ABOUT THE LIBRARIES

Cancellation of Administrative Council Meeting

Representatives from West Virginia University will be on campus on February 2 to discuss the joint Title II-C application with UK. I would like to cancel the Administrative Council meeting scheduled for that day and reschedule the meeting for February 16. The Library faculty will meet on February 9.

- Paul Willis

Conservation Supplies Missing

A 23-lb. box of conservation supplies has been misrouted and is hiding in some corner of the Library System. The parcel includes several bottles of Wei T'o deacidification fluid, vinyl gloves, and several packets of instructions. Any leads? Please call David Farrell in Special Collections at 8-2651.

Law Library

The Law Library needs large boxes in which to pack books. Any branches who have boxes to spare should call Bill James.

AIDS/Media Transferred

Effective January 1, 1979, the AIDS/Media Unit was transferred from the Circulation Department to the Reference Department where it has been incorporated into the Instructional Services section under the supervision of Phil Dare. The AIDS/Instructional Services Center is now located in King South, Room 104, previously the AIDS/Media Center (telephone 8-4021), and both Phil Dare and Kevin Sullivan may be contacted there. The previous telephone number for Instructional Services (3-2759) is no longer in service.

ABOUT THE LIBRARIANS

We are proud of Ruth Brown. She is senior author of a work chosen for inclusion in the prestigious Guide to Reference Books, ninth edition. Old timers will recognize this as Mudge or Winchell. The younger generation will have to "make do" with Sheeny.

Mary Ruth Brown, Eugenia Lair Moss, and Karin Drudge Bright. Agriculture Education in a Technical Society: An Annotated Bibliography of Resources is the only title listed in its class.

Librarians in Print in 1978

If we have missed any of you, please report to the Green Bean editor.

Library News from All Over

Princeton's library has installed a new, more effective system for keeping track of its books: 3" x 5" file cards. They replace a computerized system installed two years ago. James Cogswell, circulation librarian, says the computer broke down too much, losing valuable library records. The Wall Street Journal, November 16, 1978.
