

Phone Need In Men's Dorms Is Problem To Be Remedied

An attempt to do something about the lack of telephones in the men's residence halls will finally get under way next week with the appointment of a committee by the Student Government Association. Although something definitely must be done about the problem, the correct solution is not readily seen.

Only four telephones are available for the approximately 550 boys living in the dorms, and these are pay phones. Students desiring to use a phone at a busy time, such as at night, must wait in line for several minutes, and then must wait for the line to clear. If a boy is trying to call a girl living in one of the women's dormitories, he has to put a nickel in the telephone to get the University operator. If his line is busy, as is true in most cases, he loses his nickel. He has to get out of line, get another nickel, and wait again. Before he finally gets a girl, a boy may have to spend an hour waiting and a quarter for the phone.

When a boy living in the dorms is called, the call comes through a desk clerk in Bowman Hall. The clerk takes down the number and goes glissing all over the dorms to find the student. The boy has to call his number back over the pay phone, which presents the same two problems of waiting and money. If a call is urgent, that's just too bad. The desk closes at 11 p.m., thus making it impossible to call anyone in the halls after that time, except through the director's office. Two of the pay phones are also made unavailable at this time.

Although Scott Street Barracks was not mentioned by SGA as being included in their investigation, we feel it is as much a problem there as in the dorms. The barracks, which houses about 340 students, has only one pay phone for use. How-over, the barracks, which has a public address system, has a better method of contacting students than do the dorms. But students deeply concentrating on studies are often disturbed by a loud blast on the speaker.

George Lawson, president of SGA, said he doubted the University would do anything about the phone shortage at the barracks, since the buildings are only temporary structures. But since it seems the barracks are being used more than just temporarily, additional phones should be placed there too.

Dr. Bennett H. Wall, director of the men's dorm, pointed out that if non-pay phones are put into the dorms, the students' rent will have to be increased. This would be unfair to the majority of students, he said, because only about a third of the boys in the dorms receive many phone calls. He suggested the best possibility would be to run two or three trunk lines into a switchboard in the dorms. Since the buildings are already wired, phones can be placed throughout the halls connected to the switchboard.

This suggestion appears valid to us and may be workable. Since the buildings are wired for a telephone system, the costs of installation should not be too expensive and should be paid by the University. After all, the dorms should be furnished with communication facilities.

The telephone problem will not be solved overnight by SGA or the Administration. But the investigation must not be stopped until an adequate solution is found and communications is made possible between the boys in the dorms and the outside world.

UK Intramurals Is Benefited By NCAA Suspension Ruling

UK's loss of right to compete in intercollegiate basketball competition this year as a result of the NCAA ruling is a definite gain to the campus intramural program and to organizations entering teams in the various leagues.

Teams of poor caliber in the past have appeared to lose interest in the participation. It becomes a grind to keep going out on the floor to meet another team which everyone knows will outclass the poorer team.

The question arises, why are teams who have the material constantly put in the class of the latter. Naturally, some teams have more material to work with, but it is the team that should win once in a while but doesn't that has worried intramural directors.

As a result of the NCAA ruling, Coach Adolph Rupp and his squad have more time to work with the intramural teams. Use of the Coliseum for intramural games will allow a speed up in league schedule. This should end an age-old argument between the Administration and the Physical Education Department as to the amount of time wasted that could be put to studying to raise the scholastic level of fraternities.

Coach Rupp has bent over backwards to lend a helping hand to the teams in teaching fundamentals and various techniques which the varsity players are receiving. Conditioning is one of the major problems faced by most teams in the leagues each year, according to Rupp. He feels each squad should have at least six practice periods before its first game. These practice periods should be used to their greatest value. That means fundamentals, shooting, and conditioning.

It cannot be expected for intramural teams to keep the rigid training schedule required of the varsity here or at other schools. So the team with the most conditioning is the one which will win all games.

Intramural basketball is being emphasized at UK this year probably more than at any other major college in the nation. Students should attempt to take full advantage of the opportunities offered by these clinics. If this plan works out this year, it should be continued in future years, even without the full efforts of Rupp and the basketball squad.

SGA Lacks Support Of Student Body

In a letter to the editor last week, it was suggested that SGA be disbanded and the system of class officers be reinstated. We do not feel this is the correct solution to a stronger student government.

Although it is admitted that SGA has been unable to accomplish everything desired by the students, this form of student government stands a better chance of succeeding than the class officers system. SGA represents the entire student body. Class officers would represent only one class.

Until 1938 each class elected its own officers and delegates to a student council, which was the student governing body. This system did not prove very effective, and the present form of student government was organized.

We believe the main reason why SGA is not as strong as it can be is because the majority of students have an adverse opinion towards the organization and does not support it. Each student enrolled at UK automatically becomes a member of SGA. The Assembly welcomes students to attend its meetings and give their opinions, but students seldom do so.

Members of SGA would like to make several changes on the campus just as much as students, because they too are students. But they are often unable to back the Administration and the local officials. This is the time that the whole student body's support is needed. Students should back SGA in their undertakings and voice their opinions in the Kernel and through SGA.

If the University has a weak form of student government, it is entirely not the fault of the Student Government Association, it is the students.

Is there a solution?

"You mean bottled television. Ten bottles and he sees pink elephants in a wrestling match. Six clubs."

"Have you heard? We're going to get a new house next year. Won't that be splendid? Six diamonds."

"I'm so glad to hear that. I've been so afraid that the old barn you have now might cave in on you someday soon. Six hearts."

"What do you mean—might cave in. It's the only fraternity house on the campus that has a swimming pool in the basement that you can dive into from the third floor. Six spades."

The Frying Pan Professors Are Weird Creatures Concerning Tests

By KATHY FRYER

Some professors don't give tests, some don't grade the ones they give, but the majority who do both turn into weird creatures on the day they give them back.

The most pitiful is the Grim Reaper. He looks as sad as a jilted bride as he moans, "How could you do this to me after I've tried so hard to teach you the material?"

Your tears start flowing as hard as his when you see the grade he gave you.

The Naughty Boy thinks it's all a joke.

"Look what I put over on you," he grins puckishly. "You didn't think I'd ask a question about the footnotes, did you?"

His mental huffout was annoying enough, but the guy who makes you wish that murder were legal is his first cousin, the Fiend.

"Hee, hee, hee," he cackles as he closes the squeaking classroom door, "if any of you pass, I'll be a miracle. You ought to see the papers this time."

He goes over the test question by question.

"This is the way it should be done, but not many of you knew it," he confides diabolically, "Guess I'll be seeing most of you next semester."

If it weren't for two hour classes the campus would be as dead on Tuesday and Thursday as it is on Saturday.

You should never overlook the backbone of college life, clubs and club meetings. There's one for every student and a few more besides.

You can listen to panels and faculty speakers, elect officers, nibble cookies and have something to put on the dotted line after activities" on your yellow registration card.

If you didn't know what quarantine I meant in the "Things UK Couldn't Do Without" paragraph, just walk in the dispensary. If you're not the mailman or the garbage collector, they'll stick a thermometer under your tongue and send you back for your pajamas if your temperature is much over 98.6. Not a bad precaution, but it doesn't take into consideration a possible fever due to a pretty nurse.

For cleaning suede shoes, try vinegar. Let it dry and brush hard. It works!

It's the last week before finals. The seating arrangements, textbooks, and, if you're a lower classman, the students and professors that were so strangely new in September are old stuff now. . . . you're used to seeing the same people as you cross campus between certain classes every other day. . . . unfinished term papers get terrifyingly closer. . . . the library vies with the grill for popularity. . . . and by now you know all the gruesome details of the exam schedule as it affects you.

Close to 10,000 students are expected by 1960, the registrar says. Should get enough to fill the audience for Blazer Lectures then.

Our Readers Speak: Concerning Egypt, SGA

Dear Editor: I wish to comment on an article published in your newspaper on Dec. 12, 1952, under the heading of "Syria's Think of U.S. As Portrayed in Films." In this article it was mentioned that Dr. Gifford Blyton, associate professor of speech and director of forensics, who is temporarily directing a special Department of State project in Damascus, Syria, said in a letter to the University, "We loved Damascus from the beginning. It is such a pleasant contrast to the dirt of Egypt."

This statement, "the dirt of Egypt," is very ambiguous, and I wish Dr. Blyton would have explained specifically what it means. I doubt that having an unpleasant experience with a camel driver in Egypt led Dr. Blyton to make such an unscientific generalization. In the article it was stated that Dr. Blyton and his family spent a short time in Egypt while en route to Damascus. I would like to know which parts of Egypt Dr. Blyton was able to visit, in his short stay, that gave him the impression "the dirt of Egypt."

I would like to apologize to Dr. Blyton for the unpleasant experience he had in Egypt and wish to state that my unpleasant experience with porters in an airdrome in New York did not induce me to make generalizations regarding the U.S.

I hope you will publish this letter because I believe Dr. Blyton has misrepresented actual conditions in Egypt by making an unwarranted generalization.

We, the students, would like to be there, as spectators, to know what is going on and what decisions, for or against us, are being made. ## SGA Meetings Questioned

Dear Editor: As far as my knowledge is concerned, the meetings of the Student Government Association are supposed to be open to the student body. If this is true, why aren't the proper accommodations made? Are they trying to hide something? The meetings are held in Room 128 of the Student Union, which isn't even large enough to hold the Assembly members. No one ever knows where or when the meetings are held.

SGA meets the first and third Mondays of each month at 7 p.m. As for a larger room, we'll see about that, but don't forget to come to the meetings.—Editor.

"Whoever told the guy he was a prof. He just doesn't know how to teach the stuff. Everyone hates him. Every time he tries to explain something, he digresses so much that no one can understand what he's talking about. He ought to go back to the farm."

"Yeah, he flunked me, too."

Hagan, Ramsey Lead Squads In Intra-squad Game Monday

It will be Hagan vs. Ramsey when the teams captained by these two All-Americans meet Monday night in the second game of a Memorial Coliseum basketball doubleheader. This will be the second intra-squad game of the season for the charges of Coach Adolph Rupp, who are unable to participate in a regular schedule this season because of suspension from the NCAA.

Two evenly matched teams have been selected by Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey to meet each other in what should be a very exciting contest. The meeting of these two great UK players on opposite teams will be reminiscent of earlier high school struggles when Hagan was playing for Owensboro Senior High and Ramsey was pacing the Madisonville High quintet. Each player has selected seven other players to form eight-man squads from the top sixteen players on this year's varsity squad.

The remaining members of this year's squad will tangle in a preliminary game starting at 7 p.m. There will be six players on each of these two squads, who meet in the first game.

Coach Rupp decided to have Ramsey and Hagan choose teams in order to give the fans a closer contest. In the first intra-squad game of the season he pitted the Freshmen against the Varsity and although it was an interesting con-

UK Swimmers Open Season Today With Miami Of Ohio

By Quentin Allen

Coach Algie Reece's swimming proteges meet their first 1953 competition when they battle Miami, Ohio, today, 6:30 p.m. and Eastern tomorrow, 8:30 p.m. at the Memorial Coliseum.

Admission to the two meets will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students. I-D cards will admit University students.

Coach Reece described his swimming team as one of the largest and best squads ever on hand. However, he added later that one of the defects of the squad was its lack of depth. He commented that the team needed another sprinter and a breast stroke man to round out the squad.

Backstroke George King, sophomore from Louisville, is being counted on heavily in coming contests. King, a transfer from Transylvania College, has become eligible this year. Diver Lou Karibo, who performs on both the high and low board, is expected to net his share of wins. Coach Reece is counting on Roger Messick, former prep school free style all-state in Va., in prep school SEC, and All-American freestyler. Messick enrolled in school as a rider but football Coach Jerry Claiborne persuaded Messick to switch to swimming.

The roster of the team: John Burke, sprinter and diver; Dickie Deane, 220 and 440 yd. dash; Kenneth Glass, sprinter, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Lou Karibo, diver, high and low board; George King, back stroke; Bruce Kunkel, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Gene Lewis, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Dave Linkous, breast stroke; Graham McCauley.

Price Named Track Captain

Sports Sidelights

By TOM EASTERLING

Dwight "Speedie" Price has been elected captain of the 1952 track squad to succeed Jay Wallace.

Price led the UK cross country squad this year to a very successful season. The team finished second in the Southeastern Conference meet, second in the Shamrock Run in Louisville, second in a triangular meet with DePaul and Butler, a win in a triangular meet with Berea and Morehead, and one sweet victory over Tennessee in a dual meet.

Price began his career at UK on Coach Rupp's basketball squad but changed to the cinder paths. He ran second in the SEC meet last spring in the mile run.

Speedie was all state in basketball in 1946, playing for University High. In 1948, he won the State Mile Championship and in 1949, he repeated that feat and added the half mile crown.

He is one of Coach Stenton's seniors this spring and will be counted on heavily to supply punch expected to be lacking in the dash events.

Officer: "Is this the first night you ever slept in a tent?"
Rookie: "I don't know yet, sir."

Three Promising Frosh Bolster Cage Roster

Linville Puckett—Puckett is a 6 ft., 165 lb., 19 year old guard from Winchester. He is well known throughout the state for the outstanding ability he showed as a member of Coach Letcher Norton's Clark County Cardinals. He played on the Clark County varsity five years (counting one year played while he was in the eighth grade).

Puckett was one of the chief factors in Clark County's winning of the State Championship in 1951. He was selected on the All-State Tournament team and the Courier-Journal All-State team three times, and was selected on the All-District team four times. He is majoring in agriculture here.

Dick Richards is a 6-5, 205 lb., 18 year old, center-forward from Frankfort. He played high school basketball for Coach J.

Track Squad Begins Prep

Spring has arrived early on the UK campus for Coach Don Stenton's track squad.

Most of the distance men are taking full advantage of the semi-spring weather in preparation for two meets coming up in the next two and one-half months.

Tentatively, six members of the squad are planning to travel to Panama City, Florida, for the mid-semester vacation to complete training for the Michigan State Relays to be held in East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 14. This trip will be strictly on their own.

The boys making the excursion are Ray Jones, Jay Wallace, Dwight "Speedie" Price, Frank Scott, Charlie Wells and Doug Adamson. The latter two are only tentatively planning to go.

Following the Michigan State meet will be the annual Southern Conference Indoor Relays. This is the meet in which Wallace won the 880 yard run last year and Price finished third in the mile run against stiff competition.

Coach Stenton asks that any boys interested in track this year, see him in his office in the Physical Education department.

Fourteen Qualifiers In Freethrow Finals

Intramural free throw competition got under way Monday night as 103 participants out of over 200 entries competed. Fourteen qualified with eighteen or better out of twenty-five.

Ches Riddle (SAE) and Ted Phillips (AGB) led all qualifiers with 23 each. Other qualifiers included: Jim McCabe (SN) 22; Hayes Crowley (Ind.) 21; E. T. Koch (AGR) 21; "Speedy" Rose (PDT) 20; and Jim Taylor (SAE), W. Coleman (SAE), John Dickson (ES), Warren Knight (AGR), Bill Boggs (SX), Jim Sandidge (PEA), George Stone (KA); all with nineteen successes out of twenty-five.

Each participant was allowed to shoot until he made one and then finish his twenty-five from that point. One entry shot for fifteen minutes with no success and decided to give up. All in all over 200 shots were taken at the basket Monday night.

The finals were last night in Alumni Gym. Qualifying scores were added to the scores made last night and the one making the highest total score was declared the winner.

10th REUNION CLASS OF '53

MEET YOURSELF—10 YEARS FROM NOW

Ever wonder what you'll be like when the class of '53 holds its 10th reunion? If you started to work for one of the Bell System telephone companies after graduation, here's a pretty good idea.

POSITION IN THE WORLD: On the way up! A Commercial Manager, the company's representative and spokesman to as many as fifty thousand customers, A Transmission Engineer, helping to provide the telephone needs of an entire state. A Supervisor in the Traffic Department, responsible for the speed and quality of local and long distance service in several cities and for the personnel relations of a large number of employees. In the telephone company, jobs such as these are held by relatively young men and women.

FUTURE: Unlimited! The Bell System continually progresses and expands and its personnel grows with it. In the past 25 years, the number of telephones has almost tripled. In the past 5 years, telephone companies have introduced such things as network television transmission, radiotelephone service and dialing of Long Distance calls. And the best is yet to come.

FRAME OF MIND: Confident and proud! You'll be satisfied because you have a rewarding job...not only in pay and security...but in service. You'll be proud of your share in helping provide and develop a telephone service vital to the country's social and economic life.

Like the picture? For further information see your Placement Officer. He will be glad to give you details regarding the opportunities for employment in the Bell System.

MORE AIRCRAFT ENGINES
bear this emblem than any other

There are few places where the technical graduate can utilize his training more fully than in the rapidly evolving field of aircraft propulsion. Our engineers are constantly exploring new areas of knowledge. Thus their work is varied and interesting, and they find good opportunities for professional advancement.

If you are looking for challenging work — for a real future in engineering — for real living in New England — why not talk to our visiting engineers.

There may be a place for you in experimental testing and development work . . . in performance and structure analysis . . . in mechanical designing . . . in analysis and development work on controls and systems . . . in work on heat transfer and applied research problems.

Former Football Players Help Spark Service Team

Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, quarterback, Don Furtz, safety man, and John Ignarski, guard, on the Bolling Air Force Base football team, helped spark that team's victory over the San Diego Naval Training Center team Dec. 20 for the national Armed Forces championship.

The three former UK stars teamed up with Al Dorrow, former Michigan State great to defeat the naval team 33-14.

Brown Lee Yates III, '48, is now on the staff of the Capital Gazette Press, Inc., Annapolis, Md. His wife, the former Jeanne Renaker, and daughter, Martha Don, will join him later at Glen Burnie, Md., a suburb of Baltimore.

The Navy League's award of merit, given annually to a Navy man whose services have contributed to the national defense but have not been recognized otherwise, was awarded in December to Lt. Com. Frederick J. Lewis Jr., '42, of Lexington.

Burl Smith St. Clair, '38, Grayson county farmer, is the new president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. St. Clair, who lives on a 288-acre farm near Falls of Rough, received his B.S. degree in agriculture from the University.

Paul R. Combs, '36, of Middletown, Ohio, is sales representative for the Warren Steel Corporation of that city. Dr. Murray Raney, '39, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has presented a gift of $800 to the Kentucky Research Foundation for the engineering scholarship fund.

A. B. Duncan, '32, of Louisville, has opened a new drug store in Jackson, Ky. It will be known as Jackson's Pharmacy.

Lloyd Willis, of Henderson, and his wife, have purchased Grasty's Drug Store of that city. Both are graduates of the UK College of Pharmacy and both are registered pharmacists. They formerly lived in Winchester.

OPPORTUNITIES IN OPTOMETRY

Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Early per cent of the Nation's opticians depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many States. The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice. The U. S. Department of Defense and Selective Service give preference to students whose consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College of Optometry.

Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center of research in the optical art. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Contact facilities are most complete.

UK Junior Named On College Board

Kathy Fryer, a junior majoring in journalism, has been selected to represent UK on the 1953 Mademoiselle College Board.

Winners in the contest, open to all college women in the United States, were picked on the basis of a 1,000 word criticism of the August issue of the magazine.

Miss Fryer will compete with the 700 other College Board members for one of 20 all-expense trips to New York next June as a guest editor.

Guest Editors will be decided on the basis of three assignments published in the magazine between now and May.

Miss Fryer is a member of Chi Delta Phi, creative writing honorary, and a pledge of Alpha Delta Pi and Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary.
