OPEN LECTURE WILL FEATURE WALKING TOUR

Indian Collections Will Be Exhibited At 9 Tomorrow

"Higher Primates and Fossil Man" will be the subject of a walking lecture tour to be conducted by Dr. Charles E. Snow of the archeology and anthropology department in an open class at 9 o'clock tomorrow in the University Museum.

Dr. Snow will illustrate his lecture by a colorful chart of plaster skulls showing a tentative arrangement of many of the fossil and present forms of man and some of the animals which lived in the corresponding geological ages.

Tomorrow's lecture will be arranged in a setting which recreates the past. Prehistoric Kentucky Indians whose many sites, villages and burial mounds were excavated under supervision of the University department of anthropology and archeology, are on exhibition in the museum.

On the main floor the Indian burial methods are reproduced and in the balcony an exhibit of Indian skeletons illustrates sex differences. On the second floor, the archeological and anthropological data of different Indian populations. Other displays show bone pathology and anomalies.

Russian Language Will Be Taught Here Next Quarter

Russian language will be taught on the campus in two new courses approved last week by the faculty of the arts and sciences college and the faculty of the University.

Dr. W. F. Galloway, professor of English, will instruct the classes. He is a gifted linguist, having a knowledge of several languages, including Russian, Latin, Greek, German, French, Spanish and several Old English dialects.

The new courses will be conducted in the English department. They are English 50a, Elementary Russian, five quarter hours, which will be offered in the spring quarter.

The classes will not be open to freshmen. Joining other students in the classes, however, will be radiologists from Aron who were among those asking for a course in the Russian language.

SGA DISCUSSES NEW BY-LAW

Absence Rules To Be Tightened

Continuing their plan for developing a more efficient organization, members of the legislature of the Student Government association Tuesday night discussed a by-law to enforce more regular attendance at their meetings.

Any member who has three unexcused absences during a quarter, the proposed law states, will be automatically expelled from the legislature. Excuses for absences must be submitted before the next regularly scheduled meeting of the association, and the president of the group will have the power of determining the validity of the excuse.

WELFARE COMMITTEE

David Marcus, Chairman of the Welfare Committee, announced that the poll blank will be found on page three.

Mailbox Delivery Schedules Altered

Schedules for putting mail in boxes in the University Post Office have been changed. Caroline Bean, post mistress, has announced. Because of gas rationing and the short mail will be received an hour later than formerly. This means that mail will be available at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily.

No mail will be received on Monday afternoons, Miss Bean stated. The University truck is no longer available for going to the campus in the morning. Students now wait until the mail is delivered by the city truck. Miss Bean explained, "I'm sure that students will understand and will cooperate."

US's UKs

Aviation Cadet William Raybould, Stanton, is now stationed with the Army Air Force at Pecon Air Force Flying school, Pecon, Texas. Cadet Raybould, upon the successful completion of basic flying training at Pecon Air Force, will proceed to an advanced flying school under the supervision of the Army Air Force Training Command.

Luther Prater, Alger, Ohio, who received his A. B. degree from the University, was recently appointed a naval aviation cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. Upon completion of the intensive course at the "Annapolis of the Air" he will receive the designation of naval aviator with a commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve or as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

SGA WELFARE COMMITTEE PROPOSES POLL

Student Opinion On Cafeteria Is Sought

The SGA Welfare committee, in order to determine the opinion of students on several matters pertaining to the Student Union cafeteria, would like students to fill out the poll printed in this issue of the Kernel. We believe that, by the adoption of the plate-lunch system and a meal-ticket system, food prices per meal can be substantially lowered and the quantity of food increased. We have the worst of persons in authority that this is true; and, if by this poll we find that the students are in favor of such a system, we will try to bring these changes about.

Under the plate-lunch setup, the choice at each meal would be less, but the variety of food from day to day would be as great or greater than it has been in the past. Under the meal-ticket setup, tickets would be purchased at the beginning of each week, would be good for the entire week, and would be paid for regardless of whether or not the student ate the full value of his ticket. Also, by this method the student would receive a certain bonus in meals on each ticket. For instance, if the student paid $3.50 for his ticket, he would get $6.00 worth of food for his $3.50.

In order to bring about any change at all, we must show the Administration that students are desirous of such changes. So, for your benefit, we are asking for your fullest cooperation in this matter. Fill out the poll and drop it in the box provided in the post office or the one in the Student Union building.

Final War Forum Will Be Held Tomorrow At 4

The final War Forum of the fall quarter will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Music room of the Union building with Dr. J. Huntley Duger, professor of history, acting as chairman.

Mailbox Delivery Schedules Altered

Schedules for putting mail in boxes in the University Post Office have been changed. Caroline Bean, post mistress, has announced. Because of gas rationing and the short mail will be received an hour later than formerly. This means that mail will be available at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily.

First Art Exhibit Planned Sunday

"Art in Action," the first art exhibition of the year, will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday, in the Music room of the Union building.

Emphasis will be placed on illustrating the artist's work rather than viewing the finished product. Visitors will be given an opportunity to try their hand at sketching.

Corporal Mingles With Coed At Service Men's Open House

By FLORIDA GARRISON

"I left my heart at—" "Oh, he is my 'fella'?" Where you from?" "Frale the Lord and—" "Gosh, I haven't played ping pong in years—" "Just cream, thank you—" Such snatches of song and conversation as these, intermingled with the laughter of corporal and coed, could have been heard by anyone in the music room of the Student Union building last Sunday afternoon.

The Union is entertaining with an open house designed to meet the recreational yearnings of even the most versatile service men. For the mildly athletic there was a ping pong game, while sets of chess and checkers were provided for those who desired a little practice in concentration. The musically inclined were particularly well cared for by a piano in whose supply of sheet music included everything from "Chopsticks" to "I'm Falling in Love with Someone."

All believers in the theory that music breaks down reserve and promotes fellow feeling found how on the strength of the large group of soldiers who gathered around the piano all afternoon. Yes, the Union's open house provided a very fine way for a soldier in a strange town to while away a cold, dark Sunday afternoon. Kernel Items To Be Assembled Each Month

A monthly news sheet, containing a resume of campus news in brief will be sent to all former University students and alumni now serving in armed forces. Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, secretary of the alumni association, has announced.

Suggestion of the need of such an enterprise grew out of the home-sick letters received in the Public Relations and Alumni offices from students in the service. Miss McLaughlin explained, "It was decided to prepare a one-page sheet, the size of the Kernel, printed on both sides, so that it might be mailed first class. Regular newspapers are sent third class, and therefore do not receive the careful attention to delivery that first class matter does."

WILL Summarize News

This eight column sheet will summarize the major news that has appeared in the Kernel, plus features, editorials, and a few pictures. It will be mailed and the expense of mailing will be handled by the University.

Miss McLaughlin, who also edits the Then and Now column of the Kernel and the Alumni, quarterly alumni publication, will handle the publication. Alumni association staff members will make up the address list and mailing to begin the first of next quarter. A name has not yet been decided for the sheet, Miss McLaughlin stated.

Sororities Entertain Friday Afternoon With Open Houses

Four fraternities were honored with open houses from 4-6 o'clock Friday afternoon by Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Alpha Xi Delta sororities. Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Refreshments of sandwiches and cookies were served; Jessica Gay, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Alpha Xi Delta gave an open house for Psi Chi at the Pal Lewis and Dorothy Robinson, co-social chairmen, planned the arrangements. Coffee and doughnuts were served during the afternoon.

Pershing Rifles Now Drill With "Deluxe" Wooden Rifles

Col. B. E. Brewer's Pershing Rifle cadets will no longer have any reason to complain about lack of arms for drilling purposes. Two hundred ninety "Deluxe Trainee Model" wooden rifles have arrived and are now in the racks of Bull Army. These guns will be used by the Pershing Rifle drill team and by basic course cadets in learning the manual of arms.

The wooden rifles were described by Lt. Col. J. E. Brannan as being "an exact replica of the 1903 Springfield" complete with sights. The Deluxe model, while weighing only three and three-quarter pounds, is hardly distinguishable from the actual weapon at a distance of a few feet, so closely does it follow the original.

This is not the first time this nation has used facsimile weapons to train its soldiers and future officers, according to Colonel Brewer. Newsreels of the maneuvers in Louisiana showed trucks labeled "tanks" and lengths of stovetop marked "mortar" and "anti-tank gun."

Records show that in the last war men in camps and schools learned the manual of arms and use of the bayonet with the British Lee-Enfield rifle and the "broomstick" rifle.

John Godfrey recently completed basic training at Fort McLean, Ala., and has been transferred to Camp Butler, N. C. The daughter, who joined the WAACS September 12, was graduated recently at the training school at Des Moines, Iowa, and was placed in the Headquarters division at Des Moines.

HODGE—1940 Walter V. Hodge of Latonia was commissioned second lieutenant in the Marine Corps November 21, at Quantico, Va. He is a former University football and basketball star.

FAULCONER—1939 Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Faulconer, Lexington, have received word that their son, J. B. Faulconer, has been commissioned a captain. He is now stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. Captain Faulconer received his first military training at the University, where he was graduated in 1939. Before entering the Army, he was an announcer for radio station WLAP.

CHAMBLISS—EX Leonard Chambliss, apprentice seaman, returned to Lexington recently to spend a 9-day furlough. Chambliss completed "boot training" at the naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill. He enlisted October 15, while at Great Lakes, Chambliss served as petty officer, first class, of his company of 100 men. He will leave Lexington soon. After he reports at Great Lakes, he will be sent to a fire-controlman's school. Chambliss formerly was employed in the circulation department of The Herald-Leader. He graduated from Henry Clay high school in 1940 and later attended the University.

Purely Personal

The Art Club was entertained with a spaghetti dinner last Friday night at 66 by Miss Anne Cathlam, assistant professor of the art department.

Betty Thompson, Marjion Johnson, Gwen Owen, and Peggy Lind-spent Thanksgiving in Louisville.

Dick Murrell, Sigma Chi, spent Thanksgiving at his home in Louisville.

Mrs. J. E. Evans, National District president of Delta Delta Delta, spent Friday and Saturday at the chapter house.

Bill Young and Bob Bradley spent Thanksgiving at their home in Franklin.

Roy Steinhilf and Paul Norther, Kappa Sigma, spent the week-end at Fort Mitchell.

Helen Gordon, assistant dean of women at the University of Louisville, and guest speaker at the Pan-Hellenic banquet, was a guest of Chi Omega Monday night.

Mrs. L. J. Browder, grand first vice president of Alpha Delta Pi, recently spent a few days at the chapter house.

Ensign George A. Scott, Jr., of Frankfort, will report Tuesday for duty at Dartmouth college.

Sally Buckner and Ralbie Dimock left Friday to spend the week-end at Columbus, Ohio, where they attended the game and dance.

M. J. Hammons, Frances Bach, Mary Saunders, Nancy Jean Tull, Emily Young, and Norma Niswonger visited Jean Whaley at her home in Flemingsburg last week-end.

Raise Coffee in Own Back Yard

Right out of his own back yard, Carmello Capello of Gloucester, Mass., has harvested a crop of precious coffee beans. He says he bought some unroasted coffee beans from Mexico two years ago, and planted it in his yard as an experiment, last spring. By September, he reports, the vines yielded 20 pounds of coffee.

Zeta Tau Alpha Soldier Party

Zeta Tau Alpha entertained from 8-10:30 o'clock Friday night, with a party honoring forty soldiers from the Phoenix hotel. A patriotic motif was carried out in decorations of red, white, and blue. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served. Theresa Theiling was in charge of plans for the party.

Stop, Look And Glisten! BETTY BAYNHAM

With the cold winter days and the sharp, biting wind, the main object of dress on the campus will be to keep warm. In order to keep from freezing to death does not mean that style will be thrown to the wind. On the contrary, style will play just as an important part as it did when coats could be thrown open, and one could take his time along the campus without fear of a red nose and blue hands.

Speaking of hands, we need have no fear of frost bite with warm knitted gloves in one of the many bright colors which are offered this season, and to provide a bit of extra special something to a winter costume. It must be remembered that even though lovely to look at when new, they should be carefully and frequently washed to retain their beauty as well as usefulness.

Another important feature as an aid to warmer playing is the Jeep hat. It can be perched on the head in either snow or sunshine with the feeling that it is neither too dressy nor uncomfortable. And in case of cold ears a knitted helmet is just the thing they also serve as scarfs so that one may be sure of double protection.

Everyone will be interested to know that these new and different headgear also enable them to keep that new finger-wave from falling out at the first sign of dampness.

Thin blouses and short sleeved sweaters will be worn only under suits on the campus for one knows that they hardly add warmth to a cold day unless worn in this manner, and with the wind blowing up our coat sleeves we would probably be frozen to death by the time we reached class.

Delts Give Tea For Faculty

Delta Tau Delta fraternity gave its annual tea recently in honor of the University faculty members.

The fraternity colors of purple, white and gold were used in decorations. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and had an arrangement of flowers and candles.

Better Offensive Power Gives Reserves 6-0 Win Over Wildcat Freshmen

Perryville Defeats Chaplin For Six-Man Crown

Defensively speaking, the University grid freshmen and varsity reserves are almost evenly matched, the reserves hold a one-touchdown edge. At least that's the margin of victory obtained Thursday as the subs noosed out the Wildcats, 6-0, in one half of the Shrine's Turkey Day double-barreled offering on Stoll field.

Perryville's Blue Jerseys became Kentucky's six-man football champions by completely outclassing Chaplin, 6-0, in the nightcap of the twin bill. By hand and air the winners outshone Chaplin. Perryville scored in every period, tallying two six-pointers in the first, three in the second, and two each in the last two stanzas. A third-period pass from Paul Walker to Tommy Bell enabled the reserves to achieve the one-touchdown win over their less-experienced, but almost equal rivals. First downs were six up to one for the reserves, but they had to take to the air to count 'em. The game-winning aerial was snagged by Bell on the three, and he stepped over un-molested.

Walker and Ben Kessinger did practically all the ball-carrying for the reserves. Jimmy Bean did most of the froth toting. Line play by both teams was up to par, and the succession of punt exchanges caused by failures to gain resulted in a colorful, sluggish game.

Long punts by Wilbur Schu of the frosh was a highlight of the fracas. The Versailles gridders repeatedly got off long spirals, one of them being a 60-yard boot from behind his own goal line.

CLYDE JOHNSON... was awarded a tackle berth on the All-Southeastern Conference team last week.

JOHNSON EARNS ALL-CONFERENCE TEAM POSITION

Big Clyde Johnson, burly 230-pound tackle from Ashland, was given the recognition he deserved last week from Southern sports writers by being named to the All-Southeastern Conference team. Johnson, a senior, has been a mainstay of the 'Cat line for three years. Promoted from the Z club in mid-year of 1940, he has been a future ever since. Game after game he has drawn praises from fans, scribes and coaches alike by the speed he has shown, considering his size.

Frankie Sinkwich, Georgia's All-American, was a unanimous choice for a backfield berth, and Clint Castleberry, Georgia Tech's sensational freshman, became the first frosh in SEC history to make the coveted team. Another popular choice was George Poschner, Georgia end, who played a big part in Bulldog triumphs this year by good defensive work and stellar offensive play.

That which men call a snob, by any other name would still be snobbish—Thackeray.

East-West All-Star Game Saturday

King Football makes one more stand on Stoll field before going into retirement for the winter—and possibly the duration—in Saturday's annual Shrine-sponsored classic between the East-West high school all-stars. Fans will be treated to an added attraction this year, when the Chevy Chase and Strathmore midsize gridders meet in a preliminary at 2 p.m.

INTRAMURAL DEPARTMENT HAS BUSY WEEK

Wrestling, Boxing Get Started As Volleyball Ends

This week promises to be one of the busiest of the school year for the intramural department, with the volleyball season being concluded, and wrestling and boxing events getting under way.

Volleyball competition was to be ended last night with the last round of the tournament. The Triangles and Delta Tau Deltas were favored to meet in the finals, having drawn in opposite brackets in the A league pairings. Both were undefeated in season play. In the B League the Triangles and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon reserves held unblemished records.

Annual highlight of the intramural year is the boxing and wrestling events, which start Thursday night. At least 10 fistic bouts will be included on the opening night's program, which gets under way at 7:30 o'clock, according to Arthur T. Guillete, intramural director. Audiences of the grunt and green game will wait for Friday night, when the wrestlers begin their elimination.

Individual awards will be made to each winner and runner-up. Mr. Guillete announced. Admission to each night's session is 10c for UK students, 25c for guests. Action in the wrestling and boxing tournament is expected to be concluded by Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

KERNEL SPORTS

The Sporting Way

By BAXTER MELTON

Kentucky's football sun will again shine bright over the land of beautiful women and fast racers, according to Dr. Herman L. Donovan, University president, who turned a routine athletic council meeting recently into one that may make grid history.

"We can't meet Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia Tech on equal footing because they have more manpower than we have. We can't cut them down to our size, so that leaves up only one alternative—we must build the University up to their size." And so the prexy decreed.

Reserve material—not the coaching staff—was singled out by Dr. Donovan as the chief cause of the Wildcats' poor season which saw them win three games, lose six and tie one. The University's head executive said that if Kentucky had had a second eleven this year as powerful as its varsity, "any resemblance between its season and the one just ended would have been strictly impossible. If we had had as many as six more good reserves to pitch in when other boys got hurt, we might have won every game except two—might have even defeated Alabama."

"The boys were good, understand—just not enough of them."

As usual, Dr. Donovan pointed out, many fans were laying the blame for the mediocre season on the coaching staff. Not only did the president express an emphatic disagreement with this opinion, but added that he had "absolute confidence in all my coaches—Ab Kirwan, Bernie Shively, Ralph McRight and the rest. The whole staff will remain as it is, with Shively as athletic director, and Kirwan as head coach. I believe Kirwan is the equal of any coach in the Southeastern Conference. I'll stand by him through thick and thin. I know he can do the job if he has the material. What we need is manpower. We have the coaching power!"

And may we pause briefly here to give our all-out vote to UK's coaching personnel. Kirwan, Shively, McRight—all of them they're plenty O. K. as coaches, or just plain John Doe in private life. They have a natural faculty to work with boys—and, as a colored fan once remarked—"they know the game."

But back to Dr. Donovan's proposal to put Kentucky on the football map. Why all this fuss about athletics? Well, he believes that all departments contribute to the name and fame of the University, whether it be the law, engineering or commerce division.

"We simply must give our boys and coaches the same support our opponents receive from their schools to keep our athletic department up to the standards set by other departments of the University."

Declaring that he didn't know how other conference members financed their football teams, Dr. Donovan said he hoped for alumni assistance for Kentucky. Not only is the help of graduates needed in increasing the squad, but in seeing that the University of Kentucky gets first break with Kentucky high school boys. State high school coaches can help with this program if the rejuvenation plan is ever introduced.

The president hit on an old-discussed topic when he remarked about the cream of Kentucky's high school football crop matriculating at other institutions. This has been an annual sore spot in the eyes of O.K. followers in recent years. This year, for instance, one of Tennessee's best backs is Clyde Fuson, a Middlesboro, Ky., product. Rudy Klarer and Pat Lenahan, Vol guard and end respectively, are Louisville boys. Two years ago both captains of Tennessee and Alabama—tops in the SEC and nation-wide—were Kentucky youths.

Of course, as Dr. Donovan acknowledged, the way may prevent an immediate carrying out of this plan. But, "once the emergency is over, and intercollegiate football as we now know it is resumed, I don't intend to permit our football coaches and players to remain in their present embarrassing position if it is at all possible to correct it."

And so Kentucky's football-minded president has spoken. Whether his proposed project is carried out remains to be seen, but we'd like to make him an honorary president of Suky or something, just for suggesting the idea.

Anyhow, the hopes of some 3,000 students and tens of thousands of Kentuckians and alumni are riding with him.

First Basketball Game Saturday

Basketball makes its debut Saturday night in Alumni gym, when the Wildcat varsity meets the Darnall General Hospital quintet of Danville. The game, which will get under way at 8 o'clock, is being sponsored by the K club, and admission is 10 cents to students, 50c to outsiders.

TWENTY-EIGHT GIVEN LETTERS

Two Managers Also Awarded

Twenty-eight players, one a freshman, and two managers were awarded varsity letters at the annual banquet given the Wildcat football team and coaches last night by the University Alumni association in the Gold room of the Lafayette hotel.

Gov. Keen Johnson, Coaches Ab Kirwan and Bernie Shively and Dr. Herman L. Donovan, University president, were among those listed as speakers. G. Lee McClain, Alumni secretary, presided at the dinner.

Players who received letters were Paul and Charley Bill Walker, Jay Rhodemyre, Pete Triplett, Richard Colvin, Norman Beck, Jack Cassier, Hal Jones, Leo Yarusit, Clyde Johnson, Clark Wood, Bill Griffin, Carl Altbaus, Charley Eblen, Allan Parr, George Seagle, Tommy Ewing.

Kappas, WAAs Share Glory With Perfect Bowling Slates

By ALICE WATKINS Women's Sports Reporter

In the spotlight this week as high scorer of the Bowling League is Margaret Warren of the Jewell ball team, who in last Tuesday's roll-offs rung up a score of 222. That ain't hay!

Sharing her glory are the Kappa team and the W. A. A. group who lead the league with four games to their credit. Neither of these has lost a game and they're ringing up records for those teams at the bottom of the standings to shoot at.

Here's the box score for the benefit of either you gals who can knock yourselves out with pride over the score of your team, or all of you who must hang your head in shame. You've got a grand chance, how about it; where's our dark horse entry to create some excitement?

Team	W	L
Kappa	4	0
W. A. A.	4	0
Chi Omega	3	1
Alpha Delta Pi	2	2
B. O. W. A. A.	2	2
Alpha Gamma Delta	1	3
Kappa Delta	1	3
Delta Delta Delta	0	4
Alpha Xi Delta	0	4

That stalwart group of Bowling Outcasts took two games from the Tri-Deltas and share third place honors with the A D P's. The latter team split a two-game roll-off with the Chios.

The Women's Athletic Association beat the Alpha Gams two games and the Alpha Xi's forfeited two games to the Kappas. In the tie-roll-off which had been carried over from the first day of playing the KID's came out victorious over the Alpha Gams.

Good, fast volley ball games are in progress every afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Women's gym. If your doctor says you need the exercise of
