On The Accuracy Of Rumors

TIME OUT—By Tommy Moore. Imagining the speed and potency of a rumor is hard to do until one actually sees one work on a group such as the student body of the University.

Seems that those who failed to get into the University Outing club missed the boat on something well worth while. After a fox-hunt and a bicycle hike the members are enthusiastic about the idea.

Watching the basketball squad work out gave one explanation for UK's many winning teams. Any group with that much spirit would be conference championship contenders.

Let's close up the law school, the political science, the English, Journalism, philosophy, and psychology departments.

WAVES Report At Northampton

Eight hundred and ninety WAVES have checked in at the Northampton Training Station, Smith college, to begin their training as women officers in the United States Naval Reserve.

Of these picked young women, 120 are probationary officers, who have had working experience in civilian life which qualifies them for administrative and technical jobs in the WAVES.

Applicants for officer candidacy must be United States citizens in good health, and must be between their 20th and 30th birthdays. Minimum height is five feet and minimum weight 95 pounds.

The in-coming WAVE officer candidate will have one month's indoctrination training, after which she becomes a midshipman cadet and takes three months' technical training making her an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

To obtain a preliminary application blank, a written request stating age and educational background must be submitted to the Director of Naval Officer Procurement in the city of Naval district in which the applicant lives.

College Men Wanted. The U. S. Army is seeking 215,000 patriotic, able-bodied college men this year to join the Enlisted Reserve Corps.

Wise and Otherwise

Through a newly accelerated officer training program the Navy is offering enlarged opportunities to college graduates not over 27 years of age.

Men in the special class will enroll on apprentice seamen in V-7 for four months' training in the Navy's wartime midshipmen schools.

The folks from Western Kentucky call it "blackberry summer." Razzberry would describe our feeling more accurately.

Brooklyn college made first aid a popular freshman course and enrolled more than 2,000 students in the subject the first year.

Michigan State college's department of speech helped to enlist 1,800 speakers who average 6,000 speeches a month on various phases of the war effort.

Jackpot Hit In Bookstore As Coke Machine Goes Wild

Want to make some money fast? Then don't go to Keeneland; go to the campus book store. More free things are being handed out around there than at a USO canteen.

Recently, for instance, they were running the coke machine on a one-armed bandit basis. You put in your nickel—then maybe you got one coke, maybe you got two, maybe you got more.

JACKPOT
Three girls walked up to the machine. The unlucky one dropped her five-cent piece in first. She got only one coke. The next girl put her coin in. Immediately there was a great clatter; the nickel went whirling out onto the floor; and no less than eight cokes slid down the opening before the "Empty" sign flashed red.

DOLLAR DAY
And then there was Dollar Day. A boy asked one of the clerks for change for a dollar bill. The obliging clerk handed him two quarters, four dimes, a nickel, five pennies, and a dollar bill, smiled sweetly, muttered "Thank you; come back," and rushed to the rear of the store.

Goodness, what will these advertising experts think of next?

Venereal Disease Talks Are Banned On Kentucky Stations

Radio stations over the state have refused to broadcast a series of eight talks by Dr. Charles G. Baker, venereal disease specialist of the Lexington-Payette County Clinic.

These lectures, entitled "Our Hidden Enemy," are being transcribed by the Radio Studios of the University. They are designed to disclose facts that all citizens of the United States should know pertaining to venereal diseases. Six of these transcriptions have been completed.

Elmer Sulzer, director of the studios, has sent one of the transcribed programs to the National Association of Educational Broadcasters at the University of Illinois which is a clearing house for such radio material. The association thoroughly approves the program as presented and recorded.

KOAC, which is a state-owned radio station in Oregon, asked permission to run the program series. Our Hidden Enemy is now being broadcast from KOAC on Friday night of each week at 9 o'clock, even though it is still banned from the air lanes of Kentucky stations in the supposed interests of propriety.

When he left, he laughed, and said he was going to spank Mr. Moto. But honest, he didn't look mad at anybody. He just took me in his arms and said for me to take care of Granny . . . and always to be honest and fair and good . . . and to remember that I was an American . . . and to try to deserve the great country in which I was born.

Then he kissed me . . . and set me down . . . and turned to blow his nose. I think there was a tear in his eye, too, but I couldn't see, 'cause he turned and went down the street.

Colonials Beaten 27-6 As 'Cats Gain Third Win

Big Blue Scores Four Touchdowns To Down Capitalists

Midwest baseball surroundings, Kentucky's Wildcats batted out a 27-6 victory over the George Washington Colonials in Washington's Griffith stadium Friday night. After trailing 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, the Big Blue came back to score two touchdowns in the second period, and added two more in the third stanza.

The Colonials were never in the game after that offensive punch in the opening quarter. A 53-yard kick ended in a touchback when Weber went over right tackle for 13 yards and six points. Kentucky blocked the kick for extra point, and the story from there on was all Wildcat.

Cats First Score
Kentucky's first marker came on a march from the 'Cat 43. In six plays the visitors carried it ball to the 19, and Paul Walker passed to George Sengle for the score. First try for extra point found both teams offside, and Charlie Kuhn's second kick went wide.

The next 'Cat touchdown was netted on a 69-yard trek. In two plays Bob Herbert rammed to the Washington 36. Walker tossed to Bill Moseley for 27 yards to put the ball on the GW nine. Three consecutive passes produced no gain, but Kuhn swept around left end for the score. Kuhn also added the extra point.

Kuhn Increases Tally
The Kentuckians increased their lead to 14-0 when Kuhn kicked a 66-yard drive with a 14-yard end run over the GW goal line. The started in the 'Cat win over the George Washington by scoring two touchdowns, adding three conversions, and passing to George Sengle for another score.

Louisville halfback again added the extra point.

The last Blue tally came on a pass interception. Kuhn took a Colonial aerial on the GW 38 and ran it back for the six-pointer. "Automatic" Charley then registered his third point-after-touchdown to make the score read: Kentucky 27, George Washington 6.

The 'Cat success evaded the Kentucky win-loss ledger at three-three, in addition to the tie with Virginia Tech. One of the most outstanding features of the game was the way Kentucky's lineup minus several performers, ran over their hosts.

Phil Cutchin, triple-threat backfield star and leading ground gainer, and Jay Rhodemere, second-string center, didn't even make the trip. Captain Charley Bill Walker, regular pivot-man, accompanied the team, but didn't see action. Pete Triplett, former Henry Clay center, started at the snapper-back position and gave a commendable performance. He was relieved by Mark Sawyer, freshman, who was making his collegiate debut. All of the other 28 players who made the trip saw action.

Blues Edge Statistics
Statistics show Kentucky's big edge in all departments. The Blue-gridders six of 16 Penalties to GW's seven, netted 314 yards for the losers '94. The winners picked up 75 yards via the airman to 44 for the Colonials. The 'Cats completed three of 10 pass attempts, the GW gridders six of 16. Penalties were almost even, with Kentucky being set back 82 yards, the Colonials 80.

TOUCH FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT BEGINS; SAE'S FAVORED

Phi Deltas, B-19s Take Over Slots In Semi-Finals

The Phi Deltas and the independent B-19s moved into the semi-finals of the touch football tournament Friday as the opening games of the first round were completed. The Phi Deltas, with a season record of three wins and two losses, made their advance at the expense of the K.A.'s 12-0, while the Bombers blasted the Sigma Nu's 26-6.

Six Teams Remain
That at the end of the first day of play six teams remain to battle it out. The SAE's, last year's champs and winners of their five scheduled tilts, faced the Delta Monday. The Forrest Court outfit has marked up three victories and two defeats.

Also on Monday the ATO's, unbeaten in three times out, met the Phi Tau's, whose clean slate was spoiled only late in the season by a 6-0 loss to the SAE's on a very wet afternoon. These Monday games were played too late to make this edition, and will be reported at a later date.

Today, at 4 p.m., on Intramural field, the B-19s will vie with the winner of the SAE-Delta scrap for a ticket to the finals, while the Phi Deltas will tangle with the ATO-Phi Tau victor for a similar honor, on U High field.

Championship Game
The championship bout will be played Wednesday at 4 p.m. and choice of fields is allowed.

Statistics on the playoff games show the SAE's leading in total points scored, having racked up 104 while holding their opponents scoreless. The Phi Tau's rank second with 78, and the Delta third with 60.

KERNEL SPORTS

Running Wild

by FOSTER SPENCE

In the midst of current gridiron activity it may seem a bit premature to comment on Kentucky's net prospects this season. However, the Wildcats, crown princes of southern basketball circles, have again gone into winter quarters in the Alumni gym under Ringmaster Adolph Rupp and his assistant, Paul McBryer.

The Baron's troupe was hit hard by graduation last spring, and he personally spent a large portion of the summer making one-day stands throughout the nation in quest of talented freshman performers. He found the crop of prospective players to be very good, and when he returned to Lexington, he had more to show for his trip than a set of retraced lines beginning to come apart at the seams.

Team Leads Experience
Although this year's team will be lacking in experience, they have shown in practice that this deficiency will be made up in hustle and team spirit. The squad still has enough veterans left over from the famous Rupp Rovers of last season to keep the championship spirits alive, and it is a certainty that this year's club will be keeping many of their opponent's coaching staffs on a regular diet of black coffee and aspirin tablets.

Cats Meet Nation's Best
According to the present 'Cat schedule, "the man in the ivory suit" is putting the show officially on the road December 5, with the schedule of Miami University. The defending Southeastern Conference champions then go up against the undefeated teams of the country to have to offer.

Indiana is to be played in Louisville December 23, a team which wound up last season in a tie for second place in the Big Ten. All reports from the Bloomington battlegrounds indicate that Branch McCracken will probably have one of his greatest teams this year. A quick inventory of the team last season shows that he lost only Captain Zimmer by graduation and all the other boys have matriculated to give the hustling Hoosiers a veteran band of hardwood artists. Ohio State is expected to be a little stronger this year and Notre Dame is definitely a major threat. Most of George Keogan's hoopers have at least one year of experience under their belts.

No Word From Georgia Tech
Down south all the coaches with the exception of Roy Mumford of Georgia Tech are optimistic over the approaching season. Roy is planning to spring a surprise on the big wings below the Mason-Dixon line, and that explains his silence. He claims he will have one of the greatest sophomore netters in the South, Tennessee lost O'Neil, Ballis, and Bernie Melch by graduation, but still has Dick Mohen, "Doc" Clark, and Ted Cook to form a nucleus. Alabama lost some of their key men by graduation last spring, including their great center, Wheeler Leath. Coach Hank Crisp is sporting a navy uniform so the Tide will be under a new pilot. Georgia has a nice looking crop of freshmen and sophomores coupled with some key returners. The team will be a fair country club by tournament time. The other clubs shape up about the same as last year, with Vanderbilt getting the dark horse choice.

West Virginia, final home foe to be met two weeks hence, knocked Penn State from the ranks of the undefeated with a 24-0 success. The Mountaineers, who have had only a so-so season so far, belied their mediocre showings in previous games.

Tennessee, traditional Kentucky Thanksgiving enemy, jumped back into the spotlight with a 26-0 rout of Louisiana State. The Bengal lion was his first in Southeastern Conference competition, and saw the Vols combine a potent running-passing attack that the Bayou lads couldn't match.

Wisconsin Men In Army Checked

A new service department recently created by the University of Wisconsin is that of a War Records Clerk in the Alumni Records Office, designed to keep track of Wisconsin alumni and faculty in the armed forces. Miss Mable Wiley, formerly secretary to the business manager of Wisconsin General Hospital, and secretary to the chairman of the department of education, will take over the new duties of gathering information about the flaggers in service.

The War Records department endeavor to keep a complete file record of each alumnus in military service, noting promotions, changes of address, special honors and distinctions won. It is hoped that after the war the Alumni War Records will show a complete picture of what the University and alumni have contributed in World War II.

"Facts about wartime"

"I never saw a fighting man who didn't cherish the very thought of a pause with Coca-Cola. That goes for workers in factories, too. Ice-cold Coke is something more than the drink that answers thirst. It adds the feel of refreshment."

"In war, Uncle Sam restricts the supply. But there's still enough for many refreshing pauses."

SPAG'S NOTES

By Vincent Spagnuolo

During the past several seasons, Kentucky football teams have not accomplished anything to be proud of or anything to point back to with a great amount of pride. It's true that they have been breaking even each season, and many seasons registering more wins than spills. But they won the games they were predicted to and lost the games they were supposed to drop. No major upsets or string of consecutive victories have to be boast.

Because Georgia Tech is one of the very few unbeaten, united elements of the nation, and because our 'Cats are so underrated, the mental attitude of the Jackets may consist of a slight dose of cockiness. Thus, barring no serious injuries this week and assuming the 'Cats will have the determination of destruction when they journey to Atlanta this week-end, this corner, Mr. Five by five edges out on a limb by predicting Coach Ab Kieran and his crew will DERAIL Tech's boardward bound train. 'Boys! Boys! Puleeze make me look good!"

This season our team could properly be given the handle of the "luckless 'Cats." Only the matter of a few points make the difference between a mediocre ball club and a national standard in the sports scribbles of the nation. Potentially our 'Cats are as good as the leaders of the Southeastern Conference. But a few tough breaks in several games have made us the loop doormat.

As you probably know, Clark Wood has already been picked to play in the North-South game. We think as a great number of others do, that his running mate, "Stoop" Johnson, shouldn't be left behind. Then, too, it wouldn't hurt to have "Ramblin' Robert" Herbert around to tromp a few of these Yankees.

Because of his determination to play this year, Bob would be a valuable asset to the Southern squad. It wouldn't hurt for the committee to consider inviting Norm Beck, but because of the lack of SEC victories

Wisconsin Extension Courses Enrolled 21,388 In 1942

Notwithstanding the special stresses of wartime, the Extension division of the University of Wisconsin in the last fiscal year recorded the largest enrollment in its study courses with the exception of one year, in more than a decade. According to annual figures compiled by Mrs. A. H. Smith, extension director, extension teaching was provided for 21,388 students enrolled in 28,29 courses of study—class and correspondence.

The enrollments were distributed as follows: Correspondence study, 10,888; state classes including government war-training classes, 9,164; Milwaukee classes, 8,589.

Since 1906 the University of Wisconsin recorded 469,087 registrations in its extension courses, divided as follows: Milwaukee evening classes, 63,425; Milwaukee day classes, 71,235; state classes, 82,758; correspondence courses, 161,669.

Wisconsin is the first state to offer free instruction in university extension courses for war veterans and for selectees now in service. Subsidies have been available since 1936, by legislative enactment, to veterans of earlier wars and since June, 1941, to World War II selectees. Last year 134 war veterans and 790 selectees applied for extension courses under the state's offer.

All except three states furnished students of Wisconsin's correspondence courses in 1941-42, the report shows. From outside continental United States there were students from Alaska, Canada, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Honduras, Iceland, Mexico, Puerto Rico, and West Indies. Of the states other than Wisconsin, Illinois was represented by the most students—168. Other areas high in the list were New York, Michigan, Ohio, Connecticut, Missouri, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Washington, Indiana, Minnesota, and New Jersey, in the order named.

Of all registrations received, 52.3 per cent were for courses offering college credit, and approximately 70 per cent were represented by male registrants.

Fifty-nine cities benefited last year from the state's policy of carrying we will have to be content with one 'Cat representing this institution. Not more than two, anyway. But maybe if we throw a monkey wrench in somebody's plans this week, the inviting committee will have to accept another boy from the Bluegrass.

Five Ag Students Take Top Honors At National Meet

Five University students were awarded the "American Farmer Degree," highest honor which a member of the Future Farmers of America can receive, at the national F.F.A. convention held recently in Kansas City.

They are David Cleveland, Pleasureville; Richard LeGrand, Owensboro; Charles Eastin and John Burrier, Lexington; and Joe W. Beck, Alexandria.

Jimmie Bean, Bardston, president of the Kentucky association of F.F.A. and A. B. Veech, Pineville, vice-president, served as official delegates to the convention. W. R. Tabb, executive secretary of the Kentucky association, accompanied them to the meeting.

Fourteen Tennessee colleges united in a civilian defense training program which turned out 4,500 instructors who are now passing it on to 225,000 volunteers.

'CATS TO FACE THREE TOUGHIES

Tech, W. Virginia, Tennessee On Tap

Kentucky's gridders face tough sleazeballs in their last three games. If Saturday's contests are omens of things to come, all three foes—Georgia Tech, West Virginia and Tennessee—are traditionally tough and have kept at the top of the football heap this year, but Saturday's starts saw them produce a little something extra.

Tech, this week's opponent, kept its undefeated status by running over Duke, 26-7. The Blue Devils, who competed in their first year's transplanted Rose Bowl classic, looked like Podunk Poly, as the Engineers counted their first victory over an Duke soul. Another outstanding Tech triumph this season was an early season win over mighty Notre Dame.

West Virginia, final home foe to be met two weeks hence, knocked Penn State from the ranks of the undefeated with a 24-0 success. The Mountaineers, who have had only a so-so season so far, belied their mediocre showings in previous games.

Tennessee, traditional Kentucky Thanksgiving enemy, jumped back into the spotlight with a 26-0 rout of Louisiana State. The Bengal lion was his first in Southeastern Conference competition, and saw the Vols combine a potent running-passing attack that the Bayou lads couldn't match.
