

My dear Son

Ashland 11th June 1845

I recd your letter, transmitting two of your notes, both of which have been discounted, and I believe without any hesitation. I think that if you could make a partial payment to the N. Bank, when your note becomes mature there, it will continue the wisdom of it.

I paid $10 towards the discount at the Bank, the residue of $1:60 I add then to your credit.

I shall advance the discount at the other Bank, when due, if I do not hear from you.

All are well except myself, and all send you their love.

Mr. H. Clay Jr.

Yrs affly

H. Clay
