

The Senate met in special session in the Chapel at noon, January 30, and adopted the following resolution concerning the death of Professor Raymond W. Sies:

"The faculty of the University of Kentucky were profoundly shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of Dr. Raymond W. Sies on Sunday afternoon, January 29, of pneumonia. Doctor Sies was Professor of Educational Administration and Supervision in the Department of Education at the University of Kentucky. He came to the University in September from the University of Minnesota, where he was Professor of Educational Administration for three years. He had been with us but a short while, but during this time he had made many warm friends in the University and in Lexington. He was an excellent scholar, a good teacher and thoroughly equipped in the field of administration and supervision, - was painstaking and scientific in his work, a man of fine ideals and a high sense of justice and honor. The faculty feel that in his death the University has sustained a great loss. We extend to his wife and family our sincere sorrow and sympathy in his passing."
