ROTARY CLUB LUNCHEON

The Lexington Rotary Club entertained groups of seniors from the University and from Transylvania

College at luncheon yesterday at noon. This luncheon was in observance of an annual custom of long standing, and was held at the Phoenix hotel. Dr. Alvin E. Evans, dean of the College of Law, was the principal speaker for the occasion.

SQUIRREL FOOD

After a rather long period of delay caused by the late arrival of the newly elected May Queen, who had probably forgotten the trivial coronation exercises, the annual May Day parade wended its way through the downtown section of Lexington. Artistic exhibitions of decorating and gorgeous arrays of feminine beauty featured the sorority floats, while riseculous mirth-provoking parades were presented by the fraternities.

While the A. T. O. garter snakes were holding a bull session at the Tavern during convocation, "Sweet Evening Breeze" was ably assisting Dr. J. Killam in performing a surgical operation on one of the S. A. E. brothers who was almost trampled to death by a stampede of "goats" last semester. While Pi Kapp "gangsters" were celebrating the nuptial ceremonies of one of their fellow thugs, Lydia E. Pinkham was fostering a futuristic membership campaign for the Delta Tau Deletas. The Delta Chis again took the opportunity to exhibit their elaborate collection of beer steins and, incidentally, to display their contempt for the Student Council. A personal affront of this type is involved with great risk in this modern day of Puritanistic campus life.

Years ago, in the springtime of our present generation, cigarettes were considered in the same light as hell-fire, tight on chorus girls and cuss words from a lady. But times have changed. Statistics show that in the year 1928 more than 100 billion fags were smoked, sucked and destroyed by the flamboyant sons and daughters of Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia.

Only a few years ago cigarettes were known as "coffin nails" and the young miss who puffed away on one was no "lady." But the good old days are as dead as Jesse James. It is now a common thing for the co-ed to include a carton of cigarettes in her order for lip-stick, rouge and bath-salts.

To the Kappa Kappa Gammias, the subjects of a critical article in this column a short while back, I extended my congratulations. Your "frigid" float in the recent May Day parade displayed a broad-minded attitude coupled with an excellent sense of humor. In most feminine organizations there is always lacking a good sense of humor, but the Kappas are one of the few exceptions. Congratulations, "polar bears," you certainly slipped a fast one over on us campus clod-hoppers.

The last word in closed automobiles is "No."

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

IT'S REALLY A SHAME TO INTERRUPT THE PROFESSOR'S CHASE OF THE DIURNAL LEPIDOPTERA AND TURN THE BULL ON HIM BUT YOU HAVE TO BLAME THE ARTIST FOR THAT.

Obviously, few of us have the chance—or tenacity—to make madcaps out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause. Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand—with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready—around the corner from anywhere. With its delicious taste and cool dew-sensitizing refreshment, makes a little minute long enough for a big rest.

Why one-way Street?

"Well, I'm only goin' one way!" replied the legendary motorist to the amazed John Law.

A laudable principle—if applied in the right direction . . . exactly as our long experience in cigarette making assures us that the only avenue to enduring popularity is a one-way street.

All the arrows along Chesterfield's route, from plantation to pocket, point directly to taste. No left turns into insipidity—no detours around the plain duty of good tobaccos—to SATISFY.

An overdose of analogy, perhaps, but you get our drift: Chesterfields are mild—but mildness is not overdone; they're never flat. Naturally smooth, aromatic tobaccos are so blended that every last atom of their flavor is delivered to the smoker.

Here is that very rare bird, a cigarette that does satisfy.

THE MEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL

Last fall there was formed on the University of Kentucky campus a student governing body known as the Men's Student Council. The student body and the faculty felt that there should be some sort of student court which could take cognizance of students who violate the common rules of the University and those of proper conduct at social functions. The student body is to be commended on the fine spirit which prompted the council. It was the proper organization at the right time.

The time and need for the council has not passed, nor will it do so while the University exists. Every other group of people in the world is governed by rules and laws. They are necessary to the continued existence of civilization and the advancement of it. For this reason the council is a valuable acquisition to the University.

Now there has been considerable dissatisfaction expressed of late by some members of the council in the manner in which the council has handled the election of students who will comprise next year's councilmen. Looking at the matter with an unbiased view, one finds that the basis of the said dissatisfaction is the ignorance of the average student concerning the activities of the council and the manner in which it conducts its work. However, if some light were shed upon light which recently has brought an unequalled amount of condemnation of the council's activities.

The old constitution of the council has been amended to the extent that the council this year is empowered to select next year's presiding officer. This move will give next year's court an experienced head who can continue its present policies and thus prevent an undoing of the work done thus far. The president so selected will not, however, have a vote next year. He will be more of a figurehead.

Several groups have said that the organization in power has been playing smutty politics, keeping the plums of campus offices within its power in order to increase its prestige. What a foolish thing to say, and what a smug attitude to take—to think that there is one fraternity or one group better prepared than another to lead the council to fulfillment of its duties. Such an assumption is beside the point, and leads to unfavorable ideas about the University. One organization is just as fit to rule as another.

Being students, the members of the council have their weaknesses the same as anyone else. They are doing the best they can, and their best seems to be good, except for the dissatisfaction the recent amendment has aroused. The latter is not a question of politics, nor is it one to be remedied by ousting the group in charge for another group, which, having had no experience, would in all probability make matters worse.

The dissatisfaction which has been aroused has damaged the reputation of the University and the prestige of the council as a governing body. It is a contumely that should not be overlooked when the Associated Press writes with the flat statement that a dictatorship has been set up at the University, that students have been permitted no voice in the elections this year, and that that which was once a student governing body has become a sort of supreme being which no student dares to question for fear of being expelled or suspended from the University.

What impressions will people get from such statements? Surely none but the worst. They will consider that conditions on the campus have come to a pretty state of affairs and that this University and the students who are here cannot carry out the aims and purposes of education without fighting and quarreling over the whitened bones of politics. They will be erroneous in these impressions, but that is no solace to the institution after it has been damaged.

Students ought not jump at conclusions concerning the elections which are taking place at this time. Every student is given due notice that an election will be held and that he is expected to vote for his candidate. It is absolutely no business of the Arts and Sciences College when or how the students of the College of Agriculture vote for their candidates, and the same applies to every other college or class on the campus.

The old axiom saying that there is always a bit of fire when there is a lot of smoke is probably true concerning the activities of the council. It is to be expected, for nothing is perfect, not even when such brilliant personages as college men are around. The Kernel does not relish the Associated Press report of conditions at the University and will do all in its power to keep such events from being circulated promiscuously even if it has to criticize the powers that be. No select group need think that a few scolding words spoken at the right time will keep the Kernel passive on this subject. Let's have a truly representative Men's Student Council so that everyone can know the true state of affairs. Not only will the students be more satisfied, but the University will not be caught in the throes of untimely statements which people not connected with the institution interpret in a light most damaging to the welfare of the school and the student body.

MOTHER'S DAY

Many may ask the question, "Why Mother's Day?" The honor of the origination of Mother's Day belongs to Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, whose mother passed away in 1906. On Sunday, May 9, 1907, Miss Jarvis told a friend, whom she had invited to remember the anniversary with her, of her desire to dedicate a day to all mothers. Thus the origin.

Through the efforts of Miss Jarvis, others rallied to this cause, and the recognition of this day soon became national-wide. State after state adopted its own day, and on May 8, 1912, the Senate and House of Representatives had passed the resolution President Woodrow Wilson signed it, making the second Sunday in May a national holiday, dedicated to the memory of the best mother in the world—Your Mother.

There are several customs concerned with Mother's Day which have become fixed in the lives of many people, and which are followed on the day of celebration. On this day, if the young man is at home and his mother is still living, he usually escorts her to church, and devotes the entire day to entertaining her; granting every desire which she might express.

Gifts of candy, flowers and books are often sent to mothers by devoted sons and daughters on this day of days, as a tribute to the "real sweetheart." Whether one is with his mother or not on this day a flower is always worn, a red one to signify that Mother is living, and a white one if she is dead.

The usual celebration of Mother's Day on the campus will not be held this year, but each and every student is expected to observe the day by going to church, and wearing a flower, and to remember his mother with a gift, telegram or letter.

In the hurry and bustle of college life we must not forget that our best friend in the world is Mother, and even though you may forego some of your own entertainment in order to send a remembrance to her, do not fail to let her know that you are thinking of her on this—Mother's Day.

COLLEGE COMMENT

A movement for the total abstinence from the use of cosmetics and razors has been started by the students at the University of Arizona. Money saving, to say the least, and if the co-eds can stand it, I guess the rest of the student body should. Anyway, you get a low down on how the fair one will look across the breakfast table in the mornings before she has had time to apply the mask.—The Plainsman.

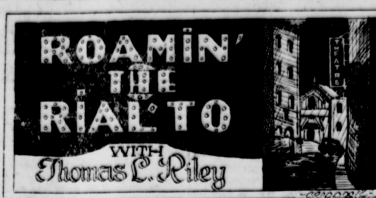

Marriage, it is said, improves in most instances the student's grades, there being a greater tendency on the part of the student to settle down when wedded and attend more strictly to their college work. Officials at the University of Georgia, however, are not in accord with this doctrine as they asked a young lady who married recently to leave the campus and finish her course by correspondence.

"Barefoot Day" is now observed at the University of South Carolina. On this occasion all of the freshman men are required to go barefooted while the first year women go about the campus without stockings. The day was a howling success, according to the Gamecock, as soap sales in Columbia rose to a new high level and the water meters rose in direct proportion.

Ohio State University holds quite an event annually when the Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary fraternity initiates. Each neophyte gets a substantial souper before the ceremonial is over, and the initiation takes place in public.

The University of Missouri at last announces that they have the "perfect professor." This professor has languished in the jug three times, dug sewers in the army, worked as a hand in the wheat fields of Kansas, and has officiated as "bouccer" at many of the hops given at the university.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

Apparently this writer cannot make two appearances in succession for last week I had to back out in favor of Theta Sigma Phi and it is probable that most of my readers hoped that the temporary absence was permanent. But the cut at the head of this department is so attractive that the editor insisted that he use it.

I have always liked to indulge the spot of congratulating people and institutions on almost anything so this week I must offer greetings to the Phoenix Amusement Company for the recent sound installation in the Ben All theater. By this innovation, the entire Lexington radio is fitted to give its patrons both ear and eye entertainment.

Two important productions stand out as the major screen attractions for next week beginning Sunday. "The Broadway Melody," probably the most talked-of picture this year, and "The Desert Song," the first attempt to produce operetta on the silver screen, will open and they are both interesting from the standpoint of technique as well as entertainment.

It was certainly pleasing to hear Sunday's audience at the Strand burst into loud and continued applause at the close of Hyde C. Conrad's organology. It was an attractive presentation, including the screen, and "Indian Love Honey," with illustrated slides on the screen, and "The Desert Song" as a specialty feature. When an audience shows its appreciation of the work of an artist it is an excellent indication for the general benefit of theatrical attractions.

"The Broadway Melody," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by Harry Beaumont, will open at the Strand Sunday for a week's run. The really long-run use for me to say anything about the production as more people have asked me when the picture will be shown here than any other of the season. When a picture has been talked about as much and as favorably as "The Broadway Melody," whatever I say about it, good or bad, will be discarded. You have probably been whistling some of the song numbers from the picture, notably "The Broadway Melody" and "You Were Meant For Me" and all I can say is to see as well as hear those selections given by a group of experts should be a treat for any lover of entertainment. The cast is headed by Charles King, Bessie Love and Anita Page and there is a most attractive story as well as music woven into "The Broadway Melody" which has been hailed as "the most important all-talking picture ever made."

Again I wish to call your attention to the new State theater for beauty of the structure. As the call comes for any use for me to say anything about the class of attractions is necessarily low, but the house is worth a visit. I was very much amused by a college girl who, on her entrance to the theater for the first time, gazed at the star-studded sky with its moving clouds and gaped out loudly enough to be heard for several rows: "Is that REAL?" No, she was not them out.

The operetta has always been an impossible thing to translate faithfully on the screen until the advent

All the world's a campus

It may appear a vast jungle of smoke-stacks and buildings, blind alleys and not very definite possibilities.

But there are those who say it is as interesting, as colorful, as alive as any college campus. And why shouldn't it be? The world, too, needs men who are leaders of men. Men who can do new things. Men who can make new records.

In the world's forward-looking industries, a man's horizon is bounded neither by college walls nor by any other walls.

At Western Electric, the student with the inquiring mind may carry his studies beyond the frontiers of knowledge. The man of action has an ever-broadening field of endeavor. To the ultimate scope of any one's activities there are few limits save one's will and ability to do.

Intramural Tennis Will Be Resumed

Intra-mural tennis and diamond ball tournaments, which have been running for the last few weeks, have been hampered by inclement weather and lack of playing space for the racketeers. Tennis matches have been played on the University courts while the diamond ball matches are played at Woodland park.

The second round of the singles tennis tournament has been played and the third round must be played off by Monday, May 13. The second round of the doubles must be played off today. The most likely winners in the singles competition are Gish, Combs, Barnes, Meredith and Roberts, while in the doubles it looks like a toss up between the teams of Combs and Roberts, and Gish and Walton.

In the diamond ball contests the Alpha Sigs look the best, although they had a hard battle with the Sig Alphas which ended with a score of 8-7. The Alpha Sigs have won this tournament for several years. The Phi Sigs lead in the second division with the same standing as the Alpha Sigs, two victories and no losses. All the games have been close and interesting. These matches are supposed to terminate May 15, but all the games postponed because of bad weather will be played after this. There will be a three-game series between the division winners which will decide the champions. The champions and the runners-up will both receive trophies. The standings are as follows:

First Division—	Won	Lost
Alpha Sigma Phi	2	0
Sigma Chi	1	1
S. A. E.	1	1
Alpha Gamma Rho	0	1
Phi Delta Theta	0	1
Sigma Nu	0	1
A. T. O.	0	0

Second Division—	Won	Lost
Phi Sigma Kappa	2	0
Sigma Beta Xi	1	0
Kappa Sigma	1	0
Phi Kappa Psi	0	1
Delta Tau Delta	0	1
Kappa Alpha	0	1

Shivelymen Beaten By Sewanee Team

Tigers Win Relay to Break Tie; McLane Is High Point Man

On an excellent track and before a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators, the Kentucky Wildcat track team lost a closely-contested dual meet last Saturday in the invigorating mountain atmosphere of Sewanee, Tenn.

From the first event of the meet the score fluctuated between the two teams, until it was tied at 55-55 with one race remaining to break the deadlock. Forced to enter a relay quartet that was thoroughly exhausted by efforts earlier in the afternoon, Kentucky succumbed by a narrow margin of three yards.

Freddy McLane, star field performer of the local team, was high-point man of the meet with first places in the high jump, javelin, and broad jump. Thomasson, Owens, and Cochrane, dependable runners, won the half-mile, mile, and two-mile events, respectively. Gibson, lanky pole-vaulter and recognized jester of the traveling Wildcats, tied for first place in his soaring event with Schoolfield, of Sewanee. Urevig took the shot with a put of 39 feet, 9 inches.

Tennessee Track Stars Oppose Wildcats on Stoll Field Saturday

The University of Kentucky track team will make its final bow of the 1929 season tomorrow afternoon when the Wildcats engage the Tennessee Volunteers in a dual meet at 2:30 p. m. on Stoll field.

This will be Kentucky's fourth dual meet of the season. The Cats have been on the short end of the score in two of these, defeating Georgetown, but losing to Vanderbilt and Sewanee. This meet will also furnish the last appearance of Capt. Roy Kavanaugh who has collected many points for Kentucky during his athletic career and who has this year captained a green team with marked success. He will perform in the shot-put and discus throw.

The race of the day will probably be the 440-yard dash. Waymann Thomasson and Clyde Jones forming the entry list for Kentucky and Andes and Hug running for Tennessee. Both Tennessees men have done nothing over fifty seconds at this distance. Thomasson and Jones will also run the half-mile against two other stellar performers, Dysart and McGowan. These two men have been striding this event in around two minutes.

Freddy McLane will take care of the broad jump and if pushed sufficiently can probably break the state record. He will oppose Corbett. In the pole vault, Gibson and Smith will be Kentucky's entry. They will perform against Pritchett and Corbett, both men who have been doing over eleven feet.

"Swede" Urevig should have his own way in the shot put and discus throw. He has a new state record in the shot put and will exert himself to defend his laurels. Kentucky should place in the hurdle race with Wieman and Maxon opposing Dick Johnson in both events.

Tommy Cochran will have his hands full when he matches strides with Underwood, conceded to be one of the best two-milers this year in the South. He placed third in the conference meet last year.

Hayes Owens will match his speed in the mile with Stewart, a man who has been doing around 4:30 all season in the four laps.

In the 100-yard dash Kentucky will depend on Dunn, Holt and Harris to cross the tape first. They will meet one of the fastest dashmen in the South in Bob Winfrey. They will also be matched together in the 220-yard dash.

 Miss Mary Newcomb Entertains Meeting With Group of Old English Ballads

The final meeting for the semester of the University English club was held last Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Education building. Miss Mary Newcomb of Lexington entertained by singing and relating the history of a number of traditional ballads which she had collected.

Miss Newcomb was accompanied by Prof. Carl Lampert, head of the music department. She sang many selections from various types of ancient ballads selected from her compilation of two hundred which she intends to publish in the near future. Her book with the original ballad music will be entitled "Songs My Mother Sang."

A number of the ballads date back from the time of Queen Elizabeth until the present. Among the traditional numbers which Miss Newcomb presented were: "From Three Eliza I Must Go," "The Bailiff's Daughter" from "Iceland Town," "Barbara Allen," "Betty Beauty Fair," "The Dishonest Miller," and "Corn Shuckin'." The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Melvina Humphrey, president of the club.

 On Aviation Exam

Hart Miller and Francis "Pickles" Watson returned Tuesday from Dayton, Ohio, where they went to take an examination for an aviation appointment to Kelly field in Texas.

From reports the examination was practically all of a physical nature, such as testing the eyesight, quick recovery from dizziness, and alertness of the mind. It was taken at McCook field where army testing machines are made. Both of the University applicants were said to have made perfect examinations. If the appointments are made and are accepted, the two boys will report to the training school at Kelly field, San Antonio, Texas, July 1 for extensive training in flying. After they are graduated they will be required to remain in the United States Flying Corps for two years.

City, made three awards to the students majoring in journalism who have the highest scholastic standing. These students, Miss Jessie Marie Sun, Hugh Ellis and Donald Grote, were presented with keys and certificates by Prof. Victor R. Portmann of the journalism department of the University. Professor Portmann is a national officer of Sigma Delta Chi.

Mortar Board Pledges
 Mortar Board, senior honorary sorority, pledged twelve co-eds and made the Mortar Board scholarship award to the freshman girl having the highest standing. As Miss Virginia Shaffer and Miss Bonnie Perkins both had a standing of 3, they were both given silver loving cups. The pledges to Mortar Board were Kathleen Fitch, Dorothy Threlkeld, Alice Gardner Whittinghill, Jane Gooch, Katherine Wilson, Anna Collins, Elizabeth Skinner, Elizabeth Cramer, Sara Elvove, Margaret Aljen, Alice Spalding and Maude Van Buskirk.

Music for the convocation was furnished by the University Girls Glee Club and the University Band. A number of selections were also rendered by a trio.

The afternoon program started at 1:30 o'clock with the parade of floats of the University. Professor Portmann entered by various sororities, fraternities and organizations of the campus. The parade traveled the downtown section of the city and ended in the Men's gymnasium. Miss Martha Reed, Queen of May, led the parade surrounded by her maid of honor, Miss Agnes Stiman, and her attendants, Misses Sarah Warwick, Lucy Davis and Mary Armstrong and Evelyn Ford.

The day was closed with the annual May Day dance, given by the SuKey Circle in the Men's gymnasium.

At the dance the guests were arrayed in gingham dresses and overalls. Willie Willis and his band from Richmond, Va., furnished the music for the occasion.

An interesting part of the evening was the pledging of the SuKey Circle and Ladies, honorary junior organization. Those pledged to SuKey were Misses Eunice Jane Denton, Mary Elizabeth Fisher, Hayes McKinney, Margaret Cundiff and Messrs. Robert Allcover, Malcolm Barnes, Vernon Chandler, Ted Cassidy, Ben Harrison, Robert Porter, Slade Carr and William Kelly.
