A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

Dick Walker, '52, left a trail of work as he whittled through a year of telephone training. Here he recalls the variety of his training jobs. (Reading time: 36 seconds)

"Training can really be interesting. I found that out when I joined A.T.&T.'s Long Lines Department after getting my B.A. at Cincinnati and my M.A. at Michigan in '52. Long Lines is the organization specializing in Long Distance communications. I was put in the training program, and there wasn't a dull minute. "For instance, one of my jobs in the Traffic Department was estimating the exact number of calls that would be placed in a city on Christmas Day. My estimate was off by only 68 calls! "Then in the Plant Department, I made a study of damage done to a certain cable. Found out that the most damage occurred in an area used by hunters. Some special public relations work among hunters helped improve that situation. "And in the Commercial Department, I helped analyze the communication problems of one of the largest textile companies—it had widespread offices and plants. The recommendations made are now in use. "The variety in my training has carried over to my regular job here in Cincinnati. My job is to see that good service is maintained for private line customers—pipeline and power companies, theater TV and the like. Every day is different. "As far as I am concerned, I've found my career."

Prof Advises 'Give Art Same Chance As People'

By HILL HILLITER
"If you give art the same chance as you give people, you'll have many art 'friends as you do human.'"
Dr. Donald L. Weisman, head of the Department of Art, offers this bit of advice to the average student the student who is not an art major but who comes in contact with art daily.

Art exhibits, sculpture displays and paintings in general often leave the average student cold because he doesn't know what to look for in art work. He sees a few lines, color and general form, and then attempts to evaluate or take interest in art on this basis.

Understanding Helps
Art, Dr. Weisman points out, is like any other major field of life. If it is understood, then it is more apt to be appreciated.

The department head suggests these four pointers for a better appreciation of art:
1. Don't look for something specific. View a painting or piece of sculpture with open eyes and mind. Look for what the art has to tell you—indicate what you expect, it to tell you.
2. Don't ask "What is it?" Ask "Why is the artist trying to say?" Each piece of art has some message about human experience. Look for that message or suggestion.
3. After you have decided what the artist is trying to say, then interpret how close he came to getting his impression across.
4. Make your final analysis or judgment on what the artist attempted and how well he succeeded.

"Have Tried To Illustrate?"
Dr. Weisman states, artists have tried to illustrate, clarify, and present various aspects of human experience. All art has this in common: The fact that no two people are exactly alike is what makes so many different types of paintings and sculpture.

Expect Documentation
Too many students today expect documentation in art, Dr. Weisman asserts. According to the art director, documentation by detail painting and sculpture became archaic with the invention of the camera. Artists today are interested in interpretation of scenes and not in a faithful representation of them.

Watch Like Like Blobs
A modern painting showing a field of blue sprinkled with bright hues might be looked on as nothing more than "blobs of color" or as a work depicting "the silent poetry of night." If the latter viewpoint in such a painting is taken, Dr. Weisman says, the student has learned to distinguish the vast difference between documentation and interpretation.

The basic difference between good and bad art is the artist himself. Mediocre artists produce mediocre paintings. The student, however, should not judge art on the subject of interpretation but rather on how well the interpretation is carried out.

Giving art a chance, according to Dr. Weisman, is giving the viewer a chance for rich experiences. A good painting can inspire as much as a good play or a good book.
The average student, then, can be a better than average critic, if he

UK has long been criticized. For things it's done and how. But at least the students don't exclaim.
Dig that crazy cow!
Running a close second to the Colorado pancake race by the way, the national champ should be announced any time is the "Cow Milking Derby" now under way at Ohio State University. The Derby, which does not in any way, shape, or form resemble our own Sigma Chi Derby, is open only to young ladies who have a way with cows. A trophy and a blue ribbon will be presented to the maid who gets her cow to cooperate by giving the most milk in a three-minute contest. That's all we need at UK. We'll probably have one soon. Wonder if it would violate any NCAA rules?

Special bulletin to wealthy, famous, and good-hearted of UK alumni! Dean Martin, singing half of the famous Martin and Lewis comedy team, recently made a gift of $100,000 to be used to build four new buildings for the college.
For $5,000 toward a project to revitalize the "monster" alias Neville Hall, UK students will be glad to remember a few alumni.

Some people have all the luck! An outdoor recreation center for students at Penn State has been donated by the form of the University of Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters. The site, known as Beaver Dam, eventually will provide facilities for swimming, boating, hiking and camping. The preparation of leaders for outdoor education in schools and training for camp counselors and directors will also be included in the recreation program. To repeat, some people have all the luck!

Several weeks ago, a report was carried of the effigy burning of Senator McCarthy by University of Toronto students. Not to be outdone by a fellow college, rate students at the University of British Columbia undertook another burning. This time the victim was Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and owner of Chicago radio stations WGN and WGN-TV.
McCormick's dummy was stuffed with copies of the Tribune and hung before being set ablaze.

The explanation was a protest against the Tribune's recent attacks on Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs.

In the same vein, a dairy professor at Iowa State College proposes that students get, rather than drink, their morning cup of coffee. Says he: "Although coffee has gone up, coffee ice cream hasn't."
And at Ohio State University, the most unique solution to the problem is now under observation—the Department of Botany, although a little skeptical, has agreed to serve free coffee, when and if the coffee tree in the greenhouse then grows berries.

Wonder what the administration's reaction would be to a "Little Brazil," alias the campus green house, complete with transplanted coffee trees?

Pictures Brighten High School Text By Education Prof

By EMMETT ROGERS
Pictures chosen in their teen-ager appeal brighten the pages of General Business, a high school text written jointly by Dr. Vernon Muselman, professor of education.
The book, published by McGraw-Hill, is designed to be more inviting to students than most high school texts. Five-color printing has been used to add interest to normally gray pages. The text is the first of its type to be printed in a two-column format, which is easier to read.
Dr. Muselman collaborated on the book with Dr. Ray G. Fries, professor of education at the University of Minnesota.

Typical of the new features which they have included in their text are a section on study skills and one on finding the right job.
At the start of each unit of study is a two-page unit preview dressed up with color and pictures. Beginning each chapter is a case-study based on the following material.
At the end of each chapter, study materials are planned to emphasize learning-by-doing. Exercises in arithmetic are correlated with the chapter material, another new idea in this type of text.
The cover design is an aerial view of factories bordering a super highway, setting the tone for this modern appeal to the teen-age student.

The jerk starts motion me with some 14 day free trial deal, that if I'm not satisfied after wearing it and washing it for 14 days, he'll gamme my dough back.

"I'm from Brooklyn, see, and I don't trust nobody. I ask the fno. What's the catch, buddy? He says, 'No catch. Wear it as much and as hard as you want. If the collar ever wrinkles or wils, you get your money back. Wash it, yourself. It's easy. You just from the collar flat. Flip it, and it looks perfectly because the fold-line's woven in. If not, your money back."

"The guy tells me it's the only soft one piece collar in the world, that it lasts up to twice as long as other shirts and only costs $2.95 for whites and $4.95 in colors and superfine whites. I tell him he's out to make such a stupid offer. I tell him he'll lose his shirt. It's a kind of joke, see. I figure no shirt will live up to all that malarkey.

Whites Beat Blues; Grid Practice Ends

By DICK FURKINS

Underwood Whites team, coached by line coach "Buckshot" Underwood romped to a 26-6 upset win over backfield coach Ernie Allen's Blues in the annual UK intrasquad game, bringing to a close spring football practice.

It was the smooth quarterbacking of versatile Dick Rushing that meant the difference, as he had a hand in all of the 13 markers scored by the Whites in the first half.

The first marker of the game came with 2:30 left in the initial period, when Rushing passed 14 yards to end Larry Hennessy, capping an 80-yard drive. The drive started after Delmar Hughes, opening Blue signal-caller, had tried an unsuccessful field goal.

Before the quarter had ended the Whites had their second score.

Halfback Dick Molony intercepted a Hughes aerial on Blue 27 and returned it 24 yards to the 13-yard stripe. From there fullback Don Brewer plowed to the eight, from where Rushing stroked over to leave the count 13-0 at the end of the quarter. Rushing also kicked the point.

In the second period it was all the Blues' game, but they still couldn't dent the White defense. They held on to the pigskin for 24 out of 29 plays.

On one occasion the Blues moved to the White six-inch line before stalling. The half ended with the Whites still in the 13-0 lead.

In the third stanza, the Whites doubled the score with the help of Blue fumbles: Henderson sophomore

WHITES CRAB EARLY LEAD—Larry (Dude) Hennessy grabs a pass from Dick Rushing to score the first White touchdown, as the Whites beat the Blues 26-6 in the annual intrasquad game. Other players shown are Don Netoskie, No. 32, Henry George, No. 20, and Bradley Mills, No. 85.

Hatton, Cassidy Join South Cagers

Kentucky fans will get a chance to see two of next year's top freshmen candidates face some of the country's outstanding prep stars in the North-South cup classic at Murray, Ky., June 12.

Billy Ray Cassidy, who led the Inez Indians to the State championship this year, and Lafayette's great guard, Vernon Hatton, are the Kentucky cagers who will play on the South team. Both have signed grant-in-aid scholarships with the Wildcats.

Bill Florence, 6-8 center from Lafayette, has also been selected for the South squad.

Delmar Ghis, whose Central City club won 35 games without a defeat during the regular season before bowing to Inez in the tourney, will pilot the South cagers.

Baseballers Drop Eighth SEC Game As Vandy Cops Two Tilts, 7-5, 3-4

By DAVE NARDIMEN

Kentucky's baseball Wildcats suffered their third and fourth SEC setbacks in a row on Monday and Tuesday as Vanderbilt ripped the Cats, 7-5 and 3-4.

The two losses ran Kentucky's season record to four wins and eight losses, only two of the wins being over SEC competition. The sweep for Vandy gave them three victories in four outings against the Wildcats.

The Monday loss was a heart-breaker for Kentucky because they had held a 4-0 lead over the Commodores for six innings. Hugh Coy was working well on the mound for the Cats and had allowed only five hits at this point.

Coy tired in the seventh, loading the bases with none out on a pair of walks and a hit batsman. Coach Harry Lancaster removed him and sent Phil Grawemeyer to the hill. Left fielder Lee Carlson greeted Grawemeyer with a single, scoring 6 runs, and before the inning was over the Commodores scored twice more on an error and a sacrifice fly.

Vanderbilt won the tilt in the eighth. The Commodores tied the score on a walk, a wild pitch and a single by Hollis Johnson. Grawemeyer got into further hot water and Charles Fichtmister relieved him with two on and two out. Vandy Second Baseman Jim Tancill greeted Fichtmister rudely as he drove the ball over the left-center field wall scoring Johnson and Carlson ahead of him.

Trailing 7-4, Kentucky made a little attempt to get back in the game in the home half of the eighth. Doug Lawhorn walked, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on Jack Van Meter's single for the Wildcats' fifth and last run.

Kentucky opened up on Vandy starter Bill Keller early, rocking him for four runs in the first four innings. The Cats talked twice in the initial frame after two were out. Sonny Corum was safe on an error, stole second and then came home on a double by Jerry Calvert. Calvert scored on a one-bagger by Coy.

Kentucky scored another pair in the fourth. First Baseman Bill Bibb and Right Fielder Gary McCreary drew walks and Van Meter placed both as he drilled a double into right center.

Grawemeyer took the loss for Kentucky since he was responsible for the men on base when Tancill unloosed an Fichtmister.

The loss to the Commodores the next day was a different story as Vandy romped for seven runs off Jim Day in the second inning and the Wildcats spent the rest of the afternoon trying to catch up.

Day got through the first inning successfully but in the second, the flood-gates opened. Floyd Tena singled, Jim Miller walked, Jim Looney beat out an infield grounder and Johnson singled to center, scoring two runs. Carlson belted a double scoring another, and Tancill walked, leading the bases. Jerry Caldwell, hidden all season, blasted a slow curve of Day's over the fence for a grand slam homer.

Day remained in the game but went to the showers in the third when the first two Vandy hitters greeted him with singles. Grawemeyer relieved him and pitched brilliant one-hit ball for the remaining seven innings. The Commodores made the one safety count in the seventh when Peas walked and Looney brought him home with a double to left center.

Capt. Miles Willard drove in all the Wildcat runs on a pair of booming homers off Vandy pitcher, 6-4 Charlie Hawkins. Willard belted a solo four-bagger in the third inning and then pitched a Hawkins pitch

Curry Registers 25; Vol Thinlies Top Cats

By DON HENRY

Kentucky's individual scoring star, Jess Curry, led all scorers again Monday afternoon in Knoxville, Tenn., where the Wildcats dropped their second track meet of the season to the Volunteers. The Cats have won two meets, the first from Sewanee and the other from Morehead.

Curry, who scored 25 points against the Tennessee runners, has led the Kentucky scorers in every meet this season. He has developed into an almost one-man-track show, scoring first in both field and track events.

Monday he took four first places, a second, and tied for second in another event. The Kentucky junior registered first in the 100-yd. dash, running the distance in 19 seconds flat, in both the low and high hurdles, and also in the broad jump. His second places were in the javelin and high jump.

Kentucky came into the seventh event of the afternoon sporting a one point lead over Tennessee, but lost this lead and went on to lose 79% to 81%.

The Volunteer's mile-relay team bested the Wildcat entry with the following week:

Historical Be Bop Godiva Was Known As Blonde Bombshell

By BILL BILLITER
All of the peasants agreed to go into during the hour of Godiva's sainted down town. So promptly at noon one day, Godiva, clothed only in her peroxidic loveliness, leaped on Trigger and loped off down the street.

A sounder named Tom disobeyed Godiva's order and peeped out of a window to see the horse. Peeping Tom, however, was blinded by a flying stone and Godie finished her ride without scandal.

After the famous trot, the good folk of Coventry went hog-wild, for at last there were no taxes. And solid Godiva, the real her heroine, recovered from a severe case of sunburn and lived to a ripe old age.

Davidson Speaks To Kappa Delta Pi

Dr. Phillip G. Davidson, president of the University of Louisville, told new Kappa Delta Pi initiates Tuesday night that teachers of today must have an understanding of other persons with whom they work.

According to Dr. Davidson, "master of subject matter" alone will not assure success for future teachers. He called for his audience to realize that each teacher must determine the manner in which his training can be best used.

Chief presentation of the meeting was the awarding of the 850 Kappa Delta Pi prize to William B. Evans, selected as the outstanding senior in the College of Education.

Godiva Wasn't Happy
Godiva wasn't shot with the idea of having a miser for a spouse. In fact, she begged and pleaded her penny-pinching husband to take up golf and forget all about his dreams of dough. But the poor kid yapped in vain. Leofric only giggled with aile and ordered a new tax.

She went to Leofric and straight-fourth pitched a tizzy. "Thou art a bum, Leofric," she yelled. "Thy people are kicking on bucket right and left for lack of jelliroil. Truly thou art a square if thou doesn't cut out taxation."

Leofric listened, laughed, and said, "Godiva, thou art a jewel! Thy wit amazes me. But can you corn and taze in to my proposition. I will stop my taxes if thou consentest to riding my white horse, Trigger, down Main Street—without any duds on."

Poor Godiva! She was really up salt creek. Be being a shrewd sister, she figured a way out. She issued a proclamation ordering all the yokels inside white-stroking in the raw.

Kernel Korn 'Dan'l' Boone Show Brings Award To RA Department

Special recognition in the field of educational broadcasting has been given the UK Department of Radio Arts for its documentary program, "Dan'l Boone's Reunion With Kentucky."

An honorable mention citation was awarded to the department this week during the 18th annual American Exhibition of Educational Radio-Television programs in connection with the annual Institute for Education sponsored by Ohio State University.

The award-winning program, written and produced by students and faculty members of the Radio Arts Department, was aired last fall by WBKY, University station, and 42 Kentucky commercial stations.

Entered in the category "special one-time broadcasts," the UK-produced show promoted the successful campaign last year to change Section 186 of the State Constitution, dealing with the distribution of common school funds.

Judges at the Ohio State University Institute commended UK radio representatives for their dramatic departure from the usual presentation of public service programs.

"Dan'l Boone's Reunion With Kentucky" was portrayed as a fantasy, interwoven with an appeal to the voters to go to the polls and aid the Kentucky school situation.

The citation accompanying the honorable mention award reads: "This script is to be commended for its sincere approach to and recognition of stimulating men and women toward accepting their responsibilities as citizens."

Person (to dying lawyer): Cheer up, friend. You have a bright future ahead of you.
Lawyer: That's what's worrying me. I can see it blazing.
