FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

With this issue of the GB, I take over the editorial keyboard from Kerry Kresse's practiced fingers. I am pleasurably anticipating my time as editor, but remember, I am only the top of a pyramid. You are the sources of GB information and it can only be as informative as you will help me make it.

I am particularly interested this year in receiving information about professional honors, publications, offices held and related activities.

As an introductory example, I include the following quotation from Roger Angell's article in the August 30, 1987 New Yorker on the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. In discussing the number and varieties of requests for information that come into their library, Angell includes ". . . a letter from Bill Marshall, a scholar at the University of Kentucky, who is preparing a work on the mid-America, lower-minors Kitty, Bluegrass, Ohio State and Appalachian leagues..."
