be first in all you undertake but above all be true to yourself and name, choose the best young men for your friends, and avoid all evil minded and dissipated youths.
Whatever be your besetting iniquity, your Constitutional bias to vice, seek to guard it with wakeful vigilance.

Your not coming to ~~waiting~~ the U. & M. at Lexington has been a great disappointment to us. It was the desire of your grandfather, and he often spoke of the time you would go to college, and

My dear Gibson
Sixteen years ago this afternoon you made your advent, much to the delight of all, and I trust you may have many happy returns. Wish I could be with you to celebrate the event but now that you have decided to go to Andover to prepare for Yale, I shall expect you to wear your grandfather's mantle, and he thought the training at the

A. & C. would be first-class and prepare you for Yale without your getting into any foolish and extravagant ideas. If it is possible come by Ingerside to make us a visit.
You will be far from home and relatives, when in New England, but do not forget us, and write whenever you can we shall be anxious to hear.

Your photographs have been much admired, but I suppose you have changed very much since they were taken. Aunt Fily writes how she is enjoying her visit - I was glad your mother dragged her off, as she was really in need of rest - keep her as long as

along nicely and she must not worry. If you visit "Big Auntie" Christmas I may be there. I received a
in the invalids, uncle Fitz
pennie in bed - Mary Duceene getting along.

nicely and very interesting. I am glad to report your most numerous horses doing nicely.

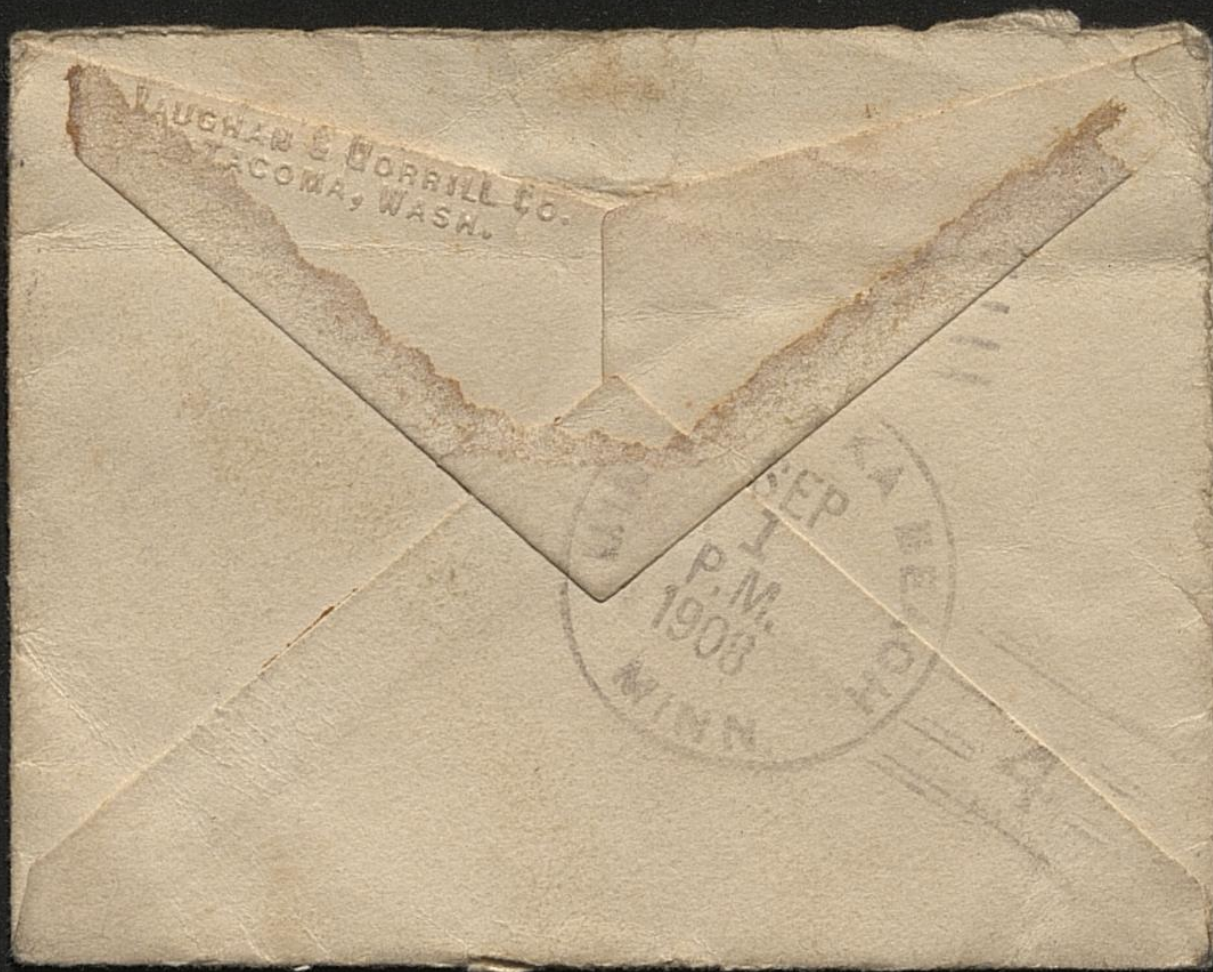

Try to find time to write me a few times

All with best wishes for many happy returns of September second and love from the household with a heart full from your devoted Grandmother

Mrs. Gibson.

Although I
am rather late in thank you for the pictures and letters, they are the best appreciated.
You must have enjoyed the summer

for you - He has not heard from Grandmother, & now
she is enjoying her final rest - it is difficult to realize you are to mark
your eightieth
birthday on Wednesday & wish you many
and sweet gifts

Succeeding one will be happier than
the last - Uncle Pickie is in New York, when you go east - I am to meet him uphis address is
