Pep Organization Holds Semi-Annual Election of Officers; Guthrie Yaeger Becomes Vice-President

BUILD NEW CHECK ROOM

Ample Facilities for Taking Care of Wraps at Dances Are Furnished

John Dabney, prominent member of the senior class, was reelected president of the Su-Ky Circle for the second semester at the regular weekly meeting of the pep organization held Tuesday afternoon in the trophy room of the men's gymnasium. At this meeting details were worked out for the operation of the new check room which the circle is installing in the gym for the benefit of students attending dances there.

All of the old officers of the circle were reelected with the exception of the vice presidency to which officer Guthrie Yaeger was elected. The officers reelected were Willy King, secretary, Louise Atkins, treasurer, Marie Beckner, assistant secretary and Ted McDowell, assistant treasurer. These will hold office for the second semester until the election of new officers in May.

Check Room Is Improvement

For some time the Su-Ky circle has realized the need of better facilities for checking wraps at the school dances given in the gymnasium. To meet this need the circle has built a modern check-room at the west end of the floor and which will be in operation for the first time at the Stroller dance Saturday night.

Convenience and absolute safety are the key-words of the new check-room. Located at the west end of the floor near the entrance to the building, it

PROMINENT MEN TO MEET HERE

75 Deans and Presidents Will Attend Conference of Association of Kentucky Colleges; 10 Schools Send Delegates

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

The annual conference of the Association of Kentucky Colleges and Universities which will be held tomorrow at the University of Kentucky, is expected to attract approximately 75 persons including the presidents and deans of most of the colleges of the state, according to Dr. P. P. Boyd, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the university. The conference will be held in the physics lecture room.

Members of the association who are expected to send delegates are the University of Kentucky, the University of Louisville, Transylvania, Berea, Western State College, Centre College, Georgetown, Kentucky Wesleyan, Asbury and Nazareth Colleges.

Executive Committee Named
The present executive committee of the association is composed of president, Dr. J. L. Whiteside, dean of Kentucky Wesleyan College; vice president, Dr. F. A. Fogle, Georgetown College; secretary, Dr. Frank L. Rainey, Centre College; Dr. P. P. Boyd, University of Kentucky; A. J. Chester, Berea College; Clarence Freeman, Transylvania College, and

Freshmen Exhaust Pens and Pencils

In Attempt to Compute Standings; Examinations Cause Much Uneasiness

(By Kyle Whitehead)

All I know is what I hear on the campus. Not long ago another story for the Kernel was begun with the same sentence, and someone said it wasn't original, and was encroaching on the illustrious and humorous Will Rogers. Trying to be different has its good points, but because Rogers began his writings first, and came from the great open spaces where men and cattle are synonymous, means nothing to an embryonic university journalist who comes from eastern Kentucky where men are men, and a ton of coal nuggets sells for the price of a good malted milk. The cowboy is really a fun-maker, and has such a start in that direction that it doesn't seem probable that anyone will force him into the background. Rogers has one disadvantage, for all he knows is what he reads in the papers that are put out by journalists, while there are many more things to

Women's Pan-Hellenics Vote Down Taking

PUT TABOO ON STAG LINES

In of Any Catholic or Jewish Fraternities

The "stag line" at college sorority dances to be eliminated if the National Women's Pan-Hellenic has its way. The Pan-Hellenic congress, which ended its five-day meeting at Dallas, Tex., last Friday, voted to restrict the number of men who attend dances without partners.

The fellows who attend dances without girls and expect to get to dance all the numbers at the expense of the other men who do escort partners, were scored by delegates at the congress.

The congress recommended a shortening of the rushing season which precedes the pledging of new members and advised that entertainments should be held in chapter houses rather than at hotels and clubs. They also advocated limitation on expending

Stamps Require Cash

Postoffice Authorities Will Not Accept Checks

Most steps for the good usually trip on a few new troubles etcetera. At least this seems to be the case with the new United States postage in the Men's Gym. A great number of its patrons, it seems, fail to realize the new dignity which it has acquired in its new title, "U. S. P. O.," and consequently do not accord it the same treatment which they give the down town office. This is regrettable, as they at least. So please do not try to purchase stamps with your personal check or otherwise commit a "federal faux pas," so to speak.

Prof. Lorado Taft to Speak Here January 21

Noted Sculptor to Make Address on "Beauty in American Life"

Prof. Lorado Taft, of Chicago, will speak on "Beauty in American Life," at a convocation which will be held here Thursday, January 21, in the men's gymnasium. All classes will be dismissed. Mr. Taft will give a talk in the afternoon at Patterson Hall at 3 o'clock on "The American Sculpture and Sculptors."

Professor Taft, who is a noted sculptor of America, has been an instructor in the Art Institute of Chicago since 1886. He has been a professional lecturer since 1909 and is now

PROFESSOR DAVIS SICK

Prof. B. P. Davis, of the English department, was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital last Friday, suffering from complications following a severe cold.

Mr. Davis was unable to attend classes during the week before entering the hospital. His condition is much improved, and it is expected that he will be able to resume his work before the final examinations.

MRS. TURCK VERY ILL

Mrs. Charles J. Turck, wife of Dean Turck, was taken ill immediately after lunch Tuesday, and Wednesday morning it was necessary to remove her to the Good Samaritan hospital. Her condition is serious.

During the last two weeks I have used three pencils, and a ream of paper trying to figure standings for freshmen who have not become acquainted with the system of grading. But they will be well versed in that bit of technique soon, for the final test for acquired knowledge is only a week hence.

Final examinations are a fine thing, or the instructor or professor. It gives them a chance to show the class just how little it knows, and to put on the blackboard questions that have taken them three months to conceive. The student is placed in an embarrassing position, for he can not look wise, or pretend, but must put his wisdom on paper and come back later for final results.

When the barrier went up in September known on a campus than one will ever read in a newspaper.

FARM AND HOME WEEK WILL BE HELD JAN. 26-29

Men and Women From All Parts of State Will Attend Convention in Armory Building

GOOD PROGRAM ARRANGED

First Session Opens at 10 o'clock Tuesday Morning With W. R. Finn as Speaker

Farm and Home Week, the four-session annual convention of farm men and women all over the state, will be held at the University of Kentucky, January 26-29, inclusive. Meetings which were to be held in the livestock pavilion will be held in the Armory building on the university campus. The women's meetings will be in White hall.

The keynote of the meeting of this convention will be "Profitable Production," the men's meetings having this for their central theme. The first of these will be at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, with W. R. Finn, of the College of Agriculture, talking on the subject—"Why Some Farms Make Money."

Speakers Are Announced
Among the speakers for the convention will be James C. Stone, president of the Burley Tobacco Grower's Cooperative Association; Morgan Hughes, of Louisville; Harry Hartke, of Covington, Ky.; Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky; Thomas P. Cooper, director of the Kentucky Experiment Station, and acting director of the United States Bureau of Agriculture; Wade Brown, of Des Moines, Ky.; Murray

DEBATE TRY-OUTS ARE FEBRUARY 1

Men's and Women's Teams Will Be Selected to Represent University in Year's Extensive Forensic Program

ORATORS ALSO COMPETE

The try-outs for both the men's and women's debating teams will be held in the Little Theater Monday evening, February 1, at 7 o'clock. Each person entering the try-out must be prepared to deliver a five-minute speech either affirmative or negative on the question, Resolved: "That the aerial branches of the army and navy departments of the United States should be taken from those departments and operated as a separate department of the service."

This is the proposition which is to be debated in the Pentangular League of which the university is a member. Each one trying out must also be prepared to give a three-minute rebuttal to the speech of his opponent.

Oratorical Tryouts Also

The oratorical try-outs will be held in the Little Theater at 4 o'clock on the same day. The winner in this will represent the university at the Kentucky Oratorical Association and also

Turner Gregg Coaching

Former Wildcat Star Makes Good at Greenville High

Word has been received from Greenville, Ky., that the high school football team of that city has recently completed the most successful season in the history of athletics at that institution.

Turner Gregg, who piloted the Wildcat football teams of '22, '23 and '24, went to Greenville last September as coach of all athletic teams and his success has been followed with pleasure by his friends at the university. Mr. Gregg will continue his work as coach in addition to teaching history in the high school.

Band to Step Out

Music Will Help 'Cats Beat Georgia Tech

Tomorrow night when the 'Cats tackle the Golden Tornado five of Georgia Tech, the university R. O. T. C. band will be there in full force to blow their loudest and sweetest for the 'Cats and a 'Cat victory. Incidentally it will be making its first public appearance for the new year.

Last Saturday night when the Berea quintet was entertained with a 36-22 score, the bandmen viewed the doings of the 'Cats from the stands for the first time in many a day. With the double supply of wind which they now have, their first program of the new year, 1926 should make a suspicious beginning for the horn-tooters.

Church League Opens

Six Student Basketball Teams Compose Organization

A basketball church league composed of university students exclusively has just been organized under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A.

The league is composed of six teams and games will be played every Monday night at the Men's gymnasium. The first game will be next Monday night, January 18, at 7 o'clock, when the advanced preliminaries will be played off. Those in the league are: Calvary Baptist, teams 1 and 2; Maxwell Presbyterian, First Methodist, St. Peter's Catholic and Maxwell Presbyterian.

STROLLER DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Shindig, Sponsored by Dramatic Organization, Will Follow Game With Georgia Tech In Gymnasium

ADMISSION WILL BE $1

Following the Georgia Tech basketball game tomorrow night, a dance will be given in the gymnasium by the Strollers, dramatic organization of the university. Subscription for the dance is $1, and all students are invited to attend.

Last year the dramatic organization suffered a small deficit because of the extensive program it undertook in the presentation of the popular comedy "Fifty-fifty." One of the purposes of this dance, besides furnishing enjoyment for the student body and entertainment for the visiting team, is to raise money to meet this deficit and enable the organization to start on its 1926 program free of all debt.

Webb Presents Trophy To U. K. Football Team

Old Time Star Shows Appreciation of Brilliant Achievements of Wildcats

As an expression of the pride he felt in the brilliant achievements of the University of Kentucky Wildcats on the football field the past season, B. S. "Dick" Webb, one time fan-star at Kentucky, has presented the Cats with a silver football figure mounted on a trophy.

The figure represents a player, clad in gridiron trunks, running down a field with the ball tucked under one arm while the other is held aloft as if warding off an enemy tackler. Inscribed on the trophy is the legend: "Winners Never Quit; Quitters Never Win."

The figure is quartered at present in Athletic Director S. A. "Daddy" Boles' office in the University of Kentucky gymnasium but it will soon be placed in the trophy room.

"Dick" Webb was a student of the university from 1907-1911. He played football the entire four years, and was captain in 1910, his senior year. He took an active part in all the other activities on the campus at that time. He was graduated from the university in 1911, and since then has been one of our most loyal supporters. In 1922 Webb was coach of the freshman football team, several of whom were on this year's varsity, and knowing their ambition to become champions of the south prompted him to present them with this trophy on account of their excellent showing.

Kernel's Feature Writer Recognizes Old Companion In Wildcat's New Mascot; Writes Lot of Bunk To Fill Up Space

(By LeRoy Smith)

Well, it seems like there was some stray from Kentucky drifted down into the Southwest some time back and shipped the school a bobcat from New Mexico. We went down to look him over the other day. This here critter hadn't been in these parts long enough to get the hang of this Kentucky hospitality we read about over on 'tender side of the Rockies and greets us just like he was at home. I seen right off that it was 'goin' to be some time before he got into the habit of going to church regular.

The boys was all disappointed that the cat didn't recognize me as an old comrade. They'd had it all depicted together, if me and the cat could get together, I might catch a collar on him so we could take him to the States. ## YELLOW JACKETS HAVE WON FOUR STRAIGHT GAMES

Georgia, Havana, Tulane and Marquette Have Fallen Before Force of Hurricane; Say Kentucky Is Next

CATS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Expect to Register First Defeat Against Strong Quintette From Atlanta

Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado will breeze into Lexington tomorrow fresh from a decisive victory over Tulane, and attempt to add more laurels to its wreath of basketball triumphs at the expense of the Kentucky Wildcats. The game will be called in the men's gymnasium at 8 o'clock sharp.

Always a worthy foe, the Yellow Jackets appear even more formidable than ever this year. Prior to their 23-19 victory over Marquette Tuesday night, the Atlanta boys took the measure of Tulane, the University of Havana, and the University of Georgia, bringing their present total to four victories and no defeats.

Have Strong Team

Successful victories over teams of such calibre have placed the Yellow Jackets on the pinnacle of early season basketball fame. The University of Georgia is remembered as the thorn that punctured the attack of Kentucky in the third frame of the S. I. C. tournament at Atlanta last year, and

JENNINGS EDITS HISTORY BOOK

Volume Entitled, "History of Economics Progress in the United States" Published by U. K. Professor

CONTAINS 819 PAGES

Dr. W. W. Jennings, associate professor in the economic-history department, has just recently had published his history on economics, which is the first history of that subject in the field.

The volume is entitled, "History of Economics Progress in the United States." The book contains 819 pages and is one-third larger than Faulkner's "American Economic History." It sets forth two new ideas in the manner of arrangement of this history, and has been written in such a way that each subject is dealt with until completed, instead of taking up another subject and dealing with the history in a chronological form. The second innovation is the presentation of source material to do away with a book of readings. The book is for college use only.

Dr. Jennings received his A. B. and his Ph. D. degrees from the University of Illinois, and taught six years at the University of Iowa before accepting his position at this institution. He is the author of two other books on industry, entitled, "The American Embargo of 1807-1809," and "History of the Standard Publishing Company, of Cincinnati."

U. K. Student Speakers Are Highly Praised

John Y. Brown Speaks at Winchester and Kenneth Tuggle at Hazard

The favor with which members of the Student Speakers Bureau of the University of Kentucky are being received is clearly indicated by the following letters.

December 15, 1925

"Mr. J. Y. Brown
"University of Kentucky,
"Lexington, Kentucky
"Dear Sir:
"Am very happy to know you can be at the joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary in our city, noon the 24th. Realize that you are making a sacrifice to do so, but trust you and the University will be the gainer in the long run.
"Will ask you to make the same talk you made before the Rotary, in Lexington some few weeks back. Was present and told you after hearing you hoped to have you over here at some time with us. I told Finkhouser that we would not take a substitute, wanted the original "blown in the bottle Brown" and that means you.
"Yours very truly,
(Signed) J. S. HUTSELL"

Mr. Hutch is president of the Rotary club at Winchester, Kentucky.
"January 7, 1926

"Hon. W. C. Wilson,
"University of Kentucky,
"Lexington, Kentucky.
"Dear Mr. Wilson:

"I wish to congratulate you as Alumni Secretary, that the work begun a few years ago by the Student Speaker's Bureau of the University is being continued with unabated success. I say this advisedly. Was proof of it all has been proven beyond doubt because of the success with which Kenneth Tuggle has presented the problems of the state in educational matters, and especially the problems of the University, here in Hazard before the high school, and the Rotary and Lion clubs.
"Tuggle has been ably assisted by the University. Although his ability to present his facts concisely; the University has received some deserved publicity here, and has therefore profited thereby. I am sure that each member of the Bureau are men of ability, but too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Tuggle.
"It is my sincere hope that the activities of the Bureau shall go on unabated and that the University shall continue to send out young men with the fire and fervor of youth, and with the zeal of one that seems to know a truth that must be spread and made known to others.
"If at any future day we have occasion to need a speaker, Tuggle or any other of his ability will surely be called upon from the University to fill the bill.
"Yours for a Greater Kentucky,
(signed) ROBERT L. PORTER '22"

Mr. Porter is secretary of the Rotary club of Hazard, Kentucky. He, with a few other young men founded the Student Speakers Bureau in 1923. He was its first President. Although a very young organization on the campus, it has been a very potent factor in putting the University before the people of Kentucky in a forceful and favorable way. Its second President was Mr. C. M. C. Porter '25, who is now at Frankfort, senator from the 12th District.

Many Work For University Appropriation

Graduates and Former Students Are Enlisting Legislature Support

Graduates and former students of the University of Kentucky all over the state are enlisting the support and influence of their senators and representatives in behalf of a special appropriation which the University will ask for this session of the Legislature. Their activity in this direction is partly shown in the following letters, received in reply to personal requests sent out by this office to use their influence in our behalf.

"January 2, 1926
"Dear Mr. Wilson:

"I find enclosed a copy of the letter that I sent to Senator Beck. I also send a letter to the same effect to Henry M. Holbrook, representative from this district. I think that this part of the State will back things pretty evenly. I am calling Holbrook over the telephone today, and will be sure to say all that I can judiciously. Yours very truly,

(Signed) ROBERT L. PORTER, '22"

The copy mentioned was a two-page letter, clearly and impressively setting forth the importance and the needs of the university.
"January 2, 1926

"Dear Mr. Wilson:
"Replying to your letter of December 31, I beg to advise that I had a long interview with Mr. Benton at my office this morning.
"To the best of my ability I explained the needs of the university to Mr. Benton and he assured me that he would support the University's program to the best of his ability.
"I thank you for writing to me about this matter. I am more than interested in the progress of our University, and trust that you will always let me know whenever you have news of my services.
"Yours very respectfully,
(Signed) E. M. HEAVRIN '23"

"January 4, 1926
"Dear Major:

"Received both of your kind letters and as you surmised, have been too busy, what with murders, holidays, to answer as I should have. We are trying to do a little publicity work on behalf of the University, having run stories and pictures on all of the colleges. Lately however, we have had our hands full attempting to cover the spot news.
"The University should have a publicity agent to inform the papers of the happenings of the University which the public should know. I am willing to cooperate with the University in every way possible and attempt to cover the news at the institution as well as a little propaganda now and then. Also would be willing to cooperate with a publicity agent.
"Yours for a bigger and better U. K. and also 399th Infantry.
(Signed) GERALD GRIFFIN '22"

G. E. Co. News Bureau To Cooperate With A. A.

Earl Baughman '23 Graduate Is Transferred to Nashville, Tenn.

We wish to express our thanks to Mr. John Klenke of the News Bureau of the General Electric Company, 1 River Road, Schenectady, N. Y., for his cooperation as shown by the following letter:

"We take this opportunity to introduce ourselves to the staff of the "KENTUCKY ALUMNUS."

"Items concerning alumni of your college and of interest to the readers of your publication are enclosed. Subsequent items will be sent as they become available under my signature. If these are acceptable a marked copy of the issue in which they appear will be appreciated. Any suggestions concerning news items or articles will be helpful.

"Earl Baughman, 1923, who was on the Schenectady Test 1923 and 1924 was recently transferred from the Cleveland General Electric Company's office to the Nashville office of the same company. Mr. Baughman was very popular in the Edison club activities and took part in all musical programs. He was a member of the first Edison Club Quartet.

"The Kernel reads mighty good in this Spanish atmosphere. Send it on.

"P. S. Speedy Propp is in Sagua LaGranda, but has never heard of any other Ky. graduate in Cuba."

"Frank J. Wedekemper, salesman, is with the Wilson and Toomer Fertilizer Company, Tampa, Florida.

Ottis L. Jones writes us as follows: "Would you be good enough to correct my mailing address and send the Kernel to me at 4531 Main street, Kansas City, Mo.?" As you may surmise I am now connected with the Caddo River Lumber Company here in Kansas City having moved here recently from Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"Lovel H. Liles, attorney, is now living at Vanceburg, Ky.

"We are advised by F. A. C. Thompson that he has moved from Fulton to Hickman, Kentucky.

'24
We are in receipt of the following from Thos. L. Garwood. "I wish only to have you change my address and to have the "Kernel" sent to me here. I am with the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal Company at West Frankfort, Ill., and wish the Kernel sent to me at my house, 900 West Elm street, West Frankfort, Ill. Hoping to soon have all the good news, I am thanking you."

"John Howard King, who married Miss Christine Gearhart ex-26, October 8, 1924 is practicing law, 1014 Fidelity Union building, Dallas, Texas. They are living at 2015 Bennett avenue.

SOCIETY NOTES

CALENDAR

Friday, January 15—
Dean and Mrs. Paul P. Boyd's evening party at 8 o'clock for the students of the Arts and Science college who will graduate in January.

Saturday, January 16—
The members of the Delta Zeta fraternity entertaining with a tea dance at Patterson hall in the afternoon.

Stroller dance in Men's gymnasium from 9-12 o'clock, following the Kentucky-Georgia Tech basketball game

Zeta Tau Tea Dance

Alpha Chi of Zeta Tau Alpha entertained Friday at Patterson hall from 3 to 6 o'clock, with one of the most enjoyable tea dances of the year. The Rhythm Kings' orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

The hall was beautifully decorated with growing plants and the illuminated shield of the fraternity.

The guests of honor, the pledges, were: Misses Dixie Baxter, Louise Kennedy, Gladys Wilson, Edith Thomas, Christine Burdick, Bess Sanford, Mary Louise Mason, Adrienne Mason, Nell Lacerfeld.

The hostesses were: Misses Mavis Sternberg, Madeline Van Cleave, Glorice Fisher, Pauline Ashcraft, Ruth Kennedy, Louise Smathers, LaVergne Lester, Clarette Lewis, Mary, Riley, Grace Mary Wilson, and Mary Page Dillon.

They were assisted in entertaining by the chaperones, Dean Virginia Franke, Mrs. W. E. Davis, Mrs. G. A. Blanton, Mrs. E. C. Elliott, Mrs. E. Rush, Mrs. C. F. Turck, Mrs. William Wilson, Miss Dora Berkley, Miss O. Jones, Miss Minnie Cramer, and Mrs. O. O. Taylor.

Holmes-Sage Wedding

Judge and Mrs. Samuel Holmes, of Carlisle, announces the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Pollitt Holmes, to Mr. John E. Sage, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., in Louisville, on January 9.

Mrs. Sage had been teaching in Franklin, Ind., since December 1, but came home for the Christmas vacation. The marriage took place upon her return after the holidays.

Mrs. Sage was graduated in June, 1925, from the university. She was a member of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity and prominent in student activities.

Cadet Hop

The second of the series of six cadet hops was held in the new gym on Saturday afternoon, from 3 until 6 o'clock. Cadet Colonel John Dabney had charge of the arrangements. Peppy music was furnished by the Kentuckians orchestra. A large number of guests attended.

McVey Tea

Theta Sigma Phi assisted Mrs. McVey at tea Wednesday afternoon at Maxwell Place. Those who assisted were: Eugenia O'Hara, Edith Minihan, Mavis Sternberg, Elizabeth Glascock, Edna Lewis Wells, Frances Lee and Miss Margie McLaughlin.

Old Fashioned Party

A dinner party in old fashioned costume, followed by a dance, only girls attending, was given at Boyd hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock for the girls of the residence hall. Mrs. Eda Giles was hostess for the occasion.

A little cabin in one corner of the room, negro minstrel songs during the dinner, and a minuet during the dance were features of the party. Some of the girls were dressed to represent men of the period.

The deans of all the colleges and a few other friends were invited as guests.

WEDDINGS

Stenberg-Turley

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stenberg announce the engagement of their daughter, Mavis Clare, to Mr. Joseph Turley, of Mt. Sterling. The date of the wedding has been set for January 21 and will take place at the home of the bride on Aurora avenue.

The bride is a popular and talented student of the university from which she will be graduated in the fall of this month. She is president of the Zeta Tau Alpha social fraternity and holds an office in the Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity. Mr. Turley is a prominent young business man of Mt. Sterling. Miss Stenberg's many friends at the university wish her much happiness.

Smith-Powell

Miss Maxine Smith, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Smith, of Sebree, and Mr. J. R. Powell, of Sebree, were married in Madisonville, Monday of last week.

Mrs. Powell was a student of the university, where as a member of the Alpha Delta Theta fraternity she has many friends. Following the wedding ceremony the young couple left for a wedding trip to Florida before returning to Sebree where they will make their home.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Frank L. McVey spoke before Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Altrusa club in the private dining room of the Lafayette hotel. Miss Irene McNamara was program chairman for the day.

Mr. George F. Ferguson, of La Center, was the guest of his son, W.

Girls Hear Speaker

Mrs. Latham Hatcher Speaks on Vocational Guidance

At a compulsory meeting of the women students of the university Friday, January 8, at Patterson hall, Mrs. O. Latham Hatcher, president of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance, spoke on Vocational Guidance, and the opportunities for women in various fields.

Mrs. Hatcher met the Woman's Vocational Guidance committee, Saturday, January 9, at 12 o'clock in the university cafeteria, and discussed with them the vocational program. Mrs. Hatcher is making a survey of public schools.

R. Ferguson, at the Delta Tau Delta house for the week-end, coming from Frankfort where he has been attending the legislative session.

Miss Flo Armentout, of Frankfort, was the guest of Miss Marcia Lampert for the cadet hop Saturday afternoon.

Prof. Carol M. Sax addressed the Woodford county Woman's club at the clubroom in Versailles, Wednesday afternoon on "The Drama." Following the talk a tea was given for Mr. Sax.

Earl Baughman, who was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1923, and who was on the Schenectady Test in 1923 and 1924, was recently transferred from the Cleveland General Electric Company's office to the Nashville office of the same company. Mr. Baughman was very popular in the Edison club activities and took part in all musical programs. He was a member of the first Edison club quartet.

Yale University has inaugurated a student budget, to do away with the perpetual, insatiable, time-killing room-to-room campaigns for donations. The student now makes his pledges in one sum indicating what amount he wishes to go to each cause. Thereafter he is not pestered for contributions.—The American Campus.

GIRLS LEARN OF MANY SCHOOLS

Program Planned to Assist Senior High Co-ed in Making Choice of College Given at Meeting

DEAN FRANKE IS SPEAKER

A program planned to assist the senior high school girl in her choice of a college was presented by Miss Austin Lilly at the meeting of the Central Kentucky branch of the American Association of University Women in the palm room of the Phoenix hotel Tuesday.

The principal speaker was Miss Virginia Franke, acting dean of women of the University of Kentucky, who outlined some of the things which a girl should take into consideration in her choice of a college. She spoke of the many trivial reasons which girls often give, and how seldom one says, "Because it will best prepare me for living my life well."

She dwelt upon the real seriousness of a time investment of "four years, and advised the girl who would go only for the social life to stay at home. In the matter of the particular institution, she begged the girls to study their own needs, gain all the information available about the college under consideration from the registrar, and take into account their preparation. A girls' college, she said, is apt to develop more originality, while the girl who has gone to girls' preparatory schools may need the experience of co-educational institution.

Students of the University of Indiana suffering with colds are confined for one hour in a room filled with chlorine gas. The claim of the university physician is that they come out cured.

CHEATING AND "GETTING BY"

There are as many kinds of success in college as there are many kinds of failure. Which are you going to select? Do you just want to "ride rough" on the back of someone else until you receive your degree and be put off and find yourself alone, not knowing which path to take, do you want to pick out that path now and, by drudgery and hard work, pave it with the stones of knowledge so that when your college degree is finally handed to you, you will have a smooth highway over which to travel on your road to success?

Today, one week, marks the beginning of final examinations for the first semester. If, when these tests are over, you receive an A, or C on your subjects, will you be able to say that you made that grade yourself or are you going to feel as if you ought to go to the classmate who sat next to you during the examination and thank him or her for "putting you by?"

What is the advantage of cheating? Who profits by it? It is certain at the student who indulges in such a practice does not. He may receive passing grade by borrowing information on the subject concerned from his neighbor's paper but what has he gained? Nothing, except a few more bits towards the obtaining of a college degree which he does not rightly deserve and which he will not be able justly to represent when he gets out into the world.

Most students who cheat on examinations smile to themselves in delight that they are "putting something over" on the "prof." To them he is a dumb fool and they consider themselves the cause of making him such. They never stop to realize that no one is being "cheated" except themselves. They are the only losers and if they do not realize this fact at the time it will strike them like a thunder-bolt in later years.

The query now so common to friends and critics of the college—"Why do college students fail?"—means nothing more than this: "Why do students fail to STAY in college?" and the street is equally shortcut in its judgments. Popular success is economic sufficiency. Academic success is survival. The student who, in the recurrent crises of his career, is able to get pass marks is in not being a failure; the fellow on the street who has or is able to get the price of the latest current folly escapes the same negative brand—no questions asked in either case.

This man of the street, who knows nothing beyond dollar efficiency and enjoys nothing beyond dollar success, is only a bit more pitiable than the boy who abandons a possible headlong on real college opportunity for a thin toe-hold on a graduation date. The man is older than the boy and ought to know better. But the suspicion is that these types are even more closely related, in that both find reason for being in the accepted tradition that a 60 per cent pass mark is good enough for anybody, anytime, and that anything above this D-plus C-minus level is highbrow frippery and waste of effort.

College students do not fail because they are indifferent to success. They fail because they do not know the price of success. It is very costly and requires a great amount of expended effort. 'Tis true that many have cheated and bluffed their way to the very brink of this universal goal but nine out of ten of them flop under the unaccustomed strain in taking the last step.

Why not be a man of honorable and dependable character, rich in the its of knowledge rather than a bag of hot air which might burst if the "n" becomes too great? Much better would it be to fail honorably and be the chance to grasp the subject with a tighter hold on the second try than to pass dishonorably and know nothing at all. Try it.

TWO SUGGESTIONS

If I may with impunity violate one of the cardinal principles of composition, I shall offer to readers of the KERNEL, especially to student readers, two suggestions that seem to me practical, if not practicable. I thus flout unity because, having two ideas to display, I am none the less allowed but one editorial in which to present them.

The first is inspired by our proximity to that dread period when undergo scholastic examinations and instructors attempt with sympathy to assess the mental value of the individuals under their supervision. Arrangement has, for some time, seemed one-sided to me; it throws too burden of proof in one direction and perhaps too much dissatisfaction rather. Why may not the situations be balanced by having the students urged to grade members of the faculty, either for the use of each department head or for certain work in the College of Education? The teacher's mission for his task, his scholarship, his felicity in presenting his material, influence might very well be made subjects for evaluation by the young men who listen two or more times a week without any serious way of pass-judgment upon what they hear.

And I think of no cogent argument against the plan. If someone objects at the dignity of the professors would be impaired by this having them tutored, the ready answer is that real dignity is not lessened by normal human associations, and that the student will have no more respect for the ineffectual instructor than he will have for the less self-conscious one. If the plan that students would misjudge or intentionally injure a teacher, can return the answer that although one or a few might thus conspire to attack a professor's standing, yet a whole class would scarcely be so unfair. Entire section graded the instructor low, the decision would call for at me self-examination.

Make it that the average student would welcome the proposed innovation and that he would soon be conscious of a mental flip resulting from it,

He would be more alert in classroom; he would note errors in English, wandering discussion from haphazard notes, monotony in ideas and delivery; he would pause with glee upon threadbare jokes and pathetic efforts to entertain. When now he may be bored, he would then be urged to attention by the critical zest, and his intellectual machinery would revolve with greater speed.

The advantage that would result to the teacher is obvious. To know that thirty young people are no longer sitting passively and submissively under his words but are on the "qui vive" for a false tone or a false statement; to realize that getting into a rut—that bogey of all professional men—will send unfavorable report cards to administrative offices; consequently, to strive to make each lecture as artistic a performance in its way as a recital by Paderewski—this, I should say, the conscientious and fearless instructor would welcome. Of course, in order that this practice might have any weight the reports would need to be turned over to those officers of the administration who, with proper caution, would find them excellent re-enforcement for their own opinions of the instructional staff.

My other suggestion I mention only in outline. It is that an organization—sponsored by the Strollers, the Romany, the Little Theater, the English Department, any or all—should be effected to write, film, and exhibit photographs with local casts and local settings. The movie is no longer a doubtful theatrical asset, and whatever banality it possesses is not intrinsic but the fault of those who tolerate the banal. We have for indulgence in this new art favorable conditions at the University of Kentucky: sunny days through much of the academic year, pleasant natural scenery within easy driving, historical landmarks well-preserved, two race tracks, much talent among amateur actresses and actors, and some writers of imagination and sincerity. The cost of the undertaking I have not explored, but I believe that with a modest beginning the enterprise could be carried through. Interest would be infectious, once the making of pictures were really under way, and very few things in college life here would yield more fun with an equal amount of profit, particularly if an effort were made, as it should be, to put the history of Kentucky upon the silver sheet.

BATTLE CRIES

THE R. O. T. C.

(By Maj. Geo. E. Steunenberg, U. S. A. retired)
There's a bunch of young fellows in O. D. today
That we hail as the hope of the land,
They are trained every day, they are taught to obey,
And in that way they'll learn to command.

Respectful in bearing and civil in speech,
They'er the youngsters that look good to me.
It gives me a thrill just to see them at drill—
The boys of the R. O. T. C.

They are not being Prussianized—perish the thought!
There are people who don't understand.
Whoever opposes their training today
Strikes a blow at the life of the land.
The clean-cut American boosts them along;
There are benefits he can foresee.
It's the anarchist freak and the pacifist weak
That would strangle the R. O. T. C.

You can see the result in the manly physique;
In the glance of the clear, steady eye.
The soldierly tread; the poise of the head;
The bearing that true discipline builds up their lives;
That, without it, no people are free.
They'll be heard from again when they get to be men—
These boys of the R. O. T. C.

Oh, there's many a lesson not found in the books!
Though you search every book on the shelves.
And the boys who will master the game we call life
Are the boys who can master themselves.
And to drill in the ranks is to learn self-control,
Decision and patience—these three.
So we say it again: They are building real men.
In the ranks of the R. O. T. C.

BASKETBALL STARTS
Practice for company basketball began last Wednesday and Thursday nights and will continue with practice for each company two nights each week, the days of practice to be announced one week in advance. It is hoped that each of the six companies in the regiment will be represented in the tournament, the date of which will be announced sometime in the near future. As yet it has not been decided whether the band will put a team into practice, although there is a strong sentiment among the band in favor of such action.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Beginning the second semester, there will be a number of students added to the Kernel Staff under the Business organization. Students wishing to put in some time on the Kernel as aspirants for Business Manager, Advertising Manager, Circulation Manager and Manager of Accounts, please see Jack Warren, the Business Manager, at once. Here is an opportunity to obtain some valuable experience in running a newspaper from the business standpoint. Students of economics and those taking business administration are particularly asked to consider this invitation.

Pomona College in California has adopted a group-college plan, similar to that of Oxford and Cambridge in England.

It hopes in this way to make it possible for college students to have all advantages of attendance at a large institution and at the same time all the personal benefits of life in a small college.

One large library and one large athletic field will serve all colleges in the group. Certain courses will be open to students of all groups. But students will live in the college in which they enrolled and will have all their college life in it.—The American Campus.

Every graduate of the University of Kansas must be able to swim at least one-hundred feet before he is given his degree. Other colleges making swimming a requisite for graduation are Cornell, Iowa State, Rochford, Radcliffe, Syracuse, Cincinnati, Wisconsin, Wells, Western Reserve and Wooster.—The American Campus.

A fulcrum for every modern Archimedes

"GIVE me a fulcrum—and I will move the earth" said Archimedes. Too bad that he lived twenty-two hundred years too soon.

For you modern followers of Archimedes, you men who apply his well known principles in the study of mechanical engineering, the fulcrum is ready. If a part in helping the earth to move appeals to you, look for your fulcrum in the communication art.

A world of possibilities opens up here for the man whose bent is mechanical. Distances shrink because mechanical engineers have found how to draw well-nigh every bit of air out of a repeater tube. A million telephones are made—and the millionth is like the first because mechanical ingenuity has shown the way. Quantity production in a great telephone plant calls for constant improvement in mechanical technique.

Every day is a day of new facts, new things, new achievements by mechanical and electrical engineers. Nothing stands still. Here the world does move.

Gayle Mohney Scores 21 Points as Kentucky Romps to Victory; Cats Behind at Half

WRIGHT IS VISITING STAR

(By Frank Smith)
With Gayle Mohney doing overtime work, the Wildcats romped over Berea to the tune of 37 to 23 last Saturday night. Single-handed this Lexington youth dropped the leather through the baskets for 21 points while some 2,000 fans shouted their approval or disapproval.

Berea could not penetrate deep into Kentucky's territory due to their keenness, the Wildcats were on the little end of a 14 to 13 score at the end of the first half.

SEEN FROM the PRESS BOX by HOOVER

LeRoy Smith said he knew a man who was so stingy he breathed through his nose to keep from wearing out his false teeth.

ELIGIBILITY RULE IS SUSPENDED
Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the athletic council of the university and secretary of the Southern Conference, returned from Atlanta, Monday, where he attended a conference with officials of five other schools to iron out difficulties arising from the drastic athletic rules passed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Charleston several weeks ago.

The "two sports" recommendation of the association which would prohibit any student whose scholastic standing during the previous year had fallen below 85 from engaging in two successive athletic sports will not affect existing arrangements for collegiate athletics during the present year, it was decided at the meeting. Agreement was reached that the proposed "two sports" rule would be taken before the athletic conference at the next annual meetings and there the question as to adoption or rejection of such a regulation would be finally decided.

Under the provisions of the proposed restriction, the athlete whose studies fell below the passing mark of 85 the previous year would be eligible for football, but he would be compelled to "skip" the basketball season. At the termination of the basketball season, however, he would again be eligible to enter a major sport, such as baseball, for example.

Dr. Funkhouser met with Dr. N. W. Walker, of the University of South Carolina; Dr. B. Sanford, of the University of Georgia and A. W. Hobbs, of the University of North Carolina, in succeeding in nullifying the rule for at least this year.

NOT SO GOOD AGAINST BERA

Somehow I was not so impressed with the showing the Wildcats made against Berea last Saturday night, nor were many of the some two thousand citizens who gathered at the gym to see the game. It appears that Berea came to Lexington better fortified than was expected and rattled the Wildcats somewhat during the first half. In fact the visitors led, 14 to 13 at this point of the game.

Failing to make good any craps, our team became desperate late in the first half and resorted to long shots without any noticeable success. True, Berea tried long shots and made many points in this manner but the Wildcats shouldn't try to emulate the other team always.

Although Kentucky won, she did not beat Tennessee, nor did she defeat a team of the same calibre as Georgia Tech, who comes here tomorrow night. The Georgians can shoot and it's up to our team to shoot with them. We have heard the old saying time after time that "half the battle is won at the start" and this is exactly how the Cats came near being defeated by Berea. Don't forget, Georgia Tech won't fool around—they will make hay while the sun shines and if the Kentucky team is not in condition to play basketball and not in the mood to pass the ball and make their share of baskets and foul shots, it's going to be mighty hard to overcome the Tornado's lead with that famed second half comeback which has characterized Kentucky's play for the past two games.

AND IT CAME TO PAST—

The red tie is dead! Long live the red tie!
Our honorable editor-in-chief politely severed it from my anatomy Monday night. But Graves-Cox tells me he has a charge account for Mr. Estes, by Hoover "Account one red neck tie." So go down and pay off, Mr. Editor.

PROUD!

Some of our seniors would rather go barheaded and take the chance of catching pneumonia just to let the world in on the fact that they are members of that distinguished and learned (?????) group.

THANKS, PREXY

Just noticed that somebody has been kind enough to place some soap over our wash basins since this column was published last week. But don't forget, I also asked for some HOT water.

AND HE COMES TO THIS

Tuesday morning Dr. Miner walked absent mindedly into our Milton class and started to give us a psychology test. About that time Professor Dantzer walked in and Dr. Miner "came out of it." They shook hands and the PSYCHOLOGY prof went out, grinning a grin that brought no little amount of red to his ears and cheeks. No comment necessary, I suppose. Only we got minus psychology, what Miner started to give us.

Girl came up to me the other morning, giggling and squirming and asked me to put her name in the paper—this column, of course. I won't divulge her name this week but she has red hair, wears a new style hat every day and is a Chi Omega pledge—and—yes she goes with John Walsh sometimes.

WE RESIGN, WILLINGLY

Headline in newspaper:
"Boys Will Wear Long Hair Next Year."
Well it's getting so that we can no longer elect a man governor or run our own households, anyway.

AND TECH WILL BE HERE

Don't forget that we're going to have a basketball game here tomorrow night with the rambling wreck from Georgia Tech. Just so they don't wreck the Wildcats, all will be hot-as-totay.

Eklund to Scout Games Via Radio

Wildcat Coach Hears Georgia Tech-Georgia Game Through Air

Coach Ray Eklund may use the radio as a means of "scouting" basketball opponents of the Wildcats this season. The account of the game between Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia was heard over the radio by Coach Eklund last Friday, and he was impressed by the clear, vivid manner in which it was broadcast.

Practically all the games in the Southern conference this season will be broadcast, and providing a schedule of all conference opponents of the Kentucky team can be secured, the radio will serve as an accessible and inexpensive means of gaining a line on the various teams.

The games are broadcast play by play, and the account forms, in a sense, a "radiograph" similar to the gridgraph in football. An idea of the team's offensive and defensive styles, as well as of the individual merits of the players can be gained from the radio account, it is stated.

In former years it has been necessary to send scouts to the games in which the opponents of the Wildcats played. This has been a great expense to the athletic association, as the games are often played in cities a great distance from Lexington. It is hoped that the expenses incurred by scouts on such trips can be decreased.

BEHIND AT HALF BLUE WINS, 36-21

Mohney Again Proves Worth by Making 12 of Team's Points; Tigers Led for Three Quarters

WILDCATS ARE ERRATIC

(By Kyle Whitehead)
The Wildcats scored their second victory of the season Tuesday night when they defeated the Georgetown College quintet, 36 to 21, on the latter's floor. The game was a nip and tuck affair during the first half, which ended with the teams at par, 9-9, but the Cats took the lead soon in the second half, and held it throughout.

The university team met stronger opposition in the college team than was expected. They were slow in getting started, and found it difficult to penetrate the Georgetown defense during the first half. McFarland scored first for State with a foul, with Georgetown taking the lead with a field goal, and staying in the front by one and two points until the last few seconds of the first half.

The Wildcats went into the lead almost at the tip-off of the second half. Jenkins, substitution for Alberts, found it easy to enter deep into the Georgetown territory where McFarland and Mohney aided in finding the basket. Captain Carey was worked hard at his place under the goal, and prevented much scoring.

UNIVERSITY HIGH IS NOSED OUT

Danville Team Barely Takes 18 to 17 Game From Locals; Pat Gormley Is Star of Contest

PURPLE RESERVES LOSE

Failure to make free throws good was the direct cause of the Purples of University high school losing their first home basketball game of the season Friday night to the Danville high school Blue Admirals by a score of 18 to 17.

The game was played in the large University of Kentucky gymnasium and both teams showed they would have done better on a smaller court.

The contest was close and exciting throughout, with Danville holding the lead most of the time. Lawrence, a substitute for Danville, shot the winning field goal in the final seconds of play. A number of free throws were given the Purples but few were made good.

Gormley, running guard and captain for the Purples, was the star of the tilt, getting eight points in addition to playing a brilliant defensive game.

In a preliminary game between Piedmont high school and the University high school reserves Piedmont kept its slate clean by winning a 14 to 4 victory. The large force handicapped the team work of the victors to a great extent but they showed enough good coaching and initiative to make a creditable showing.

'CATS-KITTENS' LAW STUDENTS GIVEN SWEATERS HEAR ADDRESS

23 Varsity and 26 Freshmen Knitted Coats Awarded by Athletic Council Are Received by Football Men

DISTRIBUTED LAST WEEK

Sweaters for the 49 varsity and freshman football players to whom the athletic council voted to award them were received and distributed last week by the council. Of the sweaters, 23 were for the members of the varsity while 26 were for members of the Kitten delegation.

Varsity players were given their choice of either sweaters of royal blue with a white K or white sweaters with a blue K, and the style collar was optional with the individual player. This year, however, the athletic council voted that all freshman sweaters should be uniform and should be of royal blue color with white numerals and the collar to be V-shaped.

Service Stripes for Varsity

Service stripes, one for each year's playing on the varsity were given to all varsity men desiring them. Three Wildcats received four stripes—King, Cammack and Rice, while Van Meter, Kirwan and Tracy received sweaters with three stripes and DeFlaven's white knit-coat has two blue stripes in the sleeves. Captain Kirwan also has a star on his sweater above the stripes. Manager Berkley Bryan's sweater has a small M embroidered in the corner of the K. Other players receiving "K" sweaters were Schulte, Wert, Vossmeyer, Phipps, Ellis, Manoney, Jenkins, Ross, Derrick, Feneo, Mohney, Smith, Harbold and Edwards.

26 Receive Numerals
 The 26 freshmen who received sweaters with numerals were Portwood, Delasengame, Clifton, Corryell, Craft, Dees, Gilbert, Gild, Greene, Franklin, Idleman, Nielsander, Nuffer, Knadler, Phipps, Pieh, Sample, Scott, Toler, Waddell, Wicker, Wigglesworth, Darwin, Silvey, Lee and McIntosh.

BETTER STUDENT BODY IS URGED

Dr. McVey Discusses Problems of University Men, Women at Annual "Between-Us Day" Convocation

EXPLAINS DIFFICULTIES

At the semi-annual "Between-Us Day" convocation, held at the university, the third hour Friday, January 8, President Frank L. McVey after welcoming the students back from the holidays and wishing them all success in the coming examinations, discussed the problems which confront the student and how these problems are to be dealt with. He also spoke of the growth of the University in the past year and stressed the need of more buildings and a building plan for the future. The invocation and benediction were pronounced by Rev. Roy E. Jarman, assistant pastor of Central Christian church, and the university male quartet sang. Mr. Lorado Taft, Chicago sculptor, will be the principal speaker at the next convocation which is to be held at the third hour January 21.

In speaking of student problems, President McVey said that there is too much lack of concentration on the part of some of the students; that a mechanic spends 44 hours a week on his work and that a student should spend at least that much time on his college work if he expects to succeed. He also said that while at college a student should make some plans for his future. Too often a man says: "How do I know what I want to do until I try?" "The remedy for this is securing information, getting material, and think his way through it," President McVey, in concluding his

Gardner K. Byers, Assistant Attorney General, Says Pathway of Law Is Pathway of Civilization

POWER MUST BE EXTENDED

Gardner K. Byers, assistant attorney general of Kentucky, spoke to the students of the College of Law Saturday morning on the field which lies before the modern lawyer, and the mission to be accomplished by a young man entering that profession.

Mr. Byers stated that the pathway of law is the pathway of civilization, and that material progress of man finds its highest impetus in law. The problems of modern society have their basis in social and economic forces, and in solution of these problems the bar may render great service in connection with judicial interpretation of the law. Politics is the modern "modus operandi" by which these problems may be worked out, or in Kentucky may be termed the "modus obstructionis" the speaker said.

Administrative Law Is Necessary

Administrative law is novel but necessary, in effect, a legislative delegation of the police power, the outgrowth of the Marbury vs. Madison theory of implied power, without which the nation could not have developed under the constitution, according to Mr. Byers.

"The liberal construction of Marshall and his illustrious followers on the supreme bench has made possible progress under the law," he said. "Under this policy the dual form of our government has undergone great pressure, and with the coming of the World War the functions of the state governments have been absorbed by the government at Washington to such an extent that the national capital casts a mighty shadow over the states, so much so that the life of every man, woman, and child in the republic is directly touched by the hand of the federal government."

"The nice distinctions between federal and state sovereignty, concerning which constitutional lawyers and historians have written volumes, are now in many instances merely academic theories of politics, entirely wanting in practical application. The political fabric erected by the fathers of the constitution is threatened with disaster less the powers of the states and of the federal government can be readjusted to existing conditions."

message, touched upon the subject of school spirit, which he says is not making a noise at games but it is rather the attitude of the person "who willingly sacrifices himself for his college, who is ready to give money and time, and who never forgets the idealism he receives there."

PETITION GETS PROMPT ACTION

Centre College Students Deny Request for Resignations Was Made for Athletic Reasons; Montgomery Refuses

CARTER, BILES RESIGN

Rapid developments have followed presentation of a petition signed by 180 of the 250 students of Centre College to the board of trustees of that institution, asking the resignation of Dr. R. Ames Montgomery as president of Centre and W. Hickman Carter as business manager. Mr. Carter has resigned as business manager and J. H. Biles has stepped down from the position as athletic director at Centre. A press notice said that a member of the board told the students their request would not be granted but this is followed by a prompt denial by another board member.

Athletics Blamed by Some

The general public has been left to wonder whether or not all this is the result of the lettering of the Colonels on the gridiron. The students, represented by a committee, have said that it is not. Then why has Mr. Biles resigned, was the response. Mr. Biles was not mentioned in the petition, according to press notices. It is rumored that Bill Shadon, guard on the Centre team that defeated Harvard, will succeed Mr. Carter as business manager. But football had nothing to do with the petition, Centre students say.

Dr. Montgomery is still sitting pretty in the boat at any rate. The man that has set scholastic standards for athletes at Centre has said that he will not resign just yet anyway. Mr. Biles said that he would remain on the Centre faculty but did not wish to continue as athletic director.

To Investigate Petition

Now comes the pretty little scene played by the board which, according to Robert T. Caldwell, member of the board, has appointed a committee headed by E. J. Bush, of Lexington, to investigate the students' petition. Press notices said that Dr. Bush had called a committee of students and told them that their petition had been outweighed by the Presbyterian organization back of the college, by the Southern Interscholastic Athletic Association and by personal friends of Dr. Montgomery. Mr. Caldwell retorted that Dr. Bush is unwarranted in doing so and that he is only chairman of the committee to investigate the petition. That's only his personal stand, said Mr. Caldwell. Silence was observed thereafter by Dr. Bush who said he was misquoted.

TEACHERS SPEAK IN THREE STATES

Professor Jesness, Dean Franke, Dr. Lipscomb, Dean Wiest, Professor Anderson Make Addresses

ADVERTISE UNIVERSITY

During past few days various members of the university have delivered a number of lectures to audiences in this state, Indiana and Illinois.

On Wednesday and Thursday of this week, Prof. O. B. Jesness, chief of the section of markets of the Agricultural Experiment Station, spoke twice at the Farmers' Week program at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. His subjects were, "Some Fundamentals in Marketing," and "Cooperative Marketing in the Corn Belt."

Miss Virginia Franke, acting dean of women, also delivered an address yesterday. She spoke to the Girl Reserves of Georgetown on "What You Can Do for Your School."

Today, Dr. W. N. Lipscomb, of the hygiene department of the university will lecture at Urbana, Ill.

On Tuesday, January 19, Dean Edward Wiest, of the College of Commerce, will address the Georgetown chamber of commerce at a dinner given by that organization. His subject will be "Social Aspects of Business."

Prof. W. S. Anderson, of the Experiment Station, will also lecture on Tuesday. He will appear on the program of the Illinois Farmers' Week given at Urbana, Ill.

tember, the field started off with a rush. Good impressions were cast here and there by the freshmen, while the old heads dealt out advice. Now that the home stretch has been reached, stragglers are making an attempt to make a fair showing and come in the money. The finish comes next week, with the judges, stern and hardened by years of giving out questions and grading with a red-leaded pencil, make final preparations to take the ego out of the egotist.

Well, before it can be realized, the whole thing will be over. As usual the mails and woes of the downtrodden will ring in every corner of the institution. Fictitious stories of how a student worked hard all year, handed in every paper, and answered all questions in class, and was flunked because he made 16 on the final exam, will bring tears to the eyes of the sympathetic. The inhuman attitude of instructors will be the theme of conversation until the new semester quiets the wrath of the student who sighs for vengeance.

Office Going to the Dogs

"This here office has gone to the dogs, which reminds me of the 'goin' to write anything this week'" he remarks in his usual amiable accents.

"Well, I don't know what I'd write about. There ain't been nothin' goin' on in particular. The boys been havin' right decent lately."

"Ain't you had any nightmares or been arrested or anything like that?" inquires his nibs, persistent.

"Not lately," I says, despondent. "Seems like I'll have to pass the buck."

Just then, Rain-in-the-Face comes in from the composing room, and throws a wad of copy at Artie's head. I see it comin' but I didn't say nothin' about it. Artie sticks it in the space behind his ear. He wasn't hurt none unfortunately, but the hollow sound made him jump. Him and the chair and the telephone hit the floor about simultaneous and Artie made the most noise about it. There was more noise when he started to pick himself up. When he noticed that his coat had got dusty whilst he was layin' around on the floor, there was a real racket. I figured that I oughta be goin', which I done. I don't think I'll write nothin' this week.

MASTER PIANIST TO APPEAR HERE

Ignace Paderewski and Josef Lhevinne Will Play at Woodland Auditorium January 27-29 Respectively

EXPECT RECORD CROWDS

Ignace Paderewski and Josef Lhevinne, the former a veteran who adds every day to his musical laurels, and the latter one of the most brilliant artists playing today, will be heard in Lexington this month in a piano-fete, under the auspices of the Lexington College of Music. Paderewski, renowned pianist, composer, statesman, will be greeted by a record breaking audience, it is believed and reservations should be made at once for this concert. His soul stature has grown; his interpretative powers have broadened and in his pianistic touch there appears a fresh quality that has lifted him to loftier heights than over he hitherto has experienced.

EDUCATORS WILL MEET HERE FROM JANUARY 26-29

Warwick S. Anderson, University of Louisville.

The morning program will be opened by an address by Dr. Whitehead, president of the association. T. A. Hendricks, instructor at Berea College, will speak on "The New Type of Examination in Colleges." R. A. Bear, Georgetown, will open the discussion. Appointment of committees will complete the morning program.

Discussion Led by Dean Turck

In the afternoon Dr. Stuart Graves, Louisville, will speak on "Combination Professor and Arts Courses." The discussion will be led by Charles J. Turck, dean of the College of Law, University of Kentucky. E. F. Farquhar, English instructor at the university, will speak on "The Problem of the Gifted Student." Dr. W. C. Bower, dean of Transylvania College, will then address the association upon, "The Problem of a Special Course for Students Not Candidates for a Degree."

Dr. W. A. Underwood, Louisville, will open the discussion of that subject. A report of the accrediting schools committee and the election of officers will also be on the afternoon program.

eliminated her by the scant margin of one point—the final score standing at 32-31, after the most hectic and nerve racking battle of the tournament.

With the state championship practically clinched by virtue of top heavy scores over Berea and Georgetown, the feline shave been hitting a heavy stride in preparation for tomorrow night's clash, and unless all signs fail, local followers of the sport will witness a classic and a thriller from whistle to whistle.

Cats Like Hard Battles

Down South, Tech looks invincible, but against the Blue and White of Kentucky she may find the going somewhat rougher, because the stronger the opposition the sweeter the spoils, and it is under the hottest fire that the Cats always show to the best advantage their characteristic fight and spirit that never-says-quit.

Coach Eklund will select his initial lineup from the following: Captain Carey, McFarland, Alberts, Besuden, Mohney, Underwood, and Helm.

Thirteenth Chair," "Lady Windermere's Fan," "The Admirable Lord Crichton" and last year's unusually successful performance of the comedy "Fifty-Fifty." For the last five years the dramatic organization has been making an annual tour of the eastern section of the state and last year for the first time a tour of the western part of the state was undertaken. These trips have done much in the past to advertise the university and the performances given on them have been such as to win the highest praise from critics in the various cities and towns.

Better Program Desired

This year the officers of Strollers desire to put on a program even better than last year. A committee is working now on the selection of a play for this year's program and trips are being arranged which will take the organization to various parts of the state. Students can aid in this program by giving their support at all times and by attending the dance tomorrow night. But aside from the support given to the Strollers, the committee in charge of the dance promises to make it well worth attending for the sake of the dance itself.

His soul stature has grown; his interpretative powers have broadened and in his pianistic touch there appears a fresh quality that has lifted him to loftier heights than over he hitherto has experienced.

A brilliant master of the piano-fete is Josef Lhevinne, the great Russian pianist who will appear Friday night, January 29, at the Woodland Auditorium, just two days after the Paderewski concert. The appearance of these two master pianists of the very highest rank in Central Kentucky so near each other is really a historical epoch and no doubt will be so regarded by the music lovers and those interested who desire to come under the influence of these masters.

Lhevinne has delighted his audiences everywhere, if one may judge by the praise accorded him by the press. Tickets to Mr. Paderewski's concert are $4.40, $3.30 and $2.20 including tax. Mr. Lhevinne's concert is the fourth of the Artist concert series and the prices for single tickets are $2.75, $1.65 and $1.10 including tax.

The women's meetings will deal chiefly with recreation and household finance. Mrs. Migno Q. Lott, of Montana and Wisconsin, and Miss Grace Barr, of the Victor Talking Machine Company, will be the principal speakers of recreation, and Mrs. Clara Ingram Judson, Chicago banker, the chief speaker on finance.

There will also be a special meeting on Thursday for poultry raisers, the principal speaker being Prof. P. G. Riley, of Purdue University, at Lafayette, Ind., and a Farmer's banquet will be held Thursday night, with the place and hour to be announced at the meetings.

Indications point to a large attendance this year, due to the good programs being arranged, and the fact that interest in the meetings has been steadily growing from year to year.

three Jewish college sororities for admission to the National Pan-Hellenic were voted down Thursday night at the congress. One other sorority, Alpha Delta Theta, was admitted. Most of the afternoon's session was consumed in debate over these petitions, and no other business was transacted. Alpha Delta Theta, the admitted sorority, was organized at Transylvania College, at Lexington, Ky., in 1919, and has ten chapters.

Adopt Stringent Admission Rules

More stringent rules for admission to Pan-Hellenic were adopted, including a provision that petitioners must have been organized for ten years and have at least ten active chapters.

Debate revealed that while the Jewish sororities did not constitutionally confine their memberships to Jewish women, no non-Jewish women were in fact members. By its constitution, it was understood that the Catholic sorority was of Catholic membership. The meetings of the Pan-Hellenic are secret and the names of the excluded sororities were not announced.

The University of Kentucky was not represented at the congress but did all of its voting and debating by correspondence.

Both debates will be on the evening of April 17, one team debating the negative of the aircraft proposition against Vanderbilt University at Nashville and another team debating the affirmative against the University of Tennessee, at Lexington.

Debate Child Labor Problem

In the Triangular League, of which the university is a member, Berea is to be met at Berea and Centre at Lexington on the evening of March 5. The question to be debated in this league is, Resolved: "That the Child Labor Amendment be adopted." Berea will debate the affirmative and Centre the negative against the university.

The annual contest of the Kentucky Oratorical Association will be held Friday, March 20, in Lexington. The date of the meeting of the Southern Oratorical Association has not yet been determined. Both the place of the meeting and the date is set by the secretary of the organization.

One Man's Summer Vacation

W. C. Goodwin

HAVE you ever seen a man dash out from a crowd along a busy street, stop at a runaway team, and save many from danger? That was newspaper headlines.

But it is only two horses—and it happens once in a blue moon. Every hour in industry horsepower up into the millions is tamed to man's control. Runaway apparatus is instantly checked. Electric controllers protect operators and the public. They safeguard motor and machine.

Thereby hangs a story of control development, involving W. C. Goodwin, Penn State 1915. Goodwin spent his summer vacations tinkering with rotating apparatus—testing motors and the like. He came to Westinghouse. Control Engineering was a magnet for Goodwin, even during his training period. When the separate Control Engineering Department was formed in 1917 Goodwin was in it. Next he was made engineer in charge of the section to design and develop new control equipment. Now he has nine assistants.

The Control Engineer may be called upon, as Goodwin was, to meet such an emergency as this: The war was on. Battleships were to be propelled by electricity. Upon the starting, reversing or stopping of the main propulsion motors without the loss of a second, the fate of the ship might depend. Goodwin designed control to do that.

Or in industrial application, the Control Engineer may add to human safety, as Goodwin did. In rubber mills, hands of operators sometimes are caught between powerful rollers. A fraction of a second may mean an arm—or a life. Goodwin's new combination control apparatus has greatly reduced the time in stopping the motor.

Control Engineers must know the industry with which they are dealing—steel, rubber, textile, railroad—and then literally "fit the control to each order." In seeing the job through the customer's eyes—Control Engineers find themselves most at home with Westinghouse.
