DR. OTIS A. SINGLETARY
President, University of Kentucky

The University of Kentucky has become one of the major institutions of higher learning in the United States under the leadership of Dr. Otis Singletary, the eighth president of the University.

Dr. Singletary was named president of the University in August, 1969. He had previously served as executive vice-chancellor for academic affairs in the University of Texas System and director of the Job Corps program for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. Singletary, a native of Gulfport, Miss., holds degrees from Millsaps College and Louisiana State University.

As president of the principal institution of higher learning in the Commonwealth, Dr. Singletary is greatly concerned with the University's role as a land-grant institution, a "people's university" accessible to all who can profit from education.

In the nine years he has been president, the University has grown to where there are now more than 22,000 students on the Lexington campus and more than 17,000 students in UK's 13 community colleges, and the University has become one of the major research institutions in the country.

Recognition of his service to the University was evidenced by the UK Alumni Association, which presented to Dr. Singletary its Alumni Service Award—an honor rarely bestowed upon a non-alumnus of the University.

Dr. Singletary is the author of two books and several monographs.

A Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict, he is a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He and Mrs. Singletary, the former Gloria Walton, have three children: Bonnie, Scot and Kendall.

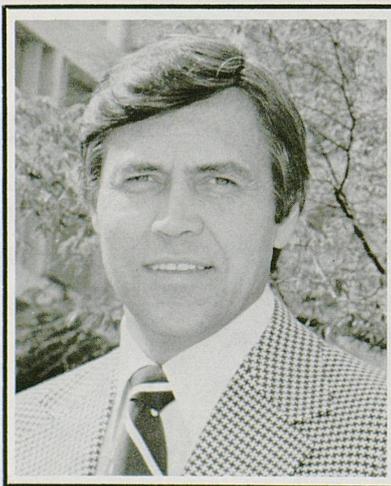

The Singletarys live at Maxwell Place, traditional home of UK presidents.

Athletics Department

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN
Director

Expansion of the football training room and addition of a beautiful player's lounge at Shively Sports Center, new carpeting in the stadium football offices, a new basketball office complex in Memorial Coliseum, re-arrangement of the baseball fences and a new surface for the running track are just a few of the recent improvements that signify the continuing progress of UK athletics since Cliff Hagan joined the Wildcat Staff seven years ago.

Recognized nationally as a progressive, business-oriented and promotion-minded administrator, Hagan has seen and overseen vast improvements in all phases of an ever-expanding operation that has encompassed 16 sports since the men's and women's programs were merged in July of last year.

The merger, under Hagan's direction, has been orderly, with office space re-modeled and in some cases created to make room for the women's coaching and administrative staff.

The indoctrination of Hagan into the UK athletics administrative structure came in 1972, when he was named assistant to Harry C. Lancaster and given the task of implementing the Blue & White Fund for 57,600-seat Commonwealth Stadium and later for Rupp Arena. The fruits of his labors in this area have provided the additional financial support that has elevated the UK athletics program into a first class operation.

Hagan was named Athletics Director in July 1975 following Lancaster's retirement.

Hagan also has been an advocate of a strong scholar-athlete program, feeling "a genuine commitment to provide all the academic support and encouragement we can to help our athletes leave our campus with a college education and a degree."

On the personal side, Hagan received one of his highest individual honors last May when he became the first University of Kentucky basketball player to be installed in the Naismith Memorial National Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

He is married to the former Martha Milton of Owensboro. They have four children: Lisa, Laurie, Amy, and Kip.

FRANK HAM
Assistant Director of Athletics

FRANK HAM became Assistant Director of Athletics in July 1975 soon after Cliff Hagan succeeded Harry C. Lancaster as Director of Athletics.

A native of Scranton, Pa., Ham came to the University in 1969 as administrative Assistant to football coach John Ray, and was reassigned to the Athletic Director's staff in 1972 when Ray resigned.

Ham graduated from high school at Niles, Michigan, and completed his undergraduate work at Indiana University and coached high school football and track at John Adams High in South Bend in 1944-46 and then returned to Olivet as athletic director and head football and basketball coach.

In 1951, he became assistant to the president at Olivet, with responsibilities in public and alumni relations. He was in private business from 1954 until 1968.

SUE FEAMSTER
Assistant Director of Athletics

SUE FEAMSTER joined the athletics association July 1, 1978, with the merger of the men's and women's programs. Feamster had been the director of women's athletics prior to her appointment as assistant director of athletics.

A native of Frankfort, she came to the University as a graduate student in 1970, was named assistant director of campus recreation in 1972 and director of women's athletics in 1974.

Feamster graduated from Franklin County High School where she was an outstanding tennis player and athlete. While in college she earned letters in tennis, field hockey, basketball and track from Indiana University and Kentucky State University, where she earned her B.S. degree and graduated with honors.

LARRY IVY
Assistant Director of Athletics for Finance

Adding a new dimension to UK athletics was the appointment three years ago of LARRY IVY as Assistant Director of Athletics for Finance.

Ivy, who came to the University as Director of Housing in 1969, is involved primarily with the administration and management of financial aspects, and develops and initiates policies for accounting procedures and related business management activities of the department.

Game plan.

Success in basketball requires plenty of training, good coaching and team play. And it requires a game plan.

At McDonald's, our game plan is simple. We have the team to produce winners every season.

Winners like Quarter Pounder,[™] Big Mac,[™] Golden French Fries, and Triple Thick Shakes.

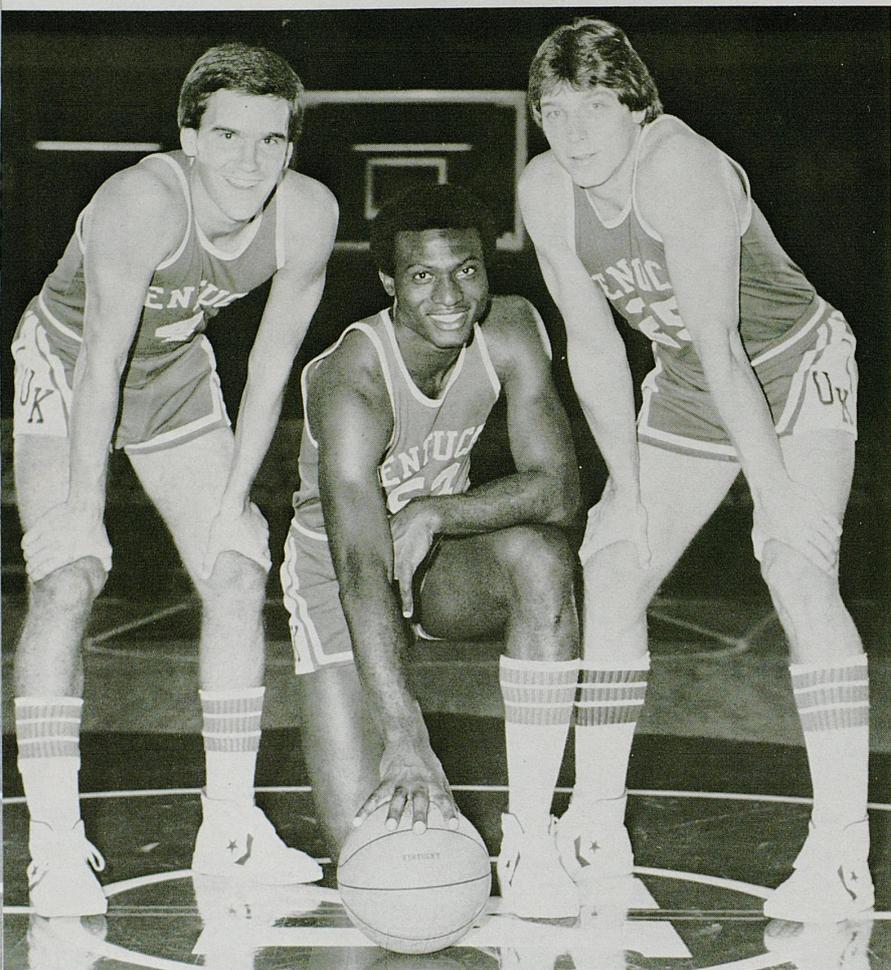

And our game plan includes careful handling. We never drop the ball when it comes to service. Prompt and courteous—whether you're home team or visitor.

So, before or after the next battle on the hardwood, include McDonald's in your game plan.

Nobody can do it like McDonald's can.[™]

Three Popular Cats

Seniors play final home game

WHEN the Kentucky band plays "On, On, U of K" tonight and the cheerleaders come bouncing and cartwheeling onto the court ahead of the Wildcats, leading the team will be three of the school's most popular players, LaVon Williams, Jay Shidler and Kyle Macy.

As freshmen they came from diverse backgrounds and brought with them a variety of aspirations and attitudes. As seniors, they share four years of experiences that are made primarily of winning, including a national championship.

Williams was from the Mile High City of Denver, Colorado. Shidler came from Lawrenceville, Illinois, and Macy from Peru, Indiana. All were highly successful in their high school careers and all were heavily recruited before choosing Kentucky.

Their careers at Kentucky have been shaped to each one's talents and individual personality makeups but they have reached a similar conclusion—success.

Shidler has grown from the blonde bomber of his freshman days to the "brown bomber" who can "fill it up" in such alien places as Tuscaloosa. Williams has grown from being a back-up forward to one of the most tenacious players in the SEC. Macy transferred to Kentucky from Purdue after one year, sat out a year waiting to become eligible and then developed into the best guard in the nation.

Shidler has spent four years diving into the stands after errant passes, playing "belly-up defense," and shooting jumpshots from downtown Lexington. During his senior year, the hustle, the defense and the shooting touch have all come together and produced a highly rewarding finale.

LaVon Williams, Senior Forward

Williams stepped in to fill the shoes of the graduated twin-towers Rick Robey and Mike Phillips last season and helped to fashion a remarkably successful year for a small, young group of Cats. This season he has continued his outstanding defensive play, his rebounding and scoring. Williams has manned his post well despite each season presenting him with a different role. One year it was a substitute's role, the next a role as the team mainstay and this year as a leader among young giants.

Macy began his Kentucky career as "The glue that holds the Blue," in a drive for the national championship. His junior year saw him carry a tremendous leadership role with a young team in a tough league and his senior year, he simply became the best.

All three seniors have seen the glory of winning the NCAA championship and all have traveled and experienced a wealth of foreign sites. There was a tour for the team in Japan, Williams played in Europe with the U.S. team in 1979 and Macy won a gold medal in the 1979 Pan American games in Puerto Rico. This year they have been to the base of a glacier in Alaska and to the glitter and sand of Las Vegas, Nevada.

"A lot of good things have happened to me since I came to Kentucky, but most importantly, I've learned how to deal with disappointment, how to wait my turn and how to deal with pressure. This is important to me now," says Williams looking at his Kentucky career. "When I came here, I didn't expect to sit on the bench as long as I did. As a result of that, I'm a better person and I'm glad I did because I got totally involved in the

The Last Time

Kentucky vs. Miss. State

It was almost one month ago today that Kentucky and Mississippi State met on the MSU campus in Starkville for the 59th time in their SEC history. Behind a 61.9 shooting percentage, the Wildcats handed the Bulldogs their worst defeat, 89-67, in the four-year history of Humphrey Coliseum. The UK win, combined with Georgia's 55-54 upset of Tennessee, gave Kentucky a three way tie for first in the SEC with the Vols and LSU.

For the second straight game, Kentucky placed all five starters in double figures, led by senior guard Kyle Macy's 20 points and forward Fred Cowan's 17. Dirk Minniefield, LaVon Williams and Sam Bowie added 14, 12, and 10 points, respectively. Minniefield handed out a game high 13 assists for the victors.

"Yes, it was a good win for us," commented Kentucky coach Joe B. Hall.

"It's an important hump to be over because its always tough to win on the road, and we were in a slump coming in here."

Building up a six point halftime margin, 43-37, a sellout crowd of 8,830 MSU fans looked on as the Cats methodically picked apart the Mississippi State 2-1-2 zone.

Freshman sensation Jeff Malone provided excitement for Bulldog fans by hitting on 12-of-21 shots and three-of-five charity tosses to tally 27 points. Center Rickey Brown added 22 points for the Dogs as they dropped their fourth consecutive SEC game. Brown connected on only nine-of-22 field goal attempts.

DR. JAMES D. McCOMAS
President

Currently in its second century of progress, Mississippi State has gained a far-reaching reputation for its innovations, research, and an expanding curriculum since it was founded on Feb. 28, 1878.

Its first president, Stephen D. Lee, took the first small steps which led to today's giant strides at MSU in the field of education in Mississippi. But the university has not rested on its past laurels.

The addition of the College of Veterinary Medicine and the School of Agriculture represents an investment of $30 million and gives the university one of the most well-rounded curricula in the country. Located in the rolling hills of Northeast Mississippi's prairie region, just a few hours drive from the most distant point in the state, Mississippi State University is the largest institution of higher learning in the Magnolia State and one of the fastest growing schools in Dixie.

In 1895, only two courses, agriculture and mechanical arts, were available to the 213 students then enrolled.

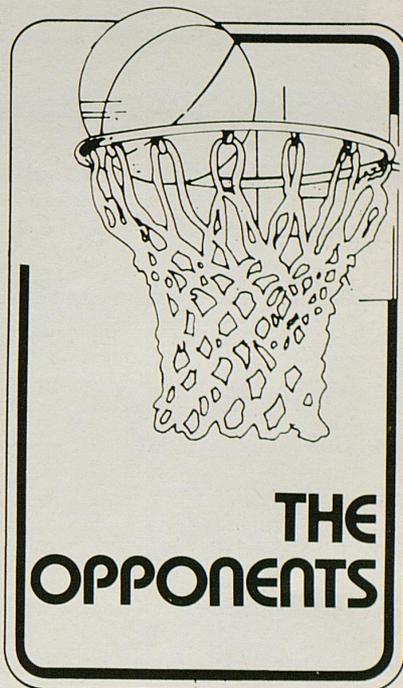

Prior to that date, agriculture was the only course offered from the initial opening on October 6, 1880 (the school actually was founded two years earlier), when 136 students of college grades came by train, buggy and on foot, to launch Mississippi's land grant college.

During the past decade MSU has enjoyed its greatest building program. Recently occupied is the $2 million McCool Hall, which houses the School of Business and Industry. McCool Hall faces the parade grounds, adjacent to the Union. The Cobb Institute of Archeology, opposite Hilburn Hall, has also been occupied in the mid-1970's.

"It must be a Southwick."

It must be Leonard Cox

The trend to more traditional styles appeals most to those who are advanced in their taste, not necessarily in their years. Southwick's natural shoulder suit, "Dorset," is a classic example. There is an elegant, shaped line—a look achieved by a touch that is youthful and contemporary, yet one that hasn't varied a stitch in quality for half a century.

OUR PLAY LIST

You're looking at a wall containing over 10,000 record albums. It's the main source of music for the personalities who play the daily sounds of Double Q.

But it's not the only source. We present live concerts, too. From places like New Orleans and Los Angeles.

Sometimes our personalities bring in singles, albums, or tapes from their own collections and they're always getting the first advanced releases of the most important new rock and roll albums.

Of course, they play hits too. But the main thing that dictates what our personalities play is their unique sense of the energy, diversity and excitement of the music of our times. And a special sense of knowing just what you want to hear.

That goes for Kathie Stamps in the morning. For Gary Dickson and Terry Meiners at midday. For Kruser in the afternoon, and Tony Tolliver in the evening. And it goes for Ross Martin in the wee hours of the night. They're what makes Double Q different.

And why our listeners hear more new music, more old music, more of all kinds of music than any other listeners in Lexington.

program. Before, I cared only about myself. Now, I've learned to care about others, and it has taught me to be more considerate. It just made me realize there are other people in the world besides me. The discipline required by Coach Hall has been a strong influence on me."

Of the three seniors, Jay Shidler's career has had the most ups and downs, mainly due to the pressure he put on himself including being heavily critical of himself when he didn't play like a world beater. After a let down midway through the four years, Shidler came back and became a main cog of the team the past two seasons. Through his eventful career, he has remained probably one of the most popular players to put on a Kentucky uniform.

Looking at his tenure at UK, Shidler says, "I really hope the people of Kentucky know how much I appreciate the way they've treated me. I really don't know why the fans like me, but I'm not complaining. I love it. It just hurts me that I've not been able to give them all they deserve.

"I've learned a great deal since I came to Kentucky and the fans have been so nice. I just want to repay them."

He has.

In the Cats' drive toward the national title in 1978, Michigan State almost upset the apple cart in the regionals. However, in the final seconds with the game hanging on a thread, Kyle Macy maneuvered an opponent into committing a foul and drew two shots at the freethrow line. He converted them into game winning points. His career at Kentucky has had many such situations, making him possibly the most valuable player in the last three years or perhaps longer. Time and time again, he has done it all, including last second 20-foot jumpshots that have felled a bunch of opponents. But more importantly, there has been steady play that has echoed greatness game-in and game-out.

When one talks about popular Kentucky players, there is no way to judge who would be the most popular but Macy must be in the top three. If nothing else, he has had more boy babies named after him than anyone in the school's history.

When Macy runs onto the floor for the last time tonight, a lot of Kentucky history will have been made. There have been a record number of assists, points, free throws, free throw percentages and an equal amount of responsibility for the team's success.

He has been the epitome of the All-American. He has always been neat, a good student, and a perfect representative of the best of American young men. He probably also holds the record for

Southeastern Conference Tourney Time Nears

Nearing the close of regular season play, college basketball players' minds tend to wander toward thoughts of tournament play and a possible National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Championship.

Like many other conferences across the nation, the Southeastern Conference holds a tournament to select which team will represent the SEC in the NCAA tournament, and like last year, the tournament will be held in Birmingham at the Birmingham-Jefferson Coliseum.

Renewed last year for the first time in 26 years, the tournament provided excitement for fans of all ages.

This year's tournament will begin February 27 and run through Saturday March 1st. A total of nine games will be played in five sessions. The pairings for the session are as follows: 7th place vs. 10th place and 8th place vs. 9th place (Wednesday, Feb. 27); 3rd place vs. 6th place, 2nd place vs. 7th-10th place winner, 4th place vs. 5th place and 1st place vs. 8th-9th winner (Thursday, Feb. 28); Semi-finals (Friday, Feb. 29) and Finals (Saturday, March 30).

playing the most minutes without getting his hair mussed. Kentucky fans are proud of Kyle Macy and he is proud of them.

Before Macy began his first year at UK, Coach Joe B. Hall was quoted as saying he could be the best guard he had ever coached. He may have developed into one of the best to ever put on a pair of basketball shoes.

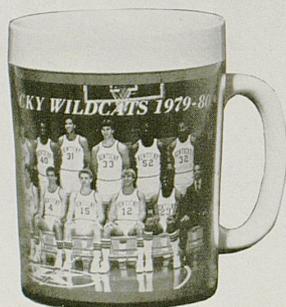

Not only did Macy transfer to Kentucky but he also transplanted his heart. His feelings toward the Bluegrass state are all pleasant and he plans to someday make his home in the Lexington area.

A major change from last season's post-season tournament will be the placement of the first- and second-place teams, which were determined during the regular season. Given a bye until the semi-finals in the 1979 tourney, the two teams needed to win only two games to be the SEC representative at the NCAA championships. This year, the regular season's top two teams will begin play in the second round.

Tickets to the SEC tournament at the 16,750-seat Birmingham-Jefferson Coliseum, are sold in season-book form at a cost of $50.00. An equal number of books will be allotted to each of the ten SEC institutions and they will determine their own method of distribution.

value & variety

You know the situation. It's time to decide on a place to eat. Family Battle #46. Everybody wants something different.

Your wife loves fried chicken. Junior doesn't. All he wants is a hamburger and fries, a hamburger and fries. You'd think he'd turn into a hamburger and fries. And your daughter? Crazy about fish. As for you, you only have one concern. That it doesn't cost you half a week's pay to eat dinner.

How do you make everybody happy? Come to Burger Queen. Delicious golden brown fried chicken for your wife, the chicken fan. A world of hamburgers for Junior. Hamburgers, cheeseburgers, Royal Burgers, Imperial Burgers. And for your daughter, Burger Queen's batter-dipped Fish 'N Chips or their new Complete Fish Dinner. They even serve breakfast in the morning. And everything at a price that will satisfy even you.

Value & Variety at Burger Queen. The answer to the family dinner dilemma.
