BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE CONVENES JUNE 16-27

The annual Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge, N. C., will be held this summer on June 16 to 27. At this time 500 to 600 of the best young men from the south, coming from Southern Colleges will come together for ten days of inspiration, education and recreation on the famous Blue Ridge grounds in the Land of the Sky.

The local Y. M. C. A. is working up a large delegation this year and those students desiring to go to Blue Ridge should see the "Y" secretary or any member of the cabinet before June 1. Any man in the student body is eligible to go. Our quota is 15 students and two members of the faculty.

Come on, let's double this number. It's a trip and experience that you will never forget.

Important among the new features of this year's program is the hour to be given daily for student forums, to be led by especially trained students. There will be an hour daily for the study of campus problems connected with student government, athletics, publications, etc. Besides campus problems you have a chance to study national and even world problems, and to hear some of the strongest speakers of this and other countries, such as Sherwood Eddy, a speaker of international reputation, Fred B. Smith,

President of the National Movement for Law Enforcement; Dr. W. W. Alexander, Secretary of Inter-racial Commission, Dr. W. B. Weatherford, President of Southern College Y. M. C. A., Mr. Kirby Page, New York, and William Morgan, of Austria.

Besides an opportunity to hear great speakers and study the important problems of the day, the delegates also have the afternoons off for recreation. Among the many sports indulged in are swimming, hikes, track, tennis, volleyball, basketball and baseball. They have first class equipment for all these sports and the afternoons are always enjoyed.

BOTANISTS AND GEOLOGISTS ENJOY ANNUAL EXCURSION

Interesting and Rare Fossils Are Found

Approximately two hundred students from the Botany and Geology departments of the University of Kentucky, participated in the annual field trip to Natural Bridge Saturday, May 18. The students left Lexington by special train at 7 o'clock in the morning and returned at 6 o'clock the evening of the same day.

The day was spent by the geologists in collecting rock specimen from different rock formations in the vicinity of Natural Bridge while the botanists spent their time in gathering examples of flowers and plants.

A number of interesting fossils were discovered by the geological party, the most interesting find being a very rare fossil star fish discovered by Capt. Tom Foster. This specimen is very rare in this section of the United States, the University Geology Department having only one of its kind and the genus has not yet been determined.

The party was in charge of Dr. A. C. McFarlan, of the Department of Geology, and Dr. Frank T. McFarlan, of the Department of Botany. Professor Johnston, of the Department of Geology, also accompanied the students.

'A DOLL'S HOUSE' IS PRODUCED AT ROMANY

Play is Directed by Professor Sutherland of Dramatic Production Department

By JOHN WALSH, JR.

At the time of going to press "A Doll's House" is now being shown at the Romany Theatre. The production is the work of the class in dramatic production at the University of Kentucky and Huirik Ibsen, Norwegian author.

Although there seemed to be a slight variance between Mr. Ibsen's theme and the interpretation thereof, the play was enjoyable nevertheless. The sets and costumes were particularly pleasing.

In the presentation of awards one would probably be disposed to give the laurels to Regina Stanfield, Elmer Barker and Henry Harper with red ribbon for the remainder of the cast.

Miss Stanfield, as, Nora, gave the best interpretation of this character we have ever seen in Lexington and returned the support of the rest of the cast line for line.

Elmer Barker did some very good acting several times during the play; although his voice and appearance were good, his manner detracted greatly from his presentation.

Henry Harper as Helmer, husband to Nora, seemed to be the typical Romany husband, the kind that says the wrong thing at exactly the wrong time. Although Mr. Harper carried his part through without faltering he

WANTS 100% ATTENDANCE

Secretary of Class of '19 Writes Address on Homecoming

The Alumni Office has received a news story from Charles Planck, permanent secretary, class of '19, in which Charlie pictures the high times enjoyed by the alumni who came to the homecoming. After reading the appeal which is given below surely every alumnus will want to be present. Charlie had the story printed with a Lexington date line, for June 1, and sent a copy to each member of his class. The story follows:

One hundred and three members of the class of 1919, University of Kentucky, gathered in Lexington Saturday morning to attend the first homecoming of that class during graduation week. It is believed to be the first time a class has held a reunion at which 100 per cent attendance has been recorded.

Headed by S. Headley Shouse, president of the "Victory" class of 1919, the whole number marched down Main street and out Limestone to the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association. In the afternoon they attended Class Day exercises of the class of 1924, and the Alumni Banquet at the Phoenix Saturday night. Sunday morning they filled a section of the new seats in the chapel at the University and heard the baccalaureate sermon.

There are babies in the class this year. In five years, many have married and bachelors among their number took turns holding the children of their classmates. There was much twitting of men in the class who had married outside of Kentucky, and who declared girls as pretty as Kentucky girls were to be found outside the borders of the state.

Meet at Lexington Drug

A choice gathering occurred before the Lexington Drug Store each night of the reunion, and many a reminiscence lightened the hours. The girls occupied their spare time in visiting Patt Hall and the houses of their sororities of schoolgirl days.

Some members of the class have become lawyers, and established their offices about the state. Most of the engineers have drifted to the manufacturing centers, where they declare the exile would have been unendurable except for the money to be made there. Some others have stuck to Lexington, living, they said, "the lives of the lucky" amongst friends and the scenes of home. Throughout the class, as indeed in all the classes holding reunions this year, there was the feeling, displayed in fervent statement, and beaming countenance, that just being back home again, was worth more than any experience of all their five years apart.

"Just being home" meant to the classes gathering this year an inspection of many new things about the campus. They saw a firm, solid floor in the Armory where they were wont to catch their heels in the new holes. They inspected the new basketball building, looked at the coveted dormitories and the glory that was the Mess Hall. They noticed that the Library is still too small, and that there is still room on the campus for other buildings, whenever the legislature tilts the lid a little in the interests of education.

Planck Proves Prophet

One of the surprising facts in connection with the reunion as pointed out by Headley Shouse, was that every member who attended had previously sent a postcard announcing his intention, to Charles E. Planck, secretary, who is working on the Detroit Free Press. Planck sent a story to the Kernel before the reunion announcing there would be a 100 per cent attendance, but it was not regarded seriously, until the class lined up on Main street and proved it.

From the standpoint of attendance and the "whale of a good time" that every member had, it can well be called the world's best reunion to date.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen, The saddest are these, 'It might have been.'"

You'll say these words, if you make plans, To come back home to reunite and then—"

Let's don't finish it. Send a card saying you'll be there.

A CALL TO THE '94's

The Alumni Office has received a copy of a letter mailed by Mrs. Lillie Kroesing Kesheimer, permanent secretary of the class of '94, to the other nine members of her class who are alive and in touch with the Alumni Association. The class of '94 will celebrate its sixth fifth-year reunion this commencement. Mrs. Kesheimer wrote:

"Just 30 years ago on June 7, we stood, 20 of us, and received from the hand of our beloved President Patterson, the little piece of sheepskin for which we had labored so hard for four long years. That was a big class in that day, now the graduates number over two hundred.

"Those of us who live here have seen 'Little Old State College' which we loved so well in days gone by, grow into the big university of today with nearly as many professors and instructors as there were students then, and we love her still.

"This year our class has a reunion and I am writing to tell you of it and ask you to come and renew again on the old campus the friendship of those years. The program of commencement follows."

Mrs. Kesheimer lives at 311 Madison Place, Lexington, and has had the pleasure of keeping in close touch with the University since her school days closed.

BUFFALO CLUB ACTIVITIES

On account of the fact there there was no Kernel the week of April 18, which was the first edition after the Buffalo Club's banquet for the Seniors on the inspection trip the Kernel has not had a notice of this very delightful affair, if the reports brought back by the seniors and faculty members can be accepted.

The banquet was held Thursday night, April 30, at 7:30 o'clock in the dining room at the Chamber of Commerce. Twenty members of the Buffalo Club entertained approximately 55 Seniors and 10 guests.

O. K. Dyer, '04, presided as toastmaster and called upon the members and guests for the following program: The Buffalo Alumni Club, Its Mission, by Dr. Philip Blumenthal; Looking Upward, I. B. Helburn, representative of the Senior Class; Engineering Ethics, L. A. Harding; To Be or Not To Be, J. Bright; The Engineer As a Salesman, C. W. Farrar; The Kentucky Engineer, Dean F. Paul Anderson. An address, "The Engineer's Obligation to Civilization," was given by W. B. Powell, who was unable to be present and sent a man to deliver the same address.

A pleasant part of the program was two musical acts, the Kentucky Quartette, composed of R. B. Clem, Elbert DeCoursey, J. W. McDonald and C. M. Spilman; and a number of songs and dances by Misses Dewitt and Gallagher for which Mr. Brindley played the accompaniment.

A letter which just reached the Alumni Office from the Buffalo Club speaks of the last meeting:

"On Saturday, May 10th, at 1:15 p. m., the Buffalo Alumni Club held its regular monthly luncheon and business meeting in the private dining room of the Chamber of Commerce. About 16 members were present. Dr. Phil Blumenthal '09 who recently returned from a trip to Kentucky, gave the club a survey of conditions on the campus, and the financial status of the University as a result of Governor Field's veto of recent appropriation bills.

"Mr. Gilbert Frankel '19 left Buffalo Sunday for Pittsburgh to address the local chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, on "Home Ventilation." "Mr. W. G. Miller '22 left Buffalo Sunday for a week's business trip to Wilkesbarre, Pa."—Charley Graham, Publicity Chairman.

"I am enclosing a contribution toward the Greater Kentucky Campaign Fund. I wish that I could make it more. The cause is a great one, and one with which I have naturally been in sympathy. I long to see the University of Kentucky forge ahead and maintain a position of honor among the great Universities of the country. We have just reason to be proud of all that our Alma Mater has accomplished, but the watchword should ever be 'ONWARD.' I have been intending to write for some time but the activities and interests that follow our college days—not overlooking the families that a great many of us have today—tend to make for laxness in keeping up our college ties actively. I was in Kentucky last winter but had no opportunity to visit the University. I also had the misfortune to be out of Atlanta last season and missed the Kentucky-Georgia Tech game. Here's hoping that we have a championship team this fall. Best regards to all my friends still connected with the University and best of success to its undertakings."—Raymer W. Tinsley (with the Department of Justice, Bureau of Investigation) P. O. Box 1058, Atlanta, Ga.

PURPOSE OF BLUE RIDGE

"A dream realized," tells the story of Blue Ridge. It was conceived and founded by Dr. W. D. Weatherford about 1910. At that time Dr. Weatherford was the Student Young Men's Christian Association Secretary for the South. He saw the great need for a place where students might be brought together for inspiration in Christian living and training in Christian leadership. Out of this need Blue Ridge emerged.

The Blue Ridge program appeals to the whole man. Brilliant speakers stir the intellect. Recreation in a wonderful atmosphere sets the physical man in tune. Students from many institutions are brought together in pleasant fellowship. Taken together, all these elements bring the students closer to God. These factors unite to serve the founder's purpose of inspiration and training in the Christian way of living.

MARY GOREY SECURES PLACE ON CINCINNATI ENQUIRER

Miss Mary Frances Gorey, of Paris, who will be graduated from the Arts and Sciences College this June, has accepted a position in the department of dramatic criticism on the Cincinnati Enquirer. She will assume her duties immediately after she has been graduated.

Miss Gorey has completed her work at the University in three years. She graduated from Nazareth Academy in 1920 with high honors and is now a prominent alumna member of that institution.

She has taken part in many organizations on the campus, being a member of Tusitalia and Philosophian literary societies, Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity, and a valued member of the Kernel staff in the capacity of Associate Editor.

SPEAKS TO EDUCATION CLUB

Doctor McVey spoke before the Education Club, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Education Building. In his talk he outlined the plan of the University, giving its history, its organization, and emphasizing its needs. He also pointed out how the University supplied the needs of college aspiring high school students, and made the statement that as many, if not more, students are graduating from the University this year than from all the colleges of Kentucky combined.

Your college training is in truth a capital. Its value is not fixed, but depends on the way you invest it.

Some men demand a quick return—a high percentage of profit. Others look more to the solidity of the investment.

The man of speculative mind may stake all on the lure of a high starting salary, without a thought to the company which gives it or where this may lead him in ten years. True, his opportunism may reap exceptional profit; or else a loss.

The man who knows that great things develop slowly will be content with six months' progress in six months' time—provided he is investing that time in a company which offers him a future.

You who are about to invest, satisfy yourself that the security you are getting is gilt-edged.

ON TO BLUE RIDGE

The annual Blue Ridge Conference will be held from June 16-27 at Blue Ridge, N. C. These conferences are held under the auspices of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. organizations, and thousands attend them each year. The service rendered by these bodies is much greater in proportion than the members enrolled.

It is the aim of these conferences to train college men and women for service and leadership in their communities after their graduation.

Many of the young men and women from the University and State will attend the conference, where they will come into contact with big men and big ideas and ideals. They will have broadened their vision and their field of service and will in themselves have been made more magnanimous by these associations.

Earl H. Smith, of the class of 1923, has just returned to Lexington after a year of successful play writing in New York City. His plays have been well received in New York for a young writer and while here he expects to revise some of his previously written plays and work on some new ones.

"The Favored of the Gods," one of his plays, has been declared by Louis Hallett, the central figure in the Little Theatre movement in America, to be a classic, and is to be submitted to the Little Theatres throughout the country as a possibility for presentation. "Colonel Benson," a Kentucky play, is being considered by the Shuberts as a production for Broadway.

PROMINENT LEADERS ON THE SUMMER PROGRAM

Approximately 1,000 Students Will Attend Sessions Beginning June 16

The summer school at the University of Kentucky this year will be bigger and better than ever, according to all indications. With such men as Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. Guy M. Whipple, Professor of Experimental Education of the University of Michigan, Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, Professor of Education of Columbia University and Dr. Ira A. Barth, Professor of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania, at the head of the instruction department, the students will be assured of some of the best instruction given in the United States.

It is estimated that over a thousand students from all over the country will attend the University of Kentucky summer session this year.

The various colleges of the University will be open for students and one may take courses heretofore not offered during previous summer sessions.

This session will consist of one term nine weeks in length and will begin June 16 and close August 15.

A number of trips have been planned for the students, among these being trips through the Blue Grass stock farms, to Natural Bridge, High Bridge, and "Ashland," the home of Henry Clay.

The attendance for 1923 was the largest in the history of the institution. The interest and enthusiasm manifested have led the University to plan a larger program for 1924. A greater variety and a greater number of both graduate and undergraduate courses are being offered in the 1924 summer session. Fees for entrance into the College of Law will be $40.00 and entrance into all other colleges will be $25.

It is predicted that all girls' and boys' dormitories will be filled by incoming students by the end of this semester.

Centre Takes Second Place With Georgetown in Third

When the University of Kentucky freshman track team captured the State title in a three-cornered meet between the first year aggregations of the University of Kentucky, Centre and Georgetown Colleges it marked the second State Championship that University of Kentucky track men have won for the institution this year. The Kentucky freshies scored 70 points to their closest competitor, Centre's 34. Georgetown came third in the meet with 30 points registered. GLEE CLUB OFFERS AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM ON ITS ANNUAL STATE TOUR

Lampert Perfects Organization Which Makes Hit With Kentuckians

APPEAR IN THREE CITIES

Morganfield, Madisonville and Dawson Springs Hear Collegians

The Men's Glee Club of the University returned to Lexington Saturday night from their annual concert tour of the state. An enthusiastic reception was given them at every town on the schedule. After each performance a dance was given for the club.

The club, consisting of twenty-five men, and under the directorship of Professor C. A. Lampert of the Department of Music, left Lexington early Wednesday morning. The club sang to a capacity audience in Morganfield Wednesday night. The concert was preceded by a banquet in honor of the Glee Club, given by alumni of the University.

Thursday night the Club appeared in Madisonville, featuring a banjo act by Frank Brown, whose home is in that city. The act received much comment and applause in every concert of the Glee Club.

The organization went to Dawson Springs the next morning, where, in the afternoon, it sang for the men in the Government Hospital near Dawson Springs. Friday night a concert was given in the Auditorium of that city.

The University Quartette was featured in all of these concerts and gave a splendid account of itself.

Much credit for the success of the trip is due to Professor Leland, treasurer of the Music Committee, and to Jim Baughman, business manager, who accompanied the Glee Club.

At Dawson Springs a business session was held, at which Joe Walter was elected to succeed Elbert DeCoursey as president of the Glee Club, and Dwight L. Bicknell was elected to succeed Robert Clem as vice president.

The following men form the personnel of the club: Robert Clem, Sam Adams, Eston Asher, H. S. Turner, Frank Brown, first tenors; Earl Heavrin, Powell Tichenor, David McIntyre, Dwight L. Bicknell, J. R. McClure, K. Hohman, second tenors; Elbert DeCoursey, J. W. McDonald, Benton Taylor, O. H. Lambert, S. R. Hill, Malcolm Henry, first bass; Paul Matthews, Joe Walter, Elmer Barker, Ed Goodson, Adrian Terrell, Forest Mercer, H. B. Moore, second bass.

WILDCATS RETURN FROM ANNUAL BASEBALL TOUR

Will Play Centre Nine Saturday at Danville; Here May 31

The Wildcat baseball team returned to Lexington Sunday after a trip through Tennessee during the week of May 11 to May 17. On the tour they lost four games and won one. One of the games with Maryville was rained out. Vanderbilt defeated the Cats twice. Maryville once and the Cats defeated the University of Tennessee in the second of two games between the respective nines.

The final game on the trip was lost to Vandy by the score of 7 to 2, in a contest featured by the opposing team's ability to make errors. No less than 11 being credited to both of them during the match.

Coach Barger is scheduled to take his Wildcats to Danville Saturday for the first of a two game series with the Centre College aggregation. The other will be played in Lexington May 31.

ENGINEERS HEAR L. F. HARZA, DESIGNER OF DIX RIVER DAM

Tells of the Requisites Necessary for Success

Mr. L. F. Harza, designing and consulting engineer of the Dix River dam, told the students of the College of Engineering that the success of a young engineer is only partly determined by his technical training, for besides this, he must have knowledge of human nature, business psychology, and Economics. He urged the development of character and personality by human contacts afforded through various college activities.

Dean Anderson introduced the speaker as a man who was "doing something for Kentucky more far-reaching in importance than any other man in making Kentucky the leading industrial state in the Union.

In speaking of the Dix River project Mr. Harza mentioned the driving of a diversion tunnel, the construction of two bridges, and the replacing of highway bridges over the river. One bridge will be 250 feet above the river bed.
