

Hartford June 27 '87

My dear Miss Clay,

I have not been negligent (nearly) or forgetful, but just too busy to live, and write. I was ever so disappointed not to find Miss Bates at Judge Brewster's house when I stayed there days in New York. Once the Judge said she was expected as soon as I got out of town, or words to that effect, and he promised to let