Now that cold weather is here the Kernel Kutie sittings have moved indoors. This week's Kutie is Gay Evans from Louisville, Ky. She is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences. Gay is a member of Delta Delta Delta society.

Eleven Attend Sigma Delta Chi Annual Meeting

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism fraternity, opened its annual convention in Louisville Tuesday.

The UK chapter is acting as co-host along with the University of Louisville professional chapter of SDX and the University of Indiana undergraduate chapter.

Men attending from the UK chapter are Marvin Beard, Paul Daniel, Bob (Scop) White, Phil McIntosh, Dave Stewart, Perry Ashley, Joe Goodman, Prof. J. A. McCauley, Prof. Victor Portmann, and Dr. William Moore.

White and the faculty members left Wednesday and the remaining group followed on Thursday.

Beard is the official delegate from the UK chapter and White is the alternate.

Two pledges will be initiated in a model initiation today. They are David Altenuhleh and James Blain.

The convention will end Dec. 1.

Team Lacks Experience Says Coach Adolph Rupp

By Tom White

Adolph Rupp begins his 27th year as head basketball coach of the Wildcats Saturday when Washington & Lee invades Memorial Coliseum. Game time is 8 p.m. with the Kittens playing host to the Transylvania freshmen at 6 p.m.

Coach Rupp's Wildcats have won 16 SEC titles, three NCAA national championships and have appeared in the NCAA tourney more times than any other college. Kentucky under Coach Rupp has been picked by sportswriters and coaches as one of the top 20 teams in the nation many times since he took over as coach in 1936.

Kentucky lost three valuable starters from last year's squad, Phil Grawemeyer, Bob Burrow and Jerry Bird. Coupled with these losses and the recent injury to Ray Mills, probable starter at one of the forward positions, the Wildcats will present an inexperienced team to the fans Saturday.

Coach Rupp believes this possibly may be the weakest Kentucky team he has coached because of this lack of experience. But the recent pre-season polls taken by the many sports writers throughout the nation pay high tribute to Coach Rupp's ability to build powerhouses, by picking the Wildcats to finish among the top 20 teams.

The brightest spot on the Kentucky team is at guard. Vernon Hatton (6-3) and Gerry Calvert (5-11) give Kentucky two of the finest in the nation. Hatton was named Sophomore of the Year in the SEC last season and has been mentioned as a candidate for All-

American honors this year. Calvert is a slick ball handler and playmaker for the Wildcats.

Ed Beck will get the starting call at center Saturday but is being pushed hard by Dick Howe (6-5), held out last season.

Starting at the forward slots Saturday will be John Crigler (6-3) and Johnny Cox (6-4). Cox was moved up into a starting role when Ray Mills broke his jaw in practice. As a freshman last year Cox led the Kittens in both scoring and rebounds.

Kentucky should have good bench strength with men like Bill Cassidy, Earl Adkins, Johnny Brewer, Lincoln Collingsworth, Harold Ross and Bill Smith standing by to give relief to the starters.

Washington & Lee, coached by Bill McCann, brings an all-veteran five into Lexington. Four seniors and one junior make up the General's starting five which is picked to finish third in the Southern Conference.

Dom Flora, (6-2) guard is the leading scorer for the Generals and came within 26 points of breaking the national two-year scoring record as a sophomore.

Miami (Fla.) moves into the Coliseum Monday evening as they venture into bigtime basketball for the first time. Not much is known about the Hurricanes but they lost but one starter from last year's squad. Pacing the "Hurricane" attack will be Ed Morris (6-4) and Gene Stage (6-1) who combined for 797 points last season.

Kentucky's freshmen will play a Lexington independent team before the varsity game starting at 6 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Gladys Kammerer Named As 'Professor Of The Year'

A University of Kentucky political scientist who is nationally known for her public service contributions has been selected by her fellow faculty members as the UK College of Arts and Sciences' "Distinguished Professor of the Year."

She is Dr. Gladys M. Kammerer, who has been associated with the University since 1946, when she resigned from a post at Wellesley College to accept the UK position.

Announcement of the selection was made yesterday at the University by Dr. M. M. White, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Kammerer is the 13th member of the college and the first woman to receive the award since it was established in 1944 as a means of recognizing outstanding academic achievement. Faculty members winning this honor are given a semester free of teaching duties to conduct research of their own choosing and to prepare the annual Arts and Sciences Lecture.

Eligible for the award are faculty members in the college who hold the rank of assistant professor or higher. Each year the choice is made by secret vote of the faculty.

Dr. Kammerer, who was relieved of teaching duties during the current fall semester, is the second member of the political science faculty to be selected for the award. In 1945 the honor went to Dr. Amry Vandenbosch, head of the Department of Political Science.

The Arts and Sciences Lecture will be delivered by Dr. Kammerer on Tuesday night, April 2, in UK's Guignol Theater. Her subject will be "The American Setting for Child Welfare Administration."

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Dr.

Kammerer holds the A.B. degree from Washington University, where she was the recipient of a four-year scholarship awarded to valedictorians of St. Louis high schools.

Upon completion of her undergraduate studies, she was awarded a graduate scholarship to the University of Wisconsin, where she received a master's degree in political science.

After a period of high school teaching, Dr. Kammerer was selected for a Hillman Fellowship at the University of Chicago. Two years as an instructor in political science at Wellesley College followed.

An American Association of University Women pre-doctoral fellowship was granted to her in 1945, and she received her Ph.D. degree in political science at the University of Chicago in 1946.

In September of 1946, Dr. Kammerer joined the UK faculty as an assistant professor of political science, and presently she holds the

SGA Seeks Later Hours For Women

An effort to extend weekend late hours for women students will be made soon by a special SGA committee.

Terry Kuester, chairman of SGA's Committee on Modernizing Women's Hours, will meet with Dean Sarah B. Holmes and the House Presidents' Council to discuss the issue.

One proposal of the SGA group is to allow women students to remain out Friday and Saturday nights until 1 a.m. Present curfew hour is 12:30 a.m. on those nights.

Kuester's committee has sent queries to 100 colleges and universities throughout the country requesting information on women's hours.

Of the 60 replies received by Wednesday, 60 per cent revealed hours later than at UK.

The survey was started several weeks ago, and final results will be presented at the meeting with the House Presidents' Council, Kuester said.

He met Wednesday with Dean Holmes to report on the committee's progress and to outline future plans.

Assisting him on the committee are Terry Woolum and Fredda Short.

Ugly Man Contest Closes

Once again male members of the UK community are vying for the "coveted" title of the Ugly Man.

There are 19 contestants in the Alpha Phi Omega's annual parody of the queen contests.

Voting in the fund raising contest began yesterday and will continue until 4 p.m. today in the SUB ticket booth.

The contest will climax tonight with the presentation of the trophy to the winner of the "honor" during an intermission at the Ugly Man Dance.

Music for the Dance will be provided by Cliff Butler.

Butler is well known on the Midwestern club circuit and in demand for high school and college hops. He records for several small companies and holds down a spot as a disc jockey on Louisville's largest independent radio station, WLOU.

Butler's "small band with the big sound" gives excellent treatment to dreamy mood music in addition to providing rock for the "coolest of cats."

The dance will be semi-formal and will begin at 8 p.m. in the (Continued on Page 16)

Health Service Does Not Issue Class Excuses

In case you're wondering why you can't get an excuse from the University Health Service, the following is the context of a letter from UK Vice President Leo M. Chamberlain to members of the administrative and instructional staff:

"Apparently there are some members of the faculty who are not familiar with the University's policies governing the Health Service.

"Some years ago the Health Service was asked to cease the practice of giving students excuses for absences from classes. It has come to our attention that some instructors have requested students to secure such excuses when they are absent from classes for reasons of illness.

"An explanation of an absence from a class is a matter that should be resolved by the student and the instructor. The Health Service has been asked not to furnish excuses."

Starting Five

These five players will be in the starting line-up as Kentucky opens its basketball season tomorrow night against the Washington & Lee Generals. They are (from l. to r.) Gerry Calvert, guard; Johnny Cox, forward; Ed Beck, center; John Crigler, forward; and Vernon Hatton, guard.

Hanging Of The Greens Committee

Dean White To Lead Community Institute

Dr. Martin M. White, Arts and Sciences dean and professor of Psychology, is one of the key national consultants who will lead "pilot" institutes in Lexington and Louisville.

The projects will be sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The University of Kentucky will be the scene of the first Community Leaders Institute which will be held 3:15 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 6, in the Euclid Avenue classroom building.

The Louisville meeting will be held 3:15 to 9:30 p.m., Dec. 7, in the University of Louisville Education Building.

Theme of the two meetings is "Building Brotherhood in Our Community."

The Institute is designed to "evaluate local and state human relations problems and to develop an educational program for the future."

Dean White, a psychologist and past president of the Kentucky Psychological Association, will speak on "Prejudice in Patterns of Group Life."

Other speakers will deal with such subjects as "The Changing Nation," and "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Delegates who will participate in the discussions will represent community organizations, social agencies, labor and management groups, churches and synagogues, PTA's, schools, colleges, and other groups.

Reservation cards may be obtained for the Lexington Institute by writing NCCJ, 163 East Main Street, Lexington, Ky. For the

Moot Court To Hear Kiljoy Case Monday

The woman always pays, especially if she has a bank account.

Such was the case of the late Mrs. John Kiljoy. Her husband, a college professor, had married her for her money only. This union could very well have been all that John expected it to be if he had not jeopardized it with his careless behavior.

For alas, Mrs. Kiljoy finally learned the bitter truth. When she discovered John's infidelity, she decided to change her will.

But before the will could be changed, Mrs. Kiljoy died of poisoning. While her death could have been accidental, the fact remained that Mr. Kiljoy was a well known authority on poisons.

Consequently, John Kiljoy was charged with the murder of his wife. His trial is scheduled for next Monday, Dec. 3, at 2 p.m., in room 100 of Lafferty Hall.

Dale Nathan and William Bradford, acting as attorneys for the state, Walter Sibbald and Luther House, defense attorneys, are in charge of preparing case details of this mock trial. They are seniors in the College of Law. These weekly trials are open to all University students.

24 Seniors Visit Armco Steel Co.

Armco Steel Company, Ashland Division, was host to a group of 24 seniors in engineering from the University of Kentucky on Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The group, accompanied by Dr. Roy Swift, associate professor of Mining Engineering, and Robert C. Duncan, supervisor of Metallurgical Laboratories, was taken on a tour of the Ashland plant which included open hearth and rolling operations.

Dames Club

The UK Dames Club will meet in the music room of the SUB at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 5. Wives of all students are invited to attend.

A Christmas program on simple floral arrangements and Christmas decorations will be presented by Mrs. W. F. Garrison.

The Dames Bridge Club will meet at the Faculty Club at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 10. The Arts and Crafts group will meet at the Faculty Club at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 3.

Barkley Papers On Deposit In The University Library

Personal papers and effects of the late Alben W. Barkley, former vice president of the United States, U.S. representative and senator from Kentucky, are now on deposit at the Margaret I. King Library.

The collection contains Senator Barkley's public and private papers from 1940 until his death, April 30. Much of the material is expected to be intimate records and personal views of the American political picture during this period. Sen. Barkley's extensive knowledge and important role on the Kentucky scene, in the New Deal and the Fair Deal, make his collection an important addition to the library's facilities.

A key to the political tenor of the times may be found in the numerous political cartoons collected by the "Veep".

Included in the Barkley possessions are his files, the gavel he used as presiding officer of the Senate, medals, flags, and the chair he used in his vice president's office.

On the back of the chair is the following inscription: "Vice President . . . From Kentucky Democratic members of the House, Jan. 20, 1949 . . . Presented to Alben W. Barkley as a token of affection and in the recognition of long and outstanding service to Kentucky, to the nation, and to humanity."

An eye-catcher among the many valuable articles is a large replica of a gavel which was presented to Sen. Barkley by his "friends of the Western States."

During Sen. Barkley's bid for the Senate in 1954 against John Sherman Cooper, former President Harry S. Truman wired the "Veep" and volunteered to speak in Kentucky in behalf of his former vice president. The Kentucky statesman replied that he needed no help in his home state. Truman's letter congratulating his former running mate's stand is in the library's collection.

Dr. Herman L. Donovan, then president of UK, first contacted Sen. Barkley regarding his personal and private papers. Dr. Bennett H. Wall, University associate professor of history, followed up the initial contact with frequent visits to the "Veep" in Washington and Paducah.

A Barkley Room has been planned for the Margaret I. King Library. Various portions of the collection will be placed on display there. Dedication of the room has been tentatively set for next spring.

Lances Honorary Seeks Members

Lances, junior men's honorary, is now accepting applications for membership.

To be considered, an applicant must be a second-semester sophomore or first semester junior; must have an over-all standing of at least 2.5 on the 4 system; and must have eight or more points based on the Lances Point System, as outlined in the organization's point system booklet.

Applications must be made by letter. All candidates must bring their letter of application to Room 128, Student Union Building, at 7 p.m. Thursday, at which time they wish to be interviewed.

Persons wishing to obtain more information should contact Lances' president Gentry Davis at 2-8891.

Ukelele Lessons Offered

Any UK student can learn to play the ukelele in three easy lessons.

The Caldron group of the Student Union is sponsoring a series of ukelele lessons. These lessons will be given at 3 p.m. on three consecutive Wednesdays, December 5, 12, 19.

Leland Smith, instructor at Lafayette High School, will teach these lessons. Smith is a guitarist and recently has taken up playing the ukelele.

A book of instruction will be selected for "uke" beginners to follow along with the lessons. This book will be selected by Smith and Jack Zuverink, publicity committee member. The basic fundamentals of ukelele playing will be taught.

These lessons will be given in room 128 of the SUB.

A GUIDE FOR THE UNMONEYED

R. L. Sigafos was a keen, ambitious lad, and when he finished high school he wished mightily to go on with his education. It seemed, however, a forlorn hope. Crop failures had brought his father to the brink of disaster. (R. L.'s father raised date palms which, in North Dakota, is a form of agriculture fraught with risk.) Nor could R. L.'s mother help; she had grown torpid since the death of Rudolph Valentino.

R. L. could go to college only if he worked his way through. This was a prospect that dismayed him.

... I gave fencing lessons to the Dean of Women...

Racked with misgivings, R. L. paced the streets, pondering his dilemma. One day, walking and brooding, he came upon a park bench and sat down and lit a Philip Morris. (There is no occasion, happy or sad, pensive or exuberant, when Philip Morris is not entirely welcome, as you will discover when you go to your favorite tobacco counter and buy some.)

R. L. was suddenly interrupted by a small, quavering voice which said, "My boy, you are troubled. Can I help?"

Seated beside R. L. was a tiny, gnarled man with wispy, snow-white hair. His skin was almost transparent, showing a delicate tracery of fragile bones beneath. His back was bent, and his hands trembled. "Do you think, sir," said R. L., "that a boy can work his way through college and still enjoy a rich, full campus life?"

"Why, bless you, son," replied the stranger with a rheumy chuckle, "of course. In fact, I did it myself."

"Was it very hard?" asked R. L.

"Yes, it was hard," the stranger admitted. "But when one is young, all things are possible. I, for example, used to get up at five o'clock every morning to stoke the furnace at the SAE house. At six I had to milk the ewes at the school of animal husbandry. At seven I gave a fencing lesson to the Dean of Women. At eight I had a class in early Runic poets. At nine I gave haircuts at the Gamma Phi Beta house. At ten I had differential calculus. At eleven I posed for a life class. At twelve I watered soup at the Union. At one I had a class in Oriental languages. At two I exercised the mice in psych lab. At three I gave the Dean of Women another fencing lesson. At four I had qualitative analysis. At five I went clamming. At six I cut meat for the football team. At seven I ushered at the movies. At eight I had my ears pierced so that at nine I could tell fortunes in a gypsy tea room. At ten I had a class in astronomy. At eleven I tucked in the football team. At twelve I studied and at three I went to sleep."

"Sir," cried R. L., "I am moved and inspired by your shining example!"

"It was nothing," said the stranger modestly, shaking his frail white head. "It was just hard work, and hard work never hurt anybody."

"Would you mind telling me, sir," said R. L., "how old you are now?"

"Twenty-two," said the stranger.

Open The Grill At Night Too

It's 7:30 on Tuesday night, and Jose College, Donovan Hall resident, class of 1960, is through studying (he may have seven term papers due in the next two days, but as far as he's concerned, he's through).

Over on another part of the campus, his female counterpart, little Miss Jane Shy is also through studying.

Now the question arises—what to do? Well, Jose, if he is lucky, hops into his low-slung Cad and heads to a local pub for a few quick ones.

Jane pours herself into the latest Dior creation and heads downstairs to meet her newest "steady."

But not every Jose has a low-slung Cad, and not every Jane has a slinky Dior, and/or a steady.

So, (and this approaches reality more), Jose throws his leather jacket over his shoulder and heads alone for one of the business establishments near the campus and downs a quick cup of coffee, or stays in the dorm for a rousing game of ping-pong.

Jane, if she can make it across the traffic-infested street, trudges to one of the aforementioned business establishments, crowds into a booth, and stares at her coffee until she has to be back to Patterson, all the while pondering how she can meet that cute red-haired boy she saw in Freshman English today.

An imaginary situation? Not at all. It happens all the time.

And a great part of the situation could be averted if the University would take necessary steps to provide a place where students could go at night.

The idea of making the Little Commons such a place has been thoroughly discussed, and just as thoroughly rejected.

So, why not open the Student Union Grill at night?

Admittedly this plan may appeal to freshmen and sophomores more than to "sophisticated" upperclassmen and women, who prefer to do their fraternizing in places with more atmosphere, suh.

But there must be some juniors and seniors who don't have a tightly-drawn schedule for each night of the week, and who would welcome the chance to visit the Grill at night.

And we know there are many freshmen and sophomores who would like to have a campus meeting place at night where they could become better acquainted with their fellow University students, especially those of the opposite sex.

We are aware of the fact that freshmen women are only allowed one night out a week, excluding weekends, and sophomore women, too.

We are also aware that serious objection to this proposal will come from some University officials who feel that (1) the expense involved in keeping the Grill open at night will not justify the number of students who will visit it, and (2) the open Grill will serve as a magnet to draw students away from their studies.

To the first objection, it is impossible to say whether this is valid or not, since the proposal has never been tried. To the second, we say that these students, especially the "semi-restricted" girls on their free nights, are going out anyway—why not to a close place on the Campus?

Another point which may be raised is that the Sweater Swings, established with the aim of helping keep students on the campus, have, in the main, not been too successful.

But this is not hard to understand. Who, except for a few of our more ardent lovers, wants to sit in a dimly-lit barn and listen to phonograph records—and all the while wondering if he should speak to the girl next to him (or are you a man, too, I can't see in this light)?

So we say, open the Grill at night. And, if the idea is a success, rearrange the tables and let the students dance—or maybe even open the doors to the cafeteria to give them more room.

If, after a sufficient length of time, nobody is patronizing the Grill, then mark it up as a bad idea. A test period of this sort shouldn't bankrupt anybody, not even the University of Kentucky.

But give it a try.

It just might work.

Parking Problem

To the Editor:

Being only a common student (independent), my voice crying in the wilderness has not been listened to. So I thought I would take my problem to the students.

Several weeks ago it rained. Having a medical disability that make it extremely difficult to walk great distances, I have a parking permit for area 7.

The day it rained I drove to area 7 as I do every day. Every parking space in area 7 was filled. Accepting this philosophically, I spotted several spaces in the next area—8. So I parked in one of these, and trudged through the rain to my class. As I passed through area 7 (my area), I noticed a large number of staff cars with area 8, and other area, permits. Coming back to my car after class, I found a ticket for parking in the wrong area (Area 8) under my wiper.

Just to check I wandered back to area 7, to check on the staff cars parked in the wrong area there. THEY HAD NO TICKETS.

On Tuesday following the ticket incident, I checked the cars in area 7. I was right behind the campus police as they checked the south side of the area (in front of the Biological Sciences Building). There were nine cars wrongly parked in this area—five of these belonged to students, the rest to staff members.

Four of the student cars got tickets. None of the staff cars got tickets.

If a student has a medical reason and is assigned a certain area to park in, that area should have a space for him; otherwise, why assign him to that area? If a student has a hardship in his class schedule and receives a permit, it certainly is not helping him if there is no space in his assigned area for him to park in.

Let's either have equal enforcement of the regulations for both the staff and students or let's give the student a fair deal when he is forced to park in another area, because his area is full of cars assigned to other areas.

'We Nearly Froze'

To the Editor:

On Saturday, Nov. 17, as sponsor of the Tri-Hi-Y Club in our school, I went with a crowd of students to the Youth Day and Cheerleaders' Clinic—and the football game with Xavier.

Some of the students had not realized how cold a football stadium might be. Hence—the poem enclosed to reflect some of their reactions.

We left our homes that morning for a trip to U. of K, to refine our cheers a little bit and see Kentucky play.

We went to see Kentucky put Xavier on the run;
Some of us nearly froze—but we had a lot of fun!

"You'd better take your overcoat", Pete heard his mother say;
But who wants to lug an overcoat when he takes a holiday!

When the wind flew through the bleachers, Oh!
The good it might have done!
He nearly froze to death—but he had a lot of fun!

Nettie Sue thought a head scarf would just be in the way;

And who could keep up with a pair of gloves when he watches Delmar play?

But at 3 o'clock that evening, ears and fingers cold and numb,
She was freezing 'most to death—but she had a lot of fun!

There was cheering, there was jeering, there was booing loud and long;

There were penalties and touchdowns, still Kentucky rolled along.

Hot-dogs, peanuts, Coca-colas till the game was finally won.

We nearly froze to death—but we had a lot of fun!

After a long, long wait, we see the 1956 student directories made it in 1956—that does make it more convenient.

Mush Melon Experts To Perform Saturday

By JOHN MARCUS

Herkimer Flotz was the fastest mush melon picker in all of Kentucky. His feats of mush melon picking were regaled throughout the Southland. One day, although suffering from a severe crick in his back, it is recorded in history that he picked, packed and parceled an entire field of mush melons for a plutocratic northern mush melon dealer.

But Herkimer had a serious fault. He was the playboy of the mush melon fields. This greatly annoyed his employer. For though Herkie's antics entertained his fellow peons in the fields, it greatly slowed down the production rate of the section in which Herkie was working.

One afternoon, during a plush season for mush melons, the picking crew became bored with the constant picking, packing and parceling of the fruit. Discerning this, Herkimer decided that a little incentive should be given the workers. During a coffee break underneath a magnolia tree, he devised the following pastime:

On returning to the rows of mush melons, each picker would take a position opposite each other. First one row of pickers would throw their mush melons into the baskets and then the other row of mush melon pickers would throw their mush melons in the basket. Finally they developed mush melon pitching to the point of catching a fellow row rate's bad throw and tipping it in to the basket. The row with the most mush melons in the basket at coffee break time, got the shaded seats of the magnolia tree.

Herkimer's employer on getting the word of the festivity going on in his fields, rushed down to size the situation up. Testing a newly picked mush melon, he found it to be, indeed, mush. Hurrying to the rows, he proceeded to fire Herkimer Flotz, the fastest mush melon picker of all time. He also fired Herkie's fellow pickers, but nobody seemed to care, as they were all busy devising new methods of throwing the melons in the baskets.

Without work, Herkimer was soon at the point of starvation. But a passing sports enthusiast named Randolph A. Brupt who had seen the gayety of the pickers throwing the melons, sought Herkimer out and made him an offer.

Now Herkimer travels throughout the country with his fellow mush melon pickers and their new coach, Brupt. The "Flotz Globe Trotters" display their skills everywhere. The name of basket-mush-melon-ball, has been shortened to basket-melon-ball and finally to basketball.

These talented youngsters are arriving in Lexington on Saturday. So some on over to the barn and watch their exhibition. Bring a supply of napkins and spoons and get in on the aftergame leftovers.

First Visit To A Pressbox

By GURNEY NORMAN

You look down the long aisle that is the pressbox and see numerous clouds of cigarette smoke hanging above men slumped in their chairs, busily writing or typing. A few men appear to be stupidly talking out loud to themselves, until you notice another man beside them typing down each word they utter. You see five or six waiters hurrying up and down the aisle with hotdogs and coffee, for the writers. When you find out the refreshments are free, you get some yourself (the first of many), and settle in a vacant chair to watch the game.

From where you sit, it's very easy to imagine that you are hovering over Stoll Field in a flying saucer, watching the action below through a huge transparent wall. The muffled sound that you hear through the glass barrier, as a blue-clad figure scampers twenty-five yards, is no indication of the exhilaration the fans in the stadium are experiencing. Only by seeing the frenzied waving of arms and banners can you realize their excitement. You're in a world apart.

Over a speaker inside the room comes a voice. "Hughes goes for five yards." From somewhere else, off to your right, a telephone rings. The seventy men seated at the long tables seem oblivious to its clanging and you almost feel like answering yourself, but someone finally lifts the receiver, leaving only the rattle of the teletype and low murmur of voices to be heard.

You signal a waiter to bring you some more coffee. "Cravens picks again."

Halftime is welcomed as a chance to step up into one of the radio booths and enjoy some pure air while the band performs. One can't really appreciate the formations and precision movements of a good band until he has viewed them from a high angle. Even the music sounds better, coming in through the open front of the radio booth. As you start to go back down to the pressbox, you step into the booth where the moves of the game are taken and speak to the photographers. They are friendly enough.

Looking again down the aisle, you see men in their shirt sleeves, ties loosened and some even with their hats on. One reporter told you earlier that he wore his hat as a protection against the glare of the sun, but now that the sun has gone down, you notice he still has his hat on. Strange breed, these reporters.

Toward the beginning of the fourth quarter, the people in the stadium begin filing out the exits. The reporters stay, though, always expecting something spectacular to happen. But the quarter and the game ends like you thought it would, and the men gather up their notes and score sheets and start to leave, after another routine day in the pressbox. It has been anything but routine for you, though; even watching the writers leave is interesting.

Oh yes. The game was pretty good, too.

The first college for women was Mount Holyoke Seminary, South Madley, Mass., chartered Feb. 11, 1836.

The primary cause of the War of 1812 was the impressment of American seamen into the British navy.

Writer Comments On School Spirit

By PHIL MCINTOSH

Football is over and all we can say is "hail team, well met." It wouldn't matter if you had lost every game, you were great against Tennessee.

We wonder if the policy of reserving sections for organizations at football games will be continued during basketball season. The idea that an organization sitting together will provide better cheering sounds logical, but it didn't work.

Most important, to reserve the best seats in the student section for these groups, seems to be (we hate to use the word) discrimination. What happens to the Independent?

Independents sitting in these reserved sections are looked upon as outsiders breaking into a private party. Whether there is a difference between Greek and Independent is not important. When we walk through that registration line with check book in hand, we are all equal.

The idea has failed. The end did not justify the means. Let's have no more, please.

We have noticed that crowds at games, yelling voluntarily, make more noise than the organized cheers. Surely this must indicate something.

We haven't yelled in so long we have forgotten the cheers. Why have we forgotten them? Three guesses; we don't like the cheers, we don't like the cheerleaders, we are so trussed up in our ivy suits, trying to impress everyone, we can't breathe.

While the last reason has some possibilities, the first is probably most important. Our cheers, with few exceptions, have been with us since the year one. They are slow, dead, and uninteresting.

Go, go, go, go is dull to read and sounds worse. Yea, team, filliite! What a nightmare! Give us something catchy, that makes sense, and doesn't make you look, sound, and feel like a fool yelling them.

We don't like high school letters on this campus. Let's do away with high school cheers too.

ODK Names Tag Sales Winners

Kappa Delta and Delta Tau Delta took first prize in their respective divisions in the last week of the ODK tag sales. The week ended with the Xavier football game Nov. 17.

KD and DTD will be presented their trophies at the Interfraternity Council Dance Dec. 8.

ODK President Paul Warnecke said the over-all winners in the Fall Tag Sales campaign will also be announced at the IFC dance.

Weekly awards were based on total sales. The over-all awards to the winning fraternity and sorority will be based on average money per pledge turned in during the campaign.

Spouse Tickets Now On Sale

Ticket books for students' wives are now on sale in the UK ticket office in the Memorial Coliseum.

Married students wishing to buy these ticket books should first go to the Veterans Administration and Counseling Office, Room 204, Administration Building, where they will receive a card of certification.

Price of the tickets books is $12, for UK's 12 home games.

Keys Queen

Jeanne LaMaster, representing Chi Omega, was named Keys Queen—"the most beautiful sophomore woman on the campus"—at the annual Keys dance held at the Student Union Ballroom Nov. 16. Jeanne is a sophomore in Home Economics.

Mrs. Duncan Honored By Education College

Mrs. May Kennedy Duncan was recognized Monday evening for her 29 years of loyal service as a member of the staff of the College of Education.

Mrs. Duncan, who retired Sept. 1, was given a banquet in her honor at the Lafayette Hotel by the staff members of the College of Education.

A noted leader in the field of education, Mrs. Duncan established and was the first principal of the University Elementary School. After becoming a professor in 1932, she was made head of the Department of Elementary Education in 1936. Mrs. Duncan has worked on numerous surveys and workshops which were designed to improve education throughout Kentucky.

She was an active consultant on the problems of teachers and she served as a member of the Commission of Elementary Education of the Kentucky Association of Colleges, Secondary, and Elementary Schools. Her last years with the College of Education were spent teaching courses to students who planned on being elementary school instructors.

Mrs. Duncan is one of the professors at the University of Kentucky who holds the distinction of being recognized in "Who's Who in America."

Jam Session

A jam session, sponsored by SGA, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. today at the Wildcat. Duke Madison and his orchestra will furnish the music. All students are invited. Ray Trout, chairman of SGA's Social Committee, announced.

Christmas Bazaar Plans Made By Home Ec Club

Work has already begun for the annual Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the Home Economics Club. Items for sale will include home made Christmas candies, cookies, cakes, aprons, candles, place mats and napkins, bread warmers, small clothing articles, and hand painted waste paper baskets.

These articles will be made by the members of the Home Economics Club.

The institutional foods class is planning, preparing, and serving lunch. In order to accommodate the crowd, lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m., 12 noon, and 12:30 p.m. Reservations for lunch can be made by calling the Home Economics office. Price of the tickets are $1.25 per person.

The proceeds from the bazaar are to be used by the Home Economics Club to finance its various projects.

The bazaar will open at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 3, in the Home Economics Building.

Howard Downing and Jane Wheeler are shown delivering their talks at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Cooperatives Council. They gave their talks on the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperatives held in Raleigh, N. C., during the summer.

Cooperatives Council Hears Report From Two Students

Two freshman students of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics spoke Tuesday, Nov. 20, at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Cooperatives Council held at UK.

Jane Wheeler and Howard Downing gave a report on the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperatives held in Raleigh, N. C., during August. They were two of the 85 Kentucky delegates attending the meeting.

During the week at Raleigh the young men and women learned of the purpose of cooperative and what they are doing for farmers and businessmen. Each delegate then gave a report of the meeting to his home district.

Kentucky delegates were sponsored by the Kentucky Cooperatives Council. Records in 4-H and FFA work were considered in the choice of delegates. Howard Downing is president of the Kentucky FFA. Jane Wheeler is active in 4-H Club work and hopes to be a fashion designer.

The Poultry Club served barbecued chicken at the dinner meeting held at the livestock pavilion.

The golf tee was invented by George F. Grant of Boston, Mass., who obtained a patent on Dec. 12, 1899.

Rested Students Ready For Bigger Parties

Here's your loyal society editor, still full of turkey, back from the Thanksgiving holidays to clue you in on bigger and better parties.

Speaking of turkeys, I hope I never see another one. You know it's amazing the things that can be done with leftover fowl. After the bird has had his left side completely amputated and his other side picked to pieces by the kiddies, he is transformed into many mysterious dishes. The menus for the week following Thanksgiving usually run something like this. Breakfast consists of fried turkey and eggs. For lunch you have turkey a la whole wheat. Then there is supper. This menu is composed of turkey hash and broth flavored with delicious, extra large chunks of . . . you guessed it. And so it goes till all that remains is a well dried skeleton of something that used to be a turkey.

But let's not live in the past. On to the present and future and let bygones be bygones.

The Wildcat Grill will rock 'n roll this afternoon with Duke Madison and his orchestra at another SGA jam session.

Tonight, Alpha Phi Omega is holding their annual Ugly Man Dance. All you unattractive males come and join in on the fun.

The Tri Delt, TKE's, and Alpha Sigma Phi's are holding house parties ce soir. The Delt will load up with blankets for their cabin party, the Kappa Sigs say "Come As You Are", and the Sigma Chi's will eat, drink, and be merry at their Roman Holiday party.

Don't forget the benefit dance tonight at Joyland sponsored by the Students Against Polio.

Tomorrow night the Big Blue opens their basketball season with W&L. After the game there's plenty to do as the ZBT's, PIKA's, Sigma Chi's, AGR's, and Alpha Sigma Phi's are holding open houses. The Phi Tau's will hold their Parents Day Banquet at the Phoenix.

Sunday, the KKG's will hold a pledge-active picnic at Castletwood. Monday, the Cats play their second game against Miami.

The Alpha Xi's will be hostesses to the K Club for dessert on Tuesday. The Sigma Nu will be guests of the Alpha Gams, and the KA's will visit the KD's. The Delt will be hosts to the KKG's and the DZ's will entertain the Lambda Chi's.

Wednesday, the KKG's will celebrate with their annual Alum Christmas party. The Tri Delt will entertain the K Club on Thursday, the ATO's will be hosts to the ADPI's, and the KD's will visit the Phi Delt's.

By the way, all items that you want in the social calendar must first be cleared through the Social Director's office.

The word for the week is Chin up, there are only twenty-six more days till Christmas. Remember, "It is not work that kills, but worry."

Home Ec. School Gives Dinner For Dr. Erikson

Dr. Statie Erikson, retired director of the School of Home Economics, was praised by administrative staff, and student representatives at a dinner given in her honor Wednesday night.

Dr. Erikson came to the Phi Upsilon Omicron Alumnae meeting in the Home Economics Building believing that it was a regular dinner meeting, but later discovered it was a surprise dinner in her honor.

Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president emeritus of the University, spoke on the subject, "Home Economics in Retrospect" during which he told of Dr. Erikson's contribution to the School of Home Economics.

Miss Ruth Boyden spoke on "What Dr. Erikson Meant to the Staff".

Mrs. Margaret Fort, alumna of the School of Home Economics, told what Dr. Erikson had meant to the students who studied with her and were guided by her.

The alumnae chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics professional honorary, presented a table lamp to Dr. Erikson. Mrs. Flora Graham, president of the alum chapter, presented the gift.

Radio Shows To Be Given By WBKY

The University Theatre of the Air will present a "live" radio production during the Arts and Sciences Exposition. It will be a CBS Workshop Play entitled "One Special for Doc."

The show is open to all guests and students. The production is in the University Radio Studios, top floor, McVey Hall.

The first show will be a dress rehearsal at 3 p.m. and the final show will be a regular broadcast over the University's WBKY-FM station at 9 p.m. The studio audience will be asked to be in their seats 15 minutes before each show.

The University Theatre of the Air specializes in radio productions and has gained wide attention for doing outstanding shows in the past.

Benefit Dance

A benefit dance, sponsored by the Students Against Polio Committee, will be held tonight at Joyland Casino. All proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes.

Tickets are $1.50 each and $3.00 a couple. They may be purchased from any committee member. Charlie Blair and his orchestra and the Frank Wagoner combo will provide the music.

SUB Group Plans Billiard Tournament

A billiards tournament, another in a series sponsored by the Student Union Sports group, will be held in the SUB.

Students may sign up today through December 7 in the game room of the SUB.

Pairings will be posted in the game room and tournament play-offs will begin Monday, December 10.

The purpose of this tournament is to select a UK billiards team for the National Intercollegiate Billiards Tournament to be held in February.

All students, both men and women, except students on probation are eligible for competition.

Baking Project Opened By Phi U

Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary, is launching another money making project in order to support its various activities.

Orders are now being taken for one or two pound fruit cakes, orange pecan cakes, and banana nut bread.

After all the orders have been placed, the Phi U girls plan to devote a day to making the cakes on an assembly line basis.

The fruit cakes will sell at $1.25 per pound and the orange pecan cake and banana nut bread will sell at $1.00 per pound.

Orders are being taken by Helen Anderson, 3-5617, June Dickinson, 5-1041, or Fredda Sue Short, ex. 2127.

December 13, is the last day for placing orders.

Examination Discussion

"How to Study for and Take Examinations" was discussed by Earl Kronenberger, Counselor for the University Counseling Service, in two groups of students from the Men's Residence Halls at the dinner hour on Monday, Nov. 19, in the Donovan Hall Cafeteria. Pictured above with Kronenberger are the officers of the two clubs. They are: (From l. to r.) Dave Page, vice-president; Larry Epley, secretary; Claude Pierce, president (officers of the "6:15" club); Kronenberger; George Gash, president; Dave Pattison, secretary; John Heffernan, vice-president (officers of "5:15" club).

Symphonic Band To Give First Concert Sunday

The University of Kentucky Symphonic Band, conducted by Bernard Fitzgerald, will present its first concert of the 1956 season in Memorial Hall Sunday at 4:00 p.m.

Included in the program will be original band compositions by Handel, Gustav Holst, Vincent Persichetti, and John Philip Sousa.

The University Wind Ensemble will be featured in a performance of the "Fantasy for Nine Wind Instruments" by Eugene Goossens, played by Emily Walter, flute; Daniel McAninch and Melvin Dickinson, oboes; Robert Davis and Rochelle Stephens, clarinets; Joe Baker, Faith Way, French horns and Ray Rector, trumpet and William Watson and Roberta Klaren, bassoons.

Fitzgerald has recently joined the music faculty of the University as Director of Bands and Music Education. He formerly was director of bands and teacher of brass instruments at the University of Texas, and is a successful composer of instrumental and choral works.

Two major works on the program are the First Suite in E flat by Gustav Holst and the Royal Fireworks Music by George Frederick Handel. The Royal Fireworks Music was composed in 1749 in celebration of the Peace of Aix La Chapelle and was first performed under most dramatic circumstances.

Gustav Holst composed the First Suite in E flat in 1909 and the composition has since earned a place as one of the important original works for the modern Symphonic Band. Holst's use of the potentialities of the wind band is extremely striking and shows a profound knowledge of the tone qualities of the various instruments.

The public is invited to the program which includes:

- Royal Fireworks Music
- George Frederick Handel
- Andante from Violin Concerto
- Richard Strauss
- Fantasy for Nine Wind

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer sells million-dollar equipment to utilities

Selling electric equipment for a utility substation—a complex unit used in power transmission and distribution—requires extensive technical knowledge of the products involved. Men who sell such complex equipment must also know a customer's requirements, what will best fill his needs, and how to sell the merits of their products to the executives who buy such apparatus.

One such man at General Electric is 31-year-old Allen J. Clay, an apparatus sales engineer serving the electrical utility companies in the Philadelphia-Allentown area.

Clay's Work Is Important, Diversified

For Clay, technical selling is not a door-to-door job. As a representative of General Electric, he must be ready to discuss customer needs with vice presidents or help solve intricate problems with skilled engineers. His recommendations are based on his own engineering background, and are backed up by the know-how of the Company's best application engineers. His interest in working with people carries over into his community life, where he takes a part in many local activities—Rotary, Community Chest, Boy Scouts, and his University Engineering Alumni Association.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Allen Clay is a well-rounded individual who has come to be a spokesman for General Electric wherever he goes. Like each of our 27,000 college-graduate employees, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the Company, and the country.

ALLEN J. CLAY joined General Electric in 1946 after receiving a B. E. E. from the University of Virginia in 1945. A naval officer during World War II, Clay managed the Charlottesville, Virginia, office from 1950 to 1955.

Possibilities Of Campus Planner Being Explored

The University of Kentucky is exploring the possibilities of employing a campus planner, Dr. Frank G. Dickey, UK president, announced this week.

If employed the planner would serve as a consultant for new buildings and building projects, Dr. Dickey said.

Several conferences have been held with various planning consultants, according to the UK president. Jefferson Hamilton, University of Florida planner, and Edward Elchstedt, planner from Detroit, have been consulted by the University. Dr. Dickey said conferences have been scheduled with several other consultants.

The employment of a campus planner has been under consideration for about two months, Dr. Dickey stated, because of the "tremendous expansion" of the University "in the next few years."

University Is Outgrowing Student Union Building

The University of Kentucky is outgrowing its Student Union Building.

According to Miss Mackie Rasdale, director of the Student Union, there is a great need to expand the SUB because of congestion and lack of space.

At present there are five conference rooms, three of which double as private dining rooms. These are insufficient to take care of the numerous meetings held at the Union.

Since the enrollment at the University has increased, many new classes have been formed and the former Frazee Hall classes have been moved to other buildings. Therefore, many departmental conferences for faculty once held in their own buildings have been moved to the SUB. These conferences vary in length from one to five days.

The number of student organizations on campus is increasing and these organizations also hold their meetings in the SUB. The five conference rooms cannot accommodate all of these meetings. Many student organizations want to serve refreshments at meetings and booking these rooms every hour doesn't permit enough time to clear the room of dishes for the next meeting.

The lack of space and facilities in the cafeteria sometimes forces students to stand in line for meals as long as 30 minutes. Not only students but Lexington residents who eat here are inconvenienced.

According to Dean Sarah B. Holmes, when Holmes Hall, the new women's dormitory under construction, is completed, its 300 residents will eat their meals in the Student Union cafeteria. This influx will add another burden to the serving problem.

The ball room is used for banquets, teas and receptions as well as dances because of the size required by these functions.

The Social and Music rooms accommodate groups which are too large to be held in the conference rooms. Students who like to play bridge or watch television in the Social room are not able to do so because of meetings held in this room in the afternoons and evenings.

National organizations which have local chapters on the University campus are interested in holding conferences here at the University since Kentucky's active participation in the integration movement. These national conferences require more space than the Student Union can provide and therefore their interest is discouraged.

When smaller national and state conferences book the Student Union rooms a year in advance, the Union cannot accommodate the student groups which meet regularly.

If future enrollment continues to increase as it has in the past, the problem of limited space in the Student Union will become more serious.

Seven Papers Presented At ASAP Meeting

Seven papers were presented by present or former members of the University of Kentucky's Animal Industry staff at the American Society of Animal Production meeting last Friday and Saturday in Chicago.

Subjects of the papers, and their authors, were:

"The Cellulolytic Interrelationships of Dietary Fat, Carbohydrates and Minerals in Sheep Metabolism Studies," by C. B. Summers, Dr. F. H. Baker and Dr. R. B. Grainger; "Chromogen and Protein Excretion by Wethers Grazing Fescue and Ladino-Alfalfa Pastures," Neil Bradley, Dr. Patch G. Woolfolk, Noel Stephens, Dr. Grainger and W. C. Templeton; "Effect of Plane of Nutrition Upon the Reproductive Performance of Boars," Dr. R. H. Dutt and Dr. C. E. Barnhart; "Fat Characteristics of Fresh and Aged Hams and Shrinkage During Aging," Dr. J. D. Kemp, H. C. McCampbell and Dr. Grainger.

"The Relationship of Feed Intake and Length of Collection Period to Apparent Digestibility of a Self-Fed Lamb Ration," Nelson Gay, Dr. Grainger and Dr. Baker; "The Alleviation of Dietary Fat Inhibition of Protein and Cellulose Digestion in Sheep," R. W. Rhoads, Dr. Baker and Dr. Grainger; and "Effect of Shearing and Exposure to Elevated Air Temperature on Fertility and Early Embryo Survival in Ewes," Dr. Dutt, E. F. Ellington and W. W. Carlton.

Thomas Stidham Elected Mayor Of Cooperstown

Tom Stidham, senior in the College of Education, has been elected mayor of Cooperstown. Stidham, a resident of Building "D" in UK's married students' housing project, polled 206 votes out of 396 cast to win the top post in the Nov. 20 election.

The new mayor easily outpolled his two competitors, Howard Dohrman and Dick Frymire. Dohrman, senior in the College of Engineering, received 111 votes, and Frymire, first year student in the College of Law, got 79.

Thirteen councilmen, one from each wing of Cooperstown and one from the Hilltop area, were also elected.

They include Sam Reynolds, District 1; Terrence McKierman, District 2; William Goins, District 3; Kent Angle, District 4; Richard Day, District 5; Paul Saad, District 6; Bill Livings, District 7; Carl Banks, District 8; Duke Curnutte, District 9; Mrs. Nancy Garriot, District 10; Ted Tillman, District 11; Howard Dohrman, District 12; and Ernest DeCrosta, District 13.

Stidham said an installation banquet for the mayor and new councilmen would be held sometime in the near future.

Wildcats Praised In Gallant Effort Made Against Tennessee Vols

By SCOOP WHITE, Sports Editor

Never has a Kentucky Wildcat football team received so much praise after losing to Tennessee as did this year's team. The respectful words spoken and written about the Cats' gallant effort against the seemingly unbeaten Vols were well deserved in every manner in which they were communicated.

Losing to Tennessee is always a bitter defeat. And this year's loss was hard to take, extremely difficult after the Cats had outplayed them the second half. The 20-7 score is a far cry from indicating the intense closeness of the annual battle. Wildcat followers were never prouder of their boys than they were last Saturday. It was easily the Cats' best game of the season.

Kentucky deserved to win. Bad breaks were the main reason for their loss. Coach Blanton Collier did a fine job of preparing his boys for the Vols. His scouts gave him an accurate and thorough report.

Individually, the Wildcats were highly praised. Knoxville writers could not say enough about All-American Lou Michaels. "That Michaels was terrific and Bob Dougherty had another good day against us," was one of the comments Tennessee Coach Bowden Wyatt made after the game. Coach Art Guepe of Vanderbilt, who was scouting the Vols for this week's big game at Nashville, kept talking of the spirited play of J. T. Frankenberger, a truly fine tackle. In his final game for the Blue and White, Delmar Hughes had his finest day.

Films of the game show clearly that Michaels hit the ball out of Johnny Majors' arm. Then the ball popped to tackle John Gordy, who then carried it over from the six yard line.

At the banquet Monday night, Coach Collier paid special tribute to seniors Jack Freeman and Roger Harrington, both of whom received their first letters. Sam Huey presenting his scholarship award to Freeman described him as a boy with "a heart as big as all our doors." CONGRATULATIONS JACK.

Dr. Frank G. Dickey praised the Wildcat team and the coaches for their desire to come back after a dismal start and finish with a "remarkable" season.

Now that the grid season is over, let's wander over to the warm Memorial Coliseum and watch the Wildcats of Coach Adolph Rupp open their 1956-57 basketball season against Washington and Lee.

The Generals are no pushover. They have good over-all height and are experienced. Four of their starters are playing their third season together. W & L was hurt last year by the many injuries which confronted them throughout the campaign.

Lee Marshall, General center, is from Ashland, Ky. and played on the powerful Tomcat team of 1953. One of the starting guards on that team was a fellow named Earl Adkins. Another cager on that club was Florida's star center Bob Emrick.

Miami of Florida comes into town Monday night and Coach Bruce Hale has a fine team composed mostly of juniors. The Hurricanes are making their move in the round ball sport. Many of Hale's cagers are coming from Indiana. Two nights after they battle the Wildcats, Miami plays the Dayton Flyers which indicates their eagerness to play with the best.

Lou Michaels Wins Honors On Five All-American Teams

By KENNY HILL

Lou Michaels has begun making the honor rolls in the post season All-American teams. Big Lou has recently been named to the Colliers, NEA and Boston Daily Record's first team. He was chosen on the INS and Sporting News second team.

Lou Andrew Michaels began playing football in his hometown of Swoyerville, Pennsylvania in the seventh grade and in three years he made the Pennsylvania All-State team. In his junior year, Lou transferred to Staunton Military Academy in Virginia. There he made the Virginia All-State team the next two years, thus being picked on the honor team in two different states.

Michaels received scholarship offers from colleges throughout the country but decided to come to Kentucky to play under Blanton Collier. Lou's brother, Walt, had been under the tutelage of Collier while he was line coach for the professional Cleveland Browns and Lou thought he could learn "a lot of football" under the Kentucky mentor.

In 1954, the Kentucky freshmen team won two and lost one with "Big Lou" handling the kicking off, punting and the point after touchdowns.

In the Tennessee game of 1955 Michaels turned in his outstanding game of the year in leading the Wildcats to a 23-0 win on a cold, dreary day in Lexington. He was the last off the bottom of the pile time and time again as the Volunteers tried to get an effective offensive thrust going against the Kentuckians.

On the basis of his play during his first season of varsity ball, the Kentucky star made the All-SEC sophomore team and received several honorable mentions on All-America teams.

The Pennsylvania native comes from a football family. In addition to Walt, he has two older brothers who played college ball. John was a tackle at Delaware and Joe, a tailback at Pennsylvania. Walt was All-South as a fullback at Washington and Lee, but switched to linebacker for the Cleveland Browns.

Adolph Rupp and Vernon Hatton

Coach Adolph Rupp is shown with Kentucky's star guard Vernon Hatton. Hatton was named as the SEC Sophomore of the Year last season.

TIPS ON TOGS

By "LINK"

SWEATERS — Sweaters, everywhere and on everybody — this has been a real sweater year and there are some nifties on the market. Crew necks are holding sway as the preferred style, but of course, the "V" neck will always be tops year in and year out — "McGregor" is offering a very smart looking color coordinated sweater and sport shirt set that ignites a spark to your sport wardrobe. If you are looking for a perfect gift for any occasion—or if you want to treat yourself to something nice that will also be a treat to wear—a good looking sweater or one of these sets is the answer.

FUNNY SHORTS — (And I don't mean the movie cartoon type) I am referring to gentlemen's unmentionables in solid white with funny sayings printed thereupon — these are in plain cotton by "Manhattan" and are always good for a laugh or a " gag-gift".

OF ALL THINGS — We now have "Ivy League Key Chains!" And I must admit they are right interesting little items—they are not suitable for twirling on the corner while "watching the girls go by" but are of a shorter more subdued length. If your side kick is of the "Ivy" mode give him one for Xmas —then he won't borrow yours.

GIFT TIPS — "Visor Valets" (for the car owner), Cologne and after shave sets (for the sophisticate), tie racks (for the fastidious), shoe shine kits (for the economist), manure sets (for the well groomed)—of course, if you get too confused—a handy "gift certificate" will get the job done nicely—and yours truly will appreciate any one of the above!

So long for now,

I-M Teams Battle For Lead As Cage Tourney Approaches

By BOB WHITAKER and KENNY HILL

A tight race in the regular season of intramural basketball play is fast coming to a close in both the fraternity and independent leagues. AGR SAE, KA and DTD are the class of the fraternity divisions while Newman Club (1), Sharpshooters and Independent Cats lead the independents.

With regular season play drawing to a fast close, AGR, SAE, KA, and DTD continue to show power in the fraternity league.

In division one, DTD assured themselves of a play-off berth by blasting PKT 45-24.

After dropping their first two tilts, LXA has won their last two games. The Lambda Chi's crushed ASP 50-21. Big gun for LXA was Otto Wright who dropped in 16 points.

Bill Pope tallied 17 points to aid in Triangle's 43-26 victory over the SX quintet.

KA, on top in the second division, continued to win by edging PKA 46-41. The KA's, behind 19-17 at halftime, pulled away in the closing minutes of the contest to capture their fourth victory.

Shorts Saufley turned in another impressive performance as he bucketed 19 points for the KA's. PKA was paced by Tom Gray who scored 16 points.

The Kappa Sig's reached the play-offs with KA and PKA, by tripping PSK 22-10.

AGR continued to roll in the third division by downing TKE 43-19. The win gave the AGR's a ticket to the play-offs.

Behind 17-14 at halftime, SAE came back strong in the second stanza to succumb Farmhouse 30-21.

Paced by Don Mills' 14 points, ATO kept their hopes alive for a play-off spot by squeezing by PDT 32 to 31.

Only one week remains in the independent basketball league with the Sharpshooters, Newman Club (1) and the Independent Cats leading their divisions.

The Sharpshooters romped over the Comets, 55-39. Leonard Blusher had 15 points for the winners with Tom Gunter getting 10 for the losers. They also beat Newman (3), 57-16.

Newman Club (1) edged the BSU Thelegs, 29-27. Hinderson had 11 points for the winners.

The undefeated Independent Cats beat the AGR Independents, 27-20. Jerry Rexroat hit for 7 points for the Cats. They also walloped Wesley Foundation, 54-35. Rexroat had 16 and Jerry King hit for 15 for the winners. Jim Hamilton and Bill Dickens had 12 each for Wesley Foundation.

Civil Engineers romped over Newman (3), 40-16. Dick Delozier, Kan Lail and Tom Milton led the Engineers with 8 points each. Jerry Sullivan led the losers with 7 points. They also beat the YMCA, 42-33. Milton hit for 13 markers.

Led by Tom Gunter the Comets beat the Deacons, 57-28. Gunter hit the nets for 15 points. Luther Hunley's 17 points paced the Deacons to a 37-35 win over the YMCA.

Wesley Foundation nipped the Dirty 4-1, 31-30. Hamilton with 13 and Dickens with 10 paced the winners.

Bob Pickard's 15 markers led the Blackcats to a 36-29 win over the Dirty 4-1. The Barons ran over Newman (2), 62-32. Ray Dasenbrock hit for 14 points for the winners.

The Clifton Cats won on a forfeit from the Clean Cutters. In the dormitory league, Team (1) won as Donovan Hall forfeited.

Thinlies End Fine Season

E. G. Plummer's powerful victory in the Shamrock annual cross country meet last week capped a highly successful Kitten cross country season. The freshmen collected four wins against only one defeat and a second place in a triangular meet.

UK's ace harrier Plummer won the 10,000 meter division of the Shamrock Athletic Club meet held at Bellarmine College. The Danville flier sped the distance in 34:37.8 and finished a full 50 yards to the good of Morehead's Carl Deaton.

Ed Murphy of Tennessee, who had set a league record in leading the Vols to the SEC championship, never came into contention and finished far back in the field.

Coach Don Cash Seaton's frosh scored victories against Trimble Co., Bellarmine College, St. Joseph Prep and split with Morehead. The Eagles winning out in a return bout. UK finished second to Hanover of Indiana in a meet held at Berea.

E. G. Plummer was the big gun for the Cats all season. He won six races and was defeated once unofficially by Carl Deaton whom he trounced twice. Press Whelan shared one dead heat with Plummer and captured three place spots for Kentucky.

Along with capable runners Buddy Gum and Austin Pyles, Plummer and Whelan will provide Coach Seaton with a strong varsity club next year and should be contenders for SEC honors.

Wildcats End Winning Year

Coach Blanton Collier said before the 1956-57 football season that it would be possible for his Cats to have a good team and lose every game on their schedule. After successive defeats handed to them by Georgia Tech and Ole Miss, it looked like he might be right.

Then on the following Saturday against Florida the Cats rolled over the Gators in the mud and rain in Gainesville. The Wildcats went back to their losing ways the next week when Auburn dumped them.

After the Auburn game the Cats came of age and dumped their next five opponents, including Vanderbilt in the annual Homecoming game.

Fourteen seniors ended their college careers as Kentucky fought the Volunteers of Tennessee in the annual "beer keg" battle. The Wildcats outplayed nationally ranked Tennessee for over three quarters before losing 20-7.

Though Kentucky as a team will not participate in any post season contest a few of the seniors are being considered for the North-South game, the East West game and the Senior Bowl game. They are fullback Bob Dougherty, center and co-captain Dave Kuhn, and tackle J. T. Frankenberger.

Thirteen seniors received letters at the football banquet held Monday evening. It was previously announced that Doug Shively was named to the SEC All-Sophomore team as a first team end.

Lou Michaels has received honors as an All-American tackle in recent newspaper and magazine polls. He and the other returning Cats will try and post a winning season for the 12th straight year come next fall.

The first mascot of UK was in 1921 when a big cat named "Tom" was given to the school.

Shaw Shines For Kittens

Glenn Edd Shaw spells trouble for University of Kentucky football opponents the next three years. Through his outstanding play for this year's unbeaten freshman team, Shaw established himself as a future Wildcat star.

In his first game for Kentucky, Glenn carried the ball 15 times and gained 170 yards. His 68-yard touchdown run was the deciding factor of the game. Shaw really tore loose in the next game as Kentucky broke Cincinnati's 19 game victory streak, winning 39-7. He scored four touchdowns and gained 139 yards in five carries.

In his first two games Shaw scored five touchdowns and gained 369 yards in 29 carries. This is an amazing average of 15 yards every time he carried the ball! The Kittens defeated Tennessee 19-0 in its final game and Shaw did not score but he drew numerous cheers for his powerful running.

"There's a big difference between high school and college football," Shaw says. He gives a lot of credit to freshman coaches, John North, Ed Rutledge and Bob Ballance for improving his play.

He credits linemen Frank Baranowski, tackle; Clyde Murrell, tackle; Harry Jarrett, guard and Pascal Benson, center for his outstanding freshman record. "Without the blocking of our line I wouldn't have done as well as I did," says Shaw.

A rugged 6-1, 205, from Paducah, Glenn played basketball and track in addition to football at Tilghman High School. During his three seasons at Tilghman, Shaw played quarterback, halfback and fullback. He was a 3rd-team All-State choice his junior and senior years. His teams at Tilghman won 23 games and lost 7, claiming the state championship in 1953.

Shaw says he never seriously considered attending any school except Kentucky although he received offers from Mississippi, LSU and Michigan State.

This spring Shaw will be a member of the freshman track team. He runs the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and also throws the shot.

A commerce major, Shaw says he is not interested in pro football but wants a career in business administration.

If he's as good behind a desk as he is with a football in his hands, Mr. Shaw will be quite a businessman.

'52 Kernel Editor Takes Position In Owensboro

Merill McCord, Kernel editor during the '52-'53 school year, has joined the reporterial staff on the Owensboro Messenger.

After graduation from UK, Merrill received a scholarship to Stanford University where he acquired his Master's Degree.

Vinson Law Club Defeated At Regional Moot Court

UK's representatives to the Regional Moot Court sessions were defeated by University of Nebraska students after first round competition in St. Louis, Nov. 15.

Don B. Smith and Marvin W. Sult representing the Vinson Law Club, were sent as delegates from the UK College of Law. Both men are senior law students. They had previously defeated the UK Brandeis Law Club, in a hearing before the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Eleven Law Schools were represented in the contest, held at Washington University, St. Louis, on Nov. 14, 15, and 16. The Washington University College of Law and the St. Louis Bar Association annually sponsor the regional moot court competition.

Directories

The new student directory may be picked up at the information desk in the Student Union Building today through Monday by students living in town or commuting.

Directories for students living in residence halls, sorority houses, fraternity houses and Cooperstown will be delivered to each unit.

GI Checks

Early checks for Korean veterans in December—but the VA needs the veterans' cooperation to make this possible.

The Veterans Administration, in announcing the December signing dates for checks, said the VA plans to have the checks in the mail by the 14th or 15th of the month.

In order to do this, it has requested all student veterans to try and sign for their checks by Dec. 4, so the certifications can be sent in to the VA regional office early.

Signing dates are Dec. 1 until noon, and Dec. 3, 4 and 5 for those who didn't get the word.
