

HARRIS STOCK FARM,

D. M. HARRIS, Proprietor.

Zanesville, O. July 1st 1891

H. C. McDowell,

Lexington Kentucky. Dear Sir,

Your letter of June 19th was duly received.

I have a matter on hands that I am expecting money from, and waited this long ^{to answer} thinking that by this time I would realize so I could send you a check. It is however only a question of a short time 6 or 8 weeks until I will have the money, then I want to come & see you & pay you bill. I much prefer at this time not to give my note if you can wait as above. If however you can not, let me know & I will send notes.

I have to be very careful of my credit as all men here engaged in horses are looked upon with suspicion by those who loan money.

Fanny Wilkes yearling is I am sure a great mare but surely not greater than the one by her side now. It is a horse bright bay, with white hind feet. Flora has a filly by Baron Wilkes that I think well of and it so much like its mother. Hoping Dictator's fame will ^{outshine} all others.
I am yours truly, D. M. Harris
