GREAT GERMAN DRIVE DESCRIBED BY ROYDEN

Map is Made by Engineers To Illustrate the Lectures

FIRST OF THE SERIES

The first of a series of War Education Assemblies arranged by the War Education Committee of the University for the study of the causes and progress of the world war, was given in chapel Monday morning, when Captain H. N. Royden addressed the students, faculty and a number of citizens of Lexington on the subject "Military Activities of the Fifth Major Campaign of the German Army."

Dr. Edward Tuthill, Professor of History, a member of the War Committee of the University, has been appointed chairman of the War Educational Committee which will have charge of the special exercises. Captain Royden will discuss the military aspects and tactics of the war on Mondays, and on Wednesdays and Thursdays, lectures will be given explaining the causes of the war.

A large map, 5x8, prepared by the students and faculty of the engineering college, has been made, showing France, the English coast and Belgium, with the principle cities and rivers of France, around which is centered the present great German drive. The farthest advance made by Germany when she crushed Belgium in her mad rush toward Paris in 1914 is shown by a large blue line. The line held by Germany at the beginning of 1918, before her fifth major campaign is in red, and between these lines, is another showing the place over which one million men have sacrificed their lives.

Captain Royden said that when German military leaders in the summer of 1914 planned to reach Paris by Christmas, they did not consider little Belgium with her army of valiant men, who stayed the beast for sixteen days, while France prepared. Nor did they think when they met the French at the Marne that they would be beaten by a band whom they outnumbered twenty to one.

The German leaders, resting after their great drive in 1916, planned their fifth campaign. The leaders of Germany told their armies that this drive would end the war with Germany world-powerful. Their object was to separate the English and French forces before aid from America reached the continent, capture the Channel ports and crush the British army.

On March 21, the great drive was begun. In close order, with her army arranged in three waves, a drive fifty miles in length pushed on to the sea between La Fere and Arras. The British and Portuguese, aided by the American forces and French reserves, held

WAR LECTURES WILL CONTINUE NEXT WEEK

The War Education Assemblies, held this week on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be continued next week, with similar subjects.

Monday, Captain Royden will continue his discussion of the German attack. Dr. Edward Tuthill will speak Wednesday on "Pan-Germanism." The "Attitude of the Greeks in the Great War," will be the theme of a lecture Thursday by Dr. Gianville Terrell, professor of Greek.

A lecture by Captain W. S. Webb, Camp Zachary Taylor, formerly an instructor in the Physics Department of the University, may be substituted for one of the speakers mentioned before.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES IS APPOINTED BY STANLEY

Number of Members Reduced After Recent Legislation

PROBE REPRESENTED

The appointment of a portion of the new board of trustees of the University, reduced to fifteen, by order of the recent legislature, was announced last week by Governor A. O. Stanley.

The new board follows:
From the State Board of Agriculture—James Rash, Henderson; H. H. Frohman, Ghent; J. M. Elliston, of Elliston.

From the Alumni—P. P. Johnston, Jr., Lexington; Irvine Lyle, New York.
From the State at large—R. C. Stoll, Lexington; R. C. Gordon, Louisville; R. P. Ernst, Covington; Rainey T. Wells, Murray; J. W. Turner, Paintsville.

According to the plan adopted by the legislature, three members of the board of trustees are ex-officio, the governor, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction. This leaves two members of the board yet to be appointed.

R. P. Ernst and Rainey T. Wells are the only new members of the board, the others having served under the old plan. Mat Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture, V. O. Gilbert, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Governor Stanley, are the three ex-officio members.

A meeting of organization for the new board has been called by the governor for May 8, at the University.

MISS SWEENEY IS ILL

Miss Mary E. Sweeney, who has been detained in Louisville on account of sickness, will return Friday morning to resume her work. Miss Sweeney went to Louisville for the K. E. A., and while there suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning. She has not entirely recovered, but will be able to resume her work next week.

STROLLERS SCORE ONCE AGAIN AT OPERA HOUSE

Substantial Sum Raised For University Red Cross

"PENNY-ANTE" IS HIT

A representative and enthusiastic audience greeted the skits and war pictures shown at the Opera House Wednesday night, under the auspices of the War Committee of the University. A substantial sum was cleared for the Junior Red Cross of the University and the National Surgical Dressing Association.

The skit, a scene in an American hospital in France, where a vaudeville troupe came to entertain the wounded soldiers, was put on with the usual Stroller "pep." Sam Morton was pompous and imposing as stage manager. Frederick Jackson and Charles Planck were good in their black face sketch, "In the Morning."

J. P. Barnes in his "Old Mother Hubbard" sermon captivated the audience. Fred Augsberg and Miss Norma Rachel, in "The Manicurist," proved themselves "song and dance artists" of professional ability. Gordon Marsh, Cecil Heze um and John Sherwood made the hit of the evening in an original sketch, featuring the love affairs of a fair Roman damsel, "Penny-ante." Dick Duncan concluded the program with a rendition in costume of the latest Hoover parody on "Little Orphan Annie."

Those taking the parts of nurses, internes and patients were: Misses Elizabeth Murphey, Marie Collins, Frieda Lemon, Isabelle Dickey, Milton Revill, Rollie Guthrie, Bob Mitchell, Grover Creech, Robert Raible.

The pictures, showing actual battle scenes, the work of the Red Cross in the trenches, behind the lines and in the hospitals, and some of the practical work of the National Surgical Dressing Association were unusually interesting.

University girls dressed in the nurses costumes, acted as ushers. Among them were: Misses Louise Turner, Louie Powell, Sarah Harblson, Kate Reddish, Mary Beall, Mildred Collins, Elizabeth Card.

CHAPIN TRANSFERRED TO WASHINGTON POST

A. S. Chapin, extension poultry husbandman at the station, has been transferred to the bureau of animal industry at Washington. Mr. Chapin reported in Washington Wednesday. His work will be in the war emergency poultry department.

Mr. Chapin and J. Holmes Martin, assistant in poultry work at the Experiment Station, were the originators of the colored egg work which attracted much attention thruout the country, recently.

FORMER STUDENT NOW HERALD CITY EDITOR

Mr. Roy C. Bennett, a student in the University in the College of Arts and Science in 1911-12, came this week from the Daily States in New Orleans, to succeed Maurice Bronaugh as city editor on the Lexington Herald.

Mr. Bennett took his sophomore work here, then went to the University of Missouri, where he was graduated. He received his first newspaper training in the Department of Journalism of that institution.

Mr. Bennett visited on the campus Tuesday morning, renewing old acquaintances. He was particularly interested in the growth of the Department of Journalism.

13 U. K. MEN NOW IN LINE FOR COMMISSIONS

Emery Frazier Stands Second of Four Hundred Candidates

GOOD SHOWING MADE

Thirteen graduates or former students of the University successfully completed the Third Officers' Training Camp of the National Army and have been recommended for commissions as second lieutenants in the Reserve army.

Emery Frazier, prominent Stroller, and major of the student battalion last year, stood second in the examination of four hundred candidates. All the former students of the University made a good showing. These men will be carried on the list of eligible officers, and commissioned when vacancies occur.

The names of the University men recommended follow: Homer E. Combest, Liberty, infantry; Henry C. Cox, West Liberty, infantry; Morrie J. Crutcher, Louisville, infantry; Emery J. Frazier, Lawrenceburg, infantry; John C. Fuss, Frankfort, infantry; Earl Mayhew, Barbourville, infantry; Rhey B. Parsons, Mayfield, infantry; Bart N. Peak, LaGrange, field artillery; Gracian M. Pedley, Owensboro, field artillery; Tom T. Richards, Morgantown, field artillery; Drew W. Stanrod, Cadiz, infantry; Robert W. Waterfill, Lawrenceburg, field artillery; Karl P. Zerfoss, Lexington field artillery.

MUTCHLER ELECTED

Dr. Fred Mutchler, head of the extension division of the College of Agriculture, was elected last week to the presidency of the Department of Agriculture of the Kentucky Educational Association at the annual meeting of the K. E. A.

J. M. Feltner, of London, the retiring president, was elected secretary without contest.

ARMORY BEING CHANGED INTO MODEL AUTO SHOP

Whipple Has Charge of All Buildings For The Soldiers

UNIV. TO BE READY

Two score or more workmen are now busily engaged in transforming Buell Armory into a model auto shop; the Floral Hall of the Fair Grounds into model soldiers' quarters; its betting-sheds into ideal kitchen, mess hall, recreation and Y. M. C. A. rooms for the 400 men of Tennessee who come next Tuesday for three months' technical training in the University.

Where once was heard the lilt of music and the fascinating strains of Smith's Quintet as it lured the enraptured dancers to the floor; when once was heard the one-two-one-two of the guide as a company wearily did its "bit," will now be heard the roar of machine, the siren call of the klaxon, and the grinding of brakes as the amateur mechanics try their skill on the engines dedicated to their use.

Where once was seen the prized handwork of the fair women of the Blue Grass, the luscious jars of homemade "jell" with cakes, and buns, and pies galore, eyed by countless men who fain would grab, will now be found orderly rows of army cots, each blanket turned to a nicety, each cover arranged by rule.

The place where once was heard the "pop" of the cork as the "dope" was tapped, or the whirl of the machine as the bet was paid, or the noise of the betters as the winner came in, will now be filled with large ranges, hotel style, full of steaming pots and pans, more sleeping quarters, tables for the "400," and Y. M. C. A. rooms, where may be found reading tables, checker boards, writing materials, books and magazines, music and song.

The University authorities are striving their utmost to receive the 400 from Tennessee in a most hospitable manner. The girls of the University have already made arrangements for various recreational features. Plans are underway to erect a Hostess House, where the soldiers' friends may be received. J. E. Johnson, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has obtained a Victrola with a full supply of records and a piano to furnish the "Y" room at the Fair Grounds.

A. O. Whipple, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds of the University, has charge of the quartering of these men and the erection of suitable shops for their proper instruction. He has arranged to divide the Armory into five compartments, each compartment complete with benches, tools, etc., for the thorough overhauling and re-erection of machines.

He has arranged for making the Floral Hall suitable for the barrack-ing of 240 men, and the remaining 160 will bunk in the betting sheds. These sheds have been overhauled, canvas drops have been erected, shower baths installed, kitchen and dining room equip for the feeding of the men and Y. M. C. A. rooms set apart.

With the arrival of the six army officers from Camp Sherman, probably the last of the week and the training of the battalion in guard duty this week, it is believed by Captain Royden that the University will be ready in every respect to receive her visitors.

TUTHILL SPEAKS AT SECOND WAR CHAPEL

Doctor James E. Tuthill spoke on the "History of Prussianism," at the second "war chapel," which was held Wednesday morning.

Starting with Prussianism in its incipiency, he traced its development and enlargement from the time when the Hohenzollerns first ascended the throne as "king," at the permission of Hapsburgs, to the present time when they in turn are dominating the Hapsburgs.

Doctor Tuthill mentioned the time when the Hohenzollerns were near a break with Russia, which at that time would have practically ended in their annihilation and the disappearance of Germany from the face of the map. They were unluckily (for us) saved by the death of the Czar of Russia at that time, and the ascension to the throne of a man who was friendly to the Germans.

"The 'Imperial German Empire started," Dr. Tuthill said, "with a small principality which was enlarged gradually as the occasion presented itself, chiefly thru marriages and stealing from neighbors and friends when they were unprotected. The Hapsburgs themselves who had originally allowed it being suffered from them also.

BATTALION TAKES UP ACTIVE GUARD DUTY

With the guard mounting of Company A. Headley Shouse, Captain, at 3:30 p. m. yesterday afternoon, the battalion of the University actively began its fundamental training in Interior Guard Duty as required by the United States Manual, and will continue for ten days, thereby giving each company forty-eight hours' experience in "guard duty.

Friday afternoon, the first formal guard mount will be done by Company C, preceded by a dress parade, participated in by the five companies.

Major Ellis announces that drill will be held daily, except Sunday, for all five companies at 3:30 p. m., followed immediately by the guard mount of the company on duty. No drill will be held Sunday.

Field exercises were held yesterday immediately followed by the guard mount of Company A.

McVEY AND STANLEY GUESTS OF ALUMNI

The New York alumni of the University entertained with an alumni dinner in New York Saturday night, April 27, at which Governor A. O. Stanley and President Frank L. McVey were the guests of honor.

The New York branch of the University of Kentucky Alumni is enlarging its membership as University graduates continue to gain prominence in industrial and business circles of the East.

CALL FOR MAGAZINES FOR SOLDIER GUESTS

Current Magazines May Be Left At University Postoffice

LONG LIST IS NAMED

The University Red Cross, the battalion, the faculty are doing their "bit" for the University's soldier guests who will arrive next week. An opportunity is now offered thru the Library to all connected with the University, its friends, and any disinterested person wanting to do an unselfish, patriotic act to lend a hand.

Current popular magazines are wanted by the University Library for the University soldiers' library at the Fair Grounds. The magazines most needed are:

American Magazine, Literary Digest, Collier's Weekly, McClure's, Current History, Munsey's, Everybody's, National Geographic, Leslie's, Saturday Evening Post, Life, World's Work.

"The Burleson mail," (named for the Postmaster General), is the periodical material that is sent to the camp libraries by placing a one-cent stamp on the cover and dropping it in a mail box. The University librarian desires to divert to the use of the soldiers here some of the Burleson mail. This may be done by professors and students thru the University postoffice, without even the one-cent stamp, by marking magazines "U. of K. Camp Library," and handing them to Miss Bean in the University post-office.

Miss King asks that each person call the library, 2117-X and let her know at once what magazines he will pass on to the soldiers in that way. Old magazines are not wanted. Weeklies from this week on and the May monthlies are in demand. Miss King would like to know beforehand how many are going to be sent to them regularly during the next eight weeks.

It is desired to have current magazines on hand when the soldiers arrive on Tuesday, May 7, so everyone is particularly urged to send in some recent periodicals by Monday, May 6.

JIM PARK TO PITCH FOR COLUMBUS TEAM

"Jim" Park, coach of the Wildcat baseball team has left this week to join the pitching staff of the Columbus team of the American Association.

Park has been on the campus for a number of years and is one of the most popular men ever in the University. This year when he returned after a year's absence, to coach the Kentuckians, he received a hearty welcome. He has succeeded in making a team of which he need not be ashamed and the only regret is that he cannot stay here and see the outcome of the season. He leaves the campus a friend of every student and a favorite of the faculty.

Park has enlisted in the aviation section of the army and will go into training at the aviation training camp, in Columbus, Ohio, sometime in June. Until then he will pitch for the Columbus team. Last year he made good on the staff of the St. Louis Browns. It was in the nature of a sacrifice when he came to Kentucky to put baseball on the University map, and his work is heartily appreciated. The foundations he has laid will make it easier for his successor to coach a winning team.

THREE TEAMS TIE IN INTRA-MURAL GAMES

The Intra-Mural League continues to gain popularity, and to disclose hitherto unsuspected talent.

The Ags defeated the Engineers 14 to 7 last Thursday. The Ags have been saying that as soon as their team was present in its proper place and make-up, they would surprise some of the other colleges in the race for the pennant and they point with pride to this victory. By this game the schedule was advanced one week. The lawyers and Signal Corps were scheduled to play the Ags and Engineers, but neither of the former appeared in sufficient strength to play, so their opponents were pitted against each other.

The batteries were: Ags, Bird and Chambers; Engineers, Chambers and Heber.

In Monday's game the Lawyers defeated the A B's, 13 to 5. The batteries were: Lawyers, Royster and Green; A. B.'s Barte and Walker. The feature of the game was a home run by Walker. His teammates insist that he sat down for a while on homeplate after his round trip to watch the ball fall.

The position of the teams at present follows: Ags, Engineers and Lawyers tied for first place. The Signal Corps and A. B.'s are both holding a percentage of .000. The games are played every Monday and Thursday afternoon. The Ags, Engineers, Lawyers have each won two games and lost one, the A. B.'s have lost three and the Signal Corps played none.

The Lawyers and Engineers play this afternoon.

The following are on subjects connected with women's work in the war: Franks, Household Organization for War Service; Fraser, Women and War Work; Kellog, The Food Problem.

"MICE AND MEN" TO GO ON ROAD MAY 10

The Strollers will leave Friday afternoon, May 10, to present "Mice and Men" at the Capitol Theater in Frankfort.

This is the first trip of the year and the amateurs are anxious to learn the ropes of the "road" if their moderate journeyings may be dignified by such a name. The business manager is in communication with theater managers of several other surrounding towns trying to arrange another performance. Under the rules laid down by President McVey only two trips may be made by the cast, and it is anxious to play in places where the production will be best received and where it may present the University's product to the best advantage.

Friday morning the cast will present a short vaudeville show in the chapel of the Frankfort High School to advertise the play.

CATS MEET GEORGETOWN WITH 5 TO 1 VICTORY

Ninth Inning Rally Gives a Safe Margin to Wildcats

LASLEY IN THE BOX

Two sidewheelers had a lovely little battle in Georgetown when the Wildcats defeated the team of Georgetown College Tuesday, with a score of 5 to 1.

Lasley, who has been the particular object of the weather man's assaults, was at last able to start and acquitted himself nobly. He marked a zero in the Georgetown column until the last inning when Sullivan, the enemy's pitcher, came in to save his team from a whitewash. The Wildcats were working hard all the time to put their score beyond their opponents' reach and finally started in the last inning to accomplish their purpose. Their sum totaled five before they stop.

Altho the Kentuckians hit Sullivan ten times, they were never in much danger of running over him. Lasley was in the game at all times, holding the Tigers to three hits. Altogether the game was an interesting and pleasing one to the Wildcats. At one time the Georgetown men filled the bases and put a few chills of anxiety in the spines of the Wildcats, but their cleanup man had left his broom at home and fanned.

The line-up and summaries follow:

INTERESTING UNION PROGRAM

The Union Literary Society held its regular meeting at its hall in the Gym Building at 7:15 Saturday. The following program was announced for Saturday, May 4. J. P. Barnes will conduct the devotional exercises. Leon Wise is to give a reading. John Duncan will talk on "The Little Things of Importance." Harry K. Smith will give a discussion of the current events of the week. E. E. Hardin is down for a talk on "Ways a Lawyer Serves His Country." President J. W. Lindsey will be in charge of the meeting.

ENGINEERING

A. W. Davies of the class of '17, who is in the employ of Henry L. Dougherty Company, of Toledo, Ohio, was a visitor at Mechanical Hall during the week. Mr. Davies is now on boiler plant construction work and reports that he is enjoying it very much.

James H. Hedges, Jr., of the present senior class left for Camp Logan Naval Rifle Range, Great Lakes, Illinois, Thursday. While in college "Jimnie" made many friends. In football he was one of the swiftest ends in the South. Notwithstanding his size, he made many an opponent on the gridiron bite the dust.

Hall M. Henry, senior of this year's class, left for Camp Lee, Petersburg, Virginia, to enter the Officers' Training Corps.

Minott Brooke, class of 1915, and W. S. Moore, class of 1917, College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, were visitors at the University last week, having recently returned from a trip to France. They have been employed as junior engineers by the Merchant Marine since September, 1917, when they sailed for Russia.

They have made two trips to Europe, consider the experience they have gained very valuable, but have never seen "hide nor hair" of an enemy submarine. They will return to the coast in about two weeks when they will again sail for some unknown port.

DR. TIGERT ADDRESSES STUDENTS IN ASSEMBLY

Second of Daily Talks Very Popular With Battalion

"SAY TO THE KAISER"

Dr. J. J. Tigert made the chapel address Tuesday morning, taking for his subject "Christ and the Antichrist." The Scripture reading was a passage from the Book of Daniel, concerning the dream of Nebuchadnezzar and Daniel's interpretation of it.

In speaking of the empires of gold, brass, silver and iron, Dr. Tigert said that the empire of iron is still with us that this is a conflict of the cross of iron and the 'Cross of Calvary,' as the Kaiser has chosen the cross of iron for the symbol of the world empire he is trying to establish. He differed with many historians in his interpretation of the iron-clay empire of the dream, saying that the only empire which might be called one of clay was Russia.

Dr. Tigert said that the world-old conflict between militarism and Christianity began with the coming of Christ, since until that time the individual had had no rights.

The sermon on the Mount he called the Magna Charta of Christianity, the beginning of political democracy, which, the Kaiser says, cannot exist.

In the light of recent events, Dr. Tigert sees Pontius Pilate as the representative of militarism and autocracy in the old world, the crime of revolt against autocracy being the only one which the Roman judge could find against the Christ. It was militarism, he said, that spat in the face of the Lord, that gambled for his robes, that crucified Him, and thrust the spear into his side.

In closing his remarks, which, he said, were largely inspired by a sermon he had recently heard, Dr. Tigert said:

"The time has come for us to do our all in this conflict, which represents the final conflict, in the arena, which will determine whether the principle of love or the principle of force will dominate. Let us say to the Kaiser, 'Thou shalt not press down the crown of thorns upon the brow of liberty; thou shalt not crucify mankind upon a cross of iron.'" that line, and again Germany's plans were thwarted. A second attempt was begun around Ypres and a smaller nose wedged, but again the line of human flesh held against the onslaught.

GREAT GERMAN DRIVE

According to Captain Royden, Germany now will rest to clothe, equip and provide food for her army, a task inconceivable in magnitude. Germany gained fifty miles of her objective, but she now occupies only devastated country, with no fertile land, no housing facilities. With an army ill-clad and without shelter, she is now preparing to drive a third nose in the line between Arras and Ypres. She cannot do this. Her second attempt proved more futile than her first and her third will also fail, and Germany must again retire for reorganization.

Captain Royden clearly and vividly, explained the fifth great campaign and with the aid of the map, will be able to continue the work to the great interest of the students.

GREHAN IS CHANGED TO HOSPITAL SERVICE

Robert Grehan, former student in the University, who is now in the service, stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor, is one of the few men in the country engaged in the army hospitals making pen sketches of different kinds of wounds.

This is a very difficult work, and requires exceptional skill and talent in the person attempting it. Grehan entered the service last fall. He was made a sergeant, and served in that capacity for a time, then was transferred to the hospital work.

According to recent information, received by his uncle, Professor Enoch Grehan, head of the Department of Journalism, young Grehan will probably be changed to Barrow Hospital Unit 40, with a prospect of immediate over-sea service.

UNIVERSITY'S HOUR OF SACRIFICE.

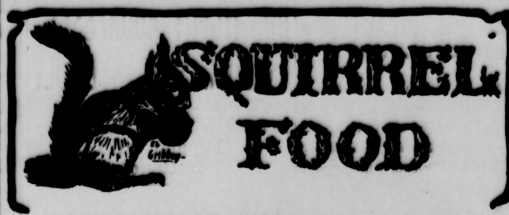

A war, the tales of whose cruelty congeal alike the blood of the brave and the timid, is now being waged in its highest stage of frightfulness in the shellholes and pits of what was once known as "fair France." Altho it would give The Kernel the greatest editorial satisfaction to blast the Kaiser verbally, we shall forbear, for the University has already caused him more trouble, added more to his woe, than have the curses of all the world.

The University of Kentucky has offered men rather than hate to the war god—clean, clear-eyed, manly men. It is represented in every branch of the service, on land, on the sea and in the air. Graduates and former students of the University are now serving as privates, non-commissioned and commissioned officers in the great struggle. Word was received here very recently that thirteen former students of the University are eligible for commissions in the army, after having been graduated from the Third Officers' Training Camp; only two weeks ago The Kernel contained news of the death of a former student of the University who was killed in action, in France.

University cadets are now experiencing the more practical phases of training for war, the discipline of the camp. Each company of the battalion will spend forty-eight hours at the Fayette County fair grounds on guard duty. The Kernel is not acquainted with the duties they will be called upon to perform there, but is very strong in the belief that what they are to do, in addition to what they have already done this year, will be experience invaluable to them when they enter the service, as many of them are certain to do.

That training in a battalion of university cadets will gain the participants rapid promotion in rank upon enlisting or being called into the service, has been proved at National Army cantonments and at Officers' Training Camps. University men trained in infantry drill have been surprisingly successful in obtaining commissions. The Kernel believes that the men who will represent the University at the fourth camp will be no less successful.

The Kernel is inspired by the patriotism of University of Kentucky men. It feels that no university in the country is more patriotic than this one is, and that proportionately, no university has done more to aid America in the war than our own. It therefore desires to congratulate the University and the student body upon their patriotism, also to approve the viewpoint that the student body, collectively and individually, has maintained toward the war, and to hope that it shall not be deterred from the spirit with which it has been constantly obsessed—the spirit of sacrifice even unto death.

THACKERY NOT A CYNIC IS FARQUHAR'S BELIEF

Various Conceptions of Humor is Discusst By Professor

TALK IS INTERESTING

Professor E. F. Farquhar, in his talk on Thackery last Thursday afternoon, showed the evolution of humor and wit thru the nineteenth century, and how Thackery should be considered a humorist of the first order rather than a cynic, as he is usually classed.

He does not even approach irony, according to Professor Farquhar, the many think that he does. This current opinion results from the fact that many people think that Thackery is "hitting" them in his books. As he pictures all classics and all human attributes, he, of course, reaches many traits and personalities which his readers see in themselves. He is ironical in his children's stories many times.

"Humor should reach the intellect to be fully appreciated," said Professor Farquhar, "for when it appeals to either the conscience or feelings, it is said to be cynical and ironical. Therefore it is the responsibility of the reader as much as of the writer to see pure humor in a book."

Professor Farquhar told of the conceptions of humor as held by Swift, Addison, Johnson, etc., and how the word itself was used thruout these days and the fun Shakespeare made of it. He traced the history of the word and its significance from the time of the early Greeks down to Elizabethan and even later times.

The talk was one of the best given in the series under the auspices of the English Department of the University and showed a great insight into human feeling and thought and breadth of appreciation.

PARTY FOR STUDENTS

The Mispah Christian Endeavor Society gave a social Thursday night especially for University students. It was an "Over There" social and as many patriotic ideas as possible will be worked out. Every cadet and student was invited. The social was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms of Morrison Chapel on the Transylvania campus, where the Broadway Christian church is now meeting.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS TO TAKE TRIP

The Y. M. C. A. held its last meeting of the year Sunday night. It was a kind of a "get-together" affair. Plans were discusst for next year, the budget to be raised was announced, and the trip to Camp Daniel Boone which the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet will take Saturday, was discussed. About twenty boys will leave Lexington at 7 a. m. in machines furnished by different members of the faculty. They will return Saturday night.

VARIETY FEATURES OF PROGRAM

The Union Literary Society opened its program Saturday evening with devotional exercises led by E. E. Rice. A talk on current events by E. C. Stevens followed. Bryan Hall rendered "Smiles and Kisses," on his violin. L. F. Bischof brought the society to earth again with a humorous discussion of the "Wala Wala Bird." A poem read by Robert Mitchell, concluded the program.

MRS. TURNER LIKES WORK WITH UNIT 40

Mrs. Nell H. Turner, formerly private secretary to Dean F. Paul Anderson, chum of the whole Mechanical Department, and now a volunteer in military service, writes from Base Hospital Number 40, Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, where she is located in the Record Office doing clerical work, that the life is ideal, her associates lovely and work to her liking.

The first person Mrs. Turner met when she entered her new duties was "Skinney" Lane, a popular graduate of the class of 1913, in the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. She says that John Marsh, well-known graduate of the University of the class of 1916, is in the same office with her and will probably be placed in charge when they arrive "over there."

LITERARY SOCIETIES ENJOY LIVELY PARTY

Debaters, Oratory and Serenade Entertain the Guests

GIVEN AT PATT HALL

A joint meeting of the literary societies of the University was held in Patterson Hall Friday night, April 26. After the program those present were entertained with games and dancing. Refreshments were served later.

Due to the fact that many of the members of the societies were attending the K. E. A., the program of the evening was mainly extemporary. The first number was a debate, "Resolved, That chickens can roost better on round poles than on square ones." J. W. Holland, of the Patterson Society, upheld the affirmative and impressed the audience with the great magnitude of the question, by going back to the time of the first man in the garden of Eden to prove his point.

Not at all abashed by the eloquence of his opponent, E. E. Reisz, of the Union Society stoutly defended the square pole theory, quoting as his authority old Uncle Pete, an unbleached American of his boyhood acquaintance. The arguments were so convincing on both sides, that Miss Frieda Lemon, who presided at the meeting, refused to have the decision of the judges rendered, lest a riot result.

The debate was followed by a sermon by "Brother" Lena Clem on the subject of "Apples."

No meeting of literary geniuses being complete without a burst of eloquence from the throat of gifted Bob Mitchell, he spoke next on "The Wallawalla bird." Before he could finish, however, the strains of "The Long Long Trail," sung by the bass chorus of Patterson Hall floated up from the annex and forced the speaker to silence, while his audience sat enraptured by the burst of melody from the deep-voiced serenaders.

After the program a parlor track meet was conducted by Mrs. Fred O. Mayes in which the contestants vied with each other in pushing beans across the floor, untying knots and eating string. When the prizes had been awarded, the floor was cleared and the rest of the evening was devoted to dancing.

MISS CRANE REVIEWS "BEST SELLER" AT "Y"

Miss Crane, Director of Patterson Hall, gave an interesting talk at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening at its regular weekly service. Miss Crane reviewed the book, "Mary Slessor of Calabar," the missionary story by Livingston and one of the "best sellers" last year. The book gives a wierd and striking picture of Africa and tells of the unnatural and abnormal customs of the times and place.

"It is quite out of the ordinary," said Miss Crane, "that this book a missionary book should have been among the ten best sellers of last year. It is seldom that a religious book does gain this honor. Sometimes we get one by Ralph Conner, but never a pure missionary story without the novel form."
