Stillwell-Hughes
Miss Beulah Stillwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stillwell, of Lexington, and Mr. George Edwin Hughes, of Repton, were married Saturday morning in Paris by Rev. D. B. Crockett.

Mrs. Hughes is graduate of the University of Kentucky and of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and of Phi Beta, honorary music sorority.

Mr. Hughes also attended the university where he was member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

After spending a few days the young couple will return to Lexington where they will make their home.

Alpha Xi Banquet
Founders' day in the Alpha Xi Delta sorority was observed by a delightful banquet Saturday evening at the Lafayette hotel.
The decorations were baskets containing the pink rose of Alpha Xi and place cards carrying out the rose design.

Following the annual custom of Xi chapter in presenting an Alpha Xi Delta jeweled pin to the pledge having the highest standing, Miss Margaret Grider was given the award, Miss Eleanor Ballantine making the presentation.
The following girls were present at the banquet: Misses Eleanor Ballantine, Elizabeth Morris, Louise Atkins, Anna Louise Wise, Katherine Brown, Mrs. T. A. WORK WELL DONE

The publication of last week's Kernel marked the final issue of the year under the old regime. That paper marked the culmination of a year's work. In assuming control of the paper the new editors can not be content with commenting on the work of the retiring staff.

It is not an easy task to publish a paper like this week in and week out for a period of nine months. But when the editor of such a paper only accomplishes this feat remarkably well, but also completely changes the mechanical layout to great advantage; when he has successfully introduced many new features and maintained a paper strong and well balanced in all its departments; and with these improvements has for the first time made every single issue appear on time; that editor deserves the highest praise that can be given by his successors.

The Kernel wishes to take this opportunity of commending the work of Morris, the retiring managing editor. When editor-in-chief Estes returned to school "Ottie" was confronted with the task of performing single-handed the tasks mentioned above. During the whole year that he had charge of the paper and during which time the present editor had the pleasure of serving under him, he always had the interests of The Kernel most in his heart. His record is his highest praise.

It is the business department less deserving of commendation. Under the efficient direction of Jack Warren, business manager, that department has set every previous record. It is largely owing to Jack's capability in the financial affairs of the paper that last year, for the first time in its history, The Kernel was published entirely with its own plant, and chased its own linotype machine and printing press.

Of high praise also are those graduating seniors, who in their capacities—as associate editors, reporters, and special writers—have done the paper faithfully and long in their respective positions. Those who have thus worked on The Kernel and who will be graduated in June are: a McElroy, Curtis Buehler, Virginia Kelley, Edith Minihan, Maria Leton, Frances Lee, J. L. Crawford, R. C. Claxton, and Kyle Whitehead. We and all, the editor, business manager, and reporters, The Kernel express its appreciation of their "work well done."

LOOKING FORWARD

In coming with this issue of The Kernel the 1926-27 staff has charge of the university weekly. Last Friday with the appearance of the paper on the campus the work of the former staff closed and the new began.

Looking backward over the year just past, The Kernel sees a year of growth and achievements. Looking forward into the year during which it will be the privilege of the new staff to publish the paper, The Kernel sees a lustrous task, a challenge, an opportunity. With the splendid work of the retiring staff as an incentive, the new staff will be spurred on to greater efforts in performing this service; in accepting the challenge; in making use of its opportunity.

The Kernel will make no radical change in its editorial policy at the present time. It will continue to endeavor to supply a combination of university news, humor and intellectual incentive which we hope shall be acceptable to its readers. Above all during the forthcoming year its aim will be to represent the student body and faculty of the University of Kentucky.

In the last few years the Kernel has assumed a foremost place among the student publications of the universities of the South. It is the ambition of its new editors to maintain this position acquired by their predecessors, and, if possible, to advance it. Whether they will be successful in their attempt, time alone will tell. But in assuming the offices devolved upon them, they do so with a firm determination to succeed in representing the Kentucky student body has their pledge that whatever the result may be, its editors will give their best efforts to the service of the Kernel.

ADMISSIONS CHANGED

Lawyers to Have Equivalent of High School Examination Before Taking Examination

One of the Kentucky Kernel's following letter from Charles J. Turck, relative to the requirements for admission to the Bar in Kentucky: "March 30, 1926. The Kernel, University of Kentucky.

"The Court of Appeals last week amended the rules for admission to the Bar in a way which represents a distinct forward step in the movement to require higher standards for those intending to practice law in Kentucky. The more important changes will not be effective until July 1, 1928, but from that time on, the applicant must show that he is a graduate of a standard high school or that he has satisfactorily concluded at least one year of academic work in a college, the entrance requirements for which are as high as those required for a high school graduation, or he must present satisfactory evidence that he is eligible to take the entrance examination to any college.

"At the present time there is no definite standard for the Kentucky Bar Examiners to apply in regard to the academic training of the applicants, but this amended rule will serve to prevent men with defective elementary education from attempting to take the bar examination. Furthermore another amendment adopted last week provides that the Board of Examiners in grading examination papers should take into consideration the general education of the applicants as manifested in their papers. This provision likewise is aimed to raise the general standing of culture and training on the part of those who apply for admission to the bar.

"Kentucky" thus emerges from a list of over twenty states that have no definite provision for the academic training of candidates of the bar. It is interesting to note that while Kentucky is the twenty-third state to require high school graduation, two states (Colorado and Illinois) require one year of college work and three states (Kansas, Montana and West Virginia) require two years of college work.

"It will thus be seen that there is a gradual tendency to require candidates for admission to the bar adequate preliminary work in a college and those who believe in the dignity and worth of the lawyers calling are bending their efforts uncompromisingly in that direction. If college training can be required of doctors who minister to life, surely it can also be required of those who administer to that which is dearer than life, the idea of liberty and justice according to law.

"Another change which is effective on and after July 1, 1928, is that which requires that every applicant must have studied law for a period of not less than two years, one year of which study must have been by attendance upon a law school. This change is in line with the general recognition on the part of the profession that the busy law office today is an unsatisfactory place in which to study law, and law schools have a definite function to perform in training the young men in the science of the law. It will perhaps not be long before the State of Kentucky will require three years of law study, in as much as thirty-one states including the District of Columbia already require three years. No standard law school endeavors to give a thorough course in law in any shorter period.

"The recognition of the importance of law school study in the amended rules gives ground for the hope that the period of study in law schools will be gradually extended until it equals that required in other states.

"The Court of Appeals and the Kentucky Bar Association deserve the thanks of the entire Commonwealth for the new regulations which safeguard, to some extent at least, all who depend on lawyers for advice and counsel and who have a right to expect that the lawyers will be men of wisdom and learning. The Committee of the Bar Association which advocated the higher standards adopted, consist of: Mr. R. H. Winn, chairman, Mt. Sterling; L. A. Faurest, Elizabethtown; T. L. Edelen, Frankfort; W. L. Porter, Glasgow; George

R. Hunt, Lexington; S. S. Willis, Ashland; B. R. Joutet, Winchester. "Very truly yours, "CHAS. J. TURCK, "Charles J. Turck, Dean."

Recently, the time spent in eating, sleeping, studying and playing by each student of Northwestern University was recorded for one week in order to discover just how students spend their time. This is the first time that such a survey has been attempted and universities all over the east and west are eagerly awaiting the results.

Where dependability is vital IN connection with a new pumping station at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, additional feeder mains were required. It was necessary that one of these should carry an unusually large proportion of the water supply, and 54-inch pipe was decided upon. Although pipe of material other than cast iron had a lower first cost, Cast Iron Pipe was chosen because the possibility of interruption to service had to be reduced to a minimum. then I began to get suspicious. At the meeting all the officers in turn arose and gave us the same speech only in different words, all being like this:

"Women students, upholders of the standards of the university, it grieves us very much that some of you aren't keeping the rules of course, most of them don't matter, they are put in the book to fill up the pages, and so we can show visitors we have rules, but this rule about automobiling is meant to be serious, not ornamental. One of the girls in this assembly (and we are looking right at her) has been caught out riding about 9 o'clock in the evening with a young gentleman. To be more explicit, they were about three quarters of a mile out Nicholasville pike, when the county patrol turns them Lexingtonward because they claim the young man was driving with one hand while with the other, he held the young lady's hand."

When they got that far, I was so shocked I was about to leave. Imagining being that far out a pike and holding hands! Disgraceful, I call it.

"In order to punish the young lady," went on the voice, "we are going to teach her not to act so unwisely again by 'catpusing' her for a month. Remember, no matter how glorious the motor, nor how thrillingly mysterious the pike, or how enticing the evening of the sport roadster, and no matter how attractive the man, don't go out automobiling or the gobins will (in the form of the patrol) git you, if you Don't Watch Out!"

Well, I left that meeting with a firm resolve not to go driving even with one of the Pilgrim fathers, and in fact I tells Akkie as much, and adds what I think of a girl what would hold hands. "Ain't it just awful," I says, "what's this generation coming to?"

Akkie said nothing. She just sat and looked funny. Was it Akkie? Ye gods, it was Akkie! Akkie, the one who held hands!

THE CRAB SESSION

Edited by THE CRAB P. O. Box 2193

Time for me to do a little crabbing myself. Here we have started a column for you folks to get your complaints aired out in public, and after a spasmodic attempt at contributing, you get tired of the effort and slack up. Come on now, and jar loose. This column isn't just for my own edification. It is for you, and I am merely the machine to keep it in order. Perhaps the name is apt to give the wrong impression of the idea of the column. Don't think that you have to do a lot of griping to get your letters published. What this column is for, is to give you a chance to discuss pro and con, the good and bad points of life. One regular contributor is doing his stuff. Here he is again. You go to your classes so sleepy you're dense. An eight o'clock class is a pest. You take off your coat, lean back in your seat, and decide that you'll have some rest. You go to sleep. No trouble at all. In fact it's almost a shame. You're snoring away, and enjoying life, when you hear someone speaking your name. You've heard your name, no doubt about that,—but it's the professor's voice. He's speaking loud, but you were asleep. And still you heard the noise! Gosh! ain't it fierce?

I can sympathize with the contributor in his dilemma. I've been there. Perhaps I wasn't snoring, but I was surely asleep, and suddenly I awoke to the fact that Dr. Jennings had called on me. All that I could toss at him was, "I didn't quite understand your question." I won't say what his answer was.

"Tell me, please, just what reason there was for that bloomin' Prof. to send his wife to give us a test when he was sick and couldn't be there? Why did he have to punish us because he had a light attack of indisposition? Was there any reason why we shouldn't enjoy ourselves at such a time? I see no other reason for sickness in the faculty than to give the poor, hard-working (?) students a vacation once in a while. And the worst of it was that he sent his wife. It wouldn't have been so much like rubbing it in if he had gotten another instructor to do it for him, but to send his wife! I already have plans laid for his punishment. I think I will defer it until after this semester is over, though."

Now you see what one history student thinks. I could say the same thing for a certain education class, too, only the Prof. wasn't sick. He was out of town to be had another instructor take the class, and we had such a nice time discussing expenditures, expenses, cost, and so on. And we worked the cutest little problem. Grrrrr.

I'd really like to publish more than two contributions in an issue, but if you won't send in more than two, I can't do it. Just get a little ambitious, and write down some time what you have to object to. It won't take but a few minutes, and it will do you a lot of good to get it off your chest, and it will do me a lot of good to get some more help for this column. Several of the contributions have been just periods in a long discourse. I couldn't use them, because they were about something of which I knew nothing. So if you haven't seen your own pet kick in here, write it again more fully and I will be glad to use it. Sign your names, so I can get in touch with you if there is something which is not quite clear.

Cincinnati Will Come Here For Game Tuesday

ANGER VICTORY INSPIRATION

Boys Hope To Add Second Straight Win at Expense of Queen City Aggregation; Players 'Take It' Races

FIRST GAME POSTPONED

Coch Fred Murphy's Wildcats will meet the University of Cincinnati Bearcats in the next home game here today afternoon.

Although the opening contest of the season for the Blues was scheduled with the Queen City team, the Weather Man stepped in and ruined everything, causing the indefinite postponement of the game.

With the boys in better form right now than they have been in past seasons at this time of the year they should be able to turn back the Bears, provided, however, that they play up to the form that they displayed against the Georgetown Tigers last Saturday afternoon.

This exhibition was inspiring enough for most any fan and showed local people that Kentucky will be a factor in the baseball race in the South this season.

POOR TIGERS!

The manner in which the Wildcats sat the Georgetown Tigers on their heads out on Stoll field last Saturday afternoon is enough to warrant something much better than a last place club in the Southern Conference this season. Although Kentucky has not, as yet, played a conference game, they should be victorious in the majority of them if they perform as inspiringly as they did against Georgetown.

Kentucky will entertain the Cincinnati Bearcats here next Tuesday afternoon and our boys are eager to register their second win at the expense of the good team from Ohio.

Skinner twirled a mighty fine game in his first start although a trifle wild. Bradbury, the first man up, got a questionable single off him and from here on he held the enemy at bay without a hit.

THE INEVITABLE GRIPING

Although our track team lost to Vandy, there is no disgrace in the defeat as some of the pessimists of the campus have thought and said since the boys' return from Nashville.

If some would come out and try, instead of griping about those who do try and fail, the University of Kentucky would be better off, it appears to me

And here's a funny headline:
DAMMED RIVER FORMS VERY BEAUTIFUL LAKE
And if I were that newspaper I'd be ashamed of myself.

We were talking about the up and down style of capitalization on the local papers the other morning and took the word "university" as an example.

"The university is down on 'The Lexington Herald,' I remarked.

"And so's Frank Norris," soliloquised some wise bird.

I heard they performed an operation on the local papers the other night. But I'll be darned if I can see any change in them—at least they didn't miss any issues.

"That's the fly in the ointment," remarked the trainer of the Yankees as Ruth's long home run Tuesday landed in the can of liniment.

Which reminds me the races start tomorrow!

Ye wheekums!

GREENS AND BLUES TIE; GRID PRACTICE ENDS

(By TOM COCHRAN)

Spring football practice was brought to an end at the University of Kentucky Tuesday afternoon when two picked teams, consisting of university men, clashed in a game on Stoll field. The two elevens emerged with honors even after a struggle that lasted nearly two hours. The score was 12 to 12.

The Green team, led by Pisgah Maloney, seemed in the early stages to be better than the Blue, led by Jimmie Pence. The Greens had things going their way during the first half but the foe came back in the second period and outplayed them.

The Greens were the first to score. Early in the first period Knadler, Blue quarterback, attempted to punt, but the ball striking one of his own men. It was recovered by the Green team and on the first play Jenkins went through the line 10 yards for a touchdown. The Maloney men almost immediately followed this up with another. The Blues kicked off to Phipps who brought the ball back to the 35 yard line. On the next play, Mohney took a pretty pass from Jenkins and sprinted 50 yards for a score.

The Blue scored late in the second quarter when King intercepted a pass and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. The score at the end of the first half was 12 to 6 in favor of the Greens.

In the third quarter, with the ball in the Blue team's possession on their opponent's 35-yard strip, Ott made a series of line plunges and went over the line for the touchdown that knotted the count, ending the scoring for both teams. The game ended with the ball in possession of the Green team on its own 3-yard line.

The work of Mohney and Gib stood out for the Greenies while Ott, King and Ellis did quite well for the Blues.

WILDCATS DEFEAT TIGERS 10 TO 0

Five Kentucky Pitchers Hold Tigers to Three Hits and Win First Ball Game of Season; Riffe Leads Hitters

BRADBURY GETS TWO HITS

By driving out a deluge of 13 hits, including a home run by Captain Riffe, the Wildcats put to rout the Georgetown Tigers and defeated them to the tune of 10 to 0 here last Saturday.

Coach Murphy used 19 players, every man on the squad getting a chance to show his wares. Five pitchers offered their slants to the Tigers during the course of the game, and allowed the Scott aggregation only three hits. Captain Riffe led the hitting, with Miller, Vossmeier, Anderson, Skinner, and Franceway close behind him, the latter two with perfect percentages. Bradbury accounted for two of Georgetown's safeties.

GESS TIES S. C. MARK FOR HALF

Runs Distance in 2:02.2 to Win; Brady Makes 20 of 25 Possible Points; Performance of Root is Outstanding

COONS TAKES HIGH JUMP

(By C. M. DOWDEN)
The Kentucky track team, accompanied by Coach Ray Eklund and Manager Woods, went to Nashville Saturday and under a broiling southern sun lost the initial meet of the year to Vanderbilt, the final score being 68-49.

A late spring and inability to utilize the track except for a few days before the meet, kept the 'Cat artists off the cinders and out of condition, with the result that one-half of the entire team was unable to register a point. Fast time predominated in all track events, though some of the field performances were hardly up to standard.

Partly soothing the sting of Kentucky's defeat were the brilliant performances of Brady, Root and Gess. Brady lived up to a well-deserved reputation of being the best all-around track man in the South by annexing 20 points, taking first in the pole vault and 100-yard dash, second in both hurdles, and tying with Roberts, of Vanderbilt, for broad-jump honors.

In Bill Gess, the University of Kentucky possesses a track man with a future. After running second in the quarter, Gess captured the half, negotiating the distance in faster time than it had ever before been traveled on the Vanderbilt track. His time was clocked at 2:02.2, tying the Southern conference record for the distance.

Root took both hurdle events easily, and shows promise of developing into one of the best men in these tests in the country.

The following men made the trip: Brown, Brame, Akin, Creech, Brady, Gess, Root, Coons, Kirkendall, Anglin, Tracy and Dowden.

The summaries:
100-yard dash—Brady, Kentucky, first; Chesney, Vanderbilt, second. Time: 10 3-5 seconds.
1-mile run—A. H. Smith, Vanderbilt, first; Van Order, Vanderbilt, second. Time 4.49.
220-yard dash—Blake, Vanderbilt, first; Chesney, Vanderbilt, second. Time :23 3-5.
120-yard high hurdles—Root, Kentucky, first; Brady, Kentucky, second. Time :15 4-5.
440-yard dash—Blake, Vanderbilt, first; Gess, Kentucky, second. Time :51 3-5.
2-mile run—Terrill, Vanderbilt, first; Wilson, Vanderbilt, second. Time 10:55.
280-yard low hurdles—Root, Kentucky, first; Hooff, Vanderbilt, second. Time, 2:02 1-5.
Pole vault—Brady, Kentucky, first; Nance, Vanderbilt, second. Height: 11 feet, 5 inches.
Shot put—Bryan, Vanderbilt, first; Keen, Vanderbilt, second. Distance 38 feet, 1 inch.
High jump—Coons, Kentucky, first; Chesney, Vanderbilt and R. Smith, Vanderbilt, tied for second place. Height 5 feet, 5 inches.
Discus—Peterson, Vanderbilt, first; Anglin, Kentucky, second. Distance 119 feet, 3 inches.
Broad jump—Brady, Kentucky, Roberts, Vanderbilt, tied for first place. Distance 21 feet, 9 inches.
Javelin—Peterson, Vanderbilt, first; Creech, Kentucky, second. Distance 168 feet, 3 inches.
1-mile relay—Vanderbilt team of Jones, Benjamin, Gibson and Van Order, first. Time 3:34 1-10.

PICADOME HANDS KITTENS DEFEAT

Roads Holds Freshmen to Three Hits and Wins Game, 10 to 3 at High School Field; Fresh Stars Not in Lineup

MEET CUBS TOMORROW

Smarting under a 10-3 defeat at the hands of the Picadome High school at Picadome Tuesday afternoon, Coach Hansen's Kitten baseball team entered their practice sessions with vim out on Woodland Park field Wednesday and Thursday.

Roads, Picadome pitcher, held the fresh to three hits while Hansen used three pitchers, Kreiling, Roper, and Hinkle, in a vain effort to curb the opponents' slugging attack. Eight of Picadome's runs were scored in the second inning when Roper, freshman hurler, was knocked out of the box. Cole, at first base, and Wilson, at third base, played the best game for the Kittens.

Coach Hansen started the season with 40 candidates and has since cut the squad to 26. However, a large number of freshmen have been practicing spring football and have been unable to report for baseball. In this group are such outstanding athletes as Knadler, Portwood, Gilb and Blasingame who reported Wednesday.

The Kittens play their next game Saturday against Georgetown on the home field, and they are expected to present a much better team, new candidates and more practice being their new claim to greatness.

Will Have Parade

In the afternoon a gigantic parade will be staged through town. Fraternities, sororities, and other organizations will have floats in this parade and prizes will be awarded by the Su-Ky circle for the prettiest and the most comical floats. The parade will lead on to the campus where the official crowning of the May Queen will take place. The Su-Ky circle will not give its dance on May Day this year, but will give it the following Friday night, May 7, when the high school tournament will be on.

To Burn Freshman Caps

A new feature will be introduced into the May Day program this year. At a meeting of Omicron Delta Kappa, national campus leaders of Omicron fraternities, it was decided to inaugurate this year the custom of burning freshman caps on the first day of May. No freshman will be allowed to burn a new cap and as he throws his sky-piece on the fire he will get a receipt. These receipts will be collected and in this manner a check will be obtained of those who have worn their freshman caps during the year.

This year the burning of the freshman caps takes place immediately following the festivities on the campus. A bonfire will be prepared on Stoll field and all who desire may go and watch the fun.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS HERE NOTED SPEAKER

vocations are difficult, and require a long steady climb before success is established. Opportunities are offered in all businesses and the successful man is the one who recognizes them, he said. Failures often occur because "the eye is fixed on obstacles rather than opportunities."

Mr. Driscoll asserted that too many men made money an objective in life. He said that an engineer would be successful as an engineer only when he considered his work above everything else. Many of his points were illustrated by a description of the difficulties met in the construction of the Woolworth and Equitable buildings in New York of which he had charge.

President McVey Talks

President McVey made a few remarks to the students and said the requirements for a good engineer were "loyalty, perseverance, enthusiasm, and idealism."

The program was concluded by the playing of several records on the new Brunswick Orthophonic machine, and humorous remarks by Col. Morrow.

CAST FOR STROLLER PLAY IS ANNOUNCED

Sheriff Jim Jay

John Castle Warren

Mary Lair Has Lead

Miss Mary Lair, who takes the feminine lead, is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Last year she took the part of "Fifty-fifty." Mr. Hammel, who has the leading masculine role, is a sophomore in the College of Commerce. Last year he attended Washington and Lee University. Although this is his first year with the Strollers, Mr. Hammel has had considerable dramatic experience. This season he has played in two Roman plays and he is in the cast of the "Begger on Horseback" which will be presented by the English department.

"Tabby" Warren is an old Stroller and played in "The Thirteenth Chair." Outside of Mr. Warren and Miss Lair all the members of this year's cast are serving their first year with the Strollers.

Philip Rusch and Al Wiemann, president and director respectively of the Strollers, are considering several offers from other towns to present "Icebound" there. They expect to present the play at the Lexington Opera house sometime between May 12 and 20.

Zoology Field Work Will Be Open to Women

Dr. Allen Will Be in Charge of the Laboratory at Quicksand

The women of the university will be admitted to the laboratory of the department of zoology of the university at Quicksand, this year, for the first time since its opening. This work is an annual event of the zoology department, and Mrs. W. D. Funkhouser has agreed to spend six weeks at the laboratory as an official chaperone for the girls.

The work at the laboratory this summer will be in charge of Dr. William R. Allen, associate professor in zoology. The teaching of field work, as well as the survey of that mountain region as yet unexplored from the scientific point of view will be the points emphasized. The equipment for the conducting of the experiments is taken from the university, and the 15,000 acres of land owned by the university as well as the privately owned land in this region is open to the scientists.

Last year scientists from other states visited the laboratory, and were much impressed with the work.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the buses will start back to Lexington.

Ten Men Go South

Sunday, April 25, 10 men in the engineering college will make the seventh annual southern trip under the direction of Professors C. S. Crouse, D. V. Terrell and L. C. Robinson. They will reach Chattanooga Sunday afternoon and make a trip to Lookout Mountain.

Monday, a special Pullman will be dropped at Sheffield, Ala., and the party will visit the U. S. Nitrate plant No. 1 and No. 2. They will also include a trip to the Wilson dam and hydro-electric plant.

Tuesday the party will register at the Molton Hotel at Birmingham. The morning schedule includes trips through the iron mines of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co., and the American Cast Iron company, followed by a trip to the By-Product Coke plant at Fairfield. The two parties will then join and all visit the Fairfield work of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co. Tuesday evening a banquet will be given the party by the Birmingham Alumni Club.

Other Trips Planned

Wednesday morning alternative trips have been arranged. One of these will be through the Edgewater coal mine and central pumping plant of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, and the other will be through a cement plant. In the afternoon the party plan to visit the Ensley Works of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company.

Thursday will be spent at Copperville, Friday at Ducktown, and Saturday, at Knoxville and vicinity. All points of interest in these places will be visited. The party will return to Lexington Sunday, May 2.

best to make them tools correspond with the number of courses and come out even, but when the war was over, I had two forks, one knife, and four spoons left over. I figured they was just extra in case you dropped some on the floor.

Morris Starts Fireworks

Morris started the fireworks after a while with a long-winded oration on what a good paper we turned out while he was managing editor, and while he didn't think it could be improved upon, he wished the new outfit lots of luck. Then Morris announced that he was toastmaster and would introduce the next speaker. So Morris gave another speech introducing the next speaker, and then he heard the next speaker which was Jack Warren.

Jack rose upon his hind legs and tipped over a water pitcher and says he was glad to be with us. He observes that Morris was as useless as ever in the capacity of toastmaster, seeing that there hadn't been no need of a toastmaster since the Eighteenth Amendment. Then he congratulated us on securin' his services as business manager last year and hoped the new one would be just as good.

Then Morris made another speech about what a fine speech Jack had made, and announced that he would introduce the next speaker, and made a long speech about the next speaker.

When Morris's speech was over Kyle Whitehead got up and said that Morris had forgot to mention it in his speech but he was the next speaker. Morris wanted to make another speech of apology to Whiteley, but Kyle says he thought Warren never would get through talkin' and there wasn't no need of gettin' Morris started again.

Mourns for Departing Seniors

Whiteley lamented the fact that the seniors were departing this year after having been with us only six or seven years. He says that he had watched us closely, and there wasn't no reason why we shouldn't get along just as well as we had been doin' if we kept on doin' the same way we had been doin', despite the fact that he wouldn't be there to watch us next year.

Morris, who seemed to be the principal speaker of the evening, made some more speeches and introduced 50 or 60 more speakers, and then somebody asks if there was anything else to eat. It developed that there wasn't, and Morris is gettin' short of wind, so he introduced Professor Grehan as a strivin' young cub who was tryin' to get along the best he could.

Youngster Gives Advice

This youngster says that it was his humble opinion that there wasn't any of us that had got beyond the rudiments of journalism, but the first forty years was the hardest, and if we lived long enough, there was hope.

Morris made another speech (but what's the use) and declared the meeting adjourned. We wandered out through the lobby, and departed for our respective abodes. It was a right noble affair, and I ain't had so much fun since grandma broke her leg.

The military department of the university expects this field day to be the outstanding feature of the military year; and it is hoped that this inspection will result favorably for the local unit.
