WILDCATS OF KENTUCKY WILL MEET BEARCATS ON STOLL FIELD SATURDAY

Bears Lost to U. of P. But Wildcats Expect a Hard Tussle

BREWER HAS RETURNED

Coach Juneau is Satisfied With The Condition of Squad.

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats will be the menu for the Wildcats tomorrow afternoon when the Blue and White eleven lines up on Stoll Field. The Ohio school has one of the strongest teams it has ever had and the Wildcats will have to go some to defeat them. Cincinnati lost to the University of Pittsburg last Saturday, but it is no disgrace to be beaten by "Pop" Warner's aggregation of Panthers. Therefore, the fur should fly when the Wildcat meets the Bear tomorrow afternoon.

With the opening game of the season safely tucked under their belts, the Wildcats resume their practices Monday afternoon with all the pep that could be desired. The squad has been busy all week smoothing out the rough edges, plainly revealed in last Saturday's game.

Ted Brewer returned to the squad Monday and with his appearance the hospital list entirely disappeared. The Cats have been unusually fortunate in regard to injuries this year. (We have our fingers crossed.)

In all probability the same lineup that opposed the West Virginians last week will comprise the team against Cincinnati tomorrow. Coach Juneau was very well pleased with the game played by all the men and says that with a little more practice the team should develop into one of the best in the history of the University.

JONAS WIEL OFFERS PRIZE TO STUDENTS

One Hundred Dollar Prize For Highest Scholastic Standing

Jonas Wiel, prominent Fayette county farmer, has offered an annual prize of one hundred dollars in cash to be awarded by the local chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary fraternity, to the student in the college of Agriculture making the highest scholarship record during the freshmen and sophomore years. The winner, who will be subject to the approval of the fraternity, will be announced at the beginning of the junior year and the award will be made on graduation.

To further encourage students in the college, the active chapter of the fraternity will offer gold, silver and bronze medals as first, second and third prizes for the students who attain the highest scholastic standing during their freshman year. These awards will be made at the beginning of the winner's sophomore year.

The annual prize offered by Mr. Wiel represents the largest scholarship award that has ever been offered to students of the college and its students of the college and is considered a substantial expression of his interest in the college and its students. He has shown himself to be a staunch friend of the college by supporting the work of the institution.

SU-KY CIRCLE

The above is a picture of the members of the Su-Ky Circle, boosters club of the University of Kentucky, which was organized two years ago for the purpose of encouraging athletics and to put "pep" into student activities in general. The circle has complete charge of all athletic games.

First row—Dorothy Blatz, Irene McNamara, Margaret Lavin, (secretary.)
Second—Arthur Bradshaw, (president), Ann Hickman, Louise Connell, Mary Peterson, Kitty Conroy, John Burks.
Third—F. A. C. Thompson, Tom Clore, Carl Riefkin, (treasurer), Tom Gregory, Ryan Ringo, Sneed Yeager (vice-president), Dan Morse.
Fourth—Tom Ballentine, John Whittaker, William Blanton.

NOTICE!

The management of the Kentuckian announces that the contest for the sale of annuals will open October 16 and that any student in the University may enter it. The prizes offered will be $10 and an annual to the contestant selling the largest number of books, $5.00 and an annual for the second prize and to each contestant selling more than 50 annuals will be given a Kentuckian. For further information in regard to the contest applicants are requested to see Charles Graham, business manager of the annual. The Kentuckian office is located in the basement of the Educational building.

JACK WINN PRINCETON'S ALL-AMERICAN LINEMAN WILL COACH U OF K LINE

Winn Was Captain of Tigers in 1917, Also Coached Past Year

GREAT AID TO STAFF

"Dick" Webb and "Doc" Rodas Are Whipping Freshmen Into Shape for Center

Jack Winn, of Mt. Sterling, graduate of Princeton University, Captain and All-American lineman for the Tigers in 1917, has been engaged as line coach at the University of Kentucky this year.

For the past two years Winn has been at Princeton University, and although receiving flattering offers to return there this year, he refused for business reasons. After hard persuasion on the part of the Athletic Council at the University of Kentucky, Winn agreed to help with the Wildcats coaching.

With the addition of Winn, the coaching staff of the Wildcats will be one of the strongest in the South. Coach William Juneau and George Buchitt have been in charge of the Cats Varsity so far this season, while Richard "Dick" Webb and "Doc" Rodas have been handling the freshmen eleven.

The Athletic Council has had several men in view to assist Coach Juneau, but its choice was Winn, who is one of the many Kentuckians who have made letters on foreign grids.

ROTARY CLUB ENTERTAIN 75 FRESHMEN TUESDAY

Mr. Harry Giovannoli and Dr. Bush Consoled Freshmen on Loss of Hair

The Rotary Club of Lexington entertained 75 freshmen of the University of Kentucky and Transylvania College at its regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Phoenix hotel. The students were welcomed by the Rotarians as fellow students, and were urged to look upon the townspeople and school faculties in the same way as they do each other.

Mr. Harry Giovannoli and Dr. Benjamin Bush invited the boys to become part of the community life of the city. Condolence was offered the university students on the loss of their hair, but they were told that

EXECUTOR OF PRESIDENT PATTERSON'S BIOGRAPHY IS PREPARING MEMORIAL

William Benjamin Smith is to Write Review of Life Here

IS NATIVE KENTUCKIAN

Work Will Be a Two Hundred Page Volume—Date of Publication Not Set

Designated by the late Dr. James Kennedy Patterson, President Emeritus of the University of Kentucky as the executor of his biography, Professor William Benjamin Smith, former professor of mathematics and of philosophy at Tulane University, is spending several months in Lexington preparing a memorial volume of the life and services of Dr. Patterson in respect to education and culture.

Professor Smith is a native Kentuckian, having been born in Stanford. He was granted the degree of Master of Arts from Transylvania University in 1871. He studied three years in Germany and traveled one year on the continent. From 1893-1906 Professor Smith held the chair of Professor of Mathematics at Tulane and at his own request was transferred to the department of philosophy. Since severing his connection with Tulane Professor Smith has devoted his time to literary, philosophical and scientific pursuits.

In 1908 he was delegated by President Roosevelt as a delegate to the Pan-American Scientific Congress at Santiago, Chile. His poem, "The Murmuring of the Seraph," was crowned victor over 200 others in the Post Lore Competition held in Boston in 1906. Professor Smith also compiled the body of mathematical

FRIDAY Y. W. SERVICE IS WELL ATTENDED

Meets Today at Fifth Hour With Miss Crane as Speaker

The first mid-week meeting of the Y. W. C. A. for the year held in the rest room in White Hall last Friday the first half of the fifth hour, was well attended, especially by Lexington girls and students from town boarding house 5. Brief devotional exercises were conducted by Katherine Elliott, leader of the meeting, introduced the speaker, Dean Frances Jewell. Miss Jewell spoke on the importance of making one's college career count for the most, and of co-operating with the Y. W. C. A. and other worthwhile organizations on the campus. The speaker this Friday is Miss Adelaide Crane.

Y. M. TO BRING STUDENT SPEAKER TO U. K. CAMPUS

Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., Dr. W. D. Weatherford, student speaker of international fame, will arrive in Lexington October 13 to take up the work of interesting freshmen boys in religious life on the campus and in Lexington. This is the first time in the history of the University that a special speaker has been provided for the express purpose of Detroit, October 28—(Last Saturday—Regular) dinner, 6:30, Dixieland Inn.

Home Coming November 4.

A date that will be surrounded by a big red mark on the calendar of hundreds of former students of the University of Kentucky is November 4, Home Coming Day. Committees from the Alumni Association and from the Lexington Alumni Club are at work planning entertainment for the visitors. The principal feature will be the annual Kentucky-Center football game on Stoll field.

On the Saturday preceding Center will have locked horns for the third time with Harvard and the Wildcats will have met Sewanee, who have furnished an interesting contest for many years. The closing game of the season, Thanksgiving Day, will be played at Knoxville, although the freshmen of Tennessee and Kentucky will meet on Stoll field.

The term "alumnus" no longer is surrounded by mystery in the thoughts of undergraduates, who recognize these students of former days as real friends and providers. The faculty have come to have a new respect for "alumni." Once convinced of their responsibility and their opportunity the former students of Old Kentucky have jumped into the game. Asked to procure, they have done it.

In this column will appear later stories of the results of organized alumni effort. Detailed plans for Home Coming will be announced later. The Alumni Secretary will have a block of tickets reserved for the Kentucky-Center game, reserved seats to sell for $1.50 and box seats for $2, including general admission. Orders may be sent in now.

o-o-o

Organize New Clubs.

The annual drive for members of the Association is precedent to a campaign for new alumni clubs. The executive committee has formulated plans which include the formation of some sort of an organization for every county of Kentucky. Few "Kentucky" centers in other states are unorganized. In each of them steps looking toward organization are being taken already.

It is not the expectation or desire of the Association to take part in politics in Kentucky, but reports received from the former students in various sections indicate that friends of higher education as well as men and women with sympathy for modern practices in business and politics will be urged to run for the several city, county and state offices.

Of 2,500 graduates of the University, approximately 1,400 are in Kentucky, and of the 17,000 non-graduates more than two-thirds are living in the State.

o-o-o

Entertainers Go On Tour.

The expanding activities of the Strollers, Glee Club and Opera furnish alumni and friends of the University a means for extending the influence of the Alma Mater, hitherto neglected. Alumni clubs have been among the first to plan these visits and now enter into keen competition for dates.

A University policy governing all these tours is being formulated by faculty committees whereby these student organizations will be of the greatest possible help in missionary work throughout the state.

o-o-o

Will Be Governor?

James G. Scrugham, '00, who received the Democratic nomination for Governor of Nevada in the recent primary, is considered a sure winner, according to reports received here from the western capital. He won the nomination 2 to 1. Mr. Scrugham is State Highway Engineer and holds a chair in the University of Nevada, at Reno.

Reports from California indicate increasing strength of the boom launched several months ago for M. B. Jones '94.

o-o-o

Class Letter Draws Blood

The first class chain letter of the year to reach the Secretary's office is from L. Chauncey Brown '06, managing editor of the Evening Independent, St. Petersburg, Fla. Fifteen of the "old boys" have swung into line since receiving Mr. Brown's appeal. Responses to his call for news were printed in folder form and re-mailed to every member of the class.

Included were letters from J. S. Shaw, Waide Smith, R. P. Duvall, Thornton Lewis, Pres. Atkins, Phil Riefkin, Robert C. Terrill, W. P. Kemper and J. C. McPherson.

Ashland Club is Active

Fourteen new students for the University is the record of the Ashland Alumni Club, which celebrated with a banquet at the Ventura hotel September 15.

The speakers were thirteen plus and not one of the celebrants was tired. The theme was a bigger and better club, a better state and Ashland first. It was the most successful meeting the club has ever held. The officers are Mrs. Mary Elliott Flanery, president; Arthur T. Bryson, vice-president; John W. Woods, treasurer; and Thomas Burchett, secretary.

Other alumni present were Mrs. Bryson, Mrs. J. W. Bosley, Miss Mason, Miss Vaughan, Miss Dew Flanery, Mrs. Claude Taylor, Miss Parish and Miss Anna Lewis; J. C. Hearne, Herbert H. Green, W. S. Patton, Geo. Gallup, Claude Taylor, Otto C. Garlin, J. W. Morris, A. W. Thompson, S. J. Ridd, A. N. Cisco, Byron Cisco, Paul Stewart and M. L. Chowning.

Celebrate in Detroit

The Detroit Alumni Club held its most successful meeting September 30, when ten members of the club and a visitor from Toledo, were all struck at the same time by a big idea? It seemed fitting to us to send in our alumni dues that night, so here they are, ten of them. The one missing is coming to the campus in person, lucky dog, and deposit his two dollars there.

Thus far ten is the largest membership the club has had, but we have prospects that will make the total 15. Alex Hall '19, is here, doing a bit of engineering for Henry Ford. L. F. Bush, '20, is our newest addition. He is selling a line of cigars for a Detroit concern. H. B. Willmott is a newcomer to the meetings. He is with the Westinghouse Electric Company here.

Our visitor was Hall Henry, '18, who is in Detroit managing the exhibition of his company, the Combustion Utilities Corporation, at a big steel exposition.

We are: C. L. Bosley, '13, engineer with Pennsylvania road which is trying to get into Detroit; H. O. Wagner, '15, the General Electric; E. H. Clark, '16, the American Blower Co.; L. M. Burton, ex-'21, selling for the Cluett Peabody Company; E. B. Hayden, '14, Dodge Motor Company; C. M. Hargreaves, '20, American Blower Company; R. D. Puckett, '15, Nizer Laboratories here, a milk company; and your correspondent. I am still with the Free Press.

We talked over the formation of a Kentucky Club in Detroit at our last meeting, and if we decide to organize one, our alumni club will be the nucleus of it.

We are all tickled to see the result of the first Wildcat game. Let the good work go on, we are rooting at a distance, but in earnest.—Chas. E. Planck.

A HOPEFUL SIGN

With an enrollment of nearly 1,700 students doing regular University work, the University of Kentucky opened the session of 1922-23 the 18th day of September.

Perhaps not in the south has any institution of learning shown more marked increase in enrollment over that of a previous year, as the University of Kentucky has shown in this instance. It is conceded of course that the general trend throughout the United States is toward larger collegiate enrollment, owing to many causes, perhaps the most outstanding of which is the rapid increase of the American population.

Notwithstanding the fact that the University is crowded with students to such an extent as almost to endanger best teaching results, it is a source of profound gratification to the Kernel to be able to observe that everywhere upon the campus are evidences of good tempered, co-operation and desire to go forward and overcome this difficulty both upon the part of students and faculty.

The Kernel would not dare to suggest that the remarkable enrollment for the present session is a protest against widespread opposition and adverse comment from certain quarters in which excitement over what was termed "teaching evolution" existed, but it is gratified that such enrollment does obtain here notwithstanding opposition that the University's friends feared might seriously reduce student attendance. It is additionally gratifying to note that there is apparent increased purpose on the part of young men and women of the State not to stop when the doors of the high school are closed behind them upon graduation, but to go forward and avail themselves of the benefits of higher education; and so, the Kernel hopes that soon or late the citizens of the State will see to it that the almost sublime cause in which this institution is laboring shall ultimately have adequate means to carry forward its great work.

"KERNEL HY."

The Kernel is in receipt of an anonymous letter and poem sent in by a student supposedly, who signs himself "Kernel Hy," and writes under the heading, "History and Philosophy." It has always been the policy of the Kernel to disregard and withhold from publication all anonymous communications except those written by regular reporters. The poem submitted was well worth publication but for reasons already stated it will be impossible to give it publication anonymously. The Kernel desires very much the help of "Kernel Hy" and hopes that he will lend his talent in making a good paper better. So the management of the Kernel requests that its anonymous friend send in his name—better still that he call in person and join the staff.

"DADDY BOLES"

Oh, it's Daddy this
And Daddy that
And Daddy all the while—

When the midday sun is ascendant, shedding its light of true understanding, the reason for the atmosphere of success that surrounds things athletic is seen more plainly as the handiwork of "Daddy Boles."

The direction of physical education is a task of no mean importance, but to this happy personage it becomes but one phase of a busy day. "Daddy Boles" is the chief in making out schedules and one of the leading strategists in our relations within the Southern Conference. He helps to pick out the men who are to be the Wildcats of tomorrow; is one of the chief figures in bringing them to Lexington, finding living quarters and the employment so often required; and is the fixer when tutoring is required or a new course of study advisable.

The man who knows the whole machine and watches out for every part to see that it functions properly is "Daddy Boles."

Not alone is athletics his sphere. The Su-Ky Circle, the most influential and productive of student organizations, was his inspiration. A counselor, patient, resourceful and tireless is "Daddy Boles." Our only suggestion is give us more that are like him.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO PRODUCE ANNUAL OPERA

greatly increased, while the third rehearsal on Thursday brought out 75 applicants for parts in the opera.

The chorus this year will consist of 16 men and 26 girls, and with a wealth of talent available, the success of the opera is assured. The cast will be selected next Monday afternoon, and all students desiring to exercise their vocal cords are invited to enter the try-outs.

University regulations concerning eligibility will also influence selection of the cast, and within a few days a list of applicants will be placed in the hands of the registrar for his approval.

Pending negotiations with local theatre managers, no contract for the three performances has been signed. An effort is being made, however, to obtain one of the leading playhouses of Lexington for the opera. Other university productions have been held in the Woodland auditorium, but it is thought that a smaller house with better acoustic properties will prove more satisfactory.

The performance on Wednesday, Nov. 29, will be in the nature of a matinee for school children of the city, according to tentative plans. On Thanksgiving night, seats will be especially reserved for university students, and on Friday night, the opera will enter to the public.

The pronounced success of "Robin Hood" and "The Mikado" during the last two years, has given the department in charge of the opera, an excellent reputation, upholding of which will demand unceasing work on the part of the staff. Of undisputed merits, however, "Erminie" will eclipse all past performances.

A NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I desire to call attention to two matters. The first relates to automobiles on the campus whose number has doubled this year. Do not park cars at the end of the Administration building, but leave them in the parking space provided in the rear of White Hall.

The second thing is the matter of study hours. Students will find places to study in the chapel and in Dicker Hall for men, additional places are provided for the women in White Hall and the Physics building. Let me add that it is unwise as well as diastrophic to waste your time in loafing on the campus between hours.

FRANK L. McVEY,
President.

definitions for the latest edition of the International Dictionary. For the last eight years he has been occupied with writing a line for line hexametric translation of the Iliad.

Professor Smith is hailed on the continent as the greatest of modern theologians. His Ecce Deus and Der Vortchristliche Jesus were recognized by critics as masterful representations of the beginnings of Christianity. They have been reviewed with acclaim by the foremost literateurs of Europe and America.

Dr. K. C. Anderson, of Glasgow, said of Professor Smith in The Quest for July, a quarterly journal of London, "Very gladly do I acknowledge my indebtedness to Professor W. B. Smith. He has, in my judgment, solved the problem of the origin of Christianity, and his name will go down to posterity as one of the great pioneers. The fundamental contentions of his two books Ecce Deus and Der Vorchristliche Jesus have remained in my opinion, unanswerd."

Professor Smith's life of Dr. Patterson will be a two hundred page octavo volume. The date of its publication is not yet determined.

WORK ON ANNUAL BEGINS THIS WEEK

Dr. Weatherford, Religious Worker of International Fame to Arrive October 13.

Work upon the Kentuckian, the official year book of the University, began this week with the first staff meeting held in the Kentuckian office in the basement of the Education building. The business manager of the annual, Chas. D. Graham, asks that each organization on the campus see him and arrange for the reservation of space within the next two weeks.

The photographer for the annual will begin making photographs on October 16 and will be on the campus for two weeks. Members of all organizations are asked to see Allen Cammack and make appointments for pictures to be taken.

The contest for the sale of annuals will open October 16 and will continue for about two weeks. Any student in the University is eligible to enter the contest and the prize for the largest number of annuals sold will be an award of $10 and an annual, the second prize, $5.00 and an annual. Each contestant who sells as many as fifty annuals or more than that number will be given an annual.

For any information in regard to the Kentuckian students are asked to see Chas. D. Graham.

securing the interest of new students in religious work while in college.

Although Doctor Weatherford is coming primarily to speak to freshmen boys it is probable that he will speak to the student body as a whole in chapel and to freshmen girls in Paterson Hall during his stay on the campus.

Doctor Weatherford as student speaker of the South, has visited practically every college in the United States and has therefore had a greater part in developing religious interest among students than any other man. Besides touching the lives of students through his speaking he has written many books on religious problems, among them "Christian Life a Normal Experience," "Introducing Men to Christ" and "Religion in the Poetry of Browning." Dr. Weatherford is probably the greatest authority on the negro problem in America.

MADAM FRANCES ALDA TO OPEN ARTIST CONCERTS

Special Rate for Series Made to Students and Faculty.

Frances Alda, who will sing the first of the season's artist concerts at Woodland Auditorium Thursday night, October 5, at 8:15, has a record of unqualified successes. Her popularity with the great metropolitan audiences has grown steadily and she holds an outstanding place as an artist. She is pronounced "one of the artistic successes" by concert managers throughout the United States, and abroad. The critics of the coast have complimented her on the beauty of her perfect soprano voice. Madam Alda not only has a wonderful voice but is conceded to be the most beautiful of all prima donnas. She has ineffable charm and her style and interpretation evokes the most enthusiastic admiration.

Other artists who will appear in the concert series are Mary Garden, Albert Spalding, Ricardo Martin and Sergei Rachmaninoff

There are still good seats to be had at $2.75, $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10. Season tickets for the five concerts are $11.00, $8.50 and $7.70, the latter price for students and teachers.

Tickets are now on sale in the Ben Ali Theatre lobby, and the sale will continue there throughout Thursday. Mail orders should be sent to the Lexington College of Music. Phone 2891 and 639 x.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Miss Frances Jewell, dean of women, spoke at the regular Sunday evening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Patterson Hall. In her informal talk she emphasized the importance of doing everything heartily. The main thought taken away was "It's not so much the work you do but the spirit in which you do it."

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet decided at their last meeting to hold the regular association meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock instead of Sunday evening as formerly. L. F. Zerfoss spoke at the meeting Thursday evening.

Katherine Elliott was elected secretary of the Y. W. C. A. to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of Adelaide Longest to return to the University this year.

Dr. J. E. Khrbe, national speaker for the Near East Relief, and Miss Beth Higgins, speaker for the Near East relief in the state, spoke at Y. M. C. A. cabinet meeting Tuesday evening. Miss Higgins urged students to go out about Lexington in the interest of Armenian relief.

Real Service Must Be Engineered

Many of the men whose names are writ large in engineering history are design engineers; men like Westinghouse, Lamme, Stanley, Hodgkinson, Tesla, Shallenberger. Their inventions have the quality of usefulness, of reliability, of productability; which is an involved way, perhaps, of saying that they have the primary requisite of all really great inventions: Serviceability.

Engineering history abounds in instances of near-genius that produced no product, and of great developments that never reached completion; and most of these instances are explained by the lack, somewhere in the system, of that ability to give real Service.

Service, in a machine or a system, or wherever you find it, is not there by accident but because it was incorporated by men who understood what was required and knew how to provide it.

Much more is required of the designer than facility in calculation and mastery of theory. He must have first hand and thorough familiarity with manufacturing operations and with commercial and operating conditions. It takes more than mere ingenuity and inventiveness to design apparatus that will be really serviceable and will "stay put."

The design engineer, in the Westinghouse plan, is responsible for the performance of the finished product. He cannot possibly have the proper understanding of operation unless he operates and tests, unless he spends time and thought in investigation and study, not in the laboratory or drawing room, but right on the operating job. Here, most of his ideas will develop; and here he will see and prepare for all the different things which the product will later have to encounter. Then when he comes to put his creations on paper, his calculations will be necessary and helpful to check the conclusions which he has reached, and this right use of them requires training and a high degree of understanding. This proper balance of the physical and mathematical conception of things is what constitutes engineering judgement.

It should be thoroughly understood that the primary function of the design engineer is the conception and the production of new or improved apparatus, and familiarity with the practical is essential to the proper discharge of this duty.

It is this view of designing that makes this branch of Westinghouse engineering so important, so effective, and so productive of real developments.

WILDCATS DEFEAT WEST VIRGINIANS IN OPENING GAME

Big Green Team Puts Up Valiant Battle Against Faster and Lighter Opponents

The University of Kentucky Wildcats inaugurated the 1922 season last Saturday by defeating Marshall College 16 to 0. At only one time was the Blue and White goal line in danger, when Marshall completed a forward pass on Kentucky's seven yard line. The Wildcats held the West Virginians for three downs, and when Marshall attempted a drop kick, broke through and downed Crowe on the twenty-five yard line.

It would be hard to pick any particular individual star of the contest, for all played a sterling brand of ball. Bruce Fuller, playing his last year, Colpitts, A. T. Rice, Ramsey and Gregg shone out above the brilliant playing of the remainder of the team. Gregg filled the difficult quarter position admirably and added to his laurels by booting a thirty-five yard drop kick in the third period.

To Colpitts went the honor of scoring the first touchdown of the present year, when he crossed the goal line after picking up a fumble and running about thirty yards for the marker, in the second quarter. Fuller missed an attempted place kick in the try for goal. Kentucky scored again in the third period when Gregg carried the ball over the line after a series of line plays. Fuller added point in the try for goal. The Wildcats again started a march toward Marshall goal but were held for three downs on the twenty-yard line. On the next play Gregg dropped back fifteen yards and kicked the ball between the uprights for three points. Score: Kentucky 16, Marshall 0.

FRESHMEN ARE HARD AT WORK

With the date of the opening game only a week off, the freshman squad is rapidly coming into better shape each day. The first year men are out every afternoon with plenty of pep and are fighting for the various positions, for Coch Webb says that no one is certain of his position.

Some of the injured list have returned to the fold and are showing up well. Stevenson, 220 pound tackle from the Columbia (Tenn.) Military Academy, is a recent addition to the squad. He appears to have the markings of a first class lineman and should prove a valuable addition to the Green team.

The yearlings indulge in scrimmage daily and really scrap. By their actions one would think that they have a grudge against one another and have bad intentions. Evans, scrappy little quarter from Ohio, is showing real class and seems certain of a berth on the team. Sauer, Kirwan, Thomas, Hughes, Montgomery, and Cisco have been showing up well.

The freshmen open the season October 14 with Georgetown freshmen at Georgetown. The schedule will be found elsewhere on this page.

BRUCE FULLER

Bruce, playing his fourth year as a member of the Wildcat squad, was one of the outstanding stars of last Saturday's game. He was in every play and certainly repaid the prospects of his devotees when they predicted that he would play the greatest game of his career this season. Bruce is a triple threat man, being able to pass, run, or kick at any time. He should make a strong bid for All-Southern honors this year, barring accidents, and should leave the University with a wonderful football record.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL ADDS CROSS COUNTRY TO THE LIST OF MINOR SPORTS

Sweaters and Letters to Be Awarded Varsity Team of This Sport

PORTER HOLDS RECORD

Varsity Will Consist of Six Men—Several Meets Are Scheduled

The Athletic Council at its meeting last week decided to add cross-country to the list of minor sports at the University, and to award a letter in that sport. Following the lead of the Western Conference Schools, Kentucky is the first university in the south to make cross-country a letter sport. Long recognized in the north as one of the principal autumn diversions, Kentucky has been the first in the S. I. A. A. to recognize its importance.

The distance this fall, in all the meets, will be four miles. Last year the Kentucky Intercollegiate Cross-Country run was inaugurated with teams of six men from Georgetown, Wesleyan, Transylvania and Kentucky entered. Bob Porter, Kentucky captain and Wildcat distance record holder, won this event with ease and enabled Kentucky to tie Georgetown in the final result. This year, with the probable absence of Porter and Brown, looming up, the prospect for a great fight for positions on the varsity are excellent.

The varsity team shall consist of six men, all of whom are practically assured a letter if they participate in State meet. A class meet has been scheduled for October 27, a dual meet with the University of Cincinnati November 11, and the State meet November 25 either at Georgetown or at Lexington. Medals are to be given to the first five winners in the State meet, and bronze medals to the winning team in the Class meet.

CAMPUS CHATTER

A very interesting course in matriculation lectures has been mapped out 'his semester for freshmen of the College of Arts and Sciences. The Kernel regrets every much that the opportunity of hearing these lectures cannot be extended to every one in school.

Following is the schedule for each week:

- September 21—President F. L. McVey, "The University."
- September 28—Dean P. P. Boyd, "The College."
- October 5—Prof. J. B. Miner, "How to Study."
- October 12—Prof. E. F. Farquhar, "Friendships."
- October 19—Dean Frances Jewell, "Social Life."
- October 26—Prof. E. E. Fleischman, "Public Speaking."
- November 2—Prof. S. A. Boles, "Athletics."
- November 9—Prof. J. T. C. Noye, "Religion and Life."
- November 15—Prof. L. L. Dantzer, "Literature and Life."
- November 23—Prof. W. D. Funkhouser, "Science and Life."
- December 7—Prof. Edward Nuttall, "History and Life."
- December 14—Prof. Edward Wiest, "Education for the Business Man."
- January 4—Prof. Granville Terrell, "Culture and Life."
- January 11—Prof. Carol M. Sax, "Art and Life."
- January 18—Prof. H. H. Downing, "Illustrated Lecture on Astronomy."
- January 25—Prof. Carl Lampert, "Concert."

President McVey will meet with the Senate on Monday at 3:45 p. m., in the Little Theatre.

Council meeting Friday, at 3:45 p. m.

Dean Boyd is in Frankfort today in conference with the Department of Education and representatives from other states concerning the new high school course that has been organized, and the requirements for teachers' certificates.

Miss Bessie Desha has accepted the position as resident nurse at Patterson Hall, succeeding Miss Tillie Great-house, who resigned last year to accept a position in Panama.

Miss Desha, well known through out this section for her capability, received her training at the Good Samaritan Hospital of this city. Her post graduate work was done at California Hospital, Los Angeles.

Except between the hours of 2 and 4:30 p. m., Miss Desha will be available to the girls of Patterson, Boyd and Smith Halls daily. Between 2 and 4:30 daily she will be at the Dispensary where any University students may receive her services.

Mary Archer Bell, '22, has recently taken the position of women's reporter on the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette. Miss Bell was active in journalistic work while at the University and held several positions on the staff of the Kernel.

Eugene Moore, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, has recently been appointed University representative of the Associated Press and is handling athletic news through one of the Kentucky offices located at Frankfort in charge of Herndon Evans. Mr. Moore's work has been so successful that he has already received commendation from the head office.

Ann Maltby and Anna Louise Connor have been assigned to take charge of other University news of the Associated Press.

RUTH JONES WILL PLAY IN UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Miss Jones is a Native of Louisville—Praised as a Great Artist

The students of the University will be given a treat in the violin concert of Ruth Jones (Mrs. Richard C. Knott) to be held in the chapel of the University of Kentucky, Tuesday evening, October 10, at 8:30 o'clock.

Although Miss Jones is a young musician less than a year out of the conservatory, her work has called forth praise from the leading violin masters of the country and from the press. She is a pupil of Leopold Auer, violin master.

Miss Jones is a native of Louisville, although born in Indianapolis, Ind., her parents moved to Louisville when she was but a few months old, which city she has since made her home.

During the period of her musical career, under the instructions of Charles Letzler of the Louisville Conservatory of Music, Miss Jones appeared several times publicly in Louisville and in other Kentucky towns. At the age of 15 she gave a recital at Macauley's theatre in Louisville and with the proceeds of the recital she bought herself a $600 violin.

The next summer, Leopold Auer, the teacher of Heifetz Zimbalist, Elman, Kathleen Parlow, Toscha Seidel, and other world famous violinists, heard her play and at once consented to take her for further instruction.

Miss Jones studied under this master for nearly three years in Chicago and New York. During that time she made but three public appearances, two of them in Louisville and the other just recently at the Ziegfeld theater in Chicago.

Following her appearance at the Ziegfeld theater Miss Jones was heralded as a genius. Since then she has received flattering press notices from all over the world.

J. E. KHIRBE SPOKE IN CHAPEL TUESDAY

Khirbe's Work For Past Year Was to Investigate Conditions in Asia-Minor

Conditions in the Near East, where the American Relief has charge of thousands of stricken refugees and children, were described by Mr. J. E. Khirbe, national speaker of this cause, in his address in chapel last Tuesday on "Travel in the Near East and Political Situation of the Greeks and Turks."

Mr. Khirbe's work during last year was to investigate hunger conditions in Asia Minor and Russia. In the sections he visited the entire population was poverty stricken, dressed in rags, and living on food brought from without. Twenty-five thousand children have been made orphans in the Near East during the last seven years. The "dead cart" went around every morning to pick up the dead and carry them away for burial in trenches. Conditions have steadily improved since 1919, the speaker said.

The whole situation there, Mr. Khirbe stated, is one of the great tragedies of modern civilization, the result of the contention of the older and newer types of civilization. Religious struggles have been deep and lasting; Asia Minor is the seat of three religions, Hebrew, Christian, and Mohammedan. The clash of social, economic, and religious ideals has necessarily occurred.

The speaker pointed to Constantinople as the hope of the Near East. It is one of the most important points, strategically speaking, in the world, he said, commanding as it does the outlet for the great wheat crops of southeastern Europe. The prosperity of several small nations and southern Russia are dependent on conditions there, Mr. Khirbe said. Students were urged to read about and study the Near Eastern question with a view to finding a remedy for this interesting and pressing problem.

THE PROCRUSTEAN BED

A Department of Prejudices By Troy Perkins.

Preface

Since the first appearance last week of this column of critical spoof and satirical seriousness, several inquiries have been made as to the meaning of its caption, "The Procrustean Bed." Like many nonsensical treatises by other would-be literateurs, its origin is found in Greek mythology. As the fable goes, a famous giant named Procrustes once dwelt in the hills of Attica. Each who came weary but quite unwary to his simple abode, he treated with kindness, fed with generosity, and heard with civility. When the guest was ready to retire, however, he would lead him to a bed which he considered so highly that if his victim were too long to fit it, he would, in high-handed fashion lop off the projecting parts, and if too short, he would quite as arbitrarily, stretch him until a fit was effected. The application I make of the mythological instance is purely figurative. Procrustes was our first critic. Like others of his trade, he had a prejudice. And so have his brothers of today, the leading critics being merely those with the most interesting prejudice.

The Greek Alpha Test

Having been annually moved to tears by the bootless expenditure of time and money by the men's fraternities of the campus, I arise to make indignant protest. Purely from a desire to simplify matters and a simpler desire to purify them, I suggest a system for saving the Greeks considerable trouble. The plan is offered without charge.

The fraternities want to know several things about every man. Upon matriculation, therefore, the freshmen should be made to fill out the following questionnaire:

1. Do you have ambitions to join a fraternity? (Answer "yes" or "certainly.")
2. Were you an athlete in high school?
3. Having answered this, do you intend to remain a star in college?
4. Do you wear white socks?
5. What size shirt do you wear?
6. Do you have a car? Brand?
7. Preference in girls? (Answer: Good dates, sorority girls, etc.)
8. Preference in fraternity uniforms?
9. Father's business? (Answer: Coal operator, bootlegger, golf-hunter, etc.)
10. How do you rate in your home town?

When this is finished the different lodges can ascertain with some particularity which thirty or forty men they want. The pledging should thus be completely over by noon of matriculation day. It might be suggested, by the way, that in the case of hold-outs who want to make hay while the rushing is good, a fifty dollar bonus might be offered for an immediate decision, as this will cover, in most cases, the expense of rushing.

The matter of sorority rushing is not so important as it doesn't amount to much. Generally speaking, however, the rushes will be most favorably inclined toward the gang of gals that she is with the least.

The Young Revolt

The keenest filipp provided by the past year has been the serious discussion of the youth of the country by their solemn elders. The papers have been full of it. Much nonsense has been written on the subject, but it has been generally approached with the utmost gravity. Not a little self-analysis has been done by the young folk themselves, with an invariable treatment of the matter in a clever and usually, prankish fashion.

The jazz age is the outgrowth of the modern idea in literature and art, and for its slogan it might well choose the quotation at the head of this column. I do not think I am wrong when I place the parentage of arts. The last twenty years have seen the reign of the merely clever, the epigram, the paradox, the beautiful phrase whose only excuse for being is its own beauty alone. Art has become a fad and a pose, the cause of which I hope to explain in another paper. But the phenomenon that confronts us now is the corrupting of a mode of thought into a manner of living. The whole generation of younger people have become "Greenwich Village." What perplexes the sober generation is the influence this is having on morality and particularly the effect it is having on the family. But here the sociologist steps in, and so I step out. The feature most to be remarked about the affair is the enlistment of the weaker sex in the cause. Although the matter had been seething for several years, it came to its head a year or two ago, when the girls started bobbing their hair. The jeune fille then stretched her arms, bummed a cigarette, and took a run down to Brentano's for the latest volume of Havellock Ellis. Her figure became more boyish and her intellect more mannish. Her actions, aided by a vast amount of publicity, grew from a fad into a cult. The movement has spread over the entire country. What it has spread, I am not allowed to say.

SENIOR COURT??

Freshmen go to the pep meeting tonight at the Armory from 7 to 7:30.

BROKE, BROKE, BROKE

Broke, broke, broke,
Cease for a minute, O Refrain,
For I would that I could hear
The jingle of money again.

O well, for the boy that has money,
He doesn't have to count the cost alway.
O well, for the girl who has plenty,
She gets what she needs each day.

And the stately faculty draws a salary
At the end of every month;
But oh, for the joy of having again
The feel of the coin I knew once.

Broke, broke, broke,
'Tis all I can sing, O Refrain.
But O for the touch of the vanished coin
That may never be mine again.
—Exchange.

NOTICE!

All Democrats who are interested in their party and desire to aid their party in the coming elections are desired to meet in chapel at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon.

In the past years there has been a Democratic Club upon the campus of the University of Kentucky. Why can't we get behind the Grand Old Democratic party now and swing the state as it should be swung.

All Democrats are wanted—men and women.
