WILDCATS WANT TO GET AT MISSISSIPPI CREW

Southern Bunch Comes Highly Touted and With Good Record

MARSHALL GAME OFF

Mississippi A. and M. Saturday! Marshall College got caught out in the first cold spell and frigid pedal extremities resulted. Marshall wired Dr. Tigert that no game could possibly be arranged with the Wildcats this season. The gap in the schedule will probably be left.

The Wildcats have been kept off of prey for two weeks and are hungry for victims. They hope to taste of sweet revenge Saturday for the twelve-to-nothing drubbing received at the hands of Mississippi A. and M. on a hot day last year. It looks like now the weather will be as different as the score.

Plenty of rest and careful polishing has characterized the week's workouts of the Wildcats. Whether the rest will prove a help or injury is yet to be seen. Dr. Tigert has his crowd on edge and itching to go. The Mississippi game will tell whether Kentucky is in correct condition to turn all the tables upside down by beating Tennessee, which beat Vanderbilt Saturday. If the Wildcats should celebrate Thanksgiving by painting Knoxville blue and white it will give Kentucky a good claim for Southern honors.

Mississippi has a good team. They have taken the scalps of Chattanooga, which held Tennessee to a small score, and bruised Transylvania up considerably the second game of the season. Mississippi is said by some football students to have the best line in the South.

The Wildcat line-up will probably have no changes. No official line-up could be furnished today. The whole team will go in in good condition and that spells a lot. Alvin Thompson, the end, who did excellent work in the first part of the season, and who left the game to undergo an operation, will be out of the game the rest of the season.

The only thing Dr. Tigert would say before the Kernel went to press was that the Wildcats will all be ready when the whistle blows and there'll be a fight.

"COLLEGE SPIRIT" TO BE DISCUSSED AT "Y"

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a meeting next Sunday night at the Y rooms. The topic of discussion will be: "What is True College Spirit?" Student speakers who have been selected for the occasion are J. Franklin Corn, Charles Gordon and Bart Peak. Three points will be emphasized in the speaking, college spirit on the campus, in the class-room and in students' activities.

CLEANLINESS NEXT TO GODLINESS AT HALL

Y. W. C. A. Rooms Located In Basement Close To the Laundry

FURNISHINGS NIFTY

Making the best of a bad bargain is what the Patterson Hall girls have been doing since the only room in the building available for meetings was made into sleeping quarters this fall.

The lack of a place for the Y. W. C. A. to hold its meetings has presented a serious problem, since the weather has prevented services being conducted on the porch. At last, however, the difficulty has been solved. The laundry in the basement which has previously occupied two rooms, has been moved into one, and the girls have converted the other into an association room. Curtains at the windows, a flower box hiding an unsightly corner and dashing yellow shades over the lights have worked miracles with the old laundry.

The Young Woman's Christian Association has planned the room for a community center, to make up to the girls in some measure the loss of their old Recreation Hall.

MCINTEER IS WINNER OF BANANA CONTEST

The Agricultural Society held a joint meeting with the Home Economics girls last Monday night in the Y. M. C. A. Building. Professor J. T. C. Noe made the address of the evening, on "What Education Should Mean to us and How we Should Spend Our Leisure Hours While in College," and three solos were sung by Miss Effie Land.

The boys met at the Y. M. C. A. and went in a body to Patt Hall, where they drew lots to see which young lady would honor each with her company to the meeting. About forty girls were present.

After the program, a banana-eating contest was pulled off and the prize of one dollar was won by B. B. McInteer, after it was shown that several of the contestants had put their bananas in their pockets instead of the place intended for them by nature. Refreshments, consisting of agricultural products, grapes, apples and bananas, were then passed around and for a time very little conversation was indulged in.

CHINESE Y. MAN HERE

Mr. Wm. R. Stewart, a Y. M. C. A. missionary at Nanking, China, who is home on a furlough, was a visitor to the University Y. M. C. A. this week. Mr. Stewart will shortly return to the foreign field. He has been associated with our former Y. M. C. A. secretary, E. L. Hall, in the work in China.

THE Y. M. C. A.'s AIM.

To win men to Christian life and develop them in it.

To co-operate with the church.

To promote a program of unselfish service.

To provide as far as possible, thru employment bureaus, work for needy students.

To provide wholesome social life.

To unite the students in promoting the interests of the University and the individuals who compose it.

To unite the students of the University of Kentucky with the worldwide Christian brotherhood.

Y. M. C. A. WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN NEXT WEEK

Every Student To Be Asked To Become a Real Live Member

HAS DONE GOOD WORK

"The hunger for brotherhood is at the bottom of the unrest of the modern civilized world." That is the feeling in every Y. boy's heart, and Mr. Johnson has a feeling near akin to it in starting the great campaign for Y. M. C. A. membership that will be waged next week. With a zip, a boom and a rah the membership campaign will be started Monday and not a boy will be missed; all will be given a pressing invitation to join in the Y. movement and no sheep will intentionally be left out of the fold.

But this is a campaign for new members not in name but in spirit. Deep down in the heart take stock of yourself and see if you are going in for the name; if you are, you should not go in. The fight of the Y. M. C. A. is a fight to establish in the college boy's heart the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Charles Rann Kennedy says: "There's a lot o' brother knockin' abahst as people don't know on." His statement is true. When you look at it—this business of brotherhood—you find there are many fellows that you would really like to "buddy up to," while on the other hand you can find fellows to whom it would mean more to be a comrade to than all of the ready cash most of us could spare.

Did the thought ever touch you that we are all descendants of Adam, all brothers and the earth is one great home? Well, it is a fact. Every boy in college has a room in that home to himself, some of those rooms are so lonesome they are ante-chambers next door to Hell. Do you ever meander and rap on your brother's door, invite him to talk with you, smoke the pipe of comradeship and partake of your good cheer? Do it and you will find

KITTENS WIN FROM GEORGETOWN'S CUBS

Howard and Peak Carry the Ball Over—Score Is 13 to 0

STRUGGLE THRILLING

A deafening collection of "Meows" was heard from the "Kittens" last Friday when Assistant Coach Tuttle took them from the source of their infantile pleasures and put them on the gridiron at Georgetown in front of the Tiger Cubs. As the Wildcats fight in their lair so did the "Kittens" fight on the muddy straw-strewn haunt of the Cubs, and the end of the game found the score 13 to 0 in the Kittens' favor.

In the first half Jack Howard carried the ball over for a score and "Red" Adair kicked goal. In the last half when some one blundered the signals Bart Peak ran for thirty yards and went over for another. At this sensational play of Bart's the crowd went wild. Two thousand Georgetown rooters cried out their pain, fair young co-eds tore their hair and shed big Texas tears of sympathy for Georgetown, but to no avail, as the game soon closed and the Cubs were unable to score. After the game a rush was made to get better views of the Wildcats' offspring. Many compliments were dispensed. People were shoved to exhaustion by those who wished to get a full view of the Kittens. The game was a grand success as evidenced by the Georgetown Bumble Bee's extra, which was on the street in a few minutes after the game, telling of the splendid work of the Kittens and giving the constructive opinions of the Eastern scouts who were present. The line-up follows:

Kittens.	Position.	Cubs.
Lancaster	Left Guard.	Arnold
Kelley	Center.	Anderson (Capt.)
Sloan	Right Guard.	Minor
Beles	Right Tackle.	Barlow
Shinnick	Right End.	Johnson
Peak	Quarterback.	Ogden
Howard	Left Half.	Henderson
Laugh	Fullback.	Atkinson
Adair (Capt.)	Right Half.	Lane

Many substitutes were used by both teams during the last half.

The Pre-medical Society will hold its monthly meeting in the Natural Science Building at 7:30 Monday night.

S. R. O. CROWD PRESENT FOR AMATEUR NIGHT

Miss Margaret Wilkinson and Frank Shinnick Take Prize

BARNHILL ALSO WINS

(By "Sap.") Students of the University of Kentucky and Sayre College and many townspeople filled the University chapel to overflowing last Friday night for the annual "Amateur Night" given under the auspices of the Strollers, the University dramatic club.

Thruout the entire program the audience was impressed with the originality displayed by the contestants for the Stroller prizes in the best amateur performance of its kind ever given in Lexington, according to critics who were present. The happy and the sad, the pathetic and the ridiculous, the classic and the burlesque all found places in the entertainment furnished by the young actors. Nor was the art of music without representation, for on the bill appeared Harney's "Meat House Quartet," of Patt Hall and Cincinnati fame.

Roy Barnhill won the individual prize. The act presented by Miss Margaret Wilkinson and Frank Shinnick was unanimously awarded the prize for the doubles. The judges were Professor Enoch Grehan, Professor E. F. Farquhar and "Uncle Jimmy" Lyons. Mr. Barnhill showed marked dramatic talent in his act, "Out Bottoming Bottom," an arrangement of the Pyramus and Thisbe interlude from "Midsummer Night's Dream." Mr. Barnhill impressed the audience with his ability and cleverness in taking successively the many different parts in this Shakespearean selection. The act staged by Miss Wilkinson and Mr. Shinnick was unique in that Miss Wilkinson is the author of this play, in which she played the title role, "An American Princess." She won the admiration of critics both as an author and as an actress. Mr. Shinnick, in the role of a metropolitan newspaper reporter, showed good dramatic form.

F. O. Mayes made quite a hit in his original monologue, "Hamlet at the University of Kentucky." "To bone or not to bone," the pseudo Hamlet declared, was the paramount issue. J. W. Lindsay commanded the sympathies of his hearers in his act representing a foreigner at the University. Mr. Lindsay showed rare ability in character representation.

The most decided hit of the evening from a humorous standpoint, was the farce, "Dot's Dilemma, or One at a Time and They'll Last Longer," presented by the "Bill" family of Patt Hall. This original play was highly enjoyable. Miss Josephine Thomas as "Dot" and Miss Eyri Richmond as a "Cuckoo" student, did excellent work in this production, as did Misses Clem and Ricketts.

"Discipline," a farce in one act, a take-off on the University Discipline Committee, was much applauded by the students. Professor Squeicher and Registrar Willis showed excellent form, as did B. V. D. Jones, of Bedford, a Freshman.

After hearing Miss Aileen Kavanaugh's recital of a "Woman in a Shoe-shop," the Kernel critic was more than ever convinced that the changing of mind is a woman's privilege.

The deapest student of "Tige's" new logic absolutely failed to detect any fallacies in Dick Duncan's argument that "De Sun Do Move."

Delightful Shakespearean readings were given by Misses Martha Varnon and Pauline Irvin and Miss Freda Lemon. Miss Varnon and Miss Irvin "tamed the Shrew" as even "Billy Shake" dreamed she could be tamed. Miss Lemon's selection from "Romeo and Juliet" was very ably rendered.

Last but not least on this varied program was "Nothing in Particular," by Harney's "Mess Hall Quartet." This act kept the audience in a continuous uproar from start to finish. Many clever jokes were pulled and apt sayings sprung. Mr. Richey's trained oyster made quite a hit. The singing in this act explained to many, heretofore in doubt, just why the Cincinnati cops got so several weeks ago.

Stage Manager Marsh expressed much satisfaction over the success of the night and was especially pleased with the large crowd out. Marsh predicts a successful year for the Strollers, in view of the variety and quality of talent displayed.

NOTICE!

The Strollers will meet in the studio this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Important business will come up.

WM. SHINNICK, Pres.

ADA MEADE PRESENTS THE "NIGHT CLERK"

The opening of the third triumphant season of the miniature musical comedy, "The Night Clerk," is a vindication of the judgment of its producers in their contention that popular-priced vaudeville will support the better class of musical productions. This production is an attempt to give two-dollar productions at vaudeville rates.

"The Night Clerk" is written solely for use in vaudeville, so in contrast to the usual run of "tabloid" it is not an old show bolled down. It was designed to present an entirely original story, which instead of being cut to fit the length of a vaudeville program, and so losing its consistency was so written that it can be played in vaudeville time without eliminating anything essential.

The result is a production that has set a new standard in the so-called "tabloid" field and one which is the forerunner of a series of two-dollar musical comedies in miniature offerings at popular prices.

"The Night Clerk," a company of twenty-two people consisting of some well-known artists among whom will be found the popular comedian, Cecil Summers, supported by the dainty musical comedy star, Merle Lewis, who plays the leading female role. Jack West, Sylvia Dakin, dainty and sweet, and a chorus of ten beautiful girls of different types make the show a complete success.

The basis of the plot of "The Night Clerk" is the desire of Jarvis Huntington, a rich man's idle son who is pursued by the police for celebrating too hilariously on New Year's Eve to exchange places with an impecunious hotel clerk in love with a telephone girl. There are bright passages in the dialogue and they, coupled with the jingling songs, and the incessant action, makes this daddy of tabloids the best on the circuit.

"POM POM" TO APPEAR HERE ON SATURDAY

"Pom-Pom," the new comic opera which Henry W. Savage will disclose at the Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night, with Mitzl, formerly known as Mizzi Hajos, as featured star, made an enormous hit in Chicago, breaking all records during its six weeks' stay at the Illinois Theatre. The piece has more plot than usually belongs to a three-act drama. It concerns the adventures of a prima donna who is kidnapped on the night she is about to make her debut in a new opera. Her exciting experiences among a gang of thieves provide enough thrills for a melodrama. Of course Mitzl plays the abducted prima donna, adorable in the togs of a street gamin.

Tom McNaughton, who was so uproariously funny with Mitzl in "The Spring Maid," is seen as a lugubrious policeman bearing the unlucky number 13. This "copper" is sent in disguise to trail the crooks and in the entanglements which he and Mitzl get into, he becomes so enamored with the life of a crook that he is willing to forego the majesty of carrying a night-stick.

Carl Gantvoort, late of the Boston Grand Opera Company, is the heroic baritone of the company and Rita Dane, fresh from continental operatic fields, contributes to the vocal excellence which is always a feature of Mr. Savage's productions. This company carries its own orchestra of twenty pieces. —(Adv.)

SENIORS AND JUNIORS
GATHER GOOSE EGGS

Sophs Get Revenge For Bath In Clifton Pond —12 to 0

SPIRIT RUNS HIGH

The Sophisticated Sophs disregarded the laws of the Discipline Committee and hazed the poor little bald-headed Freshmen boys in a football game on Stoll Field Saturday. A dozen to nothing was the count. The Juniors and Seniors also tried to stage a game but nobody on either team had wind enough to run to the other goal and the fracas ended in a scoreless tie.

There was a box-car full of excitement turned loose and the boys of the classes turned out well and displayed some of this stuff called class spirit, which had hitherto been shown by painting numerals and yelling "Whoop-pee, Freshmen!" in the midst of a Sophomore crowd, or paying two bits annual dues by yelling themselves hoarse. The fair co-eds disappointed the sporting scribe of the Kernel by not coming out in full force. He and Emery Frazier had dressed up, taken a shave and everything, and gone out to give the ladies a treat, and the only thing that kept them from doing it was the inexcusable failure of the young ladies.

In the dignified contest between the lordly Seniors and the Juniors there isn't much to write about as there wasn't much done. It certainly looks like one or the other could have made a touchdown in the two or three hours they played. But they couldn't. The Seniors say they want to play another game and if they just get time enough they'll score yet, if they have to die in the attempt. Among the sprinklers of star-dust was "Senator" Crum. The Senator looks like a sure-enough football player and it is a shame that he hasn't been coming out for the Wildcats. Society man Addison Foster and White Hope Bill Collins, were also out on a twig. Richey did good work for the Juniors.

Gardner and "Pug" Longworth played the best game and made the touchdowns for the Sophomores. Two Freshmen, Edward Dabney and Lee Oldham, came to the sport scribe of the Kernel and tried to get him to write them up because they also came from the Pearl City of the incense-breathing Pennyroyal, but the sport scribe would not fall before their fawning entreaties as he wished to keep his skirts—or rather, pants—free from any partiality.

Let Us Have the Facts.

The Kentucky Alumnus, the bi-monthly publication issued by the graduates of the University, had in its last two issues editorials demanding that a complete re-organization of the University be made, giving reasons why this re-organization was necessary. In the last issue the editorial, supposedly written by Mr. Harry Staples, the editor, contained the following paragraphs:

The general plan it appears necessary to make the re-organization effective, constructive and of permanent benefit—that the University may be free and unshackled by those things that are throttling it, may be summarized as follows:

1. The University must be rid of the blight of politics, selfish interest and the spoils system. This can only be done by a complete re-organization of the board of trustees and the University by placing men in charge who have University ideas and will put the University above politics and selfish interest.

2. There must be a better moral atmosphere and University spirit in and around the University and the professors themselves must be clean, able men and above suspicion.

3. Efficiency in the administrative affairs of the University must be such as to command the respect, not only of the students, but the respect and active co-operation of every professor, assistant and employe of the institution.

The Kernel does not wish to quarrel with anyone who really wants to see the University prosper and become greater, neither does it feel that there is not room for improvement about the campus, as is doubtless the case with many other universities. But we believe that the editor of the Alumnus should be more specific in his charges. If the "spoils system" exists here, some one must be getting the spoils—whatever they are—and we presume that the Alumnus knows who the beneficiaries are, or it would not have made so serious a statement. We believe the public would like to have this information.

That a better moral atmosphere and a better University spirit are desirable no one will contradict, but the implication that the morals of the student body are bad, or worse than the average, is not just or true. The University spirit, we are informed by men who have visited other colleges, is as healthy at the University of Kentucky as it is at the average university—not much better and not much worse.

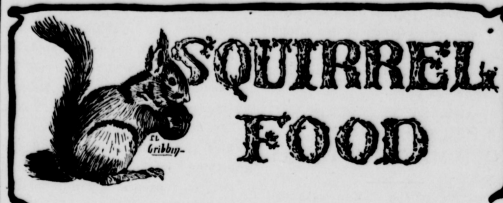

Perhaps the most striking statement in the editorial of the Alumnus, and the one requiring most explanation, is that "the professors themselves must be clean, able men and above suspicion." It may be that there are men in our faculty who are not clean; it may be true that some of them are not able, and certainly it seems there are some who are held under suspicion by the Alumnus. But the editor of the Kernel, and the remainder of the staff, wish to know who these men are, that they may avoid courses which would place them under such instructors. If there are men here who are not clean and able the editor of the Alumnus owes it to the student body to expose them.

The third section of the Alumnus' plan is but "sound and fury" unless it comes down to cases. The sentence needs clarification. It may be true that there are individuals who do not respect the administration, but in general the faculty and that part of the student body which is not swayed by prejudices are satisfied with the manner in which administrative affairs are conducted.

The Kernel feels that the Alumnus should name the persons who are guided by selfish interests and are receivers of spoils; that he should accuse directly those who are not clean and above suspicion and that he should point out specific evils due to inefficiency. Vague charges do the University no good and give an unfriendly press opportunity to spread broadcast the seeds of dissatisfaction and misinformation. If the editor of the Alumnus furnishes proof and quotes instances he will render the University a great service; if he cannot do this he has done an injustice to many excellent men and women, both in the faculty and the student body. The Kernel insists that the charges be substantiated with facts or retracted.

The columns of this paper are open to the editors of the Alumnus at any time they desire to write further on the subject treated in their leading editorial. We respectfully suggest that it would be well to let us have this material in time for the next issue of the Kernel.

The Mean Thing.
An evangelist who was in Lexington last week declared the last time he preached that three-fourths of the citizens of the city were moving hellward. Then he packed his grip, took $1,000 of their money and left 'em to their fate.

For the benefit of those who heard last Sunday that President Wilson was shot, Squirrel Food wishes to state that the President was not even half shot, in spite of the fact that his election was assured.

The University of Kentucky could have given Wilson and Hughes some campaign pointers. Neither side remembered to compare college grades.

The "peace conference" at Cardiff, Wales, broke up in a general fight last week. We hope the December prohibition meetings in Lexington will not follow precedent and end in a hilarious piffication.

The Campaign Editorial.
Squirrel Food has been asked to give a set of rules for writing campaign editorials, that Freshman Journalists and others may heed and grow wise. Here they are:

1. If a Democratic paper contends that prosperity is due to Democracy, and high prices to the war in Europe; if a Republican paper, that prosperity is due to the war in Europe and high prices to Democracy.

2. Always refer to the popularity of your candidate as "growing by leaps and bounds." Remember, also, that "the trend is toward him." Above all, do not fail to incorporate the phrase, "It may well be said." "No jot or tittle," is a very elegant little string of words that is always useful.

3. State unequivocally that your man is exactly akin to Lincoln in his ideas.

4. Refer to your opponents as 'self-seeking politicians' and your own men as statesmen inspired by the one desire to save the country.

5. Always give hyphenates a black-eye.

If these few simple rules are closely observed, the editorial will of necessity be clear and forceful and confidence will be aroused in your readers.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM LEAVES 20TH FOR CHI.

The team which will represent the University at the International Live Stock Show to be held in Chicago the week of December 2-9, has been busy the past several days in an effort to become as proficient as possible for the big event in which they are entered. They have visited in turn many of the larger stock farms in this section and will continue this preliminary judging until the time of their departure, which has been set for Monday, November 20.

The members of the team are: J. T. Campbell, T. C. McCown, W. D. Sutton, Curtis Park, Jr., and R. B. Rankin, and C. L. Morgan, alternate. These men won their places over all other students in the College of Agriculture in competitive stock-judging contests held by animal husbandry professors at the Experiment Station.

The team will be accompanied by Professors J. J. Hooper, E. S. Good and Mark J. Smith and will stop over at Purdue and Illinois Universities and other points of interest on their trip.

MECHANICAL NOTES

M. J. Kirkland, of the Portland Cement Company, of Chicago, gave a stereopticon lecture Saturday morning before the Freshman class of the Mechanical and Electrical College. The subject of the lecture was, "The Proper Mixing of Concrete."

R. B. Pogue, of the '13 class, M. & E., visited the University Saturday and Sunday.

Arrangements have been made by Dean F. Paul Anderson for the presenting of twenty-five lectures showing processes of manufacturing different commodities. Fifteen of these lectures will be illustrated by motion pictures, films sent here by the Bureau of Commercial Economics at Washington.

J. E. Mustard, representing the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Company, will come here Friday, November 17, to talk to the Senior mechanical and electrical students. Mr. Mustard intends to select several men to work for the Westinghouse Company.

Martin A. Doyle, '04, a graduate of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, paid a visit to the University Friday. Mr. Doyle is now with relatives in Paris, Kentucky, on a vacation from the revenue service, being stationed at New York City on the revenue cutter "Mohawk."

Gatewood Ireland, B. M. E., '15, spent a few days of his vacation with friends in Lexington. "Biddie" is connected with the engineering department of the Bartlett, Hayward Company, of Baltimore, designing munition machinery.

BROWN IS PRESIDENT OF CHEMICAL SOCIETY

Dr. L. A. Brown, of the Experiment Station, was elected president of the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society at its annual business meeting Saturday. The other officers elected to take office January 1 were Dr. Garnett Ryland, of Georgetown College, first vice president; Dr. G. Davis Buckner, of the Experiment Station, second vice president; J. S. McHargue, of the Experiment Station, secretary and treasurer; Dr. A. M. Peter, councillor.

BIO. CLUB TO MEET

The Biological Club of the University will hold a meeting Friday at 3:30 o'clock to re-organize and elect officers. All students and professors interested in genetics, botany, zoology, physiology and natural history are cordially invited to attend this meeting. The club will meet in the botany lecture room, first floor of the Agricultural Building.

WESTINGHOUSE HEARS TALK BY JOE DICKER

The Westinghouse Society of mechanical and electrical engineers held its regular monthly meeting November 4, at which time "Joe" Dicker gave an interesting talk on forge work. The next meeting of the society will be held Saturday, November 18, and a feature of this meeting will be a talk by Professor Nollau on a subject of his own choosing.

many men who wish to meet you a little over half way in order to be comrades and brothers.

That's what it means to be a real Y. man. Moreover the reward is greater than the work, for "He that loveth his brother abideth in the light and there is none occasion of stumbling in him."

During the last two months a hundred different things have been done by the Y. boys to help humanity. Social service work has been carried on in the Greendale Reformatory, in the Odd Fellows' Home and the Mission schools. A reading room is furnished the students where games may be played, magazines and home town papers read. Writing material can be had there and many boys are taking advantage of the courtesy.

Join the Y. M. C. A., fellows. It will lead to a life worth while. It will give you a disdain for weakness and an undaunted confidence in your own strength. Working hand in hand with the church, doing God's work, the Young Men's Christian Association is bound to bring great things to the University and its men. Make next week a Y. week and follow the same steps in the weeks to come. Join in the good cause and work for it. Be a brother.

DR. GANFIELD SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY

Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Centre College, addressed the student body in chapel Tuesday morning. "There are four great factors in human life," he said, "and these factors are typified in the four great questions, three of which have been answered.

"How shall we lead God's children to get along with one another and weld them all together? is the fourth question, which must be answered in our age. The three others were answered by keen-minded, deep-thinking men, else the world would have remained at a standstill. At the conclusion of his address, Dr. Ganfield urged the students to turn their thoughts in all seriousness to answering the vital question of the age.

MESS HALL IN HANDS OF SENIOR STUDENTS

John Peter Ricketts and Floyd Potts, Senior students, have taken over the management of the mess hall and will probably be permanently placed in charge if their administration is a success. Both these men have been connected with the hall for the past two years and are capable of handling such a proposition.

MARRIAGES

KINKEAD—WALTON.

The marriage of Miss Laura de Lavillon Kinkead and Mr. Samuel Barton Walton was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. George B. Kinkead, Wednesday afternoon. Following the ceremony the couple left on a bridal trip to New York and other Eastern points. The bride was a student in the University last year and she has a host of friends here who extend their best wishes.

HAYDEN—BARRIE.

The marriage of Mr. Ellis Hayden, of Paris, and Miss Isabelle Barrie, of Milton, Pa., was solemnized in the latter city last Friday afternoon. Mr. Hayden was a member of the '14 graduating class from the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden left for a bridal trip to Kentucky and were visitors at the University this week, where Mr. Hayden was renewing old acquaintances and receiving congratulations.

PORTER AT Y. M. C. A.

Dr. J. W. Porter addressed the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening on the subject of "Purity." Dr. Porter dealt with three divisions of the subject, purity in thought, action and words. He said that thinking was the fundamental thing in one's character, and that if the mind is constantly filled with the best the character will be of the higher and nobler type.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Woman's Club of the University met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Paul Anderson, with Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. M. L. Pence acting as joint hostesses. The pretty home on Kentucky Avenue was decorated in autumn flowers, the chrysanthemum being the most prominent.

Those who enjoyed the afternoon were: Mesdames A. C. Zembrod, T. Jones, W. S. Webb, George Roberts, S. T. Averitt, J. D. Turner, T. R. Bryant, E. S. Goode, L. K. Frankel, R. Vaughn, John Fairfax, C. J. Norwood, O. M. Shedd, William Carroll, J. Alden, G. M. Baker, E. S. Farquhar, Edward Tuthill, W. T. Lafferty, Harrison Garmen, P. P. Boyd, Linnwood Brown, J. Morton Davis, W. E. Rowe, C. S. Porter, W. D. Watts, Daniel Healey, W. B. Terrill, Alfred Marshall, Ezra Gillis, W. W. Anderson, L. C. Daniels, W. W. Anderson, F. E. Tuttle, Misses Paxton, Nellie Reynold, Marguerite McLaughlin and Anna C. Goft.

KAPPA SIGMA DANCE.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity entertained last Saturday evening at their chapter house on East Maxwell Street with a delightful dance. Those present were the members of the active chapter, the pledges, representatives of other fraternities, and about twenty co-eds.

THE SONG.

(By Robert Francis Richey.)
Silence now the golden lute,
I am wearied of the song,
Let the singers, too, be mute,
Lest I tarry overlong.

Sing me not the songs of gladness,
Leave them to the foolish thrush,
Wooing in his summer madness,
In the shelter of the brush.

Song is e'er pursued by sorrow,
But a day you sing and throb,
And the dawning of tomorrow
Brings a sigh and then a sob.

Silence, then, the golden lute,
With my carol I have done,
Let the singers, too, be mute,
Until I have gone.

SENIOR ENGINEERS ARE IN BIG DEMAND

The College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering is daily receiving demands for men and the indications are that all those graduating from this department in June will receive good positions. The Westinghouse Electrical Company, of Pennsylvania, has already requested a large number of engineers and will send a representative here tomorrow to confer with Dean Anderson about securing more.

The College of Mines and Metallurgy is also receiving its share of applications for members of this year's Senior class. W. C. Eyl has accepted a position with a large mining concern and places are awaiting the other Seniors.

T. U. WILL USE STOLL FIELD THANKSGIVING

President R. H. Crossfield, of Transylvania College, has accepted President Barker's offer of the use of Stoll Field for Thanksgiving Day and the Transylvania-Louisville game will be played there. That college now has under consideration a new athletic field which will probably be ready for use by next year.

PROHIBITIONISTS WILL HAVE MEETING TODAY

Plans For National Convention Next Month On Program

All students who signed for membership in the National Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association at a recent chapel meeting are requested to meet in the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms this afternoon at 3:30. The purpose of this meeting is to elect officers for the ensuing year and to lay plans for a membership campaign.

This year the National Convention of this student movement is to be held in Lexington from December 28th to 31st inclusive. Every student of the University of Kentucky should take an interest in this movement, as our Prohibition Club is in a measure the host to the convention. It is especially requested that each of the Greek letter fraternities send a representative to this meeting, whether members of the club or not. The fraternities voted, thru the Pan-Hellenic Council of last year, to entertain all fraternity men who attend the National Convention in December. Work should start immediately, as only a few weeks ensue before the National Convention. There are at present about thirty-five students and five faculty members of the local Prohi Club.

SOPHS TEST UNIFORMS OF THE FRESHMEN.

Many, many new cadet uniforms made their appearance on the campus last week and many, many uniforms were bucked against the flag pole in front of the Main Building. It is an old and well established custom among the second-year drill men to test all uniforms and should they prove defective the "dollar-a-rip and ten cents a button" is always collected. Last week over one hundred uniforms were given the test and as a result their wearers are justly proud, evidenced by Freshmen wearing them on all occasions.

DEAN HAMILTON SPEAKS AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING

Large Number Present To Enjoy Talk on "Need For Women"

Dean Hamilton spoke Sunday night to the Y. W. C. A. in the new room fitted out for the meetings in the basement of Patterson Hall. Her subject was "The Need for Women," and the girls felt an added sense of responsibility when the excellent talk was at an end.

One hundred and thirty girls were present and it is hoped that this number will continue to be at the various meetings thruout the year. The Rev. Dr. Bush, of the Second Presbyterian Church, has consented to speak Sunday night and every one is anticipating his talk.

Miss Myrtle Smith, chairman of the Devotional Committee, urges all girls to be present at the prayer services which are being held every night immediately after supper at Patterson Hall. This week is the annual Prayer Week of the Y. W. C. A. all over the world and each night a foreign country is taken as the subject of a short talk and prayer. It is hoped that all will be present at the remaining services.
