CKJA BUDGET ALLOCATIONS ANNOUNCED

According to the constitution of CKJA, seventy percent of all general campaign funds received must be forwarded to the United Jewish Appeal for allocation. Monies received which have been designated for a specific purpose, such as Project Renewal and Operation Moses, are sent directly to the UJA and are not included in the general campaign total.

A portion of the remaining funds are used for operating expenses which include the many activities sponsored by CKJA committees such as Camp Shalom, Speakers Bureau, the Forum, Interact, Shalom Lexington, etc.

Finally, even pre-dating CKJA's existence, come the allocations to "other charities". These allocations represent our mmunity's participation in the welfare of e local community as well as the American and world Jewish communities.

Several years ago, in an attempt to more clearly define the areas of our responsibility and concern, the committee divided all requests into five broad categories: Preservation of Jewish & Judaic Learning, Welfare, Medical Social Action, and Jewish & Israeli Youth.

This year's Budget & Allocation Committee, chaired by Evelyn Geller, examined the multitude of requests and, with some adjustments made by the CKJA board, arrived at the list presented below. As always the decisions were made after intense discussion by the committee and the board. Serving with Ms. Geller on the Budget & Allocations Committee were Martin Barr, Vinnie Dubilier, Steve Gall, Alvin Goldman, Leonard Lerner, Judy Levine, Erle Levy, Stan Rose, and Ricki Rosenberg.

The Washington Mission

The Washington Mission, deemed a major success by the leadership of CKJA, allowed Jewish leaders from Lexington and Louis-ville to meet their lawmakers and decision-makers in Washington.

The trip also had a side advantage as the Lexington delegation was joined on the plane and in Washington by a delegation of leaders from Louisville. This allowed the two groups not only an opportunity to meet, but a chance to work together for what is hoped will be a closer relationship in the future.

The mission participants, after a late arrival in Washington due to a plane delay, packed the day with visits to a number of agencies as well as meetings with a large part of the Kentucky legislative delegation. The schedule included speeches by Senator Mitch McConnell and Senator Rudy Boschwitz, both of whom told the delegation of the continued need for support of Israel.

Others also addressed the Kentuckians, including Senator Wendell Ford, who addressed the importance of Israel and its continued safety; Representatives Larry Hopkins, William Natcher and Romano Mazzoli, who discussed the events of the day. A brief appearance was also made by Indiana congressman Lee Hamilton.

During the busy day in Washington the group met with Mark Talisman, who gave a dramatic speech, called by many delegates the day's highlight. Talisman, director of the Washington office of the Council of Jewish Federations, told the Kentuckians of the importance of their visit.

He stressed the need for more similar delegations to come to our nation's capital, and urged them to make the trip often. Talisman said there is a need for someone to look out for the Jewish interests in Washington, and he noted that our presence is required to counter a very expensive and well-organized Arab lobby.

The highlight of the day for others was a briefing by the American Israel Public Affairs Committee in Washington in the Rayburn House Office Building, where Leslie Levy and Julie Spiegel made presentations.

Also outstanding was a Pentagon briefing by Richard Dudley and Lt. Col. Jim Carney, the two members of the Pentagon's Israel Desk.

Mission participant Steven Kesten described the Pentagon visit as follows:

"We walked down a long hallway. The walls were covered with the flags of the 50 states and numerous framed newspaper frontpages and magazine covers depicting the events of 40 years ago; the deaths of Roosevelt, Hitler, and Ernie Pyle; the end of the war in Europe and the presidency of Truman.

We were ushered into an austere briefing room where we listened to Richard Dudley, a bright young man who shares the Israel Desk for International Security Affairs with Air Force Colonel Jim Carney. Dudley seemed very knowledgeable; he has seven years of experience in Middle-East affairs and spends a great deal of time in Israel.

Stephen Kesten and Rep. Larry Hopkins

Dudley assured us that first and fore-most our government is committed to the sovereignty and security of Israel. Our dollar commitment in fiscal year 1986 is at an all time high and this figure fluctuates with need. We are involved in a number of joint efforts with Israel such as the Strategic Defense Initiative or "Star Wars". We trade information on advanced weapons and Russian or Arab aggression in the area.

Israel has the third biggest air force in the world with 550 combat aircraft. The F-16's cost 20 million dollars apiece and in fiscal year 1986 Israel will have 150 of them. It costs $2,000 per hour to fly this plane and one million dollars to train each pilot.

The Senate says, "no Hawks (missiles) without talks," referring to Jordan. The Defense Department position is that the sale of Hawks and jets to Jordan would not jeopardize Israel's security. Dudley said that they would merely be a replacement for 1960's jets, to an Air Force with only 40

The arms race in the Middle-East takes a third of Israel's budget and is the major reason for an inflation rate that was 20% in April."

From a more peaceful standpoint, delegates also traveled to the State Department, where Ms. Barbara Bodine, political officer in the Office of Israel and Arab-Israeli Affairs discussed the peace process in the Middle East.

Sara Levy, Marilyn Moosnick, Rep. William Natcher.

Lexington participants included: Erle Levy, Mission Chair; Sara Levy, Stephen Kesten, Leonard Lerner, Ernie Cohen, Judy Saxe, Marilyn Moosnick, Art Salomon, Ted Friedman, Alvin Goldman, Roz Rozen, Morris Rozen, and Carolyn Weinberger.

The Louisville delegation included former Lexingtonian Glen Lipton along with: Julie Zukof, Stuart Frankenthal, Jeff Yussman, Stacey Bordy, Sharon Kozlove, Julie Jacobs, Elece Ehrlich, Adele Michelson, Ed Cohen, Debbie Zukof, Sandy Hammond, Dodi Stein, Steve Tobias, Alan Feldbaum, Joe Hertzman, Barry Willett, and Rick Klempner.

MEMBER

This is the second mission to Washington, D.C. that CKJA has sponsored. These missions, which are open to all members of CKJA, are partially subsidized by the CKJA/UJA Campaign, and offer an excellent opportunity to meet with our legislative delegation, Pentagon officials and others involved in Israel/United States relations.

CKJA COMMUNITY RELATIONS COMMITTEE UPDATE

The Community Relations Committee (CRC) of CKJA continues to be active on a number of fronts. The entire community should be aware that the Committee encouraged all members of our community to write to our Senators and President urging our government not to provide additional military technology to the government of Jordan until it commits itself to meaningful participation in the Middle East peace process. As a result of letters from our community and others, President Reagan has announced that he does not intend to submit such a request to the Senate at this time. We were all pleased to learn that both of our Kentucky Senators cosigned the letter to the President urging the action that he finally took. The CRC thanks everyone in the community who did write.

Discussions between members of the CRC and the central administration of the Lexington-Fayette County school system resulted in the fact that for the first time no high school graduation ceremony this year included a reference to any particular religious belief. To the best of our knowledge no invocation or benediction at the graduation ceremonies included or concluded with phrases such as "in Christ's name we pray."

The Committee continues to maintain its school liaison program. There are a number of members of our community who have volunteered to act as liaisons between the Jewish community and the public schools. These persons routinely meet with the school principals to review schedules of activities to make sure they do not conflict with religious holidays. All of the principals continue to be willing to work with the Committee. Any member of our community who has a problem of a religious nature with a particular school is urged to contact Charlotte Baer who heads the Liaison Program. She may be reached in the evenings at 277-3072.

We continue to encourage members of the community to contact the CRC if they believe they might be of some help with a particular problem. It is only through the constant effort of all of us that we will be able to continue to have our Jewish community thrive in Central Kentucky.

SOVIET JEWRY

Even in the press of recent headlines and crises of concern around the world, we must never forget the situations of our brothers and sisters in the Soviet Union, who are also hostages of a sort. Their "crime" is their desire to practice their religion and to emigrate from the Soviet Union to Israel.

The plea below concerns Yuli Edelshtein, prominent Moscow Hebrew teacher, sentenced December 19, 1984 to three years on false charges of illegal drug possession. It is based on information just received by the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council (NJCRAC).

MOSCOW CALLING

The phone rang Sunday morning at 9 a.m. -- the voice said, "Sheila, this is Boris Klotz calling. I have Tanya Edelshtein with me, she just returned from a two-day visit at the labor camp.

YULI NEEDS HELP -- He is beaten every day -- the camp administrator told him,
'I will have you beaten every day until all your crazy religious ideas are expelled out of you.'

His siddur has been destroyed. The camp inmates do not allow him near his bunk until it is time to go to sleep.

The fear is that they want to maim him or physically annihilate him -- This was expressed by the statement 'Heaven forbid he could become another Berenshtein and have his eyes gouged out or worse -.'''

Please give Tanya and her husband Yuli moral support. Send letters and telegrams of concern to the head of the camp administration requesting intervention on behalf of Yuli Edelshtein to prevent his physical destruction. Send telegrams of solidarity to Yuli at the prison camp.

UJA NEWS

ISRAEL'S CONSUL GENERAL IN N.Y. WILL ASSUME NEW POSITION IN SEPT.

New York, N.Y. -- Ambassador Naphtali Lavie, Israel's Consul General in New York, has been named Director General of United Jewish Appeal operations in Israel commencing September 1, 1985. Lavie succeeds Chaim Vinitsky who will retire after 50 years of distinguished service as the United Jewish Appeal's representative in Israel.

Naphtali Lavie will bring his considerble talents to an exceptionally challenging assignment. His appointment marks a new phase in the interaction of the United Jewish Appeal and its widespread American Jewish constituency with the people of Israel.

"Through United Jewish Appeal," said Lavie, "American Jews express their solidarity with other Jews and with the values of our tradition. I have long admired the United Jewish Appeal's magnificent accomplishments and commitment to Jewish causes, and consider it a privilege to serve in this new capacity."

Lavie, the son of a rabbi, was born in Poland. He spent the war years in Nazi concentration camps and was freed from Buchenwald in 1945. Immediately thereafter, he and his brother went to Israel.

In 1946, he joined the Haganah and fought in Israel's War of Independence. After the establishment of the State, he was sent to Eastern Europe to assist in bringing Jewish refugees, including many children, to Israel.

Beginning a career as a journalist, he ater served for 14 years as news editor and senior correspondent for Haaretz, one of Israel's leading newspapers.

He also served as spokesman and advisor to the Minister of Defense. In 1977, Lavie was appointed spokesman of the Foreign Ministry and Advisor to the Foreign Minister on Public Affairs. Lavie participated directly in all phases of the peace negotiations between Egypt and Israel.

In 1981, he was appointed Consul General of Israel in New York where he was an articulate advocate of Israel's causes.

As Director-General of UJA's operations in Israel, Lavie will direct a wide range of activities including programs of overseas missions, public relations, Project Renewal, and leadership seminars.

Lavie is the author of the first biography of Moshe Dayan, published in 1968. He is married to the former Joan Lunzer of London. They are the parents of four children.

CKJA SOCIAL SERVICES UPDATE

The Shari Eldot Fund continues to grow while Shari continues to wait for a new heart. The total in the fund now stands at over $8300. This money will be used for Shari's medical expenses. We hope the match will be made soon!

Mark Rosenzweig, the young boy from Massachusetts who underwent a bone marrow transplant at the U.K. Medical Center, is now at home and progressing satisfactorily. His family is most appreciative of the support our Central Kentucky Jewish community provided.

Following our two recent experiences with the bone marrow transplant patients, a recent meeting of the presidents of all the Central Kentucky Jewish organizations decided that a memo should be sent to all presidents whenever a Jewish patient is admitted to the unit and they will help find volunteers to assist the families. The Social Services Committee heartily endorsed this proposal, and the Bone Marrow Transplant Unit has been asked to contact CKJA Administrator Judy Saxe so that she can activate this network.

How good it is to know that our community is willing to reach out to our fellow Jews here at home as well as abroad.

Plans are progressing for the Second Annual SHALOM LEXINGTON welcome to newcomers to the Central Kentucky Jewish Community. This year's event will again be held at Carnahan House on Sunday, September 8 from 3 until 5 p.m.

And again this year, CKJA has assumed the responsibility for organizing the event in cooperation with all area Jewish organizations including B'nai B'rith, Hadassah, Temple Adath Israel, Ohavay Zion Synagogue, Lexington Havurah and the University of Kentucky Faculty Association on Jewish Affairs.

CKJA is compiling the invitation list now. If you are aware of anyone who has moved to the area since August of last year please notify the CKJA office.

* SHALOM LEXINGTON Booklet Update ****

As you know, CKJA publishes a SHALOM LEXINGTON booklet as a means of familiarizing all area residents with the Jewish community. The cost prevents us from publishing a new booklet each year, but we try to keep the information current. Below is your 1985-86 "update". We suggest you tear it out and insert it in your booklet for easy reference.

Booklets (with current update) will be provided to all newcomers at our SHALOM LEXINGTON welcome event in September. If you are new to our community and do not have a SHALOM LEXINGTON booklet, please call the CKJA office (252-7622).

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE
WASHINGTON, DC 20510

Dear Friend,

May 30, 1985

A little over two months ago, I wrote to you regarding a series of talks between Israel at the U.S. aimed at creating a free trade area between the two countries. By that time, an agreement initialed by former U.S. Trade Representative Bill Brock and Israeli Finance Minister Yitzhak Modai had been turned over to the Congress for approval. Because of the incredible trade implication for our two countries, we put that agreement on a "fast track" to win Congressional approval.

As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over trade issues, I was especially pleased to help bring this important matter to a speedy resolution. The Senate Finance Committee held a hearing on March 20 and subsequently adopted my compromise for those trade areas considered to be sensitive to the domestic market. The House of Representatives approved identical legislation and the Senate gave final approval on May 24, well within the prescribed time mandated by law.

This agreement to create a free-trade area is an important advance in both political and economic ties between the United States and Israel. The goal of the agreement is to eliminate, in phases, all tariffs imposed on products traded between the two countries by January 1, 1995. Under this agreement, most Israeli imports would receive duty-free treatment immediately.

I am delighted to have contributed to this successful conclusion that symbolizes the U.S.'s ongoing commitment to Israel's continued growth and stability. This agreement further strengthens U.S. ties with a strategic, democratic friend in a volatile region of the world.

CKJA BOARD NOTES

A proposed amendment to the CKJA By-Laws calling for a minimum of 10% of funds received without restrictions to be allocaled to support other charities and organizations was presented to the CKJA board in April, discussed in May and June, and was voted down at the June meeting.

Following intensive discussion at the June board meeting of a second proposed amendment to the By-Laws, which had been presented in May, it was decided that because it dealt with the system of bookkeeping within the organization, an amendment to the By-Laws was unnecessary. Therefore, the amendment was withdrawn and a simple motion was substituted and passed. The motion reads as follows:

"The expenses of the Campaign Committee (including subsidies for missions) for the year in which gifts are received shall be deducted from all campaign gift categories in proportion to the amounts received in the gift categories prior to campaign funds being allocated or distributed."

Therefore, if ten percent of funds received are designated for Project Renewal, then ten percent of campaign expenses would be deducted from Project Renewal receipts.

The second Board Workshop for the 1985-86 CKJA Board of Directors and their spouses is scheduled for Sunday, September 22, 1985. Board members will meet with Jan Rothschild, CJF Small Cities Representative for dinner and a discussion of the changes we are experiencing in the Jewish community and how CKJA compares to other Jewish communities this size.

DID YOU KNOW

The Speakers Bureau sponsored by CKJA's Community Relations Committee has just issued an attractive new brochure publicizing "Programs for Community and Schools", which includes the aforementioned Speakers Bureau and information about our awardwinning TV documentary "And I Was There". This brochure will be sent to the schools, to local service organizations and to churches.

This past year the Speakers Bureau responded to requests from the Interfaith Council, Lexington Theological Seminary, Second Presbyterian Church, and the Child Development Center of the Bluegrass. Thanks to Susan Goldstein, Dan Frank, Charlotte Baer, Debbie Wekstein & Elaine Cohen who all served as CKJA representatives to these groups.

HEALTH NOTES -- INFERTILITY: A CAUSE FOR HOPE

A new treatment for infertility has been discovered! It is so new, and has such a direct bearing on our people that we are being asked to spread the word now.

We all know of people who are childless who may benefit from this discovery. A simple blood test might be all that is necessary to bring great joy and delight into the lives of people who have given up hope.

Our source is an article scheduled to appear in The American Journal of Human Genetics, titled "Discovery of a New Genetic Disease in Ashkenazi Jews."

'We have recently discovered an extraordinarily high frequency among Ashkenazi Jews of a genetically transmitted hormonal disease called "nonclassical adrenal hyperplasia." This condition, involving an enzyme deficiency, results in chronically elevated adrogenic (male) hormone levels and consequent impairment of fertility in both males and females. Other manifestations of the disorder include premature sexual development in children and unwanted facial hair growth, severe acne, and baldness in young women. According to our preliminary studies, as many as one in every thirty individuals of Ashkenazi Jewish descent may be affected with nonclassical adrenal hyperplasia and one of every three is a carrier of the trait."

"Diagnosis of the disease state by hormonal blood tests can be accomplished in childhood. Medical therapy can then be instituted in order to avert the tragic consequences of infertility in later years.

Once diagnosed, treatment reverses the symptoms. In the Ashkenazi Jewish population we suspect that a significant number of individuals with infertility may directly benefit from these investigations." This article was reprinted at the request of Rabbi Leffler.

A NEW PUBLICATION

Care of Aging Parents is part of a series being sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women. It is the first module of: Our Heritage Speaks - Applying Jewish Values to Social Issues. Copies at $3.50 each can be obtained through the CKJA office.

OPERATION CHILDHOOD

Coleco Industries donated the dolls -1000 black Cabbage Patch Kids. El Al
Israel Airlines airlifted them free.
Abraham H. Foxman, ADL's assiciate national director, distributed them to Ethiopian
Jewish refugee children in absorption centers.

The airlife, "Operation Childhood", was conceived by Mr. Foxman when he visited some of the children at an absorption center. "They were in a new home, totally different from the old and there was also a language barrier."

From idea to agreement by Coleco, to airlift, to delivery of the dolls in Israel, to distributing them at the absorption center, took less than a week.

Said Mr. Foxman: "Handing out the Cabbage Patch Kids and watching the expressions of the children receiving them was pure pleasure. They hugged them and kissed them and talked to them. They smiled and laughed -- some for the first time."
