FOREWORD

This Directory is sent out with the hope that it may prove valuable to visitors, transients, and new residents, as well as to citizens of long standing in Washington County, in order that each one may be able to find without difficulty a Church home wherein he may worship and serve God. Let it be thought of as not merely a Directory but an invitation to enter the house of God and worship Him in the beauty of holiness. As America is traditionally a land of religious freedom, every citizen has the privilege of worshipping according to the dictates of his conscience. Therefore, all religious groups and denominations are herein listed with all helpful information available.

It is our earnest hope and prayer that this service may be of untold spiritual value to many, bringing them in touch with their Creator and Savior, comforting, relieving, and renewing them through the supernatural powers of the One Who is Almighty.

Rev. Robert King, D. D.
President,
Johnson City Ministerial Association

PREFACE

The Directory of Churches, Missions, and Religious Institutions of Tennessee: Washington County, Jonesboro is one of a series of volumes designed to serve as handbooks for ministers, laymen, students, and research specialists in the field of church history and in sociological and genealogical investigations. The information contained in this volume will be incorporated in a State-wide Directory to be published at a future date. The preparation of this Directory is a necessary preliminary step to insure completeness of inclusion of all churches in the Inventory of the Church Archives of Tennessee being issued in denominational volumes by the Tennessee Historical Records Survey. The number assigned to this Directory, 90, merely indicates the alphabetical position of Washington among the counties of the State.

It is the nature of a directory to defy completion. The absence of any similar listing, however, and the belief that such a directory would be of value to students as a handbook have been additional factors resulting in the issuance of this volume. The churches, missions, and religious institutions are listed by denominations and local affiliations together with their locations, dates of organizations, and the pastors' names and addresses. The preparation of this Directory involved examinations of printed and manuscript church minutes, yearbooks, city and church directories, and institutional catalogs. These were supplemented by personal interviews with religious and institutional officials. The denominational lists were checked with members of the respective faiths. Defunct as well as active churches are included; publications, boards, and institutions of the denominations in Tennessee are indicated. Similar directories have been issued for the counties of Davidson, Hamilton, Knox, and Shelby.

Washington County lies in the extreme northeastern section of Tennessee. It is the State's oldest county, being erected in 1777 as a county of the State of North Carolina, and existed subsequently as a part of the Territory of the United States South of the River Ohio before Tennessee was admitted to the Union. With a population of 51,631 in 1940, it is the seventh largest county in Tennessee. Jonesboro is the county seat, but Johnson City is the largest municipality in the county, and fifth largest city in the State. The Tennessee Historical Records Survey has operated in close cooperation with Washington County, an official cosponsor of the project.

This Directory was compiled by Work Projects Administration workers under the supervision of Robert Cassell, Church Archives Editor of the Tennessee Survey; Tulah W. Fields, Ballard O. Donnell, and Reginald B. Martin rendered much assistance. The field work in Washington County was conducted by Mary B. Mosier, Sidney G. Edgar, and Ruth H. Stuart under the supervision of Edith L. Pierce, District Supervisor. This volume was prepared in accordance with instructions from the Washington Office of the Historical Records Survey Program; detailed editorial comment and criticism of the book have been made by Donald A. Thompson, Assistant Archivist in charge of Church Archives Inventories. The final draft was typed and stencils were cut by Helen P. Allen, Patsy R. Floyd, and Emma McCown.

Preface

This volume is preliminary and is subject to revision. Corrections and additional information are solicited and should be addressed to the State Supervisor, 305 Davidson County Courthouse, Nashville.

Up to the present time, approximately 1600 publications have been issued throughout the nation by the Survey Program. In Tennessee, the Survey is engaged in a program of preparing guides and inventories to county and municipal archives, church archives, manuscript depositories and collections, and early American imprints, and making transcriptions of basic public records, chiefly early county court minutes.

A list of the publications of the Tennessee Historical Records Survey follows the indexes to this Directory. The publications of the Historical Records Survey projects in all states are limited in number and in consequence are placed in designated centrally located depositories. Inquiries requesting the locations of the nearest depositories should be addressed to the State Supervisors or to the Division of Community Service Programs, Work Projects Administration, Washington, D. C., for attention of the Director of the Historical Records Survey Program.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

All addresses in this Directory are in Washington County unless otherwise indicated. Addresses of the individual churches are shown with respect to the nearest community. In a few instances, names of churches, institutions, or individuals whose addresses or locations are outside of Washington County have been included because of their connection with or relation to organizations in Washington County. All of the churches are listed alphabetically under their denominational affiliations.

The full names and addresses of persons mentioned are given in all cases where the information was available. The exact location of each church or institution is given according to the latest available information. Spelling of street names follows the Johnson City City Directory (1940).

The date of organization is that claimed officially by the church.

The classification system used in this Directory, is, in general, that used by the United States Bureau of the Census, Religious Bodies: 1936. The affiliations and chief officials of the various denominations have been given to avoid any possible confusion; publications, boards, institutions, and services in Tennessee pertaining to the various denominations have also been included.

Defunct churches, being those which have lapsed or merged with other churches, are listed wherever information on them was available. Where indicated, the dates given are the organization date and the defunct date; the pastor is the last regular one serving the church.

Although this Directory is preliminary to a State-wide listing to be issued subsequently, all of the information in this volume has been checked with the various denominational leaders for accuracy and completeness.

Besides an alphabetical index of pastors and executives and a church and institutional name index, this book includes a community index indicating the location in Washington County of all the churches listed.
