Printer, Cecil Madison.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

There seems to be a crack in the foundation of the Editorial Staff. There was a slight typo in the last Green Bean, and before it shows up in the Chronicle of Higher Education, I'd like to print the correct version. The Carnahan Conference for April 29-30, "Improving Personal Communication," features a workshop on overcoming public speaking, not "public peaking!" Sorry about that.

There isn't much news in this Green Bean, but there are quite a few staff features. Thanks to everyone who submitted pieces for inclusion.

LS/2000 UPDATE

The following, written by Tari Keller and Mike Lach, is taken from a recent issue of Library Notes.

The Library has completed its preliminary testing of the LS/2000 system and is now expanding access to the LS/2000 online catalog. In the late spring and early summer, approximately 20 online catalog terminals will be installed in the reference room of M.I. King Library. Over the summer, additional terminals for the online catalog and automated circulation will be installed in the branch and associate libraries. By the start of the fall semester, the LS/2000 system will be available in all libraries on campus. The online catalog now includes over 450,000 titles. By the end of the 1986/87 fiscal year, the database will include 90% of the total library collections (over 800,000 titles). To facilitate the development of the online catalog, the card catalog in King Library has recently been "frozen": cataloging after January 1, 1986 is reflected only in the online catalog. This means that withdrawals, transfers, changes in call numbers, etc., are reflected only in the online catalog. Thus, if you are unable to locate materials in the card catalog or are unsure about the accuracy of card-catalog information, please consult the online catalog or see a librarian.

For those of you who have not yet experienced using LS/2000, we encourage you to try it! The terminals are equipped with guides to using the online catalog, and staff members are available to answer questions and provide one-on-one tutorials. A training committee has also been formed to develop other training packages. By the fall semester there will be available a 10-page searching guide, a 50-minute lecture/monitor presentation (for use with large groups) a computer-assisted instruction package (for individual self-guided instruction) and a short videotaped presentation on the LS/2000 system as a whole. For further information, call the Reference Department at 257-1631.

SOMETHING INTERESTING ABOUT...

Bonnie Cox. Bonnie, a Periodicals/Newspapers/Microtext graduate assistant, has received the University of Kentucky College of Library and Information Science Melody Trosper Award. This annual award is given to an outstanding library science student. Ms. Cox has been a graduate assistant in P/N/M since January 1985 and is currently working with the Kentucky Newspaper Project. THE BRADY COLLECTION IN THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY ART LIBRARY

The Art Library has an excellent study collection of seven Japanese woodblock prints and reproductions that were donated by the late Dr. George K. Brady, professor of English. Dr. Brady visited Japan in 1948 as a literary advisor to the American Military Government. His position was important enough to be granted an audience, along with other members of his commission, with Emperor Hirohito.

Included in the collection are works by two of the most important figures in the history of Japanese art, Hokusai (1740-1849) and Hiroshige (1797-1858). Many people are familiar with Hokusai's series, The Thirty-six Views of Mt. Fuji. The Brady Collection includes a woodblock reproduction of number nine: "Fuji in a Thunderstorm." Hiroshige is represented by an original woodblock print and two woodblock reproductions. The print is from the Fifty-three Stations of the Tokaido series, one of the most popular series of landscape prints. The two reproductions are also of important works in Hiroshige's oeuvre: "Snowfall at Gion Shrine", from the series Famous Places of Kyoto, and "Kinryzan Temple at Asakusa", from the series One Hundred Views of Famous Places in Edo.

The remaining prints show the impact of Hokusai and Hiroshige on their followers. They include a print by Hiroshige II (1826-1869), who, in addition to being a student of Hiroshige, became his adopted son and later even married his daughter! Like his master, he specialized in landscapes. In the early twentieth century, there was a revival of interest in the landscape print. Kawase Hasui (1883-1957) and Kasamatsu Shiro (1898- ) were leaders in this movement and the collection includes one print by each of them: "Spring Snow" and "The Yomei Gate at Nikko in the Snow".

We are very fortunate to have this collection, which provides not only pleasant viewing but a well-rounded introduction to the Japanese woodblock print. It can be seen on permanent display in the Art Library. (Submitted by Meg Shaw)

SOFTBALL, ANYONE?

The University of Kentucky Libraries Co-recreational team is looking for interested players to join them (Our ranks have thinned out from last year.). We call ourselves the HAPPY BOOKERS and play against other UK teams; some teams are students, some UK staff and faculty, other teams are mixed. In the past the HAPPY BOOKERS has had faculty, staff, student workers, and library science students as well as spouses on our team. Librarians from LCC and loyal library users are welcome to join our team, too.

The Summer season will begin around June 12 (the beginning of the eight week summer session). We need to start practice now to get in shape for the competition. Practice will start on Saturday, April 26 at 11:00 am in the practice field behind Seaton Athletic Center here on campus. Hank Harken will be returning to give us a pep talk and some expert coaching. Lunch will follow in the picnic area behind the practice field. We will decide on times for future softball practices at the April 26 practice - picking times convenient to the majority of interested people. Come one, come all - it's a lot of fun; and no, you don't have to be "good" to play on our team, you just need to like the game and the camaraderie. For more info, call: Glenn MacAninch, 257-8611 or Patty Powell, 257-8397. (Submitted by Patty Powell)

ACTS TOURS THE COMPUTING CENTER

The Executive Committee of ACTS cordially extends to you and to all of the University Library community an invitation to join us for a tour of the Computing Center.

When: Thursday, May 1, 1986
Where: Assemble at Peal Gallery, M.I. King North. Proceed on foot to the Computing Center, McVey Hall.
Times: 1:00, 1:30, 2:00 and 2:30 pm.

Due to space limitations in the Computing Center's machine room, we must organize the tour in groups of no more than fifteen. Make your reservations, specifying a time, through the ACTS Representative in your area. If no Representative serves your area, call Sharon Neikirk (257-8395), Jennifer Michner (257-8392), or Paul Fuller (257-1060) to reserve a spot. Reservations will be granted on a first come, first served basis.

Refreshments will be sold! LSO representatives will sell Capri Juice drinks (30 cents) and freshly-popped popcorn (25 cents a bag). LSO card carrying members will receive one drink and a bag of popcorn free!!! Also, LSO dues will be collected.

DRUG ABUSE IN THE WORKPLACE

A two-hour seminar with this title will be held May 13, 1986 from 10 am - noon in Room 15 Memorial Hall. Conducted by Barb Jefferson and Russ Williams of the Chemical Dependency Program at St. Joseph Hospital, the seminar will help participants obtain basic information on chemical dependency, including identifying the troubled employee, strategies for confronting and referring, and aftercare expectations back on the job. For more information, please call Human Resources Services at 257-1851.

OMS MANAGEMENT INSTITUTE

The Office of Management Studies of the ARL announces a Management Institute for Assistant/Associate Directors in ARL Libraries, to be held in Annapolis on August 24-27, 1986. The Institute will explore three broad issues: strategic planning, organizational change, and the use of power and influencing skills in extending the role of academic and research libraries. The cost is $350. For more info, contact Susan Jurow, Office of Management Studies, ARL, 1527 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. (202) 232-8656.

COMMENCEMENT 1986

Commencement Exercises are scheduled for Saturday, May 10, 1986, in Memorial Coliseum, at 4 pm. Faculty participating in commencement are requested to assemble at 3:30 pm in academic attire.

SUMMER INSTITUTES AT KENT STATE

The Kent State School of Library Science, through the College of Special Programs, announces the 16th Annual Summer Institutes Professional Development Opportunities for Academic Librarians. The four programs are:

1. AACR II Cataloging: An Overview
July 10-12, 1986.
2. Cataloging Microcomputer and Video Software
