Med Team Enters Brown Case

'FORGIVE' ADVISES MINISTER

By JEAN BROWN
Kernel Staff Writer

Sometimes God does things we do not understand, and these are the things we must try the hardest to comprehend.

This was the main theme of the Scripture read by Dr. Leslie R. Smith of the Central Christian Church at the funeral of Betty Gail Brown, Transylvania College coed slain early Friday.

He said in order to appreciate the fine things in the world, we must see the evil as well. We must forgive the evil-doers and find comfort in the thought that God is with us always, even unto the end of the world.

One thousand people, including Miss Brown's Phi Mu sorority sisters, students from both Transylvania and UK, members of her Chi Rho Sunday school class, and relatives filled the church.

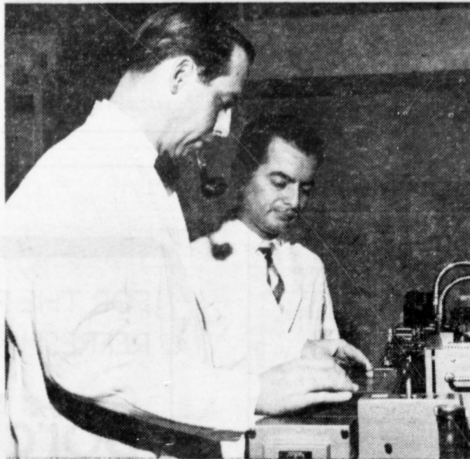

The sweet aroma of the nearly 200 baskets of flowers which covered the altar was sensed throughout the church.

Although there was a rich and dignified air held during the service, the somberness intensified as the inspiring voices of the Transylvania College a Capella Choir sounded from behind the altar with "If Ye Love Me."

The service concluded with sporadic congregational singing of "A Mighty Fortress."

Last Announcement

All Greeks and unaffiliated seniors who have not had their pictures made for the Kentuckian must do so today or tomorrow in Room 265 of Enoch Grehan Journalism Building.

Dr. Raphael Caffrey and Dr. Eudardo Bargas-Aldarado are shown here working with instruments such as those used in their scientific investigation into certain phases of the Brown case.

UK MEN CHECK BLOOD; POLICE SEEK SLAYER

By DAVID SHANK, Kernel Staff Writer

Bloodstains from the car of Miss Betty Gail Brown were compared and analyzed last night by the Medical Center's Division of Legal Medicine, Fayette County Coroner Chester Hager said.

The division is aiding police in their investigation of the slaying of Miss Brown, a Transylvania sophomore who was found strangled to death with her own brassiere Friday morning.

Meanwhile, police investigations had turned up no definite suspects, Detective Capt. Rollie Leach said.

Police have thus far been able to give this account of the crime:

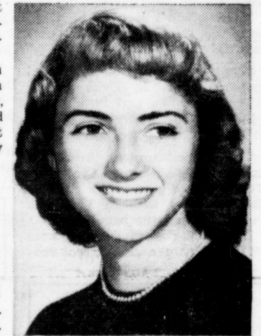

At 7:30 o'clock Thursday night Miss Brown drove to the Transylvania campus to study for a biology test.

She parked her 1959 Simca in the campus driveway across from Forrer Hall, a woman's dormitory, went into the building, and studied with friends until 11:50 p.m. At that time she left the dormitory and crossed the street to her car.

Charles Risdon, a Transylvania student, had parked his car just behind Miss Brown's while he escorted a girl to the dormitory. After returning to his car, he pulled alongside Miss Brown's car and talked with her for a few minutes about the next day's test.

The two students then drove their cars off campus to Broadway, Risdon in the lead, then turned right onto Fourth Street. They turned off Fourth onto Upper Street, where Risdon turned into his dormitory parking lot.

He said he last remembered seeing Miss Brown's car as it traveled on Upper near Third Street.

Her actions from that time forward remain a mystery.

Investigators estimate she died about 1:30 a.m., 30 minutes before her mother called police to

Professor's Estranged Wife Kills Daughters And Herself

By JUNE GRAY
Kernel Daily Editor

The estranged wife of a University biology professor killed her two small daughters and then committed suicide Saturday at Cookeville, Tenn., a coroner's jury has ruled.

Mrs. Thomas Barr Jr., a registered nurse, had recently been ordered by Cookeville Circuit Judge John D. Holladay to submit to a mental examination at a Cookeville clinic.

The jury ruled that she apparently slashed the throat of Moura, 2, with a razor blade; smothered Susan, 4 months; and then used the blade to cut her own throat.

Mrs. Barr filed suit for divorce shortly after Susan's birth. She charged mental cruelty.

A child custody hearing followed a countersuit filed by Dr. Barr in which he said his wife had been taking psychiatric treatment without his knowledge or consent.

Judge Holladay awarded custody of the children to the mother and at the same time ordered her to have an examination by a Cookeville psychiatric clinic.

Dr. Barr, an associate professor of biology, arrived at Cookeville Sunday night, but his relatives did not reveal where he was staying.

The bodies of Mrs. Barr and her children were found in their apartment Saturday night by a neighbor, Orville Harris.

He said she worried constantly that she was not an adequate mother.

Sheriff Bill Bilyeu said, "No notes were found; the apartment was undisturbed, and the children were neatly dressed. The youngest was dressed for bed."

Dr. Barr began teaching here in September.

While teaching last year at Tennessee Tech in Cookeville, he was awarded a National Science Foundation grant to study the effects of mountain-peak isolation on certain insects.

Soviet Union Explodes Superbomb In Arctic

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Soviet Union brushed aside worldwide protests today and exploded its vaunted superbomb producing the greatest blast ever set off by man. Anger and alarm over the possibility of health hazards swept the non-Communist capitals of the world.

Swedish scientists said the early morning blast in the Arctic may even have been in the 100-megaton range, the equal of 100 million tons of TNT. They estimated it as much as two and one-half times the Soviets' major blast a week earlier. That one had been reckoned by U.S. authorities to be in the 30 to 50 megaton range.

At the United Nations, where many delegates expressed shock, one suggested that the device may have got out of hand. F. R. Corner of New Zealand noted reports the blast was far larger than had been predicted and suggested the Russians might not have planned it that way. He asked: "Was this increase an accident?"

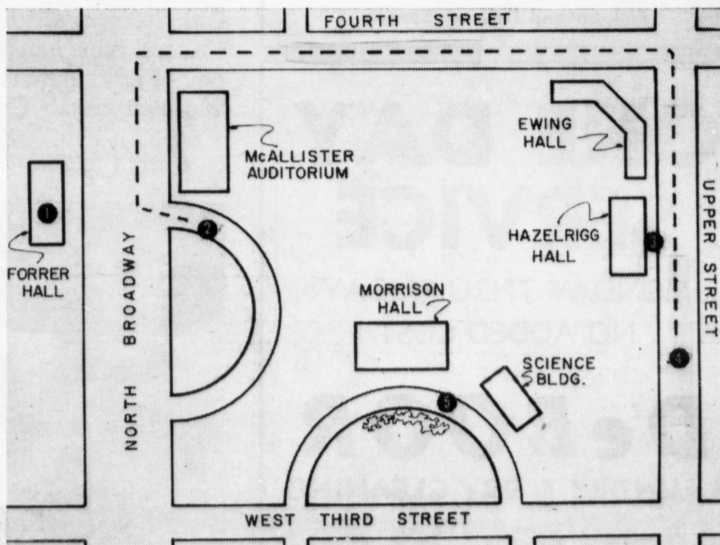

Dr. Ralph Lapp, nuclear scientist, expressed belief that the superbomb explosion was a "very dirty" one which would lead to a marked increase next spring in nuclear fallout in the United States.

Reds Remove Stalin's Body From Tomb

MOSCOW, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Communist Party banished Joseph Stalin's body today from its hallowed place beside V. I. Lenin in the tomb on Red Square.

It was a final degradation of the man who had exercised iron and despotic control over the party and the whole Soviet Union for 25 years; who was hailed up until his death eight years ago by current Premier Khrushchev as "our great leader and teacher, the inspirer and organizer of all our victories."

But times have changed and, freed from the dread Stalin's implacable revenge, Khrushchev's opinion has changed too.

Police Chief E. C. Hale gave this account of Betty Gail Brown's actions near midnight Thursday. Miss Brown left Forrer Hall (1) at 11:50 and went to her car parked in front of McAllister Auditorium (2). After chatting briefly with a classmate, Charles Risdon, she followed his car up to Fourth Street (shown by dotted line), turned right on Fourth Street and then turned south on Upper Street. Risdon pulled into the parking lot behind Hazelrigg Hall (3). He saw her last driving down Upper Street (4). At 3 a.m. Friday her body was found in her parked car in the drive of Morrison Hall (5).

'Never More Serious'

Dr. Vandembosch Defends Attack On Teaching History

Dr. Amry Vandembosch said yesterday he was never more serious in his life when he called for an end to teaching Kentucky history in elementary and secondary schools.

The head of the Patterson School of Diplomacy, speaking before the annual meeting of the Kentucky Association of Colleges, Secondary and Elementary Schools, Friday, said, "When the United Nations was organized, it was ironical that Kentucky students were still studying about Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton."

The reply came in answer to an editorial in yesterday's Lexington Herald suggesting that Dr. Vandembosch might have been joking about ending the teaching of Kentucky history.

"It is not my intention to depreciate the study of local or state history, but my question is whether the school children can afford to spend time on these subjects at the expense of vastly more important studies."

He further commented that, in a time of 50-megaton bombs and long-range missiles, it is tragic to study subjects that narrow rather than broaden the student's outlook. With such a shortage of time, students must not study items of little importance, he said.

"The study of national history is useless, too, if it is not taught within the context of world history," Dr. Vandembosch told the educators. He is one of 19 educators who has been asked to deliver reports on education in Kentucky to the Governor's Commission on Public Education.

Dr. Vandembosch was a consultant to the drafters of the United Nations charter in San Francisco in 1945.

Student Debate To Be Held Today

The opening debate of the UK Student Forum will be held at 4 p.m. today in the Music Room of the Student Union Building.

"That the West Defend Berlin Even at the Risk of Nuclear War," will be the topic.

Those debating are Jim Scott, pre-law junior from Lexington, and Jim Stephens, pre-law junior from Frankfort for the affirmative. Opposing will be Amnon Golan, diplomacy major from Tel-Aviv, Israel, and Ralph C. Rogle, junior pre-law major from Newport.

Debate Team Captures Dixie Tourney Third Time

The University debate team won the varsity division of the Dixie Debate Tournament at Mercer University in Macon, Ga., for the third time Saturday.

The victory will enable UK to keep the first place trophy permanently.

"Superior" awards for individual speaking went to Deno Curris, Warren Seville, and Phillip Grogan. "Excellent" awards were given to Bettye Choate and Ben Wright.

The novice team took third place in its division. Stanley Craig and Ronald Elswick debated the affirmative and Richard Ford and Phillip Grogan the negative.

The varsity team members were Bettye Choate and Warren Scoville for the affirmative and Deno Curris and Ben Wright for the negative.

During the last four years UK has won the tournament three times and placed second and third once.

"The team brought back two trophies and ten certificates," Dr. Gifford Blyton, debate coach, said.

Bloc Seating Unnecessary

Although the bloc seating plan resolution was passed by a substantial majority last week by Student Congress, we are left wondering if the vote reflects the true feelings of the entire student body.

To us, it only proves that some students consider the organization to be an outlet for pet projects.

The statement that the purpose of bloc-seating at the Xavier game is to promote school spirit is weak and rather vague. We would like for those who champion this plan to prove that residents of the housing units will join in this venture wholeheartedly.

We have also been told the bloc seating plan will be only for the one home game to promote "stag day." As yet, no one has been willing to fully discuss the matter with a Kernel reporter.

Because of this, we are left wondering if there might be some intention by the Greeks to test the willingness of unaffiliated students to allow bloc seating for this game and any future games.

There also seems to be some reluctance on the part of some Greeks to go along with the plan. We realize, however, there will always be some opposition to anything from all sides.

We can only say that this plan or any like it will not be justified until the interests of all students are taken into consideration. Until such a plan is proposed, without discrimination against any group, the Kernel is forced to oppose the present movement or anything similar to it.

A bloc seating plan was proposed two years ago, finally ending in a "grab bag" for recognition from all quarters. We can only see chaos and pandemonium as a climax to the present trite little race for recognition, and we hope it happens soon.

University Soapbox

A Fair Share Of UK's Total Activities Load

By A. BRUCE CHERRY

To The Editor:

I feel it is necessary to reply to the letter of Oct. 13 written by C. L. Morgan. This letter hardly seems to be constructive criticism, for if criticism of anything in particular were intended it could not be thought of as constructive. Constructive clarification is welcome, of course.

I must admit I do not know exactly what I am answering, because the letter did not exactly say anything.

I, however, do have a few things to say about some of the things mentioned such as selfishness, test files, the Leadership Conference, and groups.

Perhaps students and faculty are, for the most part, selfish. I doubt it. At any rate, I fail to understand how selfishness can benefit the University or its people. Certainly student standards should be higher and our faculty should be stronger, but it cannot be done effectively by selfishness.

I think an honest appraisal of our purposes and how we, as individuals and as a university, may fulfill them can be of benefit. It must be chewed, spit out, and chewed again, by administrator as well as freshman, until we understand this university, until we know its spirit. Then, maybe we will have enough interest to want and demand higher standards in our faculty.

I further fail to understand how selfishness or a supposedly resultant honor system would mark test files as "second hand learning." A method of study is as effective as a student finds it, and I am unable to judge any method except as it relates to myself. Frankly Mr. Morgan, I don't see how you do any better. Secondly, I believe a test file in the Margaret I. King Library would protect students from lethargic professors and provide an outline of what is important to know.

The Leadership Conference certainly did illustrate the need for leadership. It brought to mind the fact that many freshmen need leadership to show them what to expect both academically and socially at the University. Freshmen generally have some spirit and interest until they perceive, by the lack of upperclassman effort, that to have no spirit is more "sophisticated" and that in reality there is no spirit at UK. This is leadership that can be supplied only

THE READERS' FORUM

Dislikes Bloc Seating

To The Editor:

I see the "Greek" congress, Student Congress if you prefer, has adopted bloc seating for the Xavier game. Nothing can be done to prevent this, independents. You who represent 86 percent of the student body are forced to sit where the Greeks (14 percent) tell you. This has come to pass because you did not elect independents to the congress. Maybe you'll wise up next year—but that's what they said last year.

Wants The Lyrics

To The Editor:

At every half time of our home games, I have heard our band play the UK Alma Mater. Everyone respectfully stands while it is being played, but as of yet I have not heard anyone sing the words. Certainly an alma mater, especially such a beautiful one as we have, has words, but why doesn't anyone know them? I didn't find any mention of the words anywhere in the welcoming literature all the freshmen were given. If we are able to sing "My Old Kentucky Home," I think we should be able to sing our school's Alma Mater. What are the lyrics?

LYNDA WIMBERLY

"Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater!
Loyal sons and daughters sing;
Sound her praise with voice united;
To the breeze her colors fling.
To the Blue and White be true;
Badge triumphant age on age;
Blue, the sky that o'er us bends;
White, Kentucky's stainless page."
—THE EDITOR.)

Comment On Curfews

To The Editor:

Concerning the emancipation of women, we would like to comment on the elimination of curfews for women living in dormitories and sorority houses.

It is gradually becoming known that for some time the Office of the Dean of Women has been in favor of no hours for women. We strongly agree with this and would like to encourage Associated Women Student Congress to act immediately.

This plan has worked successfully on other campuses. The plan for UK, to introduce the idea slowly, could be to give the privilege first to senior girls. These girls would be given keys to their houses or dormitories.

Now that it has its constitution written, AWS is free to take up this important problem. We would like to see something done immediately.

Not only would a senior privilege be restored, but women would face a greater responsibility and hence maturity. Rules do not teach this.

KYRA HACKLEY
BOBBIE MASON

Gives Opinion

To The Editor:

My opinion of Kyra Hackley's and Bobbie Mason's lengthy essays is:

Words are like leaves

And, where they most abound

Underneath the spreading foliage
Little fruit is found.

'29 Guignol Opens Its Second Season

Thirty-two years ago, the Guignol Theatre opened its second season with the production of "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary," by St. John Ervine.

The cast of the years' first play was described as "perfect." "Excellent lighting, costuming and other incidentals were well executed," said the Kernel.

The play concerned the visit of an actress to the country home of a sedate family and the resultant effects on a male adolescent member of the family.

The audience seemed delighted with the play and many expressed their desire for another like it.

In 1929 UK's football team headed national standings as to games won and points scored against opponents. The campus was singing praises for John Simms "Shipwreck" Kelly.

Our undefeated team had just beaten Clemson 44-6. Kelly was the star of the game making two 47-yard touchdown runs. One thousand and one balloons were released by the Pep Club when "Shipwreck" Kelly made the first touchdown.

Kentucky had been expected to lose the game, so naturally their victory caused much excitement in the crowd of 6,000.

The Clemson coach even commented, "I thought I played on the best team at Vanderbilt that the South ever saw, but I was wrong—I saw the best one today and it was Kentucky."

Sports writers were speculating whether the Wildcats would be the Southern Conference Champions. If victories continued, UK would be the champion.

Tug Of War In The Twenties

Many old graduates recall the cold, cold waters of Clifton Pond into which they, as freshman or sophomores, plunged while participating in the annual tug of war, a UK event in late fall until the mid-nineteen twenties when it just faded away. The pond, too, has disappeared, having been filled with earth excavated from the Coliseum site.

Kernel Became Biweekly In 1949

There was a clamoring for more adequate news coverage of campus affairs this week in 1949.

The SGA (Student Government Association) recommended to obtain improved news coverage, the Kentucky Kernel should be issued on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week instead of only on Fridays, as had been the practice.

Dr. Niel Plummer, director of the School of Journalism, said the appeal would be given every consideration. Dr. Plummer noted that contracts with national advertisers would have to be studied, and the amount of labor and supplies involved be determined, before it could be decided if the extra edition could be undertaken for the next semester.

It was announced 12 years ago this week that the military department of the University was to consist of one regiment of ground troops and one wing of Air Force enrollees. The regiment was to contain three battalions and the wing two groups.

An art seminar at UK this week in 1949 set forth a few ideas on the subject of art. At this seminar a theory was advanced that modern art served no purpose in the modern world other than to satisfy the artist himself. It was also observed that the present trend was away from abstract painting toward a more recognizable type.

The Kernel's society column—12 years ago, gave accounts of all the happenings. It told of a party after the Cincinnati game at the Kentuckian Hotel. A few boys were seen wandering around in their pajamas, and "none of them could understand why the law wouldn't allow them to take a short cut down the fire escapes." Society also reported that the "sociology assignment about the Eskimo kiss is now being studied in the grill."

Senior Catches His Mustache On Dorm Nail

The usual quiet of dormitory life was broken in 1909 when a senior got his flowing mustache entangled on a protruding nail. Sometimes they became lost in the numerous folds of their knickers.

The idea noted that everyone was wondering if the seniors were prouder of their mustaches or their "breches."

In the same issue, an intriguing statement was printed in the personal column. "Those wishing inside information about the latest in love affairs see Mr. Gudgel." There was no explanation about who Mr. Gudgel was.

An editorial stressed the need of opening the library. Evidently there wasn't enough money available for the opening.

Money to build the library had been obtained and the library built. Now it was necessary to open it. The urgency of getting funds for opening the library was emphasized.

Kappa Sigma Vandalism Causes Anger In 1959

Kappa Sigma Fraternity was the victim of some rather annoying vandalism this week in 1959.

On Sunday morning, November 1, 1959, approximately 14 fraternity trophies were stolen from the Kappa Sigma house, and the greek letter Sigma was torn from the front of the house.

On Tuesday night of the same week, a phone call was received at the house by Johnny Fitzwater. The caller informed Fitzwater that if the fraternity wanted their trophies back, they could find them "under a tree across from the Administration Building."

Four pledges were immediately dispatched to the indicated area and found all the trophies piled in a cardboard box. Many of the trophies were broken, bent, or scratched, and the top of the 1957 homecoming-display trophy had been removed. Bill Kaufman discovered the box and said he and the other boys searched the area for anyone who might have been watching, but found no one.

The greek letter Sigma was also recovered, but damage to the letter was estimated at $25 to $30.

Other campus news this week two years ago noted that Adolph Rupp, UK basketball coach, was presented a plaque by the Air Force. The plaque was in recognition of Rupp's work the summer before in a basketball clinic for the Pacific Air Forces. Rupp was presented the plaque by his son, Adolph Jr. during ceremonies on the drill field.

It was pointed out by the Kernel this week two years ago that Kentucky's new governor, Bert Combs, was a UK graduate. The Kernel added that Mr. Combs received his LL.B. from UK in 1937, and while at UK, Mr. Combs was a member of Phi Delta Phi, law honorary. It was likewise observed that John B. Breckinridge, the new Attorney General, was also a UK graduate.

The Cats were seeking their first win in SEC play this week two years ago, as they were to go up against a tough Vanderbilt eleven that Saturday.

In Intramural football, Kappa

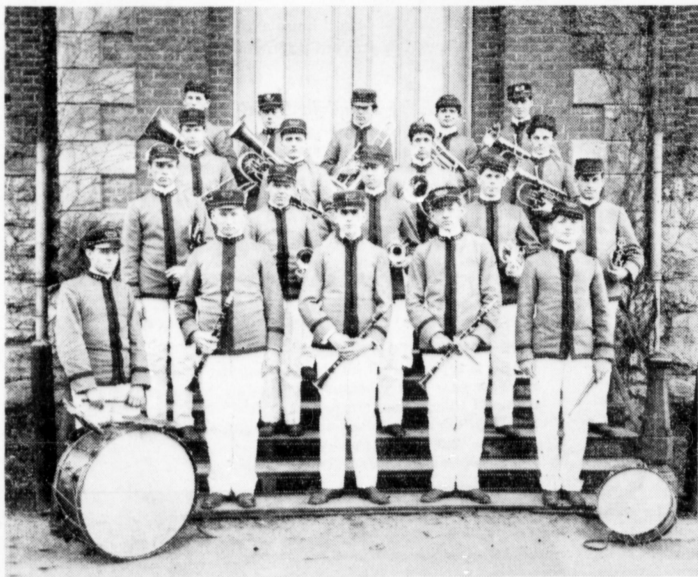

Alpha was the 1959 fraternity champ. The Rebels gained the championship by defeating Phi Delta Theta 19-12. The finals were to see the KA's and the Independent BSU champs battle it out.

The UK frosh football team was closing out its season this week in 1959. The Kittens were to entertain Vanderbilt's Baby Vols on Stoll Field. The Kittens were shooting for an undefeated season which would have been their fourth straight. A few of the freshman footballers scheduled to see action were: Jerry Woolum, Howard Dunnebacke, Tommy Hutchinson, Herb Conley, and Bobby Reeves.

The Marching Nineteen

The UK Band didn't have 100 members back in 1919 nor were there great football crowds before which they could practice ambulatory orthography. But they made music, and they had determination, as their facial expressions here suggest.

Tricked By Georgia, UK Seeks FSU Treat

By SCOTTIE HELT
Today is Halloween, but Kentucky's footballers got their tricks last Saturday from Georgia's Bulldogs and hope to get their treats from Florida State's Seminoles this Saturday.

A 71-yard quick-kick by Jake Saye and a 52-yard Durward Pennington field goal were the most vicious grabs from ghoulsh Georgia Coach Johnny Griffith's bag of tricks in brewing up a 16-15 upset defeat of the Wildcats before 31,000 happy homecoming fans at Athens, Ga.

The frisky Bulldogs, masquerading as 10-point underdogs, proved their bite was as bad as their bark as they spooked the Wildcats into seven fumbles, six of which the Dogs bounced on and two of which led to Georgia touchdowns.

Not a bit awed by the headline raves of UK's passing combination of quarterback Jerry Woolum and end Tom Hutchinson, Georgia made the usually calm, cool and collected Woolum and "Mr. Hutch in the Clutch" chief victims of Bulldog barks. Woolum was charged with four fumbles, one of which he dropped in his end zone to allow a jubilant Georgia lineman to fall on for a touchdown. Hutchinson also was charged with a bobble after hauling in one of Woolum's aerials to thwart a potential UK scoring threat.

While the men of rookie coach Griffith were evening their overall season record at 3-3 and their Southeastern Conference slate at 2-2, Coach Blanton Collier's out-masted pupils dropped their fourth game of the year against two wins. They have a 1-3 SEC slate.

The defeat ended any hopes of bowl participation for the 1961 Wildcats and any aspirations Collier might have had of posting his best collegiate coaching season since the 7-3 mark achieved in his first season at UK—1954.

The Cats will try to get back in the victory column this Saturday against a Florida State team that handed Georgia, a 3-0 loss two weeks ago.

Collier is hopeful the Seminoles of sophomore coach Bill Peterson do not follow the same path to success against the Cats as Georgia has followed. In the first gridiron meeting between Kentucky and FSU, Kentucky recorded a 23-0 win to spoil State's Tallahassee, Fla., homecoming last year.

Collier also was successful in his first match with Georgia, directing his 1956 team to a 14-7 win. A Collier-coached UK eleven hasn't beaten the Bulldogs since Saturday's shocker was the fifth straight loss to the Georgians—the other four being inflicted by Wally Butts-coached teams.

The Seminoles, led by quarterback Eddie Feely and end Fred Grimes, would like nothing better than to gain revenge for that '60 humiliation suffered before the old grads by handing the Cats their third straight setback this weekend. With a victory, they would have ample opportunity to begin a win streak such as Georgia has built as the Seminoles appear on the UK card three of the next four years.

Like Kentucky, Florida State will be trying to find victory after defeat. Virginia Tech handed the Seminoles a 10-7 defeat Saturday.

At Athens, it didn't take long for Kentucky's accommodating Wildcats to set the Bulldogs up with their first score.

After a scoreless first quarter in which Dave Chapman blocked a Pennington field goal attempt, Georgia took a 7-0 lead with 10:23 left in the second period when Bill Godfrey plunged one yard to score and Pennington booted a SEC record-breaking extra point. Pennington's PAT was his 20th in a row, bettering the league's old mark of 19 set by Georgia Tech's Pepper Rodgers.

The game's initial score was made possible by a Gary Cochran fumble at the Kentucky 29 from which point it took Georgia only four plays to get Godfrey over for the TD.

Kentucky came back to tie the game in the same quarter with Howard Dunnebacke, the game's top rusher, bulging over from two yards out to climax a 58-yard scoring drive. Clarkie Mayfield added the extra point with 2:20 left in the half.

Saye's sensational 71-yard punt which rolled dead only two inches short of the Kentucky goal-line, came early in the third period. It forced Bill Ransdell to put back to the Georgians on the next play, the ball dropping on the 34-yard line.

Three Georgia plays gained only four yards and Pennington proceeded to boot a 47-yard fielder. A penalty nullified the bullseye boot. Pennington stepped back to

One of the big benefits of THE BENEFACTOR, College Life's famous insurance policy, is the way it pays off in case of accidental death:

- DOUBLE—if you lose your life in an accident;
- TRIPLE—if your death results from an auto accident or as a passenger in a plane or other common carrier.

But the Real Pay-Off

is that THE BENEFACTOR doesn't have a lot of strings attached to it which prevent payment of the extra money.

These Exceptions are Not Found in THE BENEFACTOR

- Murder or manslaughter.
- Gunshot wound without witnesses.
- Intoxication.
- Taking of any poison, drug or sedative, or asphyxiation.
- Commission by Insured of an assault or felony.
- While participating in a riot.
- As the result of operating or riding in or descending from any kind of aircraft if Insured is a pilot, officer, or crew member, or is receiving or giving any kind of training or instruction or has any duties aboard aircraft or requiring descent therefrom.
- Physical or mental infirmity, illness or disease of any kind.
- Medical, surgical or hospital treatment.
- Bacterial infection other than bacterial infection occurring simultaneously with and in consequence of accidental and external bodily injury.
- Any accident not evidenced by a visible contusion or wound on exterior of body (except for drowning and internal injuries revealed by an autopsy).

THE BENEFACTOR'S honest-to-goodness accidental death benefit is typical of all its nine big benefits. You get so much more for your money because College Life insures only college men and college men are preferred risks. Get the full BENEFACTOR story from your local College Life representative.*

Phi Delts Capture Fraternity IM Crown

In a cliff-hanger finale, Phi Delta Theta edged Kappa Alpha, 14-13, to repeat as fraternity flag football champs.

Scoring on an aerial shot from quarterback Tom Utley to Jim Childers and an end sweep by Louis Burgess, the Phi Delts capped their two extended drives with tallies.

With a superb effort by fleet halfback, Jim Channon, the KA's moved deep twice, scoring each time. Channon swept the right end for Kappa's first TD on a four-yard run. Their second 6-pointer came as Don Berg rushed around end for two yards and a score.

With 1:49 left, Kappa Alpha found itself on the one-foot line after a sensational catch by end Dave Parrish. But with four unsuccessful line plays, a penalty, and a moving clock, the Kappa Alpha offense couldn't find paydirt. Phi Delta Theta took over and ran out the clock.

The two big names in the game were Phi Delts' fabulous quarterback, Tom Utley, and the KA's backfield star, Jim Channon. Utley guided his team with all the confidence of a pro. His play has dominated the Phi Delt wins throughout the tournament. However, the Phi Delt line deserves a hurrah for their defensive prowess.

Channon was obviously the sparkplug in KA's scoring machinery. Running, running, and more running was the Channon specialty. Their spotless record before meeting the Phi Delts speaks for its effectiveness, that and truly outstanding offensive and defensive play by Parris. Desire also played a big part in the close-fought battles that characterized KA's wins.

UK Runners Meet Cincy

Kentucky's cross country team, winner over Berea by a perfect 15-50 score in its last outing Tuesday, heads into the home stretch of its 1961 dual-meet schedule against three opponents this week.

The men of Coach Bob Johnson are at Cincinnati today where they take on the Cincinnati Bearcats of the Missouri Valley Conference. Wildcats and Bearcats have not met in cross country since 1958 when UK took a pair of meets from Cincy.

Cincinnati has never beaten Kentucky in the sport. Kentucky has a 5-0 record in the series.

Top runners for the Bearcats are Harold Schuck, Bill Klayer, Bob Rencker, and Don Matlack. This quartet led Cincinnati to six straight victories this fall before Ball State handed the Bearcats their first defeat of the season last week.

Top men for the Wildcats are expected to be Forno Cawood, Keith Locke, Owen Basham, John Knapp, and Dave Cliness.

Cawood was the individual winner in the Berea meet. Locke and Basham have also come in ahead of the pace in '61 matches.

A pair of Southeastern Conference members will provide the opposition for the Cats Friday at Knoxville, Tenn. Tennessee seeks to gain revenge for a 20-35 Wildcat win last year while Kentucky will be out to get back at the Maroons for a 27-27 edging State dished out at Memphis two years ago in the last meeting between the two teams.

UK Tricked

try again and once more the ball split the crossbars—from 52 yards out.

Tommy Simpson grabbed up a Bulldog fumble, Georgia's only one of the game, to stop a march to the four-yard line late in the fourth quarter. Two plays later, however, Woolum fumbled when trying to pass from his own end zone and tackle Bobby Green covered it for six Georgia points. Pennington's PAT try was bad and his string had ended at 20 straight.

Kentucky brilliantly charged back 70 yards on passes, one a 40-yard shot to Dunnebacke and the clincher a 11-yarder to Simpson. Woolum passed to Hutchinson for a two-point conversion, cutting the Georgia lead to 16-15.

With only 1:23 left to play, the Cats were dead though. They never got the ball again.

Doctors Enter Brown Case

report that Miss Brown had not returned to her Lackawanna Road home.

At 3 a.m. her body was found by Lexington Detective Don Duckworth.

She was sitting at the wheel of her car, hands in her lap, her brassiere around her neck.

Both rape and robbery have been ruled out as possible motives for the slaying, said Detective Capt. Gilbert Cravens. He said that, with the exception of her brassiere and the top few buttons of her blouse which were undone, all her jewelry, clothes, and pocketbook were intact. Her books were still stacked on the front seat.

A blood-smear dent in the right dashboard indicated that the four-foot 11 inches, 95-pound girl put up a struggle before she was strangled. Her scalp was loose at the top of her head and the body showed a small cut and a bruise. The keys to the car were found in the back seat. The two rear doors were locked.

The car was carefully parked, less than 40 feet from a bright campus street light. The area, once a favorite nighttime petting spot, has been well lighted since the college added $15,000 of lighting apparatus last year. Buses, however, would have partly concealed the vehicle from casual viewers on Third Street.

Police have questioned scores of Transylvania students, area residents, and workers in an effort to find some tangible lead in the flood of rumors concerning the case.

Nineteen Lexington detectives have been assigned to the case and their working hours extended. A rumor that the girl was seen with a man at a restaurant was added to by an autopsy report which indicated she had eaten an amount of food shortly before her death. Chief E. C. Hale of the Lexington Police Dept. said Monday, however, that police "have nothing to corroborate that."

A group of six Trans fraternity men viewing the spot where the car and body were found Friday theorized that someone had jumped into her car while she was stopped at the stoplight at Third and Upper Streets. "That's always been a long light," said one.

"It was probably one of those drunks that wander around these streets around here," said another student. "More than one time I've seen drunks come up to the cars along Gratz Park checking car doors for a place to sleep."

The other students joined in condemning much of the campus's environment.

The slaying became the first local case to be investigated by the University's newly formed Division of Legal Medicine, headed by Dr. Rudolph J. Muelling. The division aided with the autopsy but would not say if that was the extent of its role.

Dr. Muelling said Sunday that "We are noncommittal on the progress of the case—it is still under investigation and in the province of the court."

He added that their investigation was purely scientific and that their findings would not be made public until the time of the trial.

The division was called into the case by the local pathologist.

Chief Hale praised the personnel and facilities of the Division of Legal Medicine Monday. He said that though many murder cases in Kentucky are unsolved, it would not happen in Fayette County because of the division.

"This is the type thing you hear about happening at other places," said Annette Mayer, news director for the college. "It may even take some people several days to realize this really happened here."

The 19-year-old coed was a graduate of Lafayette High School. She attended Transylvania on an academic scholarship and had a 3.11 standing. She was a member of numerous school and social organizations.

Rewards offered for information leading to the arrest of the killer totaled over $1,000 last night.

A Sunday night break-in at Transylvania's Little Theatre building further upset the campus. Police were reported holding one of the persons involved in the break-in, a 22-year-old man, but could find no connection between that event and the slaying of Miss Brown.

Roger Wagner Chorale Scheduled Tomorrow

The Roger Wagner Chorale, sponsored by the Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series, will perform here tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the Memorial Coliseum.

Roger Wagner, director of the group, will present a program of religious music featuring Sall Terri, mezzo-soprano, as soloist.

The program will include selections from the Renaissance, classic, romantic, modern, and the French impressionistic periods. They will also sing English, French, and American folk songs, and the Negro spirituals.

Among the more familiar selections are "Ave Maria," "Queen Mab" from Berlioz's Romeo and Juliet, "Shenandoah," "Jesus, Rest Your Head," and "Go Down Moses."

The group, comprised of 24 persons, performed in London during Queen Elizabeth's coronation season. It was also chosen by the President's Special International Program for Cultural Presentation to tour ten Latin American countries.

In 1959 Wagner received the "Grammy" award from the Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences for his Capitol album "Virtuoso," voted best choral recording on all labels.

No students will be admitted to the concert except by presenting ID cards.

Kentucky offers more than 14,000 miles of streams in which anglers may try their wiles against those of fish.
