SEPHARDIC MUSIC PERFORMED AT U.K. OCT. 4

The University of Kentucky Department of Spanish and Italian, School of Music, Office of International Affairs, and Latin American Studies, and the Central Kentucky Jewish Federation present SOFIA NOEL accompanied by guitarist, Pedro Elias, in a program of Sephardic and Traditional Spanish Songs

SUNDAY, OCT. 4

3:00 p.m.

in the Recital Hall of the Singletary Center for the Arts at U.K.

In the last six years, Sofia Noel and Pedro Elias have given over 550 recitals in the United States and abroad. They have made many records with Phillips, Telefunken, and RCA.

The recital is open to the public and free of charge.

Our Federation's participation in this program is made possible by the Jewish community's continued support of the annual CKJF-UJA fund raising campaign.

1987-88 CKJF FORUM SERIES

Come celebrate Israel's 40th year! CKJF salutes the 40th anniversary of Israel's establishment with its exciting 1987-88 Forum Series, chaired this year by Susan Cantor.

We open the season with the ISRAELI CHASSIDIC FESTIVAL '87. The Festival is touring under the auspices of the President of the State of Israel and the Israeli Ministry of Culture and Education. This Festival is in the spirit of a tribute to the 40th anniversary of the founding of the State of Israel.

The show is more than a high quality concert, it is Israel's most popular and prestigious event. It is a wonderful mix of all that makes Israel a source of such pride to each and everyone of us. The performance will take place at Temple Adath Israel, Monday, Nov. 16, 1987 at 7:30 p.m. Arrangements for the Festival's appearance are being made by Isra-Art Productions.

The second event of our Forum Series will take place Sunday, March 20, 1988 at Ohavay Zion Synagogue. Speaking at 8:00 p.m. will be Dr. Ilsa Schuster, whose topic will be "Wither Survival? Israel and the Diaspora".

Dr. Schuster is an anthropologist specializing in economic development, social change and aggression in Africa and Israel. She is a columnist for KIDMA, the Israel Journal of Development, and lectures at the Golda Meir Mount Carmel Training Center. She is Assistant Professor of Anthropology at State University of New York Stony Brook and has authored numerous articles.

Her topic promises to be stimulating, controversial and thought provoking. Arrangements for her lecture are being made through the Jewish Welfare Board Lecture Bureau.

The Elizabeth Rosenberg Memorial Program will be held this year on Saturday, May 7, 1988 at Ohavay Zion Synagogue. The guest speaker for this event will be Jeffrey Fuerst who is a writer and broadcast historian/critic. Mr. Fuerst is a curator of The Museum of Broadcasting and a program advisor to the National Jewish Archives of Broadcasting at the Jewish Museum.

He is the co-writer/producer of the documentary special "Milton Berle: Mr. Television"; a humorist; playwright and staff writer for the interactive television series, "Guess What?". He also helped develop the Comedy Zone series for CBS while working as a program executive at Nederlander TV/Film.

His very fitting topic for the evening honoring the memory of Elizabeth Rosenberg and occurring the evening prior to Mother's Day will be "The Changing Image of the Jewish Woman: not just Molly Goldberg and Marjorie Morningstar".

The evening event will start at 9:00 p.m. immediately following Shabbat, and will include a Havdalah service. This particular program is available through the generosity of the Elizabeth Rosenberg Memorial Fund in addition to CKJF. Arrangements for Mr. Fuerst are being made through JWB.

The CKJF Forum Cultural and Entertainment Series is made possible by the community's support of the annual CKJF-UJA fund raising campaign.

We are now accepting ticket reservations. If there are any questions regarding the Series please do not hesitate to call: CKJF office, 252-7622; Forum Chair Susan Cantor, 269-9112; or Ticket Chair, Fred Pollock, 606-744-1988.

HOW TIME FLIES!

In observance of the 40th Anniversary of the State of Israel, members of the three Lexington Jewish women's organizations will meet together to see and discuss the film

"Avanti Popolo"

The discussion will be led by Chava Cohen, Louisville Schlichah (cultural representative) of Israel. The film deals with the feelings of a new generation Israeli and Arab soldiers after the 1967 war.

Klezmer Conservatory Band to Perform at Berea College

As part of its convocation series this fall, Berea College is sponsoring the Klezmer Conservatory Band in a two-part program on Thursday, Oct. 29, 1987 in the Phelps Stokes Chapel on the Berea College Campus.

The Klezmer Conservatory Band is described by the Washington Post as "... a riotous, gifted ensemble of 14 young musicians celebrating a very precious strain of Yiddish folk music, one that discovered its voice in Europe and, when transplanted to America, lapped up elements of jazz, rhumba and Tin Pan Alley as well." The Band is in the forefront of a Klezmer revival movement in the U.S.

In a move to offer support and appreciation to Berea College for its promotion of the knowledge and awareness of different cultures and heritages within our area, the CKJF board of directors approved a special grant of $100 which was forwarded to the Coordinator of Convocations at Berea College. This support was made possible once again by the Central Kentucky Jewish community's support of the annual CKJF-UJA fund raising campaign.

On Oct. 29, at 3:00 p.m., Hankus Netsky, founder and director of the Klezmer Conservatory Band, and the musicians will give a lecture/demonstration of the history and subtleties of the music of Eastern European Jews.

That evening, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m., the Klezmer Conservatory Band will appear in concert. Both the afternoon and evening events are open to the public and free of charge. We encourage all members of the Jewish community to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity.

On March 24, 1988, Berea College is sponsoring The National Theatre of the Deaf with a Lecture/Demonstration in the afternoon and an evening performance of "The Dybbuk". More information on that program will be provided in the next few months.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR MANY TO VISIT MIDDLE EAST

AMERICAN PROFESSORS FOR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST: During the past 17 years American Professors for Peace in the Middle East (APPME) has sponsored over 40 Study Missions to countries in the Middle East. More than 400 academicians have taken part in this program, and their response has been positive.

This is truly a Study Mission, not a sight-seeing tour, although in the course of the Mission, participants are transported to various places within the country being studied.

The sole requirement for eligibility to participate in a Study Mission is membership in APPME. Preference will be given to those who have never been to Israel.

The next Mission will depart from JFK Airport, Monday, Dec. 21, 1987, and will return Monday, Jan. 4, 1988. The Mission will consist of no more than 15 participants. The cost will be about $1250.

Applications are due immediately. For more information, please call Natalie Goldman (212-563-2580) or Professor Alvin Goldman (606-269-6049).

UJA '88 SUMMER YOUTH PROGRAM: Applications are now being accepted for Lehava III, a summer program designed to enhance and strengthen relations between Israeli and Diaspora youth, sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal's American Jewish Forum and Israeli Forum.

Lehava III is a three-week program, slated for July 11-31, 1988, which provides 100 American and 100 Israeli youths with the opportunity to get to know one another while they get to know Israel.

Applicants for the program must go through a formal screening process and must have visited Israel before. They also must have finished tenth, eleventh or twelfth grades by June, 1988.

The cost is $1600 per person, all inclusive. Based on last year's success and early sellout, it is advisable to submit applications as soon as possible. Applications and further information may be obtained from: UJA Young Leadership Cabinet Director, 99 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10016, (212) 818-9100.

Israel Study Scholarships may be available through CKJF.

SINGLES INVITED TO TOUR ISRAEL

Jewish Federation of Cincinnati has asked us to announce a combined active vacation and tour of Israel for singles aged 21-55 featuring the Katif Beach, Elat and Kinar Holiday resorts. The trips are 19 days including flights, with departures on Dec. 27, Jan. 11, Jan. 18 and Jan. 25.

The rates (subject to change) are $715 for twin occupancy or $907 for single occupancy, plus air fare of $699 from New York.

For a copy of the brochure, call Connie Hinitz at 513-351-3800 or New Directions, Jewish Family Service at 513-351-3680.

CJF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Nov. 17-22

The Council of Jewish Federations 56th General Assembly will take place this year in Miami.

The preliminary schedule of events includes seminars, forums and workshops in the areas of Women's Division, Leadership Development, Community Planning, Human Resources Development, and Soviet Jewry.

Beginning with Pre-GA sessions on Tuesday, Nov. 17, the GA runs through to Sunday, Nov. 22.

The theme of this year's GA is "Dor L'Dor: From Generation to Generation - Building Community and Continuity Through People". Issues to be considered are "Connecting the Next Generation to the Jewish Community", "Israel and North America: Sustaining the Partnership Across the Generations", "Adult Jewish Education", "Overlooked and Uninvolved Populations: Faculty, Students, Singles", and "Serving New Types of Jewish Family Structures", among many others.

Information on registration for the GA is available through the CKJF office.

Congratulations are extended to:

RUTH BELIN from Henry Clay High School, daughter of Robert and Jo Belin, and MICHAEL J. ROSENBERG in Prestonsburg, son of John and Jean Rosenberg, for being named National Merit Semi Finalists.

הַשָּׁמַיִם שֵׁמִיִּים לַיהוָה וְהָאָרֶץ נָתַן לַבְּנֵי-אָדָם

The Heavens belong to the Lord, but the earth He gave over to mankind.
Ps. 115:16

Wake up!

It is Rosh Hashanah—the birthday of the world.

"On the seventh day God finished His work which He had been doing."
...But so much remains to be done.

The hungry need to be fed, the illiterate need to be taught.
The old as well as the young need to be loved.
We all need relief from the stress and anxiety of personal and global conflicts that are ravaging us.

God is perfect. Surely He could have created a perfect world.
Why didn't He?

He deliberately left the world unfinished because He expects each generation—every man, woman, and child—to be His partner in the continuous act of creation.

The tradition tells us that this is what it means to be human.
God endowed us with unique gifts—perception, compassion, inventiveness.
It is our job to use them to improve the world.
We teach our children that everything they do makes a difference.
We need to start believing it about ourselves—to act as though our actions change the world a little. Because they do.

Prayer, ritual and study can make us sensitive to moments of change and choice.
They give us a renewed vision of our goal. It is when we take that vision out into the world —and act on it—that we really become partners in creation.

What Can We Do?

Help worthy students stay in school. Read for the blind. Tutor in over-burdened schools.
Share our talents where they are needed. We can take steps to guard the water, the air, the soil that are entrusted to us. We can respond when people around us are in pain ...
Visit the sick and the grieving—and really listen.
In a world of gossip we can respect privacy.
In violent times we can deal gently with our children and our aged.
We can take the chance of reaching out to a stranger.
We can refuse to stand idly by while our neighbor's blood is shed.

Wake Up.

Accept your role as a partner in creation.
Rosh Hashanah is the time and wherever you are is the place to begin.

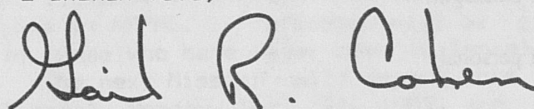

The above has been copied from a Jewish calendar produced by Universe and created originally by The Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Rosh Hashanah GREETINGS

As new beginnings bring new opportunities, may we, at this New Year, rededicate ourselves to service to the Jewish community in Central Kentucky, in our country and around the world.

On behalf of the officers and board of CKJF, I wish that you and yours may be inscribed for a year of good health, happiness and peace.

L'Shanah Tova,

President, CKJF

May the approaching year be one of growth, joy and good health for everyone in our community. Let freedom and peace be increased throughout the world, and Judaism strengthened as the days go by.

L'Shanah Tovah.

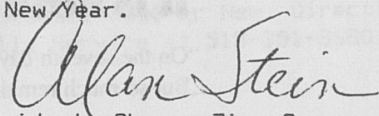

Administrator, CKJF

On behalf of the Officers and Board of Directors of the Council of Jewish Federations we extend our warmest wishes to you and your families for a very Healthy New Year.

Shoshana S. Cardin
President, CJF

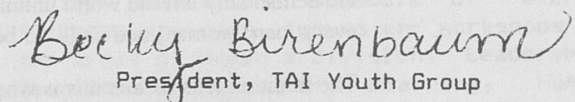

Carmi Schwartz,
Exec. Vice President, CJF

Remembrance and rebirth are the key watchwords of this joyous season. On behalf of the entire Congregation of Ohavay Zion Synagogue, I wish you a prosperous New Year.

President, Ohavay Zion Synagogue

On behalf of the Temple Adath Israel Youth Group, I would like to wish everyone a happy Rosh Hashanah. May your family have a peaceful New Year filled with happiness and joy.

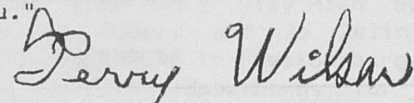

President, TAI Youth Group

At a time when local Jewish communities must take a greater share in looking after those in need, at a time when communal needs continue to grow, at a time when we must increase mutual understanding through dialogue and friendship, it is good to see the members of our Lexington community striving to fulfill all these needs. May we continue to grow in numbers, in spirit, and in good deeds. L'shanah tovah tikkatevu.

Rabbi, Ohavay Zion Synagogue

On behalf of the Lexington Havurah, I wish you, your family, friends, and the entire Central Kentucky Jewish Community, the Blessings of Peace and Happiness in the New Year. "Le-Shanah Tovah Tikkatevu."

President, The Lexington Havurah

May the coming year be one of peace, health and happiness for you and your family.

Suzeyne

President, Ohavay Zion Sisterhood

On behalf of Sandy and Joshua, I want to wish a Shana Tova to the Central Kentucky Jewish community. May this year be filled with an ever-deepening commitment to Jewish life and synagogue, renewed spirit and vigor, health, and peace.

Rabbi Jon Adland

Rabbi, Temple Adath Israel

May ancient customs remind us of our strength and renew our faith. And may you and your family be blessed with a year filled with every happiness.

Harvey Hirsch

President, B'nai B'rith

On behalf of the Lexington Chapter of Hadassah, I wish you all peace, health and happiness for the New Year.

Susan S. Mason

President, Hadassah

On behalf of the Temple Adath Israel Congregation, I would like to wish all of our friends in the Central Kentucky Jewish community a healthy and peaceful New Year.

Ira Musack

President, Temple Adath Israel

On behalf of the University of Kentucky Hillel Foundation, we wish the Lexington Jewish community a year of blessings, peace, health and many joyous occasions.

Susan Goldstein

Director, Hillel

The U.K. Faculty Association on Jewish Affairs extends its warmest welcome to all new members of the Central Kentucky Jewish community and best wishes for the New Year to the entire Jewish community for the coming year.

Steven J. Masten

President, FAJA

May the coming year be one of good health and happiness.

Cheri A. Rose

President, Temple Adath Israel Sisterhood

On behalf of Young Judaea, I would like to wish each member of the Central Kentucky Jewish community a year of joy, good health, and fulfillment. May we work together for the betterment of our community, our nation, and our world.

Ruth Berlin

President, Young Judaea

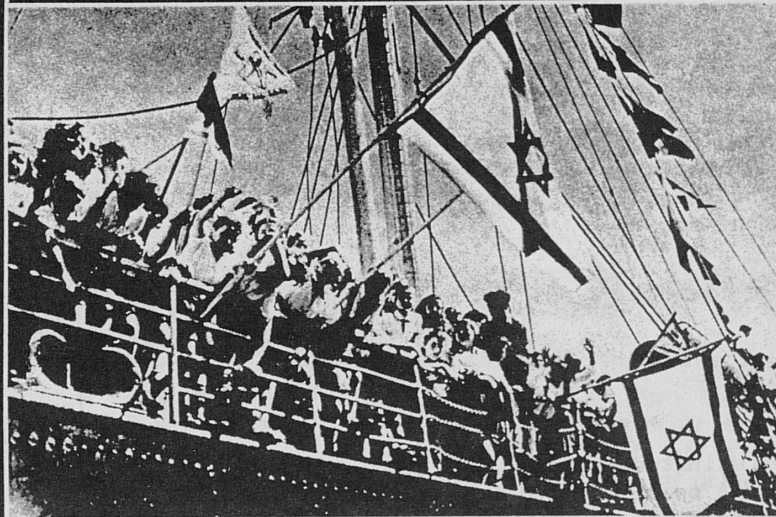

May this time of reflection and renewal mark the beginning of a happy and healthy New Year.

Paul Goldfarb, Jr.

President, Temple Adath Israel Brotherhood

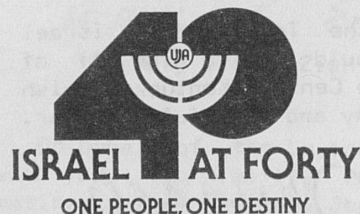

New Year, Same Prayer.

Forty years ago, our people left the DP camps of Europe and the ghettos of North Africa to build a new life in a new land. We helped them then; we're helping their children, and the children of other refugees, today.

May the New Year 5748
renew our strength to meet our people's changing needs, refresh our compassion for all who live in want, and reawaken our resolve to seek contentment,

peace and freedom
for all Am Yisrael.

NOT THIS TIME

Following is an editorial taken from the Near East Report, September 7, 1987.

After the Israeli Cabinet voted 12-11, with one abstention, to halt development of the Lavi fighter-bomber, Finance Minister Moshe Nissim said, "It was simply a case of bowing to reality. To have gone on with the Lavi would have spelled an end to our economic recovery program."

Israel had spent seven years and $1.5 billion -- most of it American military aid -- to put two Lavi prototypes into the air.

The decision not to produce the Lavi will cost approximately $400 million in termination fees and end the jobs of at least 2,000 to 3,000 Israel Aircraft Industry (IAI) technicians, engineers and scientists. Additionally, cancellation could prove to be a blow to the entire country.

But building the Lavi would have required an estimated $500 million a year (some U.S. tallies were closer to $1 billion annually) for the next four to six years. For a country with a gross national product (GNP) of roughly $26 billion and an annual defense budget which already consumes about $6 to $7 billion, it was too much.

In fact, Lavi "savings" might not get directly into the export sector. Israel's military has several major and many minor acquisitions on hold because of cuts in defense spending in recent years. Pressing needs include new submarines, new missile boats, new and more combat helicopters, continuing upgrading of the armored corps, restoring funds for training, for routine procurement and military research and development funds.

So Finance Minister Nissim, displaying the political courage which has marked his term in office, broke with his Likud colleagues and voted "no" on Lavi. Labor's Minister of Health, Shoshanna Arbeli-Almoslino, a supporter of the plane, bowed to party pressure and abstained. Labor leader and Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, a last-minute convert to opposition, proposed a plan to keep IAI competitive without the Lavi.

Israel's unity government already has weathered several tough assignments. Putting the Lavi decision into proper perspective will be another. Lavi supporters and critics both can claim a large chunk of the truth: Israel needed the plane, but Israel could not afford the plane.

Removing the Lavi should enable Israel to increase the budget in other areas of military modernization. It also should resolve a snag in U.S.-Israeli relations, and open new opportunities.

Soviet Union and Israel to Make Film

JERUSALEM - Israel and the Soviet Union are planning their first joint movie, a comedy about the misadventures of a non-Jewish Soviet citizen who emigrates to the Jewish state, an Israeli filmmaker said yesterday.

"It's a funny film that makes jokes about the bureaucracies of both countries," filmmaker Yitzhak Kol said. "America warmed up to China through ping-pong. Maybe we are starting with the script of a movie."

Kol, the president of G.G. Israel Studios Jerusalem, said the idea was born five months ago when Israeli-born Menahem Golan, president of Cannon Films of the United States, visited the Soviet Union for a film festival. Golan suggested to Soviet officials that Cannon coordinate with an Israeli and Soviet film company to make the film, Kol said.

The Soviet Union cut ties with Israel after the 1967 Middle East War, but relations between the two countries have improved since Mikhail S. Gorbachev came to power in March 1985.

Jerusalem Banned From Historical Cities Conference

The following is reprinted from Boycott Report, August/September, 1987, a publication of the American Jewish Congress.

Jerusalem Banned From Historical Cities Conference

Despite protests from Ray Flynn, Mayor of Boston, and others, the Kyoto [Japan] City Council has voted to exclude the city of Jerusalem from the World Conference of Historical Cities to be held in Kyoto in November, 1987. The Kyoto City Council has invited 35 "historical" cities from various countries, and had originally planned to invite Jerusalem, but protests from Damascus induced Kyoto to drop Jerusalem.

Boston and Kyoto have for some years regarded themselves as sister cities. In his letter to the Mayor of Kyoto, Mayor Flynn pointed out the anomaly of not inviting Jerusalem, not only one of the oldest cities in the world, but one which has played a great role in the history of religion.

Kyoto justified its rejection of Jerusalem by stating that the city's status was a subject of political controversy and the the UN General Assembly passed a resolution on Dec. 15, 1980 rejecting Israel's annexation of Jerusalem.

The Kyoto City Council's decision is not an isolated instance of Japanese political bias against Israel but one more indication of Tokyo's political and economic boycott of the Jewish state.

On another front, two Congressmen, Mel Levine (D. Calif.) and Robert T. Matsui (R. Calif.) (himself of Japanese ancestry), began rounding up a group of their colleagues to protest to Japan's Ambassador, Nogu Matsunaga, the exclusion of Jerusalem from the conference. Their circular letter described the exclusion as "unjustified" and said that it raised concerns of "political bias and prejudice". As we go to press, 60 House members have signed the letter.

Israel's Economy Shows Improvement

The following is reprinted from Boycott Report, August/September, 1987, a publication of the American Jewish Congress.

An optimistic report on Israel's economy has just been issued by the Committee for Economic Growth of Israel (CEGI). Among the favorable items cited by CEGI was that the Israeli consumer price index only rose by 4.5 percent in the first quarter of 1987. In 1986, the consumer price index was up 9.7 percent for the year, compared with a 186 percent inflation rate in 1985, and a horrendous inflation of 445 percent in 1984.

Israel's foreign currency reserves rose $52 million in March 1987 and by May 1987 stood at $4.3 billion. However, Israel's foreign debt increased by $824 million in 1986 and totaled $24.28 billion by year-end.

Israel, like the U.S., continues to be plagued by an unfavorable trade deficit. In the first quarter of 1987, imports increased by 24.5 percent while exports only increased by 11.5 percent. In 1986, imports totaled $9.28 billion and exports, $6.92 billion. Excluding diamonds, Israel's principal exports in 1986 were: metals, machinery and electronics amounting to $2.10 billion; chemicals, $718 million and agricultural products and fuel, $876 million. One third of its exports went to the U.S. The second largest destination was the U.K. with 7.9 percent. Only 3.3 percent went to Japan.

Israel's principal imports in 1986, apart from the diamonds, were spare parts, fuel and lubricants, vehicles and consumer durables, iron, steel and food. One-fifth of Israel's imports came from the U.S.; 11.8 percent came from Belgium and Luxembourg.

Israel's Central Bureau of Statistics has also published rather optimistic findings. The gross domestic product rose by two percent in 1986, with the private sector showing a four percent increase. The "standard of living" increased by 12 percent last year and continued at the same rate in 1987. Unemployment dropped from a high of 7.9 percent in mid-1986 to 5.7 percent in the first quarter of 1987, a rate lower than that of the U.S.

Dear Friends,

The needs of the Jewish people world-wide demand our attention in every season. We are concerned over the fate of Soviet Jews, and are engaged in supporting the resettlement in Israel of those who are able to emigrate. We are concerned with the well-being of Jews of all ages in 34 countries around the world, from Israel to Morocco, from Yugoslavia to Argentina. When will we ever be able to say that our responsibilities are completely fulfilled? Indeed, when the day comes that only a single righteous deed remains to be performed, we will still remain challenged -- a challenge Jews have always accepted. Of the 613 mitzvot enumerated in Jewish tradition, only tzedakah is called The Mitzvah.

And so, this Rosh Hashanah, as we review the past year and look forward to the next, and as we reaffirm our heritage, let us make this time of awe into a time of unity regarding the needs of our people. We stand as one before G-d. Let us stand as one with one another.

As the New Year begins, we embark on the 1988 CKJF-UJA Campaign. I hope all of us will be involved together in this great endeavor of tzedakah. Through this community involvement, our personal renewal can be extended far beyond the High Holidays. Please watch for and support the exciting 1988 campaign events and together we can strengthen Central Kentucky's contribution to the Jewish people.

May we all be inscribed for a good year.

Sincerely,
Simone Salomon,
