tie right and with a flus, catch, Williams scored for ATO. This annulled all the downs and sent ATO ahead by 8-0. From here out the ATO team seemed filled with new life and legs the ball deep in Sigma Nu territory and as the game ended had a first down on the 10 yard line, due to a 20 yard end run by Fisher.
The final round in the horse shoe doubles tournament has been reached with Brown and Pihurat, Independents opposing Hund and Saunders from Alpha Sigma Phi in the Championship match. Tennis, due to inclement weather, has been confined to a few scattered games, in which no one player was able to make any noticeable advancement. One game of the week did result in a mild upset when Powers, Sigma Chi, eliminated Dotson, one of the favored Kappa Sig. With the activities being conducted at present due to be ended in the near future, volleyball is next on the list to be gotten under way.

Seeing the University Man
WITH ROBERT S. COHEN

A most predominating article of attire is the shirt. For the man who sticks to the tried collar style, R. S. Cohen & Sons are displaying the Round-love collar, a new round tabular tab.
The Surray, an authentic English collar shirt, is also well recommended. Both shirts have french cuffs and are obtainable in all of the new stripe patterns.

If you're the type who relishes stiff collars— you need no more fared. Angriest & Ringe bring to you a most interesting array of detachable collar shirts.
Today's newest are the pleated front style in the smart dark tones. And the semi-boom, which may be secured in all of the new color combinations.
Concerning the sizes shirts mentioned in this column may be had in all sizes.

Bayman's, this week, are showing the Cordovan shoe, all styles of which are receiving a remarkable revival of popularity. One of the most popular patterns is the full wing tip English style brogue—built over a full toe custom last particularly designed for wing tip styles. This shoe is carried in all over genuine shell Cordovan in a rich brown mahogany shade.

Shop Sights

Up to now there has been no much discussion over sweaters, shirts and sport clothes in general. One is almost led to believe that there's a silk dress in captivity. But with Thanksgiving less than a month away and the Christmas holidays coming soon after, maybe we should glance at the familiar Japanese import. And, although we still advocate wool, there are some campus activities where a silk dress is usable. Mrs. McVey's Wednesday tea ranks.
Denton's Cartwright dresses range from size 9 to 17. One 13 named "First Prize" comes in either royal blue or light hunter's green. It's short length sleeves are piped in gold kid along with the collarless neck. Small covered buttons from the waist upward are stopped at each end by a gold kid bow 10 inches in length. The skirt is full.
Another called "Three Cheers" in goldsport brown which is similar to a deep chocolate, is shirtwaist style with six thin bands of rust, white and green braid on the circular skirt and on the cuffs of the long tight sleeves. A row of buttons up the front leads to a white pique collar and a cluster of yarn flowers.
A third answers to "Play Day" and is solid black with white French lace about three quarters of an inch wide circling the neck and continuing to the hem passing between pairs of green glass buttons. The long sleeves have lace on the flared cuffs, swing skirt and hem only in the back.
The one featuring what they call a cocktail dress. Others might know it as the "don't dress for dinner" type. Anyway it's usually two piece or has that effect and leans strongly toward the sophisticated. A good example of one is black with a short coat that is bordered with a blue sequin that is bordered with a short komona sleeve, flared skirt and a subdued green sash that flows to the hem.
A second one has a two piece effect, cowl neck, short, puffed sleeves, straight skirt with no flare or pleat and on the wide band forming the bottom of the blouse blue flowers cut of spools. Incidentally the dress is black.
The Phi Money department on the third floor at B. B. Smith and Co., also have a wide selection of these holiday duds. One has an alpaca skirt which is very much like sheer wool georgette, marquisette top with long sleeves and two rinstone clips at the "V" neck.
Another black is crepe with a full skirt, short sheered sleeves, wide belt with a bold gold leaf design in front and again the twisted material forming the neck.
When thinking of hats one just naturally thinks to Meyer and Hinkle because their variety is really the apex of all headgear. Such things as black velvet turbans with an ostrich plum over the right side and a veil down the back, a pill box black velvet with dark blue and black feathers in the front, a tall starched felt that closely resembles an inverted water pail with a rhinestone clip on the front side, high crown velvet turbans with sequence or metal trim with a veil all around.
And at the mention of shoes the Byckley modes shown at Wolf-Wiles are considered first by many. This is easily seen in the outfit which

BULL PEN

By GEORGE H. KERLER

YOUR undomesticated football felines will square off with eleven fowls, generally known as the South Carolina Gamecocks, tomorrow over yonder on the Stoll block garden where Kentucky will attempt to run its string of victories on the Rose and Euclid acreage to three straight. Way back in September, when Alabama was just another tough team Kentucky would have to knock apart, South Carolina seemed like a scheduled guarantee of triumph. But now, with the gent from the land of Calhoun recognized as a hot-today cold-tomorrow bunch and with the Wildcats decidedly put in place by the Crimson Flood, the Gamecocks loom as a flock capable of doing a competent job of taxidermy on the Wildcats.

The invaders are hosts to one of the longest schedules in the nation. They debuted September 18 and will curtail December 3, a span including 12 games which is something you and I might label, a lengthy picnic docket.

Coming from the foremost sessionistic state the South Carolinians have inherited the will to secede from the form sheet. They rapped Emory & Henry in their opener and then for no good reason tied North Carolina which since then has beaten N. Y. U. and Tulane. The Gamecocks third fight came with Georgia who managed to down them and next came Alabama who feathered them, 20-0, just 21 points less than the Tide washed us. Picking up their marbles bewilderedly, the Columbian trounced Davidson in the following bout, were ressed by Clemson, 34-6, in the big state fair game; and then thumped The Citadel by two touchdowns last week.

Certainly, South Carolina's 1937 gridiron past is nothing Rosebolic but it evidences that they have the habit of strutting into games with the will to upset. If they're hot tomorrow there will be no stopping them. Because they have not jolted a formidable opponent since the North Carolina shocker, the barnyard big-hits are aiming to keep the 'Cats seated firmly on the defeat toboggan.

Reverting to the happy W & L and Manhattan afternoons, Kentucky appears to be a team of the hot-cold variety. Should both squads tomorrow be anything near warm the scrap ought to be hard on the spectators' voice boxes. But despite the comparative temperatures of the teams, Saturday's tussle is a natural. The squads unimpressive records, yet there Saturday's tussle is a natural. The squads have unimpressive records, yet there lurks the element of strength and surprise within both clubs. A victory for either team will show it back onto Prosperity Pike. Most of all, it's a game Kentucky definitely needs.

In fact, to be dramatic about it, this is a Kentucky must game. We must win. To lose to a sentiment-loaded rival like Alabama by 41 points does something to a team's spite muscles. It's tough to come back home thoroughly licked. The hopes have been crushed and the folks are critical. If you took a few minutes off one of these post-Alabama afternoons and watched the 'Cats practice, you contradicted the idea that Kentucky was starting all over again. The flag that flew so loftily after the Manhattan battle was shot down and trampled by the Red Elephants. And now, with six games behind them, the Wynnemen are forced to feed their spirit some pep vitamins. Nothing will reestablish their faith as much as a clean win over South Carolina. If the scoreboard goes against Kentucky tomorrow, you may regard the remainder of the season with uneasiness.

Speaking of watching the Kentuckys practice recalls the faithful handful that always turns out after the Wildcats lose a game. Whenever they win the crowd that populates the fence is overflowing. Just let the team lose and the spectators have more important things to do than scouting the team for their own edification. More important things like decorating sorority sofas or drooping over Bertha.

Yet on Saturday these same spectators, who condemn the squad over soft drinks, make less inspirational noise at the game than do the four faithful scribbles who observe Wadcatism from the press box. Loften wonder how the footballers feel when not even the student body has a friendly word for them when they lose nor even a spirited cheer for them at the game. Put yourself in their place. You wouldn't like it.

Carolina's coach, Don McCallister, brings a troop of veterans to Lexington. However, it's not a great team and it hasn't done anything monumental this year. They have two backfield threats in Bob Snider and Ed Clary. Somebody has brightened Snider's name with such adjective flourishes as All-American and "one of the best backs in the South." Clary is a member of South Carolina's famous athletic family. He is the third brother to shine on the Gamecocks' football team. Their reserves are three deep and they can be pestiferous.

Many of the Columbia players hail from Ohio. McCallister used to coach at Toledo high school and lots of his secondary school boys followed him to Columbia.

There is little reason why Kentucky should lose this game tomorrow. Bob Davis and Hodge have taken it easy this week and are about back in harness. Red Simpson is due to turn in a praiseworthy game and thus make his coach a happy man. Dameron Davis ought break loose somewhere along here. The whole team is bound to click gratifyingly.

Prognostication hit a new low last week. Only 13 out of 23 which is bush league picking. There was one glittering error last Friday. But somebody mixed up the names and got the numbers reversed. Anyway, hold your breath.

Rupps Begin Net Preps; Strong Foes Scheduled

By YAG N. NIVRAM

Under the skillful tutelage of Coach Adolph Rupps, the Wildcats began hard work Monday afternoon to prepare themselves to fight in defense of the Southeastern Conference basketball crown, which they captured last season by triumphing in the annual tournament at Knoxville.

From the amount of pep vim and vigor displayed by the "champs" as they went determinedly about their work, prospects for another title must be considered bright despite the loss of some key men from last season's five. Ralph "Mighty" Carlisle, forward, and Capt. Warfield Donohue, guard, both all tournament selections, were lost by graduation in addition to Gorfth, guard, and McIntosh, center.

Despite the fact that the 'Cat schedule contains many of the nation's crack outfits, genial Coach Rupps is confident that his boys will make a commendable fight in defense of their "Big 13" crown, and will finish high among the country's ranking teams.

Highlight of a season studded with brilliant and important games is the contest between the 'Cats and Pittsburgh's Panthers, December 29, in the annual Sugar Bowl battle at New Orleans. According to Mentor Rupps the Wildcats' chances of winning this tilt have been greatly lessened as five lettersmen, Hodge, Davis, Ellington, Curtis, and Hagan, will be unable to report until December 4, when the football season ends. In addition Spears, a promising center from last fall's star freshman aggregation, will report with these lettersmen.

Coach Rupps has his heart set on winning this Sugar Bowl contest, as no Southern quintet has ever been able to squeeze through with a victory. And, when the former Katsin makes up his mind to win a contest, the 'Cats generally come through. During his triumphant seasons at Kentucky, Rupps' Blue and White squads won 122 games, and lost 21, and in addition have finished first in the conference six times and have won two tournament championships.

Several years ago Pittsburgh's Panthers unwisely ventured to meet Kentucky in the Wildcat lair, and they received the thrashing of their lives. Kentucky led the famed Pitt five, Eastern Intercollegiate Champs last season, 22-2 at the hall, (P. S. The Mighty Panthers did slightly better during the final period and managed to make five or six goals.)

Other highlights of the 1937-38 season are tilts with Notre Dame, Creighton, Marquette, Michigan State, Alabama, and Tennessee.

Lettersmen now fighting fiercely for starting positions are Captain Walker and Thompson, centers; Head and Tie, forwards; and Opper, guard. These men will be hard pressed by several brilliant sophomores including Clugish, 6 foot 8 inch center; Croodman and Denham, forwards; and Rouse, guard.

Other men battling for recognition in the Wildcat net firm are Harris Walker, Harris, Combs, Doyle, Trivette, Bertram, Halcher, Couch, Prezza, and Heineman.

The 1937-38 basketball schedule follows:

- Dec. 18—Cincinnati, here
- Dec. 22—Centenary, here

CAN PEOPLE REALLY TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCO'S ?

The Best Answer is This...

Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

JOE VOLLMEYER, graduate student: "After long hours of concentrating—or at any other time when I feel tired—I get a mighty welcome 'lift' in energy with a Camel."

EVELYN CHANDLER, figure skater: "What an asset good digestion is! I smoke Camels during meals and after. They do help to keep my digestion in order."

GENE SARAZEN, golf champion: "I've walked, I guess, thousands of miles around golf courses with Camels. They never throw my nerves out of tune."

JOANNA DE TUSCAN—fencing champion: "I enjoy smoking—I find that with Camels I can smoke often. Camels don't give me ragged nerves."

FRED McDANIEL, Texas rancher: "Me and Camels have been getting along mighty fine for 15 years. I never saw the beat of Camels."

IRENE SHERWOOD, shopper: "Noon-time is one of my busiest times. That's why 'for digestion's sake'—smoke Camels! means so much to me."

RAY WINTERS, radio announcer: "Camels suit me! And that goes for my throat especially. Can't remember when Camels ever scratched my throat."

MRS. VINCENT MURRAY, home-maker: "Believe me, I appreciate how mild Camels are! I smoke steadily. Camels don't leave any 'cigarette' after-taste."

Year in and year out, Camel pays millions more for finer tobaccos. And smokers do appreciate the added pleasure this means to them!

CAMEL'S use of choicer, costlier tobaccos has been the subject of much discussion. The question has often been raised as to whether or not people could tell the difference.

The way smokers feel gives the answer! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America, and the world.

If you are not a Camel smoker, perhaps you, too, would enjoy a cigarette with a richer, cooler taste. Turn, then, to Camels. Put them to the severest test—smoke them steadily. You'll realize how true it is that there is no substitute for costlier tobacco.

THE CAMEL CARAVAN

COSTLIER TOBACCO'S IN A MATCHLESS BLEND
