WILDCATS AND BUTLER TO MEET ON SATURDAY

Contest on Stoll Field Saturday Will Prove Interesting

LEXINGTON MEN OUT

Saturday will be the first big day of the year. On that day our valiant Wildcats meet the unknown quantity, Butler.

No one can prophecy the outcome of the conflict as many considerations enter the question that have never before been reckoned with. Last year Butler has as heavy a team as Kentucky. This year seven of last year's team or scrubs are back at Butler and a new athletic director is at work. What the result will be will be seen Saturday.

There are only two instructions to be given to the students of Kentucky. Daddy Boles says to be there and root. It is particularly important that the bleachers be decorated by many of the heads of freshmen, for it is recognized that the effect of this decorative scheme is always a good one on the team. The yell leader, to be elected Friday, always glories in the sight of such heads and the enthusiasm is regulated to a certain extent by their numbers. It is a freshman's duty to be at the first game, and the upper classman's privilege.

Adequate preparations for a flying start in rooting have been made for the chapel period. The girls of Patt Hall have agreed to teach the freshmen girls the school song, and any new man may learn "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" in any room of the dormitory at any time of the night. All necessary yells will be taught and practiced in chapel Friday morning.

A feature of this year's football squad is that there is a complete team from Lexington High School out for the varsity: Gay, Hedges, Boone, C. Downing, D. Downing, Bastin, Moore, Mahoney, Walker, Shanklin, Clark and an extra man, McGregor. Many of these are expected to start Saturday against Butler, and much is expected of them.

New material on the field has lent some "zip" to practice for the last week. Heber, who played end last year, has returned. Bunch, a newcomer from St. Mary's, is contending for a half-back position. Splendid accomplishments are expected from the two Downing brothers from the local High School. They are both six-footers and all muscle. Shanklin, a former star of Lexington High School, has returned to practice after an injury to his ear. Wilhelm, a member of last year's Western Kentucky champions in Paducah, is trying hard. Lee Oldham, halfback on Hopkinsville High last year, is out.

A former player on Louisville High, DeBrovey, is an aspirant for end on the Varsity. Dishman, fullback last

"REMEMBER ME TO THE GIRLS" SAYS SHINNICK

Kernel Editor of '16-'17 Sends News of U. K. Students

AT FORT HARRISON

From William Shinnick, 1916-17 editor of the Kernel, president of last year's graduating class, member of the Kappa Sigma and Alpha Delta Sigma (honorary) fraternities and shining light in all University affairs, comes the following special letter to the Kentucky Kernel.

Camp Benjamin Harrison.
Sunday, Sept. 23, 1917.
Boys and Girls in Journalism Department:

My failure to write before this has not been due to negligence or forgetfulness; as a matter of fact I have thought a great deal of the good old days at the University, especially since the papers have started their stories of the opening of the school year. We are just simply too busy to write. That is, of course, an old "stall," but if there is any place in the world where a man hasn't time to do anything outside the schedule, this is it. We have about an hour off every day and this is devoted to such poetic pursuits as shaving and taking a bath. Sunday is our day off, but today I was the orderly and had to run errands and beat the typewriter for the officers, besides doing a lot of routine work.

Having just read over the first paragraph, I come to the conclusion that I speak and think entirely in the bullet sentence, or in a military manner. Perhaps it is the typewriter, or my being unused to it. You must remember that I have not seen one of the same for the last four weeks.

To tell the truth about this place, there is no place in the world, with the possible exception of one or two, where I would rather be. We live really a fine, clean life, with a good bit of fun thrown in. Every Friday night by dictum of the officers, we have a special "feed" and an entertainment that to me is strongly reminiscent of the Stroller "Amateur Nights" of long ago.

TWO UNIVERSITY MEN CALLED IN THE DRAFT

The University furnished two of the eighteen young men, representing Lexington's second contribution to the national draft army, who left last Friday for the training camp.

These two men are Ralph R. Morgan and Jacob Lebeschultz. Mr. Morgan graduated from the University in June, 1915, accepted a position with the Elmendorf Dairy Company, later going to Petersburg, Va. Mr. Lebeschultz is a senior in the College of Arts and Science and he resides in Louisville. These men have been placed in the Field Artillery Division.

TENNESSEE CANCELS THANKSGIVING GAME

The Tennessee game, which was scheduled to be played Thanksgiving Day, on Stoll Field, has been canceled. When interviewed concerning it, Professor Freeman, chairman of the Athletic Committee, said: "We are casting about north, south, east and west for a good game to be played Thanksgiving on Stoll Field instead of the canceled Tennessee game."

"The letter from Tennessee cancelling the Thanksgiving game, does not give many particulars of their football changes for this year, merely saying they will limit their athletic activities to inter-class contests. They believe they are following the wish of President Wilson in their step and intend to lay as much emphasis upon home athletics as possible after cancelling all outside games.

"There are many good games we could schedule for this day, but we prefer to play at home, even if it must be against an inferior team. We promise the students a contest worthy of their attendance, however."

CHAPMAN UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED SENIOR HEAD

Senior Election Held Without Usual Bitter Contest

BRITAIN TREASURER

In one of the quietest and smoothest class elections ever held in the chapel of the University, Virgil Chapman, of Lexington, a student in the College of Law, was elected president of the Senior class last Friday afternoon. Heretofore there have been bitter contests, with complicated politics.

This typical senior, of the mustache and the cane, is an orator bred. When he speaks upon a delicate subject, as he did last year at the occasion of the election of the ten most popular girls in the University, his enthusiasm becomes rampant and his soft, tender interpretation of the language of Dixie land spontaneous.

Miss Emma Holton was elected vice president. John Alfred Brittain, captain of the 1917 Wildcats, as well as football hero of the two years past, was chosen treasurer of the class. Miss Aline Kavanaugh will be secretary, Miss Helen Morris class poet, and Miss Bertha Miller, giftorian.

J. J. McBrayer was elected class representative and will make the principal speech on commencement day. Harry Milward was chosen class orator; Miss Freda Lemon, historian; C. L. Morgan, grumbler, and Tilford Wilson, giftorian.

JUNIORS NEXT MONDAY.

A meeting of the Junior class is called for Monday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Election of officers and other important matters will arise.

BATTALION GETS 350 FOR INFANTRY DRILL

Non-Appearance in Chapel To Be Punished By Squad Drill

FIFTY R. O. T. C. MEN

With 350 men as privates, and 50 third and fourth-year men enrolled in the Reserve Officers' Training Corp, the battalion of the University is beginning a most favorable year.

Each man is entering his two years of military life with greater vim and interest than ever before in view of the critical times. The morning company, E, composed of aspiring athletes, portends to be the banner company with its ranks of physically fit men. The four afternoon companies, now captained by Goosman, Richards, Sherwood and Shouse, have already mastered the foot movements and by the end of the week will have thoroughly learned the squad movements.

Captain Ellis, acting-commandant, has received no word as to the exact arrival of Mayor Samuel A. Smoke who will make all appointments upon arrival. "Big" Smoke, as he was known at the University of Missouri, where he spent several years as commandant, according to reports, is truly a big man in every respect.

The compulsory attendance of the battalion in chapel on Tuesday morning will be required this year as it was last, non-appearance being punishable by squad drill.

WRIGHT AND PULLIAM HERE ON A FURLOUGH

Harold Pulliam and "Rasty" Wright, former students in the University, now enlisted in the United States Naval Reserve, Aviation Section, arrived at Lexington Wednesday morning on a recruiting furlough. They are stationed at Camp Stanley temporarily.

Wright and Pulliam have been in training at Boston and have already made several flights with instructors. They have not been allowed to make "solo" flights yet.

PATT HALL ROUSED BY PHILOSOPHIAN CIRCUS

Clowns, Trained Elephants, Minstrels, Mingle at Co-ed Circus

PARTY GREAT SUCCESS

Another triumph has been added to the already long list of Philosophian successes. Would anybody have believed that a sure enough circus, sawdust ring, elephants, peanuts, red lemonade, etc., could invade the lofty walls of Patterson Hall? Such was the case and it was a howling success, according to many one of the great successes of any school activity in a number of years.

Bertha Miller, a "perfect gentleman" in dress suit and high hat, led the parade to the strains of the inimitable "Dean" Sousa's band. A bewildering array of tight-rope walkers, chorus girls, clowns, etc., followed close behind and marched to the Main Tent (Recreation Hall).

Pandemonium reigned when the crowd scrambled to get seats. Wise "mamas" gently admonished their "children" to keep outside the ropes which marked off the saw-dust ring. Peanuts and red lemonade vendors vied with each other in crying their wares. Children tooted whistles and horns. Madam Crawford, fortune-teller, inveigled unsuspecting youths and the proverbial English dudes, one "Bernie Young" in particular, flirted with all the girls in spite of the anxious interference of their "mamas."

To the soothing strains of "Dean" Sousa's band Madam Mayes, world-famous tight-rope walker, in magnificent ballet costume, executed intricate steps with such ease that thunderous applause burst from the spectators. Children shrieked with delight at the antics of baby "Wohl," strangest elephant ever known, but quaked with terror at the horrible girations of "Fredyca Lemonadye," only wild woman in captivity. "Eat-'em-alive" and his brother, "heap great" Indian chieftains, inspired the spectators with awe.

To relieve the effects of the wild woman and Indian chieftains, a black-face minstrel show, composed of Josephine Thomas, Mrs. F. C. Mayes, Lena Clem, Georgia Terrey, Sallie Coleman, Myrtle Glass and Lucile Cequin sang and danced in the accepted manner for minstrels. "Pa" Duckwall, assisted by "Happy" Mayer, funniest of clowns, put on an acrobatic stunt which would have made Barnum & Bailey's acrobats turn pink with envy.

Among the more prominent visitors for the affair were: "Pa" Noland and "Ma" Graham accompanied by their ten "children," "Si" Piggett, "Lefty" Shanklin, "Pa" Duckwall, and "Ma" Fiegl.

FOUNTAIN PRESENTED BY SENIORS ARRIVES

Gift is Purchased With the Jubilee Prize Money

ADDITION TO CAMPUS

Early this week, three boxes of great weight, labeled "F. J. McFarland, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.," inscribed with the warning, "This Side Up, With Care," were placed at the north end of the Main Building. Curiosity reigned supreme. The consensus of opinion was that they contained "liquid refreshments" for the students. But still some were doubtful.

The mystery has been solved. The recipient, Mr. McFarland, landscape gardener of the University campus, when interviewed by a Kernel reporter, gave out the following information:

The fountain, donated by the class of 1918, and purchased with the hundred dollars won at the Golden Jubilee contest last year, will be erected this week. It is of a monumental design, made of Bedford limestone, gray in color and resting on a granite base. At the top of a pyramidal column rests a ball on which is the automatic self-bubbling drinking cup from which may be obtained the purest water in the world, said to issue from the same source as did the long-famed Aqua Vitae of Ponce de Leon.

The fountain will be placed directly under two Norway spruce trees in the triangle at the northeast end of the Main Building, and upon it will be engraved "The Class of 1918." The fountain was purchased from the Eastern Studio Company, of Bedford, Indiana, costing one hundred dollars.

MRS. M'LAUGHLIN DIES

Mrs. Margaret McLaughlin died Tuesday afternoon at her home at 226 East Maxwell Street after an illness of five months. She was the mother of Miss Margaret McLaughlin, instructor in the Department of Journalism at the University.

AT THE ADA MEADE

Keith bills are popular every place, but the Ada Meade has for the latter part of this week a bill which has gained the unstinted approval of every audience to which it has showed. Do not come expecting "Neal Abel" to twist his face around the stage, but do come prepared to see this man with the mobile face sing coon songs and excel in eccentric dancing. "The Big Girl Revue" is the other feature act. The Keith program for Thursday, Friday and Saturday has five pippins.

ZERFOSS CABLES SAFE ARRIVAL FROM ABROAD

"Safe"—was the one-word message received by cablegram yesterday by D. H. Peak, business agent of the University, from his nephew, Tom Zerfoss, a former student here who is now in the war zone. The message was without date and the name of the place from which it was sent had been cancelled by the censor.

Zerfoss received a commission as First Lieutenant, at the first training camp at Fort Oglethorpe. He sailed about three weeks ago. It is not known whether he will remain in France, or will return later to instruct the new National Army.

University students will remember Zerfoss as a basketball, track and football star. He was highly interested in University Y. M. C. A. work, holding the executive office at times. His work at the institution was of a high standard and his friends are numerous. Last year Zerfoss was in Vanderbilt, where he was graduated.

KENTUCKY AGGIES MEETING EACH WEEK

The regular weekly meeting of the Agricultural Society was held last Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Agriculture Building. Discussion of the student stock-judging contests at the State Fair, in which each contest was thoroughly explained and the value of such a contest to every participant told, was the feature of an interesting meeting.

The program was as follows: President's address, J. E. McClure; "Stock Exhibits at Kentucky State Fair," C. L. Morgan; "Outlook for the Agriculture Graduate," J. W. Lindsay.

At the completion of the program, A. E. McGuire, senior, was elected circulation manager of the Rural Kentuckian with Smith Gill for his assistant. Joseph Gayle was elected business manager. Membership of the society now totals thirty-seven. The Ags will meet again next Monday evening at the same time in the same building. Every student of the College of Agriculture is expected to be present at each meeting.

WESTINGHOUSE MEETS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The first meeting of the Westinghouse Society, composed of junior mechanical engineers, was held Saturday. Officers for the ensuing year were elected. Many subjects of interest were discussed.

The officers for the year are: W. S. Baugh, president; Alvin Kohn, vice president; F. Paul Anderson, Jr., secretary; W. R. David, treasurer; H. M. Milton, sergeant-at-arms; E. A. Lillard, janitor.

The society will hold its meetings the fourth hour every second Saturday.

CAFETERIA WILL OPEN TO STUDENTS MONDAY

Co-Operation of Students Asked By Proprietor, Mrs. Million

BOARD AT $3.50 PER WK.

The Cafeteria, under the management of Mrs. Amanda T. Million, will be opened Monday morning, October 1. Mrs. Million has had charge of similar enterprises for two years at the Eastern Kentucky State Normal Institute at Richmond, and for two years at Lincoln Memorial Institute at Cumberland Gap, both of which were highly successful.

The plan by which Mrs. Million intends to manage the Cafeteria involves the co-operation of every male student on the campus. To make it a success every student should fall in line and do his "bit" for the University, and likewise put a few "iron men" in his own pocket.

Board at the Cafeteria will be $3.50. Mrs. Million, when asked how she could afford to run on such a modest price, made the assertion that unless her plan met with the full approval of the student body and secured their co-operation it would be necessary for her to close the doors at once.

Altho food is considerably higher this year than at any time in the past, Mrs. Million is sure of success if she can enroll from fifty to a hundred students as boarders. The Cafeteria has a seating capacity of about 175. Within the past few days some forty men have signified their intentions of enrolling at the earliest opportunity. All students wishing to start as boarders Monday will register Saturday morning at the Cafeteria.

DANTZLER SPEAKS AT FIRST UNION MEETING

The Union Literary Society held its first meeting of the year Saturday night. The feature of the occasion was an informal talk by Professor L. L. Dantzler.

Professor Dantzler emphasized the value to be derived from literary societies in general, and spoke particularly of the achievements of the Union Society during the past two score years. Professor Dantzler said that Governor A. O. Stanley was at one time a member of the organization and added that the Governor's renown as an orator was no doubt due to the hours he spent debating and declaiming in the Union Society. Professor Dantzler promised that the faculty would lend every possible aid and encouragement to the work of the Union and Patterson Societies.

J. W. Lindsay, of Covington, senior in the College of Agriculture, was elected president for the first semester. Mr. Lindsay has been a member of the society since the autumn of 1913, and has, during the four years, been an enthusiastic Union adherent.

Other officers were elected as follows: J. J. McBrayer, of Lawrenceburg, vice president; L. F. Bischof, of Louisville, secretary; R. L. Duncan, of LaGrange, treasurer; Virgil Chapman, of Lexington, prosecuting attorney, and Ed. Dabney, of Hopkinsville, sergeant-at-arms.

Six new students were proposed for membership, and others are urged to be present at 7 o'clock Saturday night.

ENGINEERING MAGAZINE
LAUDS ARTHUR KNEISEL

Graduate of '97 Wins High Honors in Engineering Field

MEMORY REVERED

The following appreciation of Arthur Kneisel, a graduate of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineers in '97, was published in the September Monad, a magazine devoted to technical engineering.

A number of years ago I had occasion to visit the Telephone Bureau of the Public Service Department of the city of Chicago, and was introduced to a slight, sandy-haired chap who, even at first inspection, gave himself away to be an enthusiast of the first water. Just the man to lead a forlorn hope and win. This man was Arthur Kneisel. He was, even at that time, nurturing the nucleus of the idea from which grew the American Association of Engineers. I must confess that at that time I could see neither the necessity nor the possibility for the success of such an organization, but, carried away by the intense earnestness and persuasive powers of this human magnet, I agreed to come to a dinner to be held at the Boston Oyster House that night to talk matters over. This was the beginning of a friendship which, while extending comparatively few years, was of such a nature that it increased from day to day and, as neighbor and friend, I had the privilege of knowing him in private life as few outside of his immediate family ever knew him.

Arthur Kneisel left few earthly goods. He was rich only in friendships—accumulated by years of service for others. Many are those whom he befriended in his few years on this earth. Ever for the under dog, he did for others what he could not or would not do for himself. While he seldom spoke of such matters, I happen to know of many discouraged men whom he "bucked up," as he called it, and helped on their way to success. There are undoubtedly many more of whom I know nothing.

He was a Christian who practiced what he preached, and there is no greater tribute to his memory than the simple wreath of flowers contributed by the boys of his Sunday school class, purchased with nickels and dimes saved for the things dear to the boyish heart. He was never too busy nor yet too tired to give two hours of his time every Sunday morning to these boys, and his teaching will be reflected in their lives for years to come.

As a public-spirited citizen he was ever on the side of right. He was never passive when he thought that justice and public interest were at stake, even sacrificing self-interest in so doing. Patriotic to an extreme, he often worked on matters for the commonweal when he should by right have been earning his daily bread.

Highest in the throne of the affections of this man were the little wife and three children for whom he was spending every ounce of energy to provide a home and shelter against the buffets of this world. No matter how tired or worn out after a day's work, he was never too tired to help Pauline with her arithmetic, or listen to the latest discoveries of Ross, the

"REMEMBER ME"

I have recited for them several times with more enthusiasm than success, although the boys are very appreciative. We have an excellent orchestra in the company, and last night we had a dance. Handsome young things from Indianapolis, although not quite so charming as the Lexington buds, are certainly a treat to men who have spent the larger part of the week digging trenches, said digging resulting in terrible losses from blisters. We had about thirty-five girls out and the party was a success. So you see we are not entirely separated from the good things of life.

It has seldom been my good fortune to meet so many good fellows as we have in our company. McClarty Harrison is one of the lads and old U. K. has a whole lot more scattered around. John Petrie, of the Courier-Journal staff, is in the Twelfth and has gotten the rest of the boys down on him and us by blowing our horn loud and long every Sunday in the paper. The Tenth and the Eleventh more especially, are little short of at war with us. Franklin Corn and Vize Chamberlain are in the Tenth and Curtis Park is one of the mainstays of the Eleventh. Ernest Helm, of the Leader staff, is in the Eleventh also.

Any old Kentuckian would be aroused to a patriotic frenzy if he could hear the yells and "Old Kentucky Home" as it is sung at the lectures and other gathering places. The old-time football rallies have nothing on our new-time war rallies. I am pretty sure that when this gang gets after old "Bill" in Europe he will scratch around for a hole to play possum in. My only hope is that I will be allowed to stay the camp out and be one of the chosen.

If you see any of the girls that used to be in love with me when I wore tight shoes and white collars, remind them that I am still young and emotional.

Will you please see that a Kernel is sent to me when the first issue is printed. I want to keep up with everything at the University. My address is Twelfth Infantry Co., O. T. C., Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

MISS HOPKINS GETS ADVANCE.

Miss Christine Hopkins, '15, has been appointed head of the English Department, Eastern Departmental School, in Louisville.

While in the University, Miss Hopkins was prominent in dramatic and literary work. She has been in the Louisville schools but a year, and her rapid advance in this short time gives further evidence of her ability.

dreamer, or yet to tell a story to Baby Carl before bedtime came. His only prayer for an extension of life was for five years more in order that he might properly raise and educate these children.

To a true friend, a sincere Christian, a patriotic citizen, and a devoted father do I dedicate these few words of appreciation. May his memory and the success that was his due be reflected in the lives of others for years to come.

NEXT ELECTION IN 1918

The following letter, of interest to students in the University, has been received by Dr. P. P. Boyd, who requested that it be published in the Kernel:

Acting President Boyd,
Lexington, Ky.

My Dear President Boyd:

Will you please announce to your student body that on account of war conditions no election for Rhodes scholarships for 1918 will be held this fall anywhere in the United States. However, the qualifying examinations will be held as usual. The next examination to qualify candidates for the Rhodes scholarship for Kentucky will be held at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, October 2nd and 3rd, next. Those who pass this examination will have a right, so long as they are within the age limit, to compete in succeeding elections. The next election in Kentucky will perhaps be held in December, 1918, to elect a scholar for 1919.

Very truly yours,

M. B. ADAMS, Chairman.

He also said that the allies are right in destroying autocracy and sitting up a Democracy.

Football Spirit.

Tomorrow, the Wildcats will test their prowess against the first foe of the season. Coaches and players have done all in their power to weld the new material and the old Varsity men into a fighting machine. The rest depends upon the support of the student body.

The men who bite the dust of the gridiron six days out of every week are fighting for us. There is a lack of appreciation and college spirit in anyone who is not interested enough to attend the games and help root the ball over the line.

The schedule this year is a hard one and can be successfully fought only with the enthusiastic support of every student and member of the faculty. The start which we give to the team tomorrow will have a potent influence in determining the spirit that will prevail through the year.

With the names of such old antagonists as Miami, Vanderbilt, Sewanee and Mississippi before us we know there will be hard fighting. But when we recall the names of Brittain, Gay, Heber, Dempsey and Murphree, we see thru the blood, and dust and sweat of the gridiron, visions of bonfires, snake dances and night-shirt parades; we see the Mississippi giants fail to grease their way down the Kentucky field; we feel again that old-time desire to get in the game which makes us push our fair co-ed partner off the bleachers, when the ball is snapped for on the last down with a few feet to gain.

To those who have lived the spirit of these stirring events it is unnecessary to mention the joys of a Wildcat football victory; to those who have not it is useless to attempt description.

Books For the Soldiers.

This is "Patriotic Week." It has been set aside by Governor Stanley for the purpose of encouraging the citizens of Kentucky in their efforts to aid in some way the boys who are preparing to fight our battles.

There is one way in which we, as students, can lend a hand in making the burdens of our soldiers lighter with very little inconvenience to ourselves. The Lexington City Library is receiving contributions of books and magazines to be distributed among the men of the army. With two public libraries and our own private ones at our disposal it is hard for us to realize what one book may mean to a tired and lonesome soldier, when, after the day's toil, he sits idly in his camp.

Any book left at the Library for this cause will be promptly forwarded to the proper destination; there is no telling how many cares it may help to drive away "somewhere under the Stars and Stripes."

Our Welcome.

The opinion which students of one university entertain toward those of another is formed, more than at any other time, at the meeting of their athletic teams.

When a team plays away from home its supporters are usually few and a friendly reception will make an impression which they will carry back with them and diffuse thru the entire body of their institution.

If we can succeed in giving the teams which come here a real Kentucky welcome a double victory will be achieved.

The Kentucky Colonel says, "Where there's smoke there's fire," so the boys will probably get some target practice at K. U., suh.

Our Own Limerick.
There was once a fair H. E.
Decided to take Chemistree.
But now poor Eliza
Is sadder, but wiser,
She says "Chem is now taking me."

Girls Will Be Girls.
Since the co-eds have burst into print in the Kernel many cute, sweet, attractive, little articles have appeared. The dear girls do love the adjectives.

Illumination.
Fair One: "What is the baby blue cord on your hat for?"
Sammy: "Infantry."

It is rumored that the walk between Patt Hall and the campus was presented by the shoe stores of Lexington. Of course this may not be true, but, if so, it was a good investment.

OLD DORM FRATERNITY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Reorganization of the Tappa Kegga Beer Society was effected in the meeting hall in the Third Division of the old dormitory Saturday night.

This society is about two years old, and limits its membership to inhabitants of the Third Division, "the land of the bear-cats and home of the brave. No freshman may enter into the full fellowship of the organization. After a charter member of the T. K. B. had delivered a masterful address on the duties of the members and the privileges of membership, the solemn oath was administered and the sacred shrine was kissed.

The officers for the year were elected: Grand High Cheese, Brandy Henry; Grand Consumer of Distilled Spirits, Schiziefrint Haswell; Grand Keeper of the Cards and Dice, Spizle-wink Robinson; Queen of Beauty, Schemocus Rhoads; Official Tapper of the Royal Keg, Dumps Moore; Prince of Liars, Kowpie Tapscot; Official Keg Guager, Cubic Cawntometer Brown; Chief Hovering Spirit, Brutus Fishback; August Sud Slinger, Veal

It is twelve o'clock.
Squirrel Food is due,

I think I'll write a poem.
This is it.

It Happened at Patt Hall.

The Maid: "You don't expect me to ride with you in that old timer, do you?"

The Man (who has waited long):
"Well, this old bus was a brand new model when I arrived."

Lykelle Poem No. 3.

The silver harvest moon sank lower in the West,
As the haughty mustached-senior with his cane and Sunday vest
Sat on an iron bench in a quiet secluded nook

With his eyes upon his loved one with a loving, longing look,
"Kiss me, dear," she whispered, moving closer to his side,
And then the longing love light perished in his eyes
And he answered here entreaty in a melancholy tone,
I will not do at K. U. what I will not do at home.

He Means Well.

Chapel Speaker: "As I look into your bright and shining faces—" And every girl on the front row fished out her powder puff.

Y. W. C. A. MEETS OUTDOORS.

Miss Crane, the new director of Patterson Hall, addressed the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening on the individual girl's responsibility to herself and to those with whom she comes in contact.

The meeting was held on the porch of Patterson Hall and is probably the last one to be held in the open, for the cool fall days suggest a cozier assembly room. The service in the twilight was very impressive.

At the cabinet meeting held Monday night, Miss Austin Lilly was made chairman of Bible Study to succeed Miss Louise Will, who is now director of the choir.

Sullivan; Grand Tender of the Spigot, Ocwompus Planck; Chaperone, Buddy Henry; Caretaker of the Royal Chamber, Bullneck Moosnick; Official Water Heaver, Fungt Gill.

In memory of the esteemed charter members, the council took steps toward the recognition of their services. The following were enrolled as honorary members: Satan Elston, Carter Clark, James Gordon, Bennett Nance, Jim Moore and Shorty Elston.

FACULTY COUNCIL OF KENTUCKY COLLEGES

Conference Held Saturday To Discuss Work of Y. M. C. A.

PLANS MADE FOR YEAR

A conference of the Faculty Council of Kentucky Colleges was held at the Phoenix Hotel Friday evening, to discuss college Y. M. C. A. work. O. M. Adams, State Student Secretary, who recently moved to Lexington and opened headquarters, was present.

Those present at the conference were President Crossfield, and Professor Spencer, of Transylvania; Judge Chalkley and Secretary Johnson of the University; Professor John Hill, Georgetown; Professor B. T. Spencer, Kentucky Wesleyan; Professor H. E. Taylor and Professor F. O. Clarence, Berea; Professor Henry Meter, Centre College; C. A. Tevebaugh, Acting State Secretary, who presided.

All of the colleges reported good enrollment for 1917-18. The conference decided to assume Kentucky's share of the $100,000 fund to be raised for college Y. M. C. A. work at the southern cantonments.

The next meeting of the advisory council will be held at the Phoenix Hotel, November 2. There will be a conference at Transylvania December 7 and 9. A number of prominent men will be present at this conference.

STUDENTS' FORUM

Editor of the Kernel:

Life in a university is unbearable without some deadly rival close at hand. Formerly we were friendly and energetic rivals of Transylvania. Because some one obsessed with football zeal hit another on the head with a cow bell after a victory, the faculties of each school decreed that passports be given representatives to respective sides of Main Street and further relations were severed.

The scalp wound has healed. We still "hate" T. C. in the same old friendly way. We want to play them a game of football. (At this point, of course, the faculty raises its hands in holy horror while all the students smile in complete approbation.)

Satisfactory arrangements regarding celebration details can be made, because the writer has sounded both bodies of students. Celebrations would be confined to the winner's (U. of K's) campus on the honor of the students. The sale money could be given to the Red Cross or to the fund for Aged and Indigent of the Society of Dorm Dwelling Victims. Money is no consideration. We want sport.

If possible, will not your admirable paper, the Kernel, make proper investigation relative to the faculty's approval or disapproval and let's have a real red-blooded game.

Earnestly,
P. C. E.

FOOTBALL RALLY!

The first football rally of the year will be held in chapel tomorrow morning. Yell leaders will be elected. The old-time Wildcat spirit will make its appearance.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES SUBJECT FOR CHAPEL

Publications, Societies, Dramatics and Athletics Represented

DR. TIGERT SPEAKS

"Student Activities" was the general subject of the chapel exercises Friday morning. Harry Milward, of the senior class, was in charge of the program.

Student publications were discussed by Estill D. Woods, editor-in-chief of the Kernel. He told of the work of the Kentucky Law Journal, which is edited by the law students, and has on its mailing list all the Kentucky legislators, and the members of the State Bar Association. Mr. Woods spoke briefly of the Rural Kentuckian, published by the College of Agriculture, the High School Journal, from the Education Department, and the Transit, of the Engineering College. He assured the students that there would be an Annual this year in spite of the decreased registration.

In discussing the Kernel, Mr. Woods told the students that it was their own paper, and each should consider himself both a subscriber and a shareholder. He attributed its rapid growth in the last few years to the help of the Journalism Department, and particularly to Enoch Grehan, head of that department, a newspaper man of ability and experience.

Professor L. L. Dantzer presented the subject of literary societies. He urged that all students should join at once one of the three literary societies on the campus, setting forth the value of the experience gained in these organizations.

Emery Frazer, president of the Strollers, told of the work of that organization. He emphasized the importance of the freshmen coming out for "Amateur Night," which will be held in October.

Dr. Tigert was waxing eloquent on the subject of past Wildcat victories, and the well-known Kentucky spirit was about to make itself evident, when the whistle blew, cutting short the jubilation.

LATEST BOOKS ON WAR RECEIVED BY LIBRARY

The University library receives regularly the publications of the U. S. War Department, and there are a number of recent publications which will be of interest to the students of the University.

"Military Laws of the United States," revised to March 5, 1917, is a very useful reference book. It is a compilation of all laws regarding every branch of the military service and is filled with information hard to obtain anywhere else.

Timely and interesting handbooks are: "Regulations for the Regular Army Reserve," published August, 1916; "Tables of Organization, U. S. Army," 1917; "Manual for Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of Infantry," 1917; "Small Problems for Infantry," special reprint 1917, for training camps.

"Engineer Training Manual," prepared under the direction of the chief of engineers, U. S. Army is an entirely new publication and the complete series of parts has not yet been received. The engineering students cannot fail to find it interesting and helpful.

ENGINEERING

Bernard Fenton, of Les Cheneaux, Mich., has enrolled in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering at the University. Mr. Fenton came here at the instance of Richard C. Stoll, who met him while spending the summer in Michigan. Mr. Stoll was so impressed with the boy that he made arrangements whereby he could come to the University and complete his education in his chosen line of work.

Charles Anderson, an eminent mechanical engineer of England, is at the University designing a new type of gas engine, following the lines suggested by Brayton, which type operates like a steam engine. Mr. Anderson has been doing extensive work in the United States and was the man who designed the traction cars of Cincinnati and Seattle. He has been making his home in Lexington for some time.

S. N. Courtney, of Owensboro, a member of the '15 graduating class from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, has taken a position as superintendent of one of the four McCandless factories of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Company, with headquarters in New York. After graduation, Mr. Courtney entered the employment of the Kentucky Electrical Company, at Owensboro, and it was while working there in obtaining greater efficiency of the Mazda lamp that he came to the notice of the Westinghouse company. He is succeeded at Owensboro by W. M. Glenn, of the '16 graduating class.

J. R. Duncan, Assistant Professor of Electrical Engineering, was employed during the summer by the Carrier Engineering Corporation of New York City.

Mr. Duncan was working on the preliminary design of a machine for drying wall paper as it comes from the coloring machine at a maximum speed of 500 feet per minute, for Sears, Roebuck & Company, of Chicago, and was detained in New York until this design was practically worked out with the exception of a few minor details.

This machine will occupy a floor space of about 6x40 feet and is to supplant the method now in use of hanging the paper in festoons extending the entire length of a large room, thus conserving space as well as saving time and labor, and increasing production.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones, of Durham, North Carolina, were visitors at Mechanical Hall Saturday. Mr. Jones is employed by the Carrier Engineering Corporation of New York City and is at present with the American Tobacco Company at Durham, where he is developing a process of curing tobacco with more rapidity and efficiency by means of air conditioning equipment. Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Mary Brown, of Sharpsburg, and is well known here, where she was a student and afterwards an efficient aid in the administrative offices of the University.

Lieutenant T. E. Beatty, '12, was a visitor at Mechanical Hall Monday. Lieut. Beatty entered the Plattsburg (New York) training camp in May and received a commission as Second Lieutenant of Infantry, and is a member of the 27th Division of the New York

DR. BUSH ADDRESSES STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Says Character Should Be First and Knowledge Second

ADDRESS IS HELPFUL

"Students who do not think have no right to go to college," said Dr. Benjamin J. Bush, of the Second Presbyterian Church, in his talk Tuesday morning in chapel before the students of the University.

"Students who think are invariably asking 'what is Truth?'" Dr. Bush continued: "I know of only one teacher who said, 'I am the Truth' and that is the teacher of Galilee."

"Every nation or group of people is religious. Every individual is religious. China, following the leadership of Confucius, said she would live for the here and the now. This is not the case, however, for China is not decreasing infant mortality, she is not open to the ideas of other nations, nor is she building her universities.

"These things are only being done in the parts of the country where Christianity rules. This and other examples will show that Christianity is the true religion."

According to Dr. Bush, there are five verbs, which are the most important found in any language. These verbs are "to have, to know, to do and to be." The measure of greatness is the word that is put first in one's life. "To have" or "to know" are important in some lives, but the people that count for most are those who follow first "to be" and then "to do."

"The character of this University body is, by far, the most important thing and knowledge is second," the speaker said in conclusion.

National Guard. Lieut. Beatty was on his way to Spartanburg, S. C. where the New York National Guard is stationed at present. Before entering the military service, Lieut. Beatty was Superintendent of the H. W. McCandless Company, Brooklyn, New York.

E. T. C. Blaker, '14, is now at Plattsburg Training Camp, in the Artillery Field Service.

Dean Norwood, of the Department of Mines, has received a number of requests for men to fill positions over all the country. A recent offer came from the Superior Coal Company, of Galespie, Ill., one of the largest mining operations in the United States. Paul M. McKarkle, who was a student in the University in 1912, is in charge of this mine. Mr. McKarkle urges that some Kentucky men be sent at once.

O. G. Schwant, '17, who, since his graduation, has been with the Indian Creek Coal Company, at Harlan, has accepted a position with the Owen Coal Mining Company, Omar, W. Va. Mr. Schwant has been quite successful in his work. At the Harlan mines he designed several practical improvements.

Officers of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers were elected at the first meeting Monday, September 24. They are: T. Ellis Peak, president; George Jackson, treasurer, and Harry Milward, secretary.

LITERARY SOCIETIES FOR ALL.

At a called meeting of the Strollers, held Tuesday afternoon, Miss Eliza Spurrier, former vice president of the organization, was elected president, to fill the vacancy left by Emery Frazier, who is not in the University this year.

This is the first time in the history of the Strollers that a co-ed has been elected to this office. Miss Spurrier has been an enthusiastic Stroller since her freshman year. She was a member of the cast of "Father and the Boys" in 1916, and of the "Lion and the Mouse" in 1917.

Miss Freda Lemon, a former Stroller star, was elected vice president. The positions of stage manager and business manager, which are also vacant, will be filled later.
