Homecoming Queen, King To Be Chosen

Voting Set Next Week

Balloting for a Homecoming King as well as the traditional queen, will take place Wednesday and Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Student Union, John Faulkner, president of Suky has announced. This will be the first time in the history of the school that UK has had a Homecoming King.

A new voting system for the contest has also been inaugurated by the pep club. Each organization will submit an "F" by 10" picture of their candidate, but only the coeds will be eligible to vote for the king; while the men students will select the queen. The winners will be crowned at the Tennessee-Kentucky football game.

Contestants Listed
At this date 17 organizations have submitted the names of their contestants. The candidates for queen are: Sally Maggard, Kappa Delta; Virginia Jennings, Alpha Delta Pi; Kay King, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jackie Cotton, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carmen Pizee, Chi Omega; Chickie Schrier, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Pat Wheatley, Phi Xi Delta; Dorothy Pfeiffer, Tri Delta; Nancy Campbell, Delta Zeta; Delores Kenner, Delta Zeta; and Joanne Shelton, Boyd Hall.

King candidates include Hush Roy, Pi Kappa Alpha; Larry Depp, Kappa Sigma; John Griggs, Sigma Chi; Willie Rouse, Kappa Alpha; Jim Buel, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Sonny Burton, Delta Tau Delta; and Herman Weber, Phi Kappa Tau.

Neil Asher is chairman of the Homecoming activities. Other committee chairmen include Beth Gallivan, trophies; Linda Gibson, judges; Debbie Schwarz, pep rally and publicity; and Buddy Roberts, election. Card Section Discussed
The Suky Circle also discussed plans for continuing the card section at their Monday meeting. Last week SGA, who controls the seating arrangements in Stoll Field, threatened to disband the card section unless the card section was prevented from throwing cards. It was decided by Suky that the organization would not petition to the effect that their members will be fined if they throw a card or behave in a disorderly manner. Any student sitting in the card section will be subject to a penalty for misbehavior, whether or not his organization has signed the petition, they agreed.

The Circle also voted to appropriate money so that the cheerleaders can become members of the National Cheerleading Society.

Judging Of Rooms To Start Sunday

The room judging contest sponsored by the House of Representatives Council will start at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Janice Morris, publicity chairman, announced this week.

Trophies will be given for the first and second sorority house, and a silver bowl will be awarded to the best residence house. Ribbons will be given for the best two sorority and dorm rooms.

Rooms will be judged on attractiveness, general appearance, neatness and the way they utilize space and available material. Color combinations and accessories such as bedspreads and drapes will also be considered, Janice said.

Judges will include Misses Ruth Guenther and Helen Wilmer, assistant professors of home economics, and Miss Ann Green, instructor of art. Three others will also be chosen.

Betty Hamilton, Hamilton Hall, is chairman of the contest. Other members of the council working on it include Dianna Roddick, Kappa Alpha Theta, trophies; Carmen Pizee, Chi Omega, judges; and Delores Kenner, Alpha Xi Delta, publicity.

The awards will be presented to the winners at the "Stars In The Night" program.

Schedules Listed For Grad Exams

The graduate reading examinations in foreign languages will be held on the following dates: Dec. 14 (French), Dec. 15 (German), Dec. 16 (Spanish), Dean Herman Spivey announced.

Students planning to take one of the examinations are advised to arrange with the Department of Modern Foreign Languages for the selection of an appropriate book.

Deadline Named For Kyian Prizes

Saturday noon is the deadline for returning proofs for the Kyian prizes. In the newsroom building, Jim Perry, editor, announced this week.

"If they don't get them in by then, they will have to take them down to Wolf Wells," Perry said. "The Kyian has to have them here all the time for the senior and fraternity pictures mounted before Christmas."

Seniors Interested In Obtaining Jobs To Be Interviewed

All UK seniors who wish to meet prospective employers for interviews should file their applications and records with the University Placement Service, Mrs. C. M. Kemper, secretary, announced this week.

"We want to keep files of seniors who want jobs when they graduate to use in arranging interviews with company representatives when they come to Lexington," she said.

The Placement Service in Room 107 of the Administration Building offers this service to all interested senior and graduate students free of charge. Mrs. Kemper said. The bureau also extends help to Kentucky alumni when better paying or advanced standing jobs requiring experienced personnel become available.

The records will be kept permanently and will include items such as academic training, experience, military service, activities, and job preferences. A current list is maintained of alumni already placed, and whenever an employer wants experienced personnel, UK graduates in the desired line are notified of the openings.

Mrs. Kemper added that "We urge all seniors to come into the office and register, and when interviews come to the University, we will notify them."

WUS Fund Drive On Campus Falls Short Of Goal

Solicitations for the World University Service drive as last Tuesday totaled $120.76, much less than the dollar-a-student goal set by the committee, Curtis Songster, publicity chairman, announced.

The drive on campus is scheduled to end tomorrow, and a booth will be provided in the Student Union today for students who have not already contributed.

Another Waring project is the Fred Waring Chorus Workshop, conducted for six weeks each summer near Delaware Water Gap, Pa. Choir leaders and music teachers from public schools, colleges, churches and industries throughout the nation enroll in the non-profit course to learn Waring techniques.

The workshop in its seventh year of operation drew more than 700 pupils this year. Instruction is given by Waring and members of his staff.

WARING APPEARS TONIGHT. CONCERT SCHEDULED TUESDAY-Fred Waring (left) is shown directing the Pennsylvanians, nationally known orchestra-choir group which will appear at 8:15 o'clock tonight in Memorial Coliseum as the fifth Community Concert of the season. St. Paul's Cathedral choir (right) of London, England, consisting of 30 boy choisters and 15 men appear at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Coliseum. Their concert tour is believed to be the first ever undertaken by a British choir. UK students will be admitted to both performances by showing their ID cards.

Waring, St. Paul's Choir To Appear Pennsylvania Group Will Perform Tonight

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, nationally known orchestra-choir group, will present a program at Memorial Coliseum at 8:15 p.m. today under the auspices of the Community Concert Series.

Appearance of the 66 musicians, singers and their arrangers will mark the Community Series' fifth presentation of the season. The Pennsylvanians came to the UK campus after a successful season on television. Listener polls throughout the nation rate them as one of the most popular groups on TV today.

The orchestra-choir had its beginning more than 35 years ago as a small band in Tyrone, Pa. Waring's birthplace. The group's first instruments were a piano, drums, two musical saws and a banjo. All four members sang.

Class officers may be elected at UK in the future. Election of class officers to act as representatives in the Student Government Association was discussed by a constitutional committee formed by SGA last week.

Originally the chairman of the committee, Ann Marie O'Rourke, had proposed that the committee be used to formulate a change in the SGA constitution, in order to divide the assembly into a bi-cameral organization, composed of a "House" and a "Senate."

However, after consideration by the committee, it was decided that election of class presidents would be more beneficial to the student government.

To Have Representatives Under the plan set forth by the committee, a representative from the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes would be chosen to represent their class in SGA.

First, it was pointed out, it will be necessary to have SGA's approval of the committee's plan.

If the plan is accepted, the student body will be divided into four classes, each to elect one representative. Then elections for class officers would be held. Organization of the different classes will be the biggest problem, the committee said. It was suggested that rallies and competition between the classes be used to spark interest.

For example, it was proposed that interest might be raised by having a tug of war, or some other similar form of competition, to bring the classes together.

Incorporation of the new officers was mentioned as the next problem. Since four officers from each class would be elected, 16 new representatives would have to be fitted into the student government body.

Miss O'Rourke pointed out that the advantages of having class officers would be two-fold. First, she said, there would be better representation for the student body as a whole, and second, the competition between classes would bolster school spirit.

The committee's plan will be presented at the next SGA meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in Room 127 of the Student Union.

Queen To Reign At Kyian Dance

Women Will Get Late Permission

The annual Kentuckian Queen dance, sponsored by Lamp and Cross, senior men's honorary, will be held tomorrow night from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

The queen and her attendants will be selected at 4 p.m. this afternoon in Memorial Hall by a panel of judges and will be crowned at the dance.

James T. Noe Dies At Home

James T. Cotton Noe, professor of education emeritus at UK and poet laureate of Kentucky, died at 7:30 p.m. Monday at his home in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Prof. Noe assumed an emeritus status in 1934 due to ill health and moved to California. He had published seven volumes of poetry and other works.

His latest published work is an honorarium collection of representative folk poems of Kentucky printed in 1947.

Prof. Noe was born in Washington County during the Civil War. He attended T. M. Mourning's Academy at Springfield, an academy at Perryville, and graduated from Franklin College in Indiana.

After four years as a teacher in Kentucky and Indiana schools, he did graduate work at Cornell and the University of Chicago. In addition to a law practice at Springfield, he taught at Williamsburg Institute, Hartsville, Tenn., Masonic Institute, Theodore Harris Institute, Pineville and Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn., before coming to Kentucky, A. and M. College.

While at Kentucky A. and M. College, he taught English in the Normal School and later was head of the Education College. He lectured on the Redpath Chautauqua Circuit from Iowa to Maine and read selections of his poetry during his lectures.

Prof. Noe was voted poet laureate of Kentucky by joint action of both houses of the General Assembly in 1934. He was both a UK faculty member for more than 30 years.

Flu Shots Given By UK Infirmary

Flu shots are again being offered UK students, Miss Barbara Owens, R.N., supervisor of nurses at the UK infirmary, said this week. The shots will be given this week and next between 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. and 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Miss Nella Rane, R.N., said the injections should provide protection for five or six months, which is longer than that previously given. She said the army-approved method is being used because the injections in forever case less discomfort than those given in the shoulder.

The usual charge of 25 cents is being made.

Panhellenic Names ZTA Scholarship Cup Winner

The trophy given by the Panhellenic Council for the highest over-all scholarship last spring was awarded to the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority last night by Jackie Cotton at the annual Plunge Presentation program.

"A standing of 1956 is very exceptional," said Miss Jane Haselden, assistant dean of women, when she announced the ZTA average.

The Zeta Tau Alpha active chapter had the highest average, while the Chi Omega pledges led the pledge averages. The Delta Zeta had the best house standing and Barcks No. 1, the graduate barcks, was top in the residence halls.

Miss Haselden announced that the five best sororities' over-all averages were Zeta Tau Alpha, 1.956; Chi Omega, 1.827; Delta Zeta, 1.901; Delta Delta Delta, 1.731; and Kappa Delta, 1.751. The lowest sorority average was a 1.505.

The standings were: Zeta Tau Alpha, 2.028; Delta Zeta, 1.906; Kappa Delta, 1.877; Alpha Gamma Delta, 1.847; Delta Delta Delta, 1.829; Alpha Xi Delta, 1.829; Chi Omega, 1.824; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1.754; Alpha Delta Pi, 1.743; Kappa Alpha Theta, 1.722; and Phi Sigma Sigma, 1.431.

The Chi Omega pledges had the highest average of sorority pledges with a 1.835. The lowest pledge standing was a 2. Delta Zeta had the highest house standing with a 2.066 and the lowest house average was a 1.600.

The standings of the residence halls were: Barcks No. 1, 2.559; Dillard House, 1.880; Jewell Hall, 1.827; Hamilton House, 1.739; Barcks No. 2, 1.703; Barcks No. 3, 1.652; Patterson Hall, 1.621; Boyd Hall, 1.586; 643 Maxwellton Court, 1.585; McDowell House, 1.344; Lydia Brown, 1.230; and 635 Maxwellton Court, 1.208.

The all sorority average was 1.728 and the all-active standing was 1.828. The all pledge standing was 1.711 and the all house average was 1.785.

Kentuckian Staff Meets On Monday

The Kentuckian staff will meet at 2 p.m. Monday, Jim Perry, editor, announced.

"Everyone who wants to work should come to this meeting," Perry said, "and those who just signed up for an activity can stay away."

Rifle Team Calls For New Tryouts

Any student who has an overall academic standing of 1.9 and has not participated in collective sports for more than four years of a five-year period is eligible to try out for the Varsity rifle team, Charles D. Combs, captain of the Varsity rifle team, announced this week.

Tryouts will be held on the rifle range of Buel Armoury today from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. Rifles and ammunition will be furnished.

Waring Show Expected To Attract Capacity House, Columnist Asserts

By LESLIE MORRIS

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians are occupying the Euclid arena this evening, and we urge you to eat early and hurry over. From all indications the wide-open-spaces of the lumpy barony will be packed, and for good reason.

We have been an avid fan of the ageless Mr. Waring for some years, and his Sunday half-hour is a TV highspot. Backed by the G. E. band-rolls, the Waring show has perennially been blessed with lavish sets, original camera service, and a fast format.

As the many Waring fans know, his CBS program features the entire Penn ensemble, which includes a fine churning, fast-stepping chorus; soloists; adagio duo, concert pianists; Livingstone and Gearhart, and the Waring orchestra. This parade should satisfy musiclovers at least part of the time, since the veterans, still a youngish fifty, handles his group creditably in any melodic situation from Beethoven to Berlin.

Television has committed many honors, but the worst was probably the latched-job network execs did on the former Waring hour, paring it to its present 30-minute time. The Pennsylvanians, now slightly cramped, have never been quite able to match their brilliance of old, but it's still the best musical half-hour on the cable-waves (excluding, maybe, the Firestone boys).

Fred appeared only last Sunday on his CBS-vidyo show, and his performance here will be one of his first on the current tour. Please don't miss 'em.

Remember several years ago when Hollywood was beating the bushes of Kentucky and the Southland for a youngster to play the kid in Clarence Brown's "The Yearling," which starred Greg Peck and Janie Wymann? A bright town-head from a Tennessee maime, Claude Jarman, Jr., was finally selected, and went on to win an Academy Award, and roles in many other pics.

We bumped into Claude on the Vandy campus last week, where he's taking time out for a little book-larin'. The "kid" is now a handsome six-footer, with a rich papa, and a ready-made career. Some guys have all the luck! . . .

We finally have the dope on CINEMASCOPE; "The Robe" is opening next Wednesday nite, and gets the full premier tinsel-treatment, with klieg lights, red carpet, radio broadcasters, celebs, et cetera. The preem will be open by invitation, and a select group of state and local big-wigs, and the press, will be on hand. The regular run will begin on the following day, and we have been assured by the local cinema rajahs that it will continue as long as Lexingtonians keep-coming.

Lexington is the first city under 100,000-pop to get the Cinemascope production, which has already paid back its $5 million investment, breaking box-office records in the Big Town's Romy, and elsewhere.

To set the record straight: As fans know who witnessed the Louisville showing over the weekend, there is no special screen for Cinemascope. The entire panoramic screen (quote) now installed in the downtown theater will be utilized; the new process is created by an anamorphic lens and button-on sound head, which spurs a stereophonic track of "flexible" sound. The screen covers only twenty-one inches, but the arc is said to be so great that the curve effect is evident.

The Bluegrass bosses emphasize the fact that the premier treatment which "The Robe" is receiving throughout the nation is not intended as a side-show, but to usher in what the moguls think will be a new and prosperous era for the movie industry. While "The Robe" may be only a flat picture, the new dimensional, hare-eye phenomenon may be the answer. We think so, and we hope so.

Food In Women's Cafeteria Still Brings Complaints From Coeds

An eternal complaint on campus . . . food in the women's cafeteria . . . has again become a common topic of conversation among University coeds.

The criticisms remain generally the same. Lack of variety in the menu, poor preparation of food, too small portions, and too long lines.

In understanding the meal situation, the coeds should realize that institutional food can never be compared with what they have been accustomed to at home. Even the sorority houses have an advantage over the cafeteria in that they need to prepare for a comparatively small number of girls.

In contrast, the dormitory cafeteria must serve more than 650 coeds a day.

Our valid complaint, that of having to stand in such a long line, stems from the fact that a huge number of the girls living in the dormitories have classes from 11-12 noon. Consequently, there is a rush to get to the cafeteria for lunch and the line begins to double and triple its ordinary length.

Distribution of classes is at fault in this instance.

Of the $220 paid each semester by every girl living in the dorms, 60 per cent of the money goes for board; the remaining 40 per cent is for room.

Included in this 60 per cent are food, kitchen salaries, equipment, linen, depreciation, etc. An average of 39 1/2 cents is spent by each girl per meal. Only by preparing for a large number can the cafeteria work on such a small budget.

Contrary to popular belief, the same foods are not served on certain days each week. The meals are planned approximately a week in advance, with no scheduling of "chicken soup each Wednesday noon!"

Regarding the complaint about the poor quality of the food, the highest grade meats and vegetables obtainable are brought by the cafeteria. Each day, fresh produce is purchased. The quality of the food cannot be questioned.

Perhaps, then, it is in the preparation that the food is mishandled. The kitchen staff consists of nine employees, ranging from the chef to the salad women. The poor working hours required tend to discourage a good many prospective employees. Still, the present staff appears to be competent in their line of work.

The girls complain that the portions served are inadequate. If they are not getting enough to eat, then there is a legitimate reason for their criticism. But, more than likely, it is their own fault. Most of the girls fail to realize that they may go back for seconds on all vegetables and bread. Large portions are not given the first time in an effort to eliminate waste.

Perhaps the main shortcoming lies in the fact that the cafeteria has no room in which to expand. The staff must make the best of the facilities it already has. With the building of a new women's dormitory and cafeteria in the near future, the problem should be solved.

Two worthwhile efforts have been made this fall toward clearing up the food problem. A special supervisor has been appointed to see that each tray sent from the kitchen is attractive and well-prepared. Secondly, a committee of students has been appointed to hear the specific complaints of the girls, and in turn will carry them to a faculty committee which can take action toward solving the problem.

Stop and think, girls! Is it really an appalling situation, or are you merely echoing complaints so prevalent on other campuses?

Tri Mu Sorority Chapter Meeting Has Catty Tone

By RONNIE BUTLER

(The lovely cartoon above this column was drawn by John Richardson, local frat man who claims his cartoon represents the sentiments of the campus concerning The Toolbox. Well, John, just for kicks, let's see how the other half lives—the Mu Mu Mu sorority cats.)

"Ready, dearies. It's time for our lovely Mu Mu chapter meeting."

"Myyyyyyyyy! Isn't Helen's Sacred Robe just darling?"

"Simply adorable, my dear, simply adorable."

"Now listen, girls, we just have to have a meeting. Will you please come to order?"

"That's better. Now, let's give the Mu Mu Mu motto. All together now."

"MMMMMMMMMM!"

"Excellent, girls. Now let's have that darling little business meeting."

"Is there any old silly old business? Hmmm?"

"Yes, there is. I think W.A. would play more bridge."

"But, Janie, you just know we play bridge all of the time now. Our faculty advisor says we play good bridge. Oh, she's just a darling."

"Very well, is there any more . . ."

"Oh, Patsie. THAT IS THE DARLINGEST MOST SACRED EMBLEM YOU HAVE TA-TOOFOED ON YOUR FOREHEAD . . ."

" . . . old business?"

"I make a motion that Slug McGillicuddy be blackballed in this sorority."

"Oh, my, dearie. Slug is just a darling boy."

"But I know, but he has been seen with Independents before?"

"Not really? Slug? Good old Sigma Phi Nothing Slug?"

" . . . AND THEN HE SAID THAT I WAS THE ONLY GIRL HE'D LET UP HIS PIN."

"DID YOU TAKE IT?"

"OF COURSE NOT, SILLY. THINK OF THE GOOD TIME I CAN HAVE STRINGING HIM ALONG."

" . . . so we'll just have to tell Slug . . ."

" . . . OF ALL THE BRASS NERVE. HE SAID I WOULD NEVER HAVE A HEAD COLD BECAUSE DISEASE CANT FUNCTION IN A VACUUM . . ."

" . . . and we really should get to the new business, girls. I have a date, and I simply can't be late this time."

" . . . AND HE LOOKED SO STUPID WHEN I SAID I WOULDN'T DATE HIM ANYMORE. IT WAS SO FUNNY, CALLING ME HEART-BREAKER . . ."

"GIRLS, IS THERE OR IS THERE AINT NO NEW BUSINESS?"

"I have thum new buthnieth."

"What kind of new buth, uh, business, dearies?"

"All the boith are calling uth pigth on the campall."

"HOW HORRIBLE!"

"But it's the truth. They say we are all pigth."

"Maybe if we pledged girls because of looks and personality instead of their fathers' money . . ."

"SILLY THING! WE JUST CANT AFFORD TO HAVE A SUPER, DE LUXE HOUSE AND FIVE TV SETS IF WE DONT HAVE MONEY."

"Well, it's really terrible. Lath week thomeone atiked me what kind of thop I wanted in the cafeteria."

"Is there any more new business?"

"We simply have to work out a new point system for the pledges. Any suggestions?"

"Five points for breaking a date the night of the prom."

"Twenty-five points for causing two friends to break up."

"One hundred points for the girl who belongs to the most organizations—all worthless."

"Any more?"

"Yes, 200 points for the girl who convinces anyone that she is just the sweetest, naivest thing in this big of world."

"That just about finishes this silly old meeting, darlings. Shall we sing our Mu Mu Mu song?"

"Oh, let's do. I just looovee to sing the Mu Mu Mu song."

"Ready? Everyone have mugs in hand, right foot on top of clean table?"

"LETS SING THE MU MU MU SONG."

"Meow. Meecow. Myaw. Meecow; Meow. . ."

'Smokeless' Library Is Inconvenient For Students Wanting Cigarette

The policy of "No Smoking" in the foyer of the Margaret I. King Library is inconvenient for the student, to say the least. Three possible motivations lie behind such a ruling. (1) Headquarters is afraid the marble on the floor of the foyer will get scorched. (2) HQ is afraid that the library will fill up with smoke. (3) HQ is of the opinion that students, smoking in the foyer, do not look "gentlemanly."

These motivations are of the utmost interest, because an infinite number of things can be said about them. First, HQ's fear that the marble floors might get scorched is of scientific interest. Perhaps they are holding out on the latest discovery of science—that marble, when cigarettes are dropped on it, burns. If this is true, HQ was perfectly justified in its fears. Nothing we feel, would be quite as dangerous as a huge, blazing heap of glazed marble.

HQ's second reason for the decree, fear that the library will fill up with smoke, is even more interesting than burning marble. Picture the scene—huge clouds of nicotine-laden smoke billowing out from the Reserved Reading Room; coughs echoing and reaching from the quiet depths of the Periodical Reading Room; students getting the wrong books because of the thick layer of smoke clinging to the wall.

Now, HQ's third reason, fear that smoking in the foyer does not look gentlemanly, is completely without basis. Nothing would add to the distinction of the Margaret I. King Library as much as a small group of well-dressed gents smoking in the foyer. Naturally, these student gents would have to be attired in tux and white gloves, holding a glowing cigarette in a solid gold holder, and casually blowing smoke rings at the prosaic statues dotted throughout the place.

At worst, these gentlemen could be photographed for a national cigarette advertisement, with unsolicited recommendations of library foyers for smoking comfort. "I have been smoking in the foyer for five years, and have never had irritation or burning of the marble."

Since HQ is determined to prevent smoking in the foyer, it must provide a place for students with book fatigue to relax and then with a cigarette. Suggestion number (1): build a quonset hut smoking room directly behind the library. Since it will be a quonset hut, no one will notice it on the campus; (2) chop a hole in the ceiling of the library and provide ashtrays; (3) install long, metal cigarette holders in the walls, in such a manner as to allow the cigarette to burn on the outside of the building.

If HQ follows these suggestions, the Margaret I. King library will be safe from burning marble, smoke-filled rooms, and ungentlemanly actions.

Our Readers Speak: On Independents' Pride, WUS

Dear Editor:

In the Oct. 6, 1953 issue of the Kernel, a Suky member was quoted as saying that the Independent students didn't have the pride that the Greek students possessed.

Now, I wonder just how such a person who displays no more intelligence and consideration than that got admitted to such a fine institution as this University. It is a disgrace to the University that a student would make such a remark, and even more of a disgrace that the student newspaper, which is supposed to present impartial views and stories, would print it.

I have no pick at the Greeks. I just wonder if this person ever condescended to come down off his lofty perch, which he has built all by himself, and see just how the other half of the students live without being a member of a Greek organization. I believe that he would find us to be sincere and honest human beings and very proud of the fact.

I think that particular member of Suky owes the whole student body of Independents an apology.

Independent

(Editor's note: It appears that Independent has completely misunderstood our purpose in printing the quote concerning the "pride of the Greeks." The Kernel's policy is to print impartial news stories, and to confine editorial views to the editorial page. In line with this policy, it is sometimes impossible to avoid stepping on a few toes in order to cover both sides of an issue. The Kernel did not state that the Independents have less pride than the Greeks . . . we merely carried a quotation from a meeting in which the subject was brought up. If we should consistently used out all unfavorable comment there would be no purpose in having a student newspaper.)

section if, and only if, we could give them assurance of a safety check of those sitting in the card section, since the responsibility of controlling student conduct rested with the Circle.

The Circle discussed the problem of a safety patrol. Our decision was to obtain pledges from those fraternities wanting card section blocks that they would be responsible and fine members for disorderly conduct, such as throwing cards. We felt that by working through the group and individual control which a fraternity has over its members we could both meet the patrol requirement made by SGA.

Any fraternity which had signed the card section agreement was then to impose the fine upon any of its members who deviated from the card section rules. Furthermore, if any violation occurred, the Circle reserved the right to bar that organization from participation in either Homecoming or May Day competition or both.

When we had received signed pledges from a sufficient number of fraternities to fill the card section, we took our proposal to SGA. Our solution to its requirement for a safety check was fraternity check of members, plus Suky patrol of the section. We did not present the proposal with the idea of keeping Independents from sitting in the card section; rather we were trying to install the check which SGA required.

Suky does not have the power to enforce its rules upon any individual in the student body; it depends entirely upon cooperation from the students. An organization, such as a fraternity, does have the power to enforce its rules upon those who are members. Fraternity members which had voted to accept card section responsibility would feel obligated to conduct themselves properly. Therein lies the "pride" of a fraternity, which is in actuality its responsibility as a group.

Since the time of our proposal SGA has decided to work with us in this matter of card section check by referring offenders to the judiciary committee which has the power to recall ID cards. SGA is the governing body of all University students. With its help we can carry out a safety check in the card section. Provision has been made for fraternity and Independent blocks in that section.

Understanding Needed

Dear Editor:

For the last two weeks there has been a campaign called WUS carried on here at the University. Everytime we turn around we've seen the letters WUS—World University Service. By now, many of us know that the theme for this year is "Help Them to Help Themselves." We have even heard of actual experiences that needy students have had with WUS—how students mimeograph their own text books in Djakarta through WUS aid and how Korean students desperately need food and clothing—even a place to live.

But have we lived up to our responsibilities? Now that the need has been brought to our attention and the chance for us to help is presented, have we taken advantage of the opportunity? As the campaign draws to a close this week, I hope each of us will feel the need to "Help Them to Help Themselves" by making a contribution either through the many solicitors or directly to the YWCA office in the Student Union.

Suky Explains Quote

Dear Kernel Editor:

In regard to your article concerning the proposal made last week at SGA by the Suky Circle for reorganization of the card section, I should like to clarify a statement quoted by your reporter. This statement was to the effect that the reason for giving card section tickets only to fraternity members was that the members have a certain pride to prevent them from disorderly conduct in the card section, and that Independents do not.

When SGA passed a ruling to discontinue the card section, it stipulated that we could regain the

Students Offered Services Of Speech, Hearing Clinic

By JIM WEBB

In Willow Hall the University has the only school of its kind in the country. Located in the Psychology Annex, the school, for correction of speech and hearing defects, is among the services offered by UK's speech and hearing clinic.

Under the direction of Dr. Charles P. Diehl, associate professor of psychology, the clinic offers free services to any student with speech or hearing difficulty. The clinic has the distinction of being the only one of this kind in the state.

Dr. Diehl states that national surveys indicate that six per cent of all college freshmen have disorders needing clinical attention, and any graduate still possessing such difficulties is forced to labor under a tremendous social as well as vocational handicap. He stresses that the group is concerned with the fundamentals of speech and not with diction and elocution, such niceties being left to the English Department.

Willow Hall was originally conceived in 1949 by the Lexington Council For Jewish Women which now shares sponsorship of the project with the Lexington Junior League and the Lexington Chapter for Crippled Children. The clinic is now in its fourth year.

The school now has 13 students, seven girls and eight boys, ranging from first through third grade. These children follow a full curriculum under the direction of Mrs. Edgar Moses. Their program differs from that in regular schools only in that they receive 20 minutes of group and 20 minutes of individual instruction each day. After attending Willow Hall for one year the students usually are ready to enter or return to regular schools.

When each group enters the school individual records are made by the Radiology Department. At the end of the year recordings are again made and both are transferred from the original tapes to disc recordings which are used in demonstrations to parents and in college classroom work.

The clinic also offers therapy to out-patients from the city, county and state who come in once a week for services. The Saturday morning diagnostic clinic offers free examination by appointment to any resident of Kentucky.

Services of the clinic are incorporated into a summer training program for prospective speech therapists, teachers and clinical workers who have frequent contact with speech defective. The course is open at a fee to out of state individuals.

In addition to these services the clinic also has a working agreement with Cardinal Hill hospital for crippled children whereby it is responsible for instruction of cerebral palsy patients.

Students desiring therapy are given one or two half-hour sessions weekly.

Senior Students Are Eligible For Study Grants

Senior students interested in foreign study are eligible to apply for the Ford Foundation Foreign Study and Research Fellowships for 1954-55. Dr. M. M. White, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, announced.

Those interested must fill out an application form and submit it to the Board on Overseas Training and Research before Jan. 8, 1954. Each fellowship application must be accompanied by a comprehensive statement of the applicant's proposed plan of work and study. Each applicant is responsible for obtaining appraisals of his own qualifications and his proposed plan from five references of his choice.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained from the Ford Foundation Board on Overseas Training and Research, 375 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York.

Journalism Groups Hear Joe Landau

Joe Landau, staff writer for the Louisville Courier-Journal, spoke to the Journalism Building last week in the Journalism Building.

Dormitory Life Bewilders 'Big Wheel' From Coast

By JOHN STRACHAN

Upon arrival from the far west, J. J. Webb, a coast big wheel and friend, a movie fanatic, finds himself in the precarious position of having to register for a room in one of the UK dormitories. These buildings are called dorms by those who are familiar with a real live movie.

J. J. registers and finds his room number will be LF1639. This serves not only as a room number, but as the number on his life insurance policy as well.

Upon entering his room he manages to hide his surprise at the fact there are no pink carpets and no Van Goo pictures on the wall.

J. J. is in for a much bigger shock than that, however. The first of his two new roommates enters. This one's name is Tom Foey, a real Kentucky mountaineer from Yearn, Ky. Even J. J. can tell this boy is strictly hillbilly, since the only baggage he carries is a jug of moonshine.

To add insult to injury, J. J.'s second roommate ambles in after the first. This one is a real hunkin', and he is true Southern aristocrat. Drinks nothing but mint juleps and claims if he cuts himself while shaving, blue blood pours out. The only catch to this Southerner is that he's 35 inches from the Ohio border.

Science Lensman To Have Display

A series of photographic exhibitions prepared by the editors of 'Life' magazine will be shown by the UK Department of Art until Nov. 20 in the Fine Arts Building. Dr. D. L. Weismann, head of the department, has announced.

The exhibition, entitled "Photographic Science," consists of 18 photographs by Fritz Goro, "Life" photographer. Each of the pictures, enlarged and mounted on panels, records an important moment in the history of scientific achievement.

Goro, a pioneer in the science of photography, has also pioneered in developing methods of photographing difficult scientific subjects. He has developed what he calls "macro-photography," which takes microscopic objects and photographs them in their environments.

One of the photographs in the exhibition is his prize-winning shot of splitting an atom, taken in 1938. Many of the exhibits were made with special equipment, and microscopes, electronics, penicillin, lithium crystals, coated lenses, alternating current, and atomic energy are included in the subjects.

The exhibition will be shown in the north corridor on the first floor of the Fine Arts Building. It will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Physics Colloquium Set For Tuesday

The weekly physics colloquium will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 208 of Pence Hall.

Col. Henry H. Rogers, professor of military science and tactics, will be guest speaker. He will speak on "The Research and Development Program of the U.S. Army."

Preceding the speech, tea will be served in the physics library.

A custom that should go down the drain is girls' dressing up for a football game.

Coeds at LSU took this subtle hint to heart and began a fashion revolution. Now bobby socks and sports jackets take the place of heels and slinky dresses for football attire. Everyone, especially the cheerleaders and the girls' dates are more than well pleased with the new trend. So what started as an experiment promises to be a permanent trend at LSU. Is there any chance that the same thing might go into effect at UK?

Most colleges have May Day, Sadie Hawkins Day, Founders Day, and scads of other "days" set aside to celebrate an event or another. Few, however, have a Dad's Day. The University of Cincinnati is one of the schools which honors the dads of all the students. This Saturday will be that day. Dads of the football players and the cheerleaders will sit on the side-lines at the game, and each father will be proudly wearing the number of his son.

In traditional Auburn style, the University of Cincinnati has also started a move for campus friendliness. Last week "Hello Walk" was completed, and the students who stroll down that shaded lane are confronted with signs similar to "Smile, smile, say hello." Perhaps UK could revive its old "Hello Walk," that is if the gardeners who have taken the Botanical Gardens into hand leave enough trees on campus to hang signs upon.

Pacing Clyde Beatty's Ben Swanson has a collection of 40 pets, and the University of Houston student book would like this brave lad have taken the Botanical Gardens into hand. Then perhaps the campus would return to normal, and the screams of frightened coeds subside.

Although the collection which includes rattlesnakes, a cobra, two half-grown alligators, a coati-mundi, and three iguana lizards is safely caged, an air of uneasiness still prevails. There is even talk that the student body will request that the eight man guard around their harmful cougar mascot will shift positions and guard them against Swanson's collection, instead.

Oh, for the originality of a college professor! A Bio-science prof at Michigan State told his class he was disgusted because so few of his students believed in flying saucers. To the amazement of the class he reached into a bag and started hurling China plates across the room. Luckily, no one was hurt by the flying missiles, although a few ran from the room in fright.

Last year, the Republic of Slobotova produced 25 million tons of purple ice cubes.

UK Anthropology Museum Undergoing Redecoration

By DONNA VILLESVIK

The Anthropology Museum is being repaired and redecorated for the first time in any great extent since it was built in 1907.

The program began last May and will be completed around April 1954 by the Maintenance Department. Raymond H. Thompson, curator of the museum, is in charge of the program.

There are many structural repairs being made such as roof and floor repairing. Shelves have been built in the basement with interchangeable drawers which will contain the relics not being studied or displayed.

A laboratory is being built in the basement to clean the relics and to treat them with chemicals. New partitions have also been constructed to provide more office space.

The main floor of the museum is being reorganized and will be chiefly for the appreciation of the public. Thompson said. New exhibit cases are being added which will be provided with inner lighting for a better perspective. Thompson plans to display exhibits showing the earliest inhabitants up to the Indians that were here in Kentucky when the white man came. The exhibits will be organized into periods of history.

The museum was a gift to the University by Andrew Carnegie through the efforts of former President Patterson and was originally built for a library. It was given to the Anthropology Department about 1932 and served as a research center as well as a place for their regional displays.

Campus Activities Fill Weekend

By ANN O'BARRK

"When it rains it pours," so the old adage goes, and with weekends like this one and the next, everyone will be ready to take on any "rain-makers" that dare to show up.

The judging for the 1954 Kentucky Queen will be held this afternoon. This is one time that Kentucky really does live up to its reputation of having "the most beautiful women" in the world. Fred Waring will be the master of ceremonies for the program.

For his official appearance and concert, Fred Waring and his company will live up to the Coliseum tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The new things are looking new, anyone who wants a seat in our "overized garage" to quote Bob Hope will have to go very early. Whoever sells box lunches should make a fortune.

Whodunnit Will Roar

Tomorrow the whodunnit will roar over Memphis State at 2 p.m. on Stoll Field. This is their last warm-up before the game of the season which will bring back the best team that Tennessee has kept for too long.

Students Do No Dating At Philippine University

By MARY ELLEN KING

"There is no dating at the University of the Philippines," says Primitiva P. Perez, in comparing the school from which she graduated with UK, where she is now a graduate student.

"We had visiting hours at the girls' dormitory, but as you have visiting hours at hospitals. This is the only time that the boys and girls see each other, except in classes and on campus. Girls don't go out on dates. When they go to a movie, they go in groups of at least six. Occasionally a girl sneaks out of the dorm, but she is considered a 'bad girl' when she is caught."

Miss Perez is in her second year of graduate work here, majoring in education. She plans to go back to the Philippines and teach.

When asked why she chose UK, she replied that she had a friend who had a friend, a GI, who went

Guignol Tryouts Scheduled Sunday

Tryouts for the Guignol production, "An Inspector Calls," by J. B. Priestly, will be held in the Guignol Theater at 2 p.m. Sunday. Anyone at the University may try out for the 13 available parts.

The play will be held Dec. 7-12 in the Guignol Theater. It will be an arena production directed by William Chaffner, a new member of the UK Speech and Drama Department.

"An Inspector Calls" is a social drama with overtones in fantasy. An Inspector shows that the people, while they are industrious, have unknowingly caused the death of a factory girl.

By ANN MONARCH

It was 7:30 p.m., and a fire-bell was ringing to close the day's freedom.

My roommate rushed in, slammed the door, and tripped over a pile of books in the middle of the floor. She picked herself up, uttered a few remarks not recommended by Emily Post, and stumbled over to fall on her bed.

As she was contentedly starting at the ceiling, someone visiting us asked, "Don't you have to study?" "Study?" she said. "What's that?" Then for some reason we all began to laugh. My idiot roommate gave one final squawk and rolled off her bed onto the floor and her face.

At this point our room began to look like an extension of the Student Union. Several girls wandered in to discuss the latest event—usually male—and to giggle at the newest joke.

Goldfish Pickled

My poor gold fish was having a gay time until someone poured perfume in his bowl. Pickled fish. A neighbor across the hall had just sent me a "Peanut" or a "Lil," permanent, and we had raised the window to air our room. It was soon like an icehouse. We closed the window.

Four minutes later our room was filled with smoke, the foul smelling stuff rising from literally hundreds of cigarettes that had been lit when the window went down.

Food Goes East

Mine good buddy from down the hall is industriously availing himself to the package of food my mother had sent me yesterday. She was just a little late.

At exactly 9:45 we began to study. My roommate roused herself just enough to call out, "Hand me a cigarette," and extended a limp hand to receive same.

Just then somebody announced that she couldn't smoke in the bed. My roomy just grinned, lit her cigarette, and practically committed suicide getting off her bed as a knock sounded on our door.

We roared into laughter, and a counselor thrust her head inside our room to say sweetly, "One call down for that girls."

Outside a boy turned down our

German Teachers Will Lead Panel

Several German secondary school teachers, who are at the University to observe our educational system, will lead a panel entitled "Glimpses of the German University Student."

The panel will be held at 4 p.m., Thursday in the Music Room of the Student Union. It will be composed of Mrs. Gertrud Maria-Luise Sack; Miss Ingeborg Klotz; Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen; Miss Gertraud Anne Leimbühler; Franz Wilding, and Wolfgang Karl Wilhelm Neumann.

The teachers were brought to America by the U.S. State Department in order to bring about an exchange of ideas in education between the two nations.

University students are invited to attend the panel. Sally Maggard, chairman of the committee, said.

Mechanical Engineers Plan Inspection Tour

An inspection tour of the new General Electric Company plant at Louisville is planned for Thursday by the UK Department of Mechanical Engineering.

About 74 mechanical engineering students and professors from the department expect to attend. They will go to Louisville in chartered buses.

UK Art Graduate Exhibits Paintings

Eighteen abstract paintings by Leo Zimmerman, graduate of the UK Department of Art, are on exhibit for the rest of this month in the Fine Arts Gallery.

Students are continuing field, rather geometric shapes of colors by E. W. Rannels, professor of art, the paintings were done while Zimmerman was in Paris, France. He was a member of a well known group of abstract painters there and became a firm believer in non-objective art.

Zimmerman graduated in 1949 and is now living in both Louisville and Lexington.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Where's one prediction I can make? Without my crystal ball—For smoke appeal you're sure to find That Luckies top them all!

UK Art Students Enter Sculptures In Berea Exhibit

The work of 14 UK Art Department students is being featured in an exhibition which opened last week in the Berea College Art Building.

The wood sculptures display, combined with a showing of graphic work by Murray State College students, will continue through November.

All the work exhibited by UK students was done as part of the regular work of a class in intermediate design taught by Prof. Raymond Barnhart, assistant professor of art.

The wood used in the sculptures came from this immediate area and was purchased especially for the students.

The 14 students represented in the exhibition are David Adams, Donald Adams, Jerry Bronson, Beverly Davis, Patsy Emms, Dolly Ernst, Doris Morgan, William Powers, Nancy Schaefer, Hazel Schwartz, Dan Shindlerow, Lauret Statham, Kenneth West and Roger Williams III.

Dr. J. B. Shannon Speaks In Florida

" Dwight D. Eisenhower as a Party Leader" was the subject of a speech given by Dr. J. B. Shannon of the UK Political Science Department in Gainesville, Fla. last weekend.

Professors of political science represented all southern colleges at this meeting. A roundtable discussion was heard on the first nine months of the Eisenhower administration.

Considering Eisenhower's personality, Dr. Shannon said, "Close observers of his military and political behavior have said that first he hesitates, then stumbles, but rather quickly recovers his fumbles and follows with an acceptable if not brilliant performance."

Dr. Shannon's speech was part of a series of lectures given by the Southern Political Science Association.

Dr. Margaret Hotchkiss Attends Meet In Rome

Dr. Margaret Hotchkiss, professor of bacteriology, has returned from Rome, Italy where she attended the Sixth International Congress of Microbiology last September.

At the meeting of this world organization which was held at the Citta Universitaria, Dr. Hotchkiss submitted a paper prepared by her and some of her students on the resistance of the Genus Shigella to streptomycin.

Other scientists there presented their papers in their native tongues. Dr. Hotchkiss said, and they were interpreted if necessary. The program of the conference was printed in English, French, and Italian.

There is a great deal of nonsense about Europeans not liking Americans," she commented. "They went more than out of their way to be nice to us."

Deans attending the meeting, Dr. Hotchkiss was able to visit the museum at Rome's city hall where paintings, statues, and tapestries were displayed.

She also saw the ruins of the palace of Emperor Hadrian and the gardens of the palace Countess Farnese.

Marshall Appointed Announcement was made recently of the appointment of Maurice K. Marshall as a new instructor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Marshall received degrees in aeronautical and mechanical engineering from Purdue in 1946. From 1946 to 1952 he was associated with the Otis Elevator Company, and was employed by the Morgantown Mining Company from 1952 until accepting his new duties at UK.

Marshall, who has done graduate work in business management at the night school of Northwestern University, is married and has two children.

Prof. Prindl Returns Prof. Frank J. Prindl of the Music Department returned last week from a music critics workshop in New York City.

The workshop was co-sponsored by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra Society, the Music Critics Circle Society, and the American Orchestra League.

Purpose of the workshop was to discuss the entire field of music criticism.

Prof. Spokes Attends Meeting Prof. Ernest Spokes, assistant professor of mining engineering, visited Chicago last weekend to attend the 16th annual Fuel Conference sponsored jointly by the American can Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Thompson Appointed Secretary Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson, UK Director of Libraries, was appointed secretary of the Education-Industry Conference at their meeting last week at Chapel Hill, N. C.

The Education-Industry Conference, the first of its type in the South, is trying to more closely coordinate education with industry.

Labor Group Call Whitehead Prof. F. W. Whitehead, professor of law, served as an arbitrator in a labor dispute in the refractories industry at Ashland Wednesday.

Both parties, through the American Arbitration Association, asked Prof. Whitehead to help settle the dispute.

Dean Stahr Speaks Law College Dr. Elvis Stahr addressed the past week of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers during the past week.

Dr. Stahr gave an address on the "A University Can Build A State" at the annual meeting last week of the Bruckner Club at Ashland Wednesday.

Speaking before the Versailles Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Dr. Stahr gave an address on "The Framers of the American Constitution."

Dr. Leland To Speak Dr. Stanley E. Leland Jr., of the UK department of animal pathology, will address the Bacteriology Society on the topic, "The Application of Electrophoresis to Biological Studies" at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The meeting will be held in Room 124 of the Funkhouser Biological Sciences Building.

Prof. Clemmons Attends Meet Mrs. Anne Clemmons, assistant professor of home economics, is attending the American Public Health Association in New York City and the American Red Cross School Association in Boston, Mass. this week.

Commerce Group In Atlanta Dean C. C. Carpenter, Prof. W. W. Haynes, and Prof. Rodman Sullivan, will address the Southern Economic Association today and at the American Red Cross School Association in Boston, Mass. this week.

Dr. Carpenter attended a conference in Atlanta Thursday on the problems of business administration in the college curriculum. He led a panel discussion on accreditation, placement, internships, and relation to business community.

Dr. Bull To Preside Dr. Jacqueline P. Bull, president of the Kentucky Library Association and archivist of UK Library, will preside at the annual meeting of the association at Berea, Ky., this weekend.

The speakers for the meeting will include Mrs. Barry Bingham, book editor for the Louisville Courier-Journal and chairman of the Kentucky Bookmobile Project, and Wayne Hartwell, present librarian of F. E. Compton and Company, formerly with Overseas Library Service in India.

Miss Elizabeth Hanson, head of the Periodicals Department in the UK Library will be in charge of exhibitions at the meeting.

COLLEGE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OFFICERS - New officers of the UK College Chamber of Commerce were elected at a meeting of the organization Monday night.

Rays From Outer Space Studied By UK Graduate

By RONNIE BUTLER

Somewhere, out near the White Sands Proving Grounds for guided missiles in New Mexico, a lean, curly-haired young man is doing some unique research for the government.

Two years ago, the same young man was on the UK campus, and three years ago, he was struggling to overcome the crippling rheumatoid arthritis which, for a long time, kept him bedfast in the UK infirmary.

Campus police still tell about the times they saw Robert McDaniel shuffling across the campus, on his way home. They'd ask him if he wanted a ride, but McDaniel would always politely refuse the offer, and plod along on his own, each joint in his body throbbing with pain.

Tris Miracle Drug In 1950, McDaniel was given treatment consisting of injections of a new miracle drug, Cortisone. Almost immediately, he improved rapidly enough to allow him to leave the infirmary and to keep up with his work.

McDaniel already had, at that time, a reputation for being one of the most brilliant students to enter the graduate school in physics. When his work here was finished, a friend of his—a doctor—told him he needed three things before he could live a happy, successful life.

First, he was told, he should find a job in a good physics department. Second, he must live in the best possible climate, and, last, try to be near expert medical advice.

McDaniel accepted a position in the physics department at the University of Arizona, in Tucson. There, he found the three things that had been prescribed for him, and it wasn't long before he was living a happy, comfortable life.

His happiness stemmed from the opportunity he was given to do research in the field of interest—cosmic rays. The White Sands Proving Grounds enlisted his aid in exploring the mysteries of cosmic rays and it wasn't long before local newspapers began running "Buck Rogers" stories concerning him.

Bryant Displays Reserve Strength In Vandy Rout

By HANK MAYO

The Whatnot Wildcats, who have been extremely unpredictable this season, scored the first time they got their hands on the ball and went on to crush off-beaten Vanderbilt, 40-14, at Nashville Saturday in their last away game this season. The remaining two games, Memphis State and Tennessee are to be played at Stoll Field.

The Cats, after taking the opening kick-off back to their own 27, sent Fullback Ralph Paine through the center for four yards. Hardy on second down took the ball on a keep play and after racing nine yards, tossed a lateral to big Steve Metzinger who scooted to the Vandy 20.

Paulose then picked up five to the 15. Hardy, on an option play, found plenty of room off-tackle and raced for the touchdown. He also added the extra-point and the Cats led 7-0 with only 1:45 gone in the initial period.

The Bryants got their first defensive test as they tackled and Vandy recovered on the Kentucky 37. On their first play Looney passed to McKinnon to the 26. The Cats held and took over on downs on their 27.

Following this, Fullback Paine raced 35 yards but the threat died out as a fourth-down pass by Hardy failed and gave the ball to Vandy on his 32.

Once again the Commodores caught fire as Halfback Charlie Heavin right-aped the Vandy defense for 46 yards to the Wildcat 25. The drive was halted when Fullback Ray Callahan intercepted on his 32.

A 41-yard run by Shatto set up the next touchdown, as Hardy on the option play was hit on the four and lateraled to Don Netoski, who crossed across for the touchdown. Hardy missed his first try for the extra-point and the Cats led 21-0.

The third period was the Cats' big scoring spree as they received the kick-off and in 11 plays went 58 yards with Hardy going over from the one. Again Hardy converted and the Cats led 27-0.

Hunt Passed For Fifth TD
Hunt passed to End Jerry Beatty for the fifth Cat TD. Netoskie added the extra-point and the Cats led 34-0.

The second Vandy TD came as Hawkins recovered Curritto's fumble on the Kentucky 46. After 15 and 23 yard gains, Byers went over for the TD. Kriesenmeyer added the extra point and Kentucky led 34-14.

This left just enough time for the Cats to engineer another touchdown as Rushing, in at quarterback for the Cats, sneaked over from the one. The try for the extra-point failed and the final score was Kentucky 40, Vanderbilt 14.

Cagers Gain Game Practice In Scrimmages With Rockets

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats have certainly had their hands full this week as they scrimmaged four afternoons with the visiting Andrews Air Force Base Rockets. The Rockets, who made the trip especially to scrimmage against the Wildcats, arrived Monday afternoon.

Two former UK basketballers, Bobby Watson and C. M. Newton, are regulars on Coach John Toomay's Andrews five. Both appear to be in excellent shape, and show that they haven't lost their eye for the basket that they had while playing at UK.

Newton said that the Rockets are expected to have one of the finest service teams in the country this season. He said that the squad was a little slow getting into shape, but that they should be in fine condition by their opening game Nov. 24. Besides their regular schedule of service teams, the Rockets also play several colleges including Maryland, Georgetown University, and George Washington.

Andrew's "Rockets" Look Strong
If their play against the Wildcats is an indication of their usual play, the Rockets certainly have a powerhouse. They were able to give the Wildcats plenty of trouble until the latter parts of the scrimmages, where the excellent condition of the Wildcats gave them an advantage.

The Wildcats were hampered in the series of scrimmages by the absence of big Lou Taboropoulos. He suffered a knee injury in Friday's practice and is not expected to be available for much practice before the first game of the season. The loss of Taboropoulos is a major blow to the Wildcats, as he is one of the best rebounders on the squad and also an excellent shot. He is the second Wildcat to suffer a knee injury this fall. Several weeks ago Willie House hurt his knee, but is back at practice now, although it is not completely healed.

Invitational Pairings Announced

I-M Roundup PKT, SAE, KA And SN Win First Round Tests

PKT, SAE, SN, and KA won first round games as the I-M football tournament opened this week. The fraternity champions will meet the independent winners Monday night at Legion Field for the University title.

Favorites ran into unexpected opposition, only the KA's winning by more than one touchdown. KA defeated Triangle 13-0. Charles Mitchell scored the first KA touchdown, intercepting a Triangle pass early in the first half. KA gathered their second TD near the end of the half on a pass from Bob Logan to Jim Weaver. Bill Coddell carried the ball over for the extra point.

The two teams fought to a standstill in the second half, neither being able to put together an offensive threat. SN continued their winning ways handling PTA a 6-0 setback. SN, chafed up the game's only score in the second half when Norm Miller connected with Ray Jones on a long pass.

PKT knocked PKA out of the running for the title with a 6-2 board on the second floor of Alumni Gym. Approximately 25 teams will carry on the game schedule. The Kernel will carry the schedule from week to week for the following weeks.

Potent UK Swim Team Preps For Big Season

Kentucky's 1953 swimming team will open its season Jan. 15 against Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

This year's team is built around seven returning letter-men. However, Coach Reese said that the team would not be at top power until the second semester because of the ineligibility of some of the boys. "We will be short in the back stroke particularly until Jim McDonald and Paul Bollinger become eligible next semester," he said.

Bollinger is a transfer from Louisville. He will be in Lexington until after the football season.

Roger Messick heads the list of last season's performers who have been working out since Oct. 26 in the Coliseum pool. Messick was a mainstay of last year's squad and topped several records in last year's SEC competition.

Returning in the freestyle class are Dick Deane, Ken Glass, and Gene Lewis. The backstroke will have to rely on Richard Medley and Jim McCabe until McDonald and Bollinger become eligible.

Coach Reese led eight men from last year's squad. John Taylor was the only graduating senior. Lost by year of eligibility were Bruce Kunkel and John Burk who completed their three years eligibility last season. Others failing to report this fall were Stuart Meyer, Dick Dedmon, Glen Thompson, and George King.

Coach Reese said he hoped to reinforce his lettermen with some first year men who have been working out since Oct. 5.

In the freestyle, Dave Andre, James Hogan, William Lester, Bill Levy, Bill Love, and Dean Wuchter have shown great promise. The diving contingent will be helped by Charles Farley, Leroy Lanston, Truman Taylor, and Sherrill Ward. John Bowman is the only new back-stroker.

Three Big Meets On Tap
The schedule this year is highlighted by participation in three important championship meets. They are the Southern Regional Invitational Intercollegiate Championships at Atlanta on Feb. 11-12; the SEC at Gainesville, Fla., on March 4-5; and the NCAA meet at Syracuse.

UK Harriers Face Berea, Eagles Here

The University of Tennessee outclassed the Kentucky Wildcats' cross country team in the four mile run at Knoxville by giving them their second loss 22-20.

Sam Hill and Ogles took first and second place in leading the V's distance men to victory. Hill finished in 21 minutes flat, only 53 seconds from the record which is 20:07 held by Alf Homborg of Tennessee. Capt. Frank Scott and Dave Coletti placed third and fourth for the Wildcats. Tennessee's Gamble came in fifth ahead of Charlie Wells of Kentucky. Seventh and eighth spots went to Taylor and Gardner of Tennessee. The scoring was ended by Don Atkinson and Frank Ford for both extra points.

KS got their TD with only seconds left in the game when Ronny Bonnell, taking an end run, passed to Al Hall in the end zone.

The basketball free throw competition will be held Monday and Tuesday nights at Alumni Gym. I-M basketball leagues will swing into action Wednesday night. Schedules haven't been released as yet but all rosters are in. The schedules will be posted on the bulletin board on the second floor of Alumni Gym. Approximately 25 teams will carry on the game schedule. The Kernel will carry the schedule from week to week for the following weeks.

Colonel Of Week Applicants Needed

Students eligible for "Colonel of the Week" are asked to apply at the Kernel office in the Journalism building at any time during the day. If a student wishes to recommend another as "Colonel of the Week," he should include a picture of the applicant, his standing, his classification and major, and a list of his activities and offices. At present girls applicants are especially requested. The Kernel tries to alternate a boy and a girl "Colonel" every other week. All pictures of the applicant will be returned after use.

WHAT DID HE SAY?

A very fastidious college senior decided to add a few colored shirts to his wardrobe. So one afternoon, he strolled down to the local shirt shop. "I'd like to see your smartest colored shirts," he said to the clerk.

The clerk laid several Van Heusen Vanhuse Broadcloths on the counter. "These are our best sellers," he said. "They're tailored of fine, high-count broadcloth that's very smooth and lustrous. And you can take your pick of eight different collar styles—including Van Heusen's new short collars that are the rage of the college set."

"They sure look good to me," said the senior. "Good! They're terrific!" replied the clerk. "Just look at that magic seamanship—Van Heusen's finest. Why, even the buttons are top quality, genuine ocean pearl. And Vanhuse Broadcloths come in every color of the rainbow—from soft, subtle shades to rich robust tones. What's more, they're only $5.95 apiece."

"Do you have henna color?" asked the young man. "That's just what I finished telling you," answered the clerk. "You can have henna color you want!"

Traffic Survey Indicates Parking Permit Increase

Results of a recent traffic survey indicate that a substantial increase could be made in the number of parking permits issued without overcrowding the 14 areas on the campus.

An additional 47 parking permits have already been issued this semester as the result of preliminary recommendations by a student-faculty committee appointed by Dean M. M. White, College of Arts and Sciences.

The traffic survey, conducted by committee members, shows some areas on the campus with 30 per cent of the parking spaces unoccupied at a given time.

Tabulations and observations were completed last spring on parking Areas 8 and 9, checked at various times of the day and ranging over a one-month period.

Unoccupied spaces in Area 9 totaled 15 per cent when observed at 10 a.m. and 23-1/2 per cent at 2 p.m. Area 9 is located by the Margaret I. King Library.

UK Debate Team Named Co-Winner

The UK debate team was declared co-winner with Ohio University of the Ten-Kingdoms debate tournament held in Cincinnati last weekend.

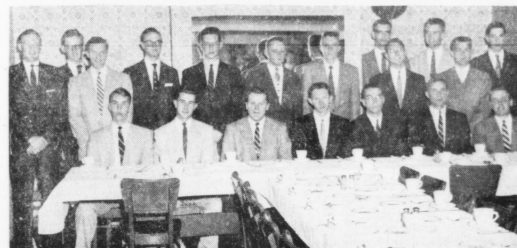

The negative team, which had George Shaden and William Douglas remained undefeated. The affirmative team, James Fugate and Charles English, won the first out of three.

Touche was selected one of the seven on-debater-of-the-week.

He will be awarded the W. W. Venable certificate. The A. W. Venable' place will be awarded to UK for being a co-winner.

The UK team will attend the Purdue Invitational Tournament Nov. 19-22. The same affirmative and negative teams will represent the University.

The topic for debate is "The U. S. Should Adopt A Policy Of Free Trade."

Homecoming Festivities To Attract UK Alumni

A dance, brunch, and open house will be held by the UK Alumni Association in connection with the UK-Tennessee Homecoming game Saturday, Nov. 21.

Registration will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m., and members of the alumni executive committee will be at the major hotels in Lexington, the Student Union, and the Coliseum.

A brunch for alumni and their friends will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The affair has been planned to allow visitors to arrive on the campus early and have time to park and make arrangements for attending the game.

Alumni officials have requested that persons planning to attend the brunch notify the alumni office as soon as possible.

Open house after the game will be held at Maxwell Place, home of President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan, from 4 to 6 p.m. At the same time, open house will be observed at all campus residence halls, fraternity, and sorority houses.

A free dance for all alumni and guests will be held from 8:30 p.m. until midnight in the ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel.

Additional details of the homecoming will be announced later. Co-chairmen of the Homecoming Committee are Robert H. Hillemeier and Mrs. Hampton C. Adams, both of Lexington.

Dr. North Attends Testing Conclaves

Dr. Robert D. North, assistant director for testing in the University personnel office, returned to UK this week after attending two national educational testing conferences in New York and a third in New Jersey.

The testing specialist was chairman of the Conference of Directors of State Testing Programs which was held last week at Princeton, N. J., and attracted educators from all sections of the nation.

Dr. North also took part in the Invitational Conference on Testing Problems and the Eighteenth Educational Conference, both staged in New York City.

The UK personnel office also announced yesterday that Dr. North has been selected as chairman of an American College Personnel Association Research Committee. He will direct research in problems of counseling and student personnel work.

Chapel Appeal Delayed By UK, Tri Delt Protest

Action on the Christ Episcopal Church's appeal to the city zoning board of adjustment for permission to build a Canterbury Club chapel and student center on Rose Street was delayed until the next meeting following protests by the University and the Tri Delt Realty Company.

The church asked permission to build within five feet of the property lines on the sides and to extend the proposed building to the rear property line. Zoning regulations specify 20-foot setbacks from side lines for church or club structures, but the board has the power to grant exceptions.

The lot on which the chapel would be built is situated between the Tri Delt and Alpha Delta Pi houses.

Charles Mahoney, attorney for the Tri Delt Realty Company, and W. L. Matthews Jr., professor of law and legal representative for the University, owner of the ADPI house, and for the ADPI House Corporation, objected to allowing the extra yardage. They claimed that it would decrease the value of adjacent property and constitute a first hazard.

Dr. J. W. Kennedy, rector of Christ Church, said that the church plans to spend $100,000 on the proposed building. It would have one story in front and two in the rear.

Howard Feldmann, chairman of the church's vestry committee on the Canterbury project, said this week that the chapel would be "a very definite boost to the campus."

"We are definitely not dropping the matter," he said.

Tag Sales Race Is Close So Far

The ODK tag sale race has been a close one so far, with Alpha Delta Pi sorority and Delta Tau Delta fraternity slightly ahead at the last count. Running a close second are Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and Tri-Sigma.

Receipts from the sale of tags go into the ODK Project Fund. In the past the fund has provided lights for the Student Union, and ODK has co-sponsored the All-Campus Sing. The fund also provides a minor sports scholarship each year.

The winners will runners-up in the fraternity and sorority divisions will be awarded trophies at the Kentucky-Tennessee Homecoming game Nov. 21.

Deadline for membership applications in ODK has been set at noon Nov. 21. Application blanks may be obtained and deposited at Dean A. D. Kirwan's office. The point system on which selection is partially based is described on the applications. Other requirements are that the applicant must have a 2 point overall standing and be a junior or senior.
