Dear Tom:-

No doubt you don't care to read a letter from me since I was so cruel as to rob you of your darling little sister - But now since its all over cant you forgive me - I know it was awfully hard on you but still if you had been in my position I honestly believe you would have done the same thing.

I've always loved Aline since first we met but never dreamed of ever having the pleasure of making her my wife - Now since she's Mrs. J. Y. Jenkins I feel that Im the luckiest boy

My Own Darling Wifey:-

Today I feel as though Im one thousand miles away from my girlie and that feeling cant be described .

If it wasnt that you get so angry when I try to humor myself I beleive Id come over again tonight, in fact I knew I would for Im just as blue as yesterday. Dont think Im saying this just to be saying it for I mean every word I write and will swear it. You know yourself how I detest deceitfullness and do hope you mean the sweet things you write me.

What-ever you do Darling please be true to hubby and allways express your honest opinion on everything.

Just get a phone call from Annie , she informed me that she had talked with you and would be over for a little visit on Thursday morning , I ask what my girlie had to say about her husband and was surprised to learn that my name wasnt mentioned.

Darling Id give anything if you would only love half as much as I love you, Im so afraid if you dont commence pretty soon your love for little Yates will all be gone and should that ever happen there would be nothing more in life for me .

My precious Girl cant you realize just how much you really mean to your husband , Why Darling Id do anything in the world for little Alleen and you knew it., I try so hard to let you know how foolish I am about wifey but still it doesnt seem to have effect.

Its true Ive acted mighty silly a few times but we are all silly on certain occasions and I beg that you overlook the past for I shall try hard never to let it occur again., Im not going to tell you any more that Im going to act different but Im going to shew you that I can and will act as sweet and nice as any-one. "Actions speak louder than words" (did you notice any change on Monday evening ?)

Received a package from Daddy Van Loon today addressed to "J.Y. Cowboy Jenkins" Now what you know about that , It was some reproductions of the drawings I made for his lodge while in Chicago , Im enclosing one so you can see what a bum artist I am. The puzzle is to find my enitials "J.Y.J."

Today is souvineer matinee and I do wish you could see the crowd of ladies , every seat in the house is sold , but of all the ladies there are here I wouldnt give you for the whole bunch , There is not even one out of the nine hundred and sixty five that could half compare with Alleen in any way, and thats the truth if I ever told it.

Your true blue eyes constantly stare at me from the little picture I have on my desk , Every one that comes in , admires it and wants to know who she is , Say, Can you picture me telling them . Goodness but Im proud to say its my wife.

Pappa was up to see me at lunch and said he wanted ^{over} his daughter to come ~~up~~ to see him again real soon , by the way, why cant you come back with Annie for a little visit , I know she would be glad to have you and it would please me too. Shes your best girl friend Alleen and I want you to treat her to that effect.

My only regrets are that she wont be a friend to me also , Ive allways liked Annie and thought she liked me . But that only goes to show that you cant tell who really is your friend now days.
So long as Alleen will care for me Im satisfied.

Tomorrow can hardly get here soon enough , Gee but I wish things were so we could be together all the time then maby I could succeed in teaching you to love me., Oh Id give anything if I only knew the truth about your love. Yes I do beleive you love me a little but theres plenty of room for mere.

Getting pretty late so I must go home to dinner , will call you over phone before I retire as I need some sleep
but could never get it unless I heard your sweet voice.

With all my love, hugs, and kisses for my Darling Girl
I am as ever

"My own precious hubby" :-

I just believe I'll die if tomorrow evening doesn't hurry and get here.
Wanted to see "my boy" "she" had, I know,
"I've got the finest man, - I got the grandest man - what's - in the land.
Oh there's something 'bout - him only long - can make me understand,
when he calls me cutey, sweetie, "Oh
you Doll" - I feel my senses leaving and the Lord forbid. - 'Cause when I hear him call, - "I'm gone" that's all yes, gone, I'm singing, to him
all the while :-

"My little lovin' Honey - man - you sure have won my heart and hand -
I'm only waiting now to kiss him
most to depe
and when he says to me,

Come on, what will I say? —

I'll say, come round here,
hold me, right —

I wouldn't let him leave my sight —

and if I thought he'd ^{ever} go —

If I only thought he'd try to go — then I would sigh, no! — I'd cry

yes! I'd lay me down and die
yes! die, —

If I should ever lose my
dear sweet husb.

"He's got the grandest ♥ — He's got the biggest heart — I ever knew before.

He's more than twice as nice as any other man, — and

"then some more" ; —

when he gets along beside me "Oh,
that man"

He springs little tricks of love,
like no one can — and

When that boy does kiss, I shake
with bliss

I hear myself a purring all the while

"My little lovin' Honey-man"
My own dear hubby "Jesse".

(Does my sentiments exactly)
Yes!

I can hardly wait until tomorrow
night - when I intend to serve such bliss

By bending nearer and nearer to my sweetheart - like this (can you see me)

and the world in eclipse all my love on my lips - I will give you my best and my warmest kiss. wait and see if I don't do this when I greet you and tell you how much I love you and wish you many many many

I wish to be a happier and still happier
one. God bless you how I idolize

Sweetheart if you can get off from

at twelve thirty so come back at that time. Be sure and phone Anne but
