A fitting close to a brilliant summer was the harvest moon dance, undoubtedly the handsomest affair of the season, given by Hart Gibson Foster and Addison G. Foster II, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison G. Foster, at the Country club Tuesday evening for younger members of Tacoma and Seattle society. The soft, rich harvest colors, yellows, browns and reds, predominated in the decorations. In the drawing room the corners were banked with sheaves of oats and cattails. The mantel of the fireplace held beautiful clusters of goldenglow and marigolds and the fireplace was masked with vegetables and fruits of every sort. In the hall tall sunflowers were used in the corners and the big colonial stairway was hung with national flags and banners of schools and colleges attended by the young people. The walls of the dining room were banked with sheaves of grain, flowers and cattails. In the tea room the orchestra was screened by sheaves of tall blossoms. The scene was a particularly beautiful one and made an effective background for the maids in dainty dancing gowns and young men in tennis flannels as they danced to a beautiful program of music.

Shortly before midnight an elaborate and handsomely appointed supper was served on the long verandah overlooking the lake. In the center was a large table centered with a beautiful cluster of tiger lilies and candles with dainty shades to represent midsummer blossoms. The collation was served from the large table to the guests seated at smaller tables about the verandah in old southern style. Each little table was centered with softly shaded candles. The pergola at the side was fitted with rugs, chairs and cushions, making an al fresco drawing room and tiny incandescent intermingled in the vines overhead shed a soft glow over the guests as they rested between dances.

After the supper came the German with quaint favors appropriate for the occasion, causing much merriment among the guests. At 2 o'clock a special car conveyed the guests back to the city.

The coming few weeks will mark the return of a number of the young men and girls to college and boarding school and this is among the last affairs for them of the season.

Addison Foster II will enter the law school at the University of Kentucky in September.

FRIDAY MORNING, M

ANNUAL D. A. R. BANQUET HELD

Memorial Service Part of Convention Programme
In Paducah.

TEACHER IS SPEAKER

Special to The Courier-Journal.

Paducah, Ky., March 12. — More than 100 guests attended the annual banquet of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, holding its thirty-fifth annual convention in Paducah, tonight in the Hotel Irvin Cobb. Miss May Stone, head of the Hindman Settlement School, Hindman, was the principal speaker. The convention will adjourn tomorrow morning.

Conference delegates, representing chapters throughout the State, disposed of various matters of business in the morning, held the annual memorial service in tribute to departed members this afternoon, and were escorted on a motor drive to points of historic interest in Paducah and McCracken County at the close of the afternoon programme. Following the drive, the visitors were honored at a tea given in the home of Mrs. Roy W. McKinney.

Memorial tribute was paid thirty-one members of the Kentucky Society who have died within the last year at the meeting this afternoon. A white flower was placed for each and the wreath will be laid on the grave of an American Revolutionary soldier in Oak Grove Cemetery here. The memorial service was led by Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, chairman. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. E. W. Jackson, and Mrs. Stanley Miller, Paducah.

A resolution indorsing a movement to designate the Maysville-Aberdeen State Highway Bridge as the "Simon Kenton Memorial Bridge" was adopted by the convention body in its business session. The convention also adopted resolutions appropriating $100 toward the Constitution Hall debt; $200 for indexing Kentucky books in the D. A. R. Library; and $53 for the repair and renovation of the Kentucky Room in Memorial Continental Hall.

Speakers before the session today were Maj. Hart Foster, Lexington, who discussed the importance of National preparedness; Miss Stone, giving a report on the work of schools in Kentucky indorsed by the D. A. R., and Mrs. Graham Lawrence, Shelbyville, chairman of the historical research committee.

Major Foster touched on the doctrine of those whom he described as "so-called Pacifists or unhuman idealists" as not being "the real Pacifism, but one which would tend to tear down schools and patriotism and religion." The idea of these so-called Pacifists is the same as that which would have obtained in the American Revolutionary days had the women refused to donate their petticoats for flags, saying "no we need them to wash the windows." I call them "so-called Pacifists because they are not the real Pacifists."

Reports of the various chapter organizations of the accomplishments of the past year were filed with the secretary. Mrs. Paul Province of Paducah presided at the dinner tonight. Mrs. Stanley F. Reed, State regent, presented Miss Stone.

U. D. C. TO HONOR MAJOR FOSTER

Grandson of Col. Hart Gibson
Will Receive Cross of Service at State
Meeting

CEREMONIES ARE THURSDAY

Major Hart Gibson Foster, of Lexington, will have the Cross of Service of the United Daughters of the Confederacy bestowed upon him Thursday night during the state convention to be held at Louisville.

Mrs. Lucien Maltby, president of the Kentucky division, will make the presentation. The cross is given to lineal male decendants of Confederate soldiers or sailors who have served their country in its military or naval forces.

Major Foster is the grandson of Col. Hart. Gibson, who served in the Confederate army as adjutant general with the rank of major in Gen. John Hunt Morgan's cavalry division. Colonel Graham was with General Morgan when he was captured in Ohio and, after being exchanged, was assigned to duty as inspector general of a department.

Among other prominent officers who have been given the United Daughters of the Confederacy cross are Major Jefferson Davis, nephew of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy; Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, Gen. John Lejeune, General Patrick, chief of the army air service; General Summerall, chief of staff.

Crosses have been bestowed by Kentucky chapters upon Major Edgar E. Hume, formerly of Frankfort, now of Washington, D. C.; and Major Otto Holstein, formerly of Lexington and now of Trujillo, Peru.

Mrs. John Horace Cleland, state custodian of crosses, has gone to Louisville to attend the state convention.

SUSPENSION OF RATES SOUGHT

Suspension of increased rates on unmanufactured tobacco between points in Kentucky and Tennessee, including Ohio river crossings, and between points in these states and St. Louis, Mo., published to become effective December 9, is sought in a formal petition filed yesterday by the Lexington Board of Commerce with the interstate commerce commission and Kentucky railroad commission.

In the petition, which was prepared by J. E. Marks, manager of the board's traffic department, it is shown that the proposed rates would increase freight charges on leaf shipments to and from Lexington more than $40,000 per year. This estimate is based on a traffic test made jointly by the railroads and shippers in 1928. On the entire movement in Kentucky and Tennessee, the increase would be $100,000, or approximately 15 per cent.

Illustrations of the proposed increase follows: To Lexington from Paris, present, 11 1-2 cents per 100 pounds, proposed 16 cents; from Cynthiana, present 12 cents, proposed 19 cents, from Maysville present 17 cents, proposed 26; from Lexington to Louisville, present 21 1-2 cents, proposed 29; to St. Louis, present 42 1-2 cents, proposed 47.

In the event the suspension is granted, the present rates would be continued in effect pending hearing and investigation as to the legality of the proposed rates.

Speakers See Center of Anti-War Propaganda Located In Louisville.

No other organization on earth is more opposed to war than the American Legion, Frank D. Rash, national executive committeeman of the Legion, said Sunday at the semi-annual meeting of the executives of the eleven districts of the American Legion of Kentucky at the Memorial Auditorium. "But we are not impractical theorists," Mr. Rash asserted.

Charging that paid propagandists are centering their activities in Louisville and Kentucky as headquarters for the South, Mr. Rash averred $150,000 will be spent this year in anti-war propaganda.

Harvey White, State commander of the Legion in Kentucky, declared paid propagandists in many instances have been able to influence preachers to go into universities and ask boys there to sign pledges not to join the Army. "Many preachers believe," Mr. White said, "it is their Christian duty to eliminate all wars. If we quit going to hear these paid speakers and quit supporting to their support, they will get other jobs."

Sees Red Activities.

O. C. Wright asserted "There is plenty of Red activities right here in Kentucky. And it is not by long-haired, funny-looking individuals, but by brilliant speakers who are able to sway audiences with their arguments."

mittee of the Legion, offered a resolution which was adopted, to have Legion posts throughout the State supplied with a paper giving a brief outline of Mr. Foster's conclusions in regard to the situation. Mr. Foster asserted the Legion does not want to be militaristic nor pacifistic.

Thomas H. Hayden, Jr., State adjutant of the Legion, said the organization's answer to attacks by certain religious groups, is the increase in membership from 85,000 persons last year to more than 185,000 at present. There are 142 active posts in Kentucky with a membership of 10,329, Mr. Hayden said.

Membership Drive.

"Never before, Mr. Hayden announced, "has the American Legion held the esteem it holds now in Kentucky and especially in Louisville."

Plans for a membership drive to attempt to bring the total in Kentucky to 20,000 persons were outlined by Mr. White. He announced six silver loving cups will be given to six divisions of the State. The State will be divided up by Mr. Hayden. Also 142 badges will be given as prizes to the persons in each post who obtain the greatest number of members.

The silver cups and badges are to be presented at the State convention at Mayfield July 28-30. The date of the convention was set Sunday.

All members and officers of the 142 Legion posts in the State are to be invited to attend a meeting here January 12, it was announced.

Surplus Reported.

Paul Jagielky, department finance officers, announced a surplus of $6,600.62.

Reports were made by J. Michael Casey, Shelbyville, department vice commander; Hugh Lewis, Greenville, alternate executive committee-man; Rev. Victor P. Henry, Hardingsburg, department chaplain; D. B. Spragens, Lebanon, historian; Carter D. Stamper, Beattyville, judge advocate; James D. Sory, Jr., service officer; C. N. Florence, contact officer; and J. S. Brown, Marion; Julian L. Heilbronner, Henderson; Cecil Lewis, Greenville; J. Colgan Norman, Louisville; Lewis Robinson, Ludlow; T. M. Fleming, Frankfort; L. M. Hilliard, Danville; J. S. Sherwood, Cynthiana; C. V. Martin, Paintsville; Alvin Midwell, Sparta; Eldon S. Dummitt, Lexington; executive committeeman; Emmet O'Neal, Louisville; George C. Burton, Louisville, former department commanders; H. B. Kinsolving, chairman of the department membership committee; and J. Howard Wills, Lexington.

The Seniors had no trouble in winning the last game of the soccer season last Wednesday from the Middlers, by the one-sided score of 3 to 0. In the first half neither side was able to score, though the ball was kept in the Middlers' territory all the time. In the second half 1910 put more life into their play and quickly made three goals. The playing of Foster for 1910 was a feature. Gridley and Look also showed up well for their respective teams.

SOCCER TEAM IN TIE GAME

Andover Plays Interesting Game
with Local Organization

The Andover soccer team played a tie game with the Thistles last Saturday afternoon, the score being 1 to 1. Owing to a very cold wind that swept the field, the playing was of a rather sluggish character, neither side showing any exceptional work. The Thistles' forwards were good in carrying the ball down the field, but their poor shooting and the strong defense put up by Andover prevented them from scoring until late in the second half. The Academy forwards were quicker on their feet, but only succeeded in scoring once, owing to their inferior team work. Cairnie, Anderson, and Lowe were the Thistles' best line men, and Black was good on the defense. Kwan, Hardy and Ogden were Andover's best players on the offensive, and Dickey, Wells and Bushnell played a good defensive game.

The game started at 3.15, the Thistles rushing the ball into Andover's territory, only to lose it. Several times they came within striking distance of Andover's goal. Throughout the half the ball was rushed back and forth, neither team showing any superiority. Toward the end of the half, the ball was rushed into the Thistles' territory, where Ogden kicked a pretty goal. This was the only score of the half. Score, Andover 1, Thistles 0.

In the second half Andover was kept more on the defensive. The Thistles after some good passing carried the ball into their opponents' territory and Skea kicked a goal. No more goals were made after this, although Andover several times menaced her opponents' goal. Time was called with the ball near the center of the field. Final score, Andover 1, Thistles 1.

FOSTER HEARD BY AUXILIARY

The necessity of knowing the families of ex-service men and seeing that they are provided for was the theme of a talk by Maj. Hart Foster at a meeting of the Curry Breckinridge Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, conducted last night at the home of Mrs. William Petit, on South Ashland avenue.

Taking as his subject "Unemployment and Child Welfare," Major Foster pointed out that the American Legion is now attempting to work out a system for compiling and keeping the records of all ex-service men and their families. These records will be used as references in welfare work.

A report of the welfare committee of the auxiliary, made last night, showed that during the Christmas holidays 155 families of ex-service men were taken care of, 36 baskets were sent to the U. S. Veterans' hospital, and 58 daughters of ex-service men confined in the Kentucky Houses of Reform were sent presents.

Following the business meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Hervey Kerr, president, a social hour was enjoyed by the 30 members in attendance.

There was a clever duel between the rival pitchers, Foster and Cromwell, when the teams of the Tacoma Country and Golf club and Cromwell & Chastain met on the field at DeKoven hall yesterday. At the conclusion of the game Foster, pitching for the Country club, was the best. The score was 2 to 1.

Foster struck out 14 batters while Cromwell got away with eight. But two hits were made on either side. Brown, Cromwell & Chastain's short stop, got both hits for his side.

Foster pitched his best in the fourth. With the bases full and no one out he struck out the next three batters who were well up in the batting order.

Association Football Team to Open Season With Andover.

The Harvard association football team will play its first game of the season this afternoon against Andover on Soldiers Field at 3.30 o'clock. The Crimson team gives promise of being the strongest it has had since the sport was started at Cambridge, and with six of last year's team in the line-up this afternoon the development for a championship team will start at once.

With the exception of Fish, Houston and Galatti, who were playing football, the team has been practising since Oct. 21. Andover has played but one game so far, having defeated a local team by the score of 4 to 1.

The team is probably one of the most representative teams that ever played for Harvard. Fish and Houston are football men, Mason and Lindsey are track men, Mazuma is a Japanese student, and Li comes from China.

The line-up will be as follows:

Seniors on Pratt Field, 10 to 3. The latter game was prematurely stopped by rain after five innings had been played.

The first game was practically won by 1913 S. in the second inning when five runs were brought in on several hits assisted by loose fielding on the part of the Law School. The score was almost tied, however, in the fifth inning when the Law School, after scoring earlier in the game, batted in three runs on two neat doubles by Jones and Welch. But in the seventh inning all doubt as to the outcome was dispelled, when 1913 S. repeated their former performance and hit Shaffer for another five runs, making the final score 10-6 in their favor. In regard to individual playing Jones excelled for the Law School, while Foster pitched a consistent, although at sometimes erratic, game for 1913 S.

CLASS GAMES

The Seniors and Middlers Win Their Respective Games

In the second game of the series, the Seniors defeated the Junior Middlers Wednesday afternoon, by the score of 6 to 4. The game was rather poorly played, fourteen errors being made, but with more practice, both teams should be able to make a hard fight for championship. The Seniors showed a good ability to advance their men along the bases, and played a fairly good game, but the Junior Middlers made a decided slump from their last game, being slow in their throws, weak at bat, and being unable to score their men.

Foster pitched the game through for the winners, and managed to hold his opponents down to six hits, but was rather wild at times. Sternberger was in the box for 1912, and pitched a good game, striking out eight men and only passing one, but did not have as good support as he should have had. Burnham played an excellent game for 1910, getting a pretty three bagger which he stretched into a score on an error. Arnold did his part well at center, and played a good all around game. For 1912 Harlow easily outplayed all others, making four hits, two singles, a two bagger, and a three bagger.

Shannon started the scoring for 1912 in the second inning, reaching first on Martin's error, stealing second, being advanced to third, and coming in on Torrey's error. In the next inning 1910 started, Arnold being walked and scoring on Burnham's three bagger, Burnham followed on J. Dupont's error; then Martin singled, stole second and third, and brought in a run on Paine's hit. In the fourth another run was made for 1910 by Foster who doubled on a wild throw by Hunt, and came home on another error by Dupont. In the next inning, 1912 woke up and scored three runs. J. Dupont went to first on Paine's error, second when Loeb took two bases on Foster's error, and scored on a sacrifice by Remmes; falled by Loeb on a pretty triple by Harlow, who himself tallied on a hit by L. Dupont. Hunt then struck out. In the last half of this inning Paine singled to center, stole second, and added another run to the score on the third error by J. Dupont. In the seventh Martin took one base on an error, stole another, was advanced by Look's hit, and brought in the last run of the game when Paine lifted a fly day Paintsville administered a beating to Pikeville that will long be remembered by that club. Foster pitched for Paintsville and came through with his second win of the week. Fowler pitched for Pikeville but his showing was not up to standard. Captain Howes broke the game up in the fifth with two men on, getting one good for two bases.

RESERVE OFFICERS

LEXINGTON CHAPTER ELECTS
DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION IN DETROIT; AGAINST REDUCTION IN THE ARMY. 1922

At a meeting of the Lexington Chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association held at the Lafayette hotel Saturday night, delegates were elected to represent the local organization at the national convention of the association to be held at Detroit Oct. 27 and 28.

Col. Scott Breckinridge and Capt. Hart G. Foster, of Lexington; Lieut. A. E. Denton, of Stearns; Capt. David W. Kennedy, of Richmond, and Capt. Robert Bronaugh, of Nicholasville, were the delegates selected.

Dr. Breckinridge, president of the local chapter, presided at the meeting. After a discussion it was decided that the Lexington organization will support the plans of the National Council evolved at a meeting of that body in Indianapolis, in July to combat the proposed reduction of the personnel of the army below 15,000 officers and 150,000 enlisted men.

It was the opinion of the officers present that those figures represent the minimum size to which the army can be reduced without endangering national safety in the event of invasion or other trouble.

Major Edward Duncan, of San Diego, Cal., a brother of Henry T. Duncan, of Lexington, and of Gen. George B. Duncan, was a guest at the meeting.

Plans were made for the meetings to be held during the coming fall and winter months. It is planned to have a meeting the third Saturday night of each month.

FOSTER HEARD AT LEGION MEET

The question of immediate payment of adjusted compensation to World War veterans was discussed at a meeting of Man o' War Post, American Legion, at city hall last night, which was presided over by Commander E. E. Potts.

The post decided to leave its attitude on question open until delegates are selected to represent the post at the state convention in Middlesboro in June.

Col. Dallas Dennis reported that funds will be raised among the members of the post to send the drum and bugle corps to the Kentucky Derby in Louisville. Col. Dennis said that at a later date a tri-state drum and bugle corp contest will be held in Lexington to which corps from Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia will be invited to compete with Man o' War corps and corps from other chapters in Kentucky.

Lieut.-Col. Hart G. Foster addressed the post on the Federation of Interallie des Anciens Combatants, commonly known as "Fidac." Colonel Foster said that the organization, which was formed in Paris, on November 28, 1920, is meant to be a common ground of meeting for veterans of all the allied armies in the World War, to promote better understanding between nations, to "avert as far as possible disastrous conflicts similar to the one we have all just passed through."

Colonel Foster reviewed the history of efforts for world peace and disarmament in recent years.

BASE BALL NEWS

Paintsville 7; Van Lear 4.

In a pitchers duel between Foster for Paintsville and Jasper for Van Lear, Paintsville defeated Van Lear Thursday by a score of 7 to 4.

Van Lear had defeated Paintsville two straights and by the ball played by the Paintsville team, it was easily shown they intended to never be defeated by that club again. "Old Bob" of course pitched a good brand of ball, as he always does, but the Paintsville boys hit when hits meant runs. Foster allowed Van Lear six hits, and pitched his best game of the season.

Paintsville 6; Pikeville 3.
