They Have Earned Their "L" For Loyalty

The 1948-'49 Loyalty Fund drive has gotten off to an auspicious beginning. Many alumni have already contributed, as the subsequent list shows, but there are many still to be approached. Mr. J. Stephen Watkins, chairman of the current drive is urging every alumnus and former student to participate, no matter to how small an extent, so that we may all have a part in this, one of the finest projects the association ever has initiated.

A QUARTERLY MAGAZINE DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE ALUMNI AND STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Gov. Clements To Speak Founders Day, Feb. 22

Governor Earle C. Clements, distinguished alumnus of the University of Kentucky and chief executive of the Commonwealth, will be the speaker at the annual Founders Day convocation to be held in Memorial Hall on February 22.

Features of the Founders Day celebration, in addition to Governor Clements' address, will be the laying of the cornerstone of the new fieldhouse, a series of classroom lectures on the history and development of the University, a special historical exhibit in the library, and a broadcast by electrical transcription, which will be sent to Kentucky radio stations for broadcasts during the week of February 22.

The radio program, which will be offered to all Kentucky stations, will include a review of the University's history from the turn of the century to today; the problems of an expanding University and the improvements in physical facilities and personnel over a period of 50 years.

Included on the broadcast will be President H. L. Donovan, '14, and two members of the faculty who were on the campus "Then and Now."

A committee of University faculty members is working on a suggested outline of topics for classroom lectures during the week of February 22, and this outline will be offered to all faculty members with the hope that at least one class period of each instructor will be devoted to a discussion of the historical background and development of the University.

The library exhibit will follow the development of the University from the early days at "Woodlands," through its present program of expansion. It will include pictures, printed material and manuscripts and will be an interesting and historical sidelight of the Founders Day celebration.

All alumni are urged to watch their local papers for announcement of the Founders Day broadcast, and the administration has extended a cordial invitation to former students to return to the campus on February 22 to participate in the celebration.

New Orleans Alums Form Organization

A group of alumni living in New Orleans met with Helen G. King, executive secretary of the U. K. Alumni Association, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 29, prior to the Kentucky-Tulane Sugar Bowl game, and perfected plans to initiate an organization in the southern city.

The group, called together by Bernard Freedman, '40, met in the Hotel New Orleans and made plans for a business meeting at Mr. Freedman's home on January 5, at which time the group planned to elect officers and formulate policies.

Mr. Freedman acted as temporary chairman of the meeting, and Claude (Monk) Simons, M.S. '38, took over the duties of temporary secretary.

The club plans to hold a social meeting in the near future at which time films of some of the Kentucky basketball games will be shown.

New York Alumni Meet And Elect

William E. Butler, outgoing secretary of the New York Alumni Club, was elected president of the group at a dinner meeting held Dec. 18 at the Hotel Paramount in New York just prior to the Kentucky-St. Johns basketball game.

He succeeds L. Duncan Stokes, who has been transferred from New York to South Carolina with the Southern Railway.

Other officers elected were: Stephanie Sorrell, vice president; E. V. Albert, secretary, and S. A. Rapier and Milton S. Smith, joint treasurers.

The New York group held a cocktail party and dinner meeting on the evening of the Kentucky-St. Johns game, and guests included Bernie A. Shively, U. K. athletic director, Kentucky alumni and sports writers from the Bluegrass who had accompanied the team to New York.

Present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Stokes; Mr. and Mrs. Butler; Miss Sorrell; Mr. and Mrs. Albert; Mr. Smith; Mr. Rapier; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnston; W. E. Davis; Walter N. Flippin, Jr.; Thomas S. Stevenson; Charles White; Rufus L. Weaver; Eli Zuckerman; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Steers and son, Bill; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Jackson; Webb Wyman; Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Rayburn; W. ## Kentucky's University Must Have Housing

(From the Courier-Journal)

It is not to Kentucky's credit that its State university leads an existence much like that of the old-time movie serial queen. No sooner is it rescinded from sheer disaster, usually at the last moment, than it finds itself on the brink of a fresh and more threatening peril. Earlier this year the Court of Appeals saved the University from almost certain collapse of its faculty by lifting the salary limitation which had made it illegal to pay any professor more than $5,000 a year and kept most teachers on much lower salaries. It seemed for a while after this that the University might go forward confidently on its new expansion program.

Now President Herman Donovan warns that the expansion program is in danger because of the shortage in women's housing. While University housing has mushroomed since the war from 3,500 to 7,484, enrollment of women students has not kept pace. By straining every facility, using makeshift housing and every available rental space in Lexington, the University has managed to house 6,111 men. The women, however, cannot be housed so haphazardly. Parents demand that women students live under supervision, and there simply is no room left in dormitories, sorority houses and homes under University guidance.

REUNION IN JUNE

The effect on Kentucky has been more serious than most of us realize. Thousands of applications for admission have been regretfully refused. Education of these girls at other institutions in many cases has been inconvenient and more expensive. Some women students have been forced to postpone their college careers.

But Dr. Donovan's plea for additional dormitory facilities is based simply on a short-term remedy. Unfortunately, this temporary housing shortage can cause a long-term hurt to the University. Rapid deterioration of temporary housing makes it imperative that it be replaced within the next five years by permanent buildings. Unless this is done the University cannot maintain its present enrollment.

There is another reason why Kentucky must maintain the University's expansion program. University planners have been forced to readjust building plans to conform with the birth rate since 1918. The unprecedented baby crop of the past six years will begin, in 1948, to be felt at the University in unprecedented freshmen enrollments. Even assuming that the present prosperity abates before that time, the University estimates place 1958 enrollments at a probable 10,000 students. Upon our current efforts to prepare the University for its coming needs will rest the educational fate of these Kentuckians, and incidentally the standard of living in our State.

Alumni Scholarship Nominations Due April 1

The second $2,800, four-year, all-expense scholarship for a worthy freshman student who will enter the University next fall has been authorized by the executive committee of the Alumni Association, and nominations are in order between now and April 1.

The scholarship, to be awarded like the one set up in September 1948, will be given before the opening of the 1949 fall semester, and will be granted on the basis of scholastic ability, character, personality, extra curricular activities and need, and will be open to any high school graduate in the United States who may be nominated by an organized alumni club, or an individual alumnus. In other words, the student may, but does not necessarily have to be a graduate of a Kentucky high school to be nominated, but he does have to be sponsored by an organized alumni club or a University alumnus.

Nominations for the scholarship will also be received from high school principals in Kentucky, but notification of this will be sent direct to the principals by the Kentucky Research Foundation, which administers the scholarship for the Alumni Association.

The nomination blanks may be obtained from the office of the Alumni Secretary, Room 124 Student Union, University of Kentucky, Lexington 29, Ky., and should be in the office of Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, president of the Kentucky Research Foundation, University of Kentucky, by April 1. The students nominated will be asked to come to the campus and take a special examination, and the final selection will be made by the University's faculty scholarship committee.

According to requirements as set up for the scholarship by a joint committee of faculty and alumni, the recipient of the scholarship will be required to maintain a standing of 2.0, and if he or she falls below that average, the scholarship may be withdrawn at the discretion of the University's scholarship committee.

The first scholarship was awarded to John Biggerstaff, of Berea, Ky., last fall, who was nominated by four alumni of the University. He has proven to be a very satisfactory student and his records justify the judgment of the committee in selecting him.

Any individual alumnus or club wishing to make a nomination for the second alumni scholarship, should send for a nomination blank as soon as possible, or, at least, in time to have it back in Dr. Chamberlain's office by April 1. The student nominated should fill out the application blank himself.

Thomson Ripley Bryant, '08, assistant director of Agricultural Extension, has been cited by Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity of extension officials for "outstanding service."

Dr. J. W. D. Skiles, head of the department of Ancient Languages at the University of Kentucky, has been elected president of the Kentucky Classical Association.

Whitaker Succeeds Self In Congress

John A. Whitaker, of Russellville, Ky., was elected to a full two-year term in Congress from the Second (Ky.) Congressional District at the November elections, succeeding himself. Mr. Whitaker had served since early last spring, when party leaders held a special election for that purpose, after the office had been vacated by Alumnus Earle C. Clements when he was elected Governor of Kentucky.

County Attorney of Logan county for 20 years, Mr. Whitaker has served on the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association and is a life member of the group. He has been active in crippled children's work in Kentucky and in Democratic party circles and last March was named a Kentucky Colonel by Governor Clements.

Reunions June 2

June Reunion Plans In Making

Thirteen Classes Are Scheduled to Meet

Reunions for 13 classes are being planned by the Alumni executive committee for June week, May 29 through June 3. They are: 1890-'91; 1907, '08, '09, and '10; 1926, '27, '28 and '29; and 1945, '46 and '47.

Although no definite program of events has been outlined yet, the week will begin with baccalaureate services Sunday afternoon, May 29, and conclude with the 82nd annual commencement on the night of June 3.

Thursday, June 2, will be alumni day, and events will include the commencement tea to be given that afternoon in the gardens of Maxwell Place by President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan, and the annual alumni banquet that evening in the Student Union ballroom.

The executive committee is making plans this year to establish Golden Jubilee Certificate awards to graduates of fifty years or better, which event will be part of the commencement program on Friday night, June 3. The awards will not be presented in absentia, so all fifty-year or better graduates are urged to begin making their plans now to be present at the 82nd commencement.

Special class luncheons will be arranged by class secretaries, with the help of the Alumni office staff, probably for alumni day, June 2, and those planning to come back in June are advised to write early for hotel reservations as the graduating class will reach an all-time high this year, and hotel rooms will be at a premium.

Feature of the alumni banquet will be the annual meeting of the association and the announcement of the election of new officers for the year 1949-'50.

Dr. W. H. McAdams, B. S. '13, M. S. '14,
D. Sc. '45, Honored By Army, Navy

Dr. William H. McAdams, professor of chemical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a native of Lexington, Ky., together with a group of his colleagues, was presented the "Certificate of Merit for outstanding fidelity and meritorious conduct in aid of the war effort against the common enemies of the United States," at a special ceremony held on the campus of M. I. T. October 14.

The certificate, signed by President Truman and Owen Roberts, chairman of the Medal for Merit board, was presented jointly by Rear Admiral Morton L. Deyo, USN, and Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating, USA, in recognition of Doctor McAdams' outstanding service from June 1944 to September 1945, as consultant to the Chemical Corps of the Army and official investigator for the division of the National Defense Research Committee, covering chemical engineering problems, which, according to the citation, "proved to be an invaluable contribution to the war effort of the United States."

The exercises were part of a nationwide program honoring scientists and engineers whose contributions proved invaluable to the war effort.

Dr. McAdams is credited with developing M. I. T.'s graduate courses in heat transmission, distillation, extraction, advanced chemical engineering and economic balance in the chemical industry.

The son of Harry K. McAdams of Lexington, he went to the Massachusetts Institute in 1914, and after serving there for one year, went to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. as an assistant chemist until he was called into service in World War I. He served as a first lieutenant in the chemical service section and was later promoted to captain of the United States Chemical War Service, where his work consisted of developing chemical processes from the experimental stage to the point of actual production.

Following the war he returned to Tech as an assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor in 1922 and to professor in 1927.

He has published two books in his field, besides numerous scientific articles and has been chairman of the committee on heat transfer of the National Research Council. Last year he was chairman of the faculty at M. I. T. He is a member of numerous scientific and professional organizations and was the recipient of the Guggenheim Fellowship in 1937.

During World War II Professor McAdams served as chairman of the subcommittee on heat exchangers for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and in addition directed the development of a portable device for pressurizing portable flame throwers and another project on the purification of mustard gas for the National Defense Research Committee.

He holds three degrees from the University of Kentucky. The B.S. degree earned in 1913, the M.S. in 1914 and the honorary D.Sc. conferred upon him by his Alma Mater in 1945.

New Welfare Post

Dr. W. E. Watson, M.A. '27, Ph.D. '37, has been appointed director of corrections in the Kentucky State Department of Welfare.

He will have charge of the correctional program in Kentucky's four penal institutions—Eddyville penitentiary, LaGrange reformatory, the women's prison and the House of Reform at Greendale.

Dr. Watson, a native of Jefferson county, has been with the Welfare Department 10 years and since 1942 has been supervising psychologists. For the last four years he also has been assistant to the director of hospitals and mental hygiene.

Starting as psychologist at the Kentucky Training Home, Frankfort, Dr. Watson has held various posts in the Welfare Department. He spent six months as psychologist at LaGrange. "That gave him a practical knowledge of prisons that will be valuable," Dr. Lyon said.

Dr. Watson did two years work at Cumberland College and obtained his B.S. degree at Columbia University in 1925. He also holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Kentucky. He taught at the University and at Western State College.

Homecoming, November 13, Best In History

Thousands Enjoy Fun and Fellowship

Alumni from all parts of the United States joined with their Kentucky brothers and sisters on the week-end of Nov. 13, to enjoy the most successful homecoming in UK history.

Perfect weather, good fellowship, a winning team, and a series of social events all contributed to a week-end that will be long remembered by the thousands of alumni and former students who participated.

Several colorful events, in addition to Kentucky's spectacular win over Florida, 34-15, added to the pleasure of the occasion. Highlight of the week-end was the return to the campus of all seven of the living members of the 1898 football team with their coach.

The "Immortals of '98," only unbeaten, untied and unscored on grid team in Kentucky's history, arrived Friday, Nov. 12, and were guests of honor that evening at the monthly dinner meeting of the executive committee of the Alumni Association in the Red Room of the Lafayette hotel. The group included Coach William Bass, of Terrace Park, Ohio, and his team, Dr. C. C. Clarke, Socorro, N. Mex., J. Soule Smith, Webster Groves, Mo.; L. Wynne Martin, St. Louis, Mo.; E. C. "Mad Anthony" Whayne, Clinton, Ky.; Col. J. H. Graham, Louisville; J. Milward Elliott and John Willim, of Lexington.

They were also special guests at the informal "brunch" sponsored for all returning alumni Saturday morning from 11:30 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. in the ballroom of the Student Union; were sideline guests at the football game and were presented to the crowd at a between-halves program during which the "Best Band in Dixie" formed the numerals "1898."

President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan paid them special honor at the homecoming tea for all alumni and friends of the University following the game, and they were invited to the alumni get-together, as guests of the association, Saturday night from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. at the Lafayette hotel.

Another event which held the interest and won the general approbation of returning alumni was the presentation of the first annual Alma Mater award to the alumnus of the University who had, in the judgment of the members, contributed the most unselfish service to his Alma Mater.

Judge Richard C. Stoll, loyal alumnus and for 50 years a member of the University's board of trustees, was the recipient of the award, made by the student group composed of the children of former University students. In the absence of Judge Stoll, because of illness, the trophy was presented to his son, Richard P. Stoll, by Bryan Whitfield, of Harlan, a member of Alma Mater, and was done at public ceremonies on Stoll Field, just prior to the opening of the football game.

Alumni headquarters were established Saturday morning at the three down-town hotels and at the Student Union, and a record number registered. The "brunch" was an outstanding success, with several hundred alumni gathering for an informal meal and chat before the game, and the get-together at the Lafayette hotel ballroom that night, where an orchestra played for dancing, was attended by hundreds.

Those registering for homecoming were: Mrs. L. M. Oliver, Berea; Robert L. Connor, '40, Lexington; J. E. Lockett, '32, Frankfort; Russell Ellington, '37, and Mrs. Ellington (Mary Louise Bradley, '36), Lexington; Charles R. Burton, '42, Lexington; Mrs. John P. B. B. McInteer, Jr., '41, of Lexington, son of Prof. B. B. McInteer of the University of Kentucky botany department, has aided in the development of a mass spectrometer for use in analyzing gases.

The new device may make operations safer by revealing the chemical content of a patient's breath to a surgeon, in a second's time.

Young Mr. McInteer is a graduate student at the University of Minnesota, preparing for a research career in industry. Dr. Allen Hemingway is co-developer of the spectrometer.

Miss Bertha Rae Baker, of Leitchfield, Ky., at present engaged as a teacher in Holding Institute, Laredo, Texas, was one of the thirty-five young people commissioned for missionary service by the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, on December 10. The commissioning service was held in connection with the Board's annual meeting at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania. These thirty-five young people are part of the more than 1,000 that the Board expects to add to its home and foreign missionary staff during the next few years in its program of "Advance" in all fields.

The service of commissioning was conducted by Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Board of Missions, assisted by the presidents of the Boards four divisions. Charges to the class were made by the Rev. Herbert J. Riley, missionary in Tuguegarao, Philippine Islands, who was a prisoner of the Japanese for three years during the war; by Miss Hyla Stuntz, born in India of missionary parents, and formerly engaged in youth relief work in France and Germany; by Miss Emma Burris, director of Marcy Center, Chicago; and by the Rev. George W. Dolch, a home missionary in Anchorage, Alaska.

Miss Baker, who was born in Har-dinsburg, Ky., was educated in Leitchfield High School, Asbury College, and the University of Kentucky. She has majored in and taught history. She will go to Mexico to engage in social work under the Methodist Church of Mexico and the Board of Missions and Church Extension.

Mr. Underwood, former University student and loyal supporter of his Alma Mater, is a veteran Democratic newspaper editor who has been mentioned for public office many times, but who has heretofore declined to run.

The editor is former chairman of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee, until his election was secretary of the Kentucky State Racing Commission and has served for 14 years as secretary of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners.

Virgil M. Chapman, LL.B. '18, veteran Kentucky congressman from the Sixth District, was elected to the United States Senate for a six-year term last November.

Mr. Chapman is a native of Simpson county, Ky., and at 17 was deputy sheriff of Simpson county, being the youngest public officer in Kentucky at that time. He held two state offices before he was 21, serving as director Farmers' Institutes for eastern Kentucky and chief assistant in the State Department of Education, before he resigned to enter the University of Kentucky College of Law.

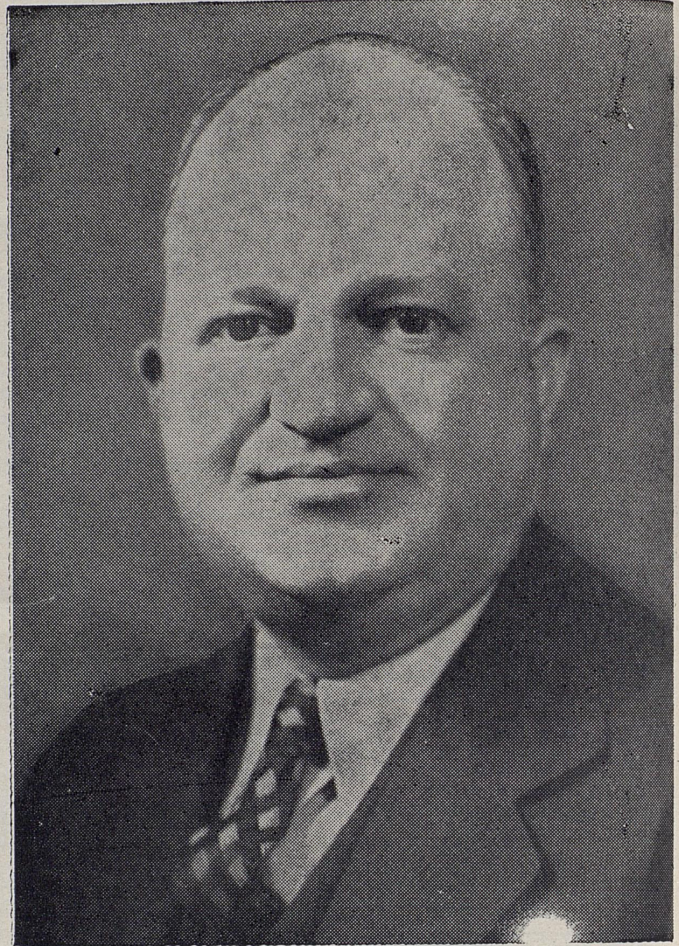

He was class orator at the University, class president his senior year and editor of the Kentucky Law Journal.

Glenn A. Price, '46, of Lexington, has assisted in the construction and successful testing of a 75,000,000-volt betatron, a machine to be used in the study of cosmic rays and atoms at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Price, the son of Prof. H. B. Price of the University Agricultural Extension Division, is serving as a member of the physics department staff at the University of Illinois while doing work toward a doctor's degree in physics. He obtained his master's degree at Illinois last year.

During the war Price was assigned to duty at Army research laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M. The new betatron at the University of Illinois is a scale model of a 300,000,000-volt machine now being built there.

Graduate Receives Song Test Award

Robert W. Miles, Jr., B.A. '42, M.A. '48, of Lexington, young composer, has received a $1,500 cash award as first prize in a song-writing contest conducted by the Motion Pictures

Song Contest Association of Hollywood.

Mr. Miles' song, which won the "grand gold award" in the nationwide contest was entitled, "Twenty-One Miles From Home." Lyrics for the song, which was composed and submitted in the contest last July, were written by Bill Hubble of Lexington.

He is currently a student at the Julliard School of Music in New York. During the war Mr. Miles served for three and a half years in the Army, being discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Ky. 'Cats Finish Fine Season: Tie Tennessee

By KEN KUHN

Sports Editor, Dept. of Public Relations

"Moral victory."

That's what the Knoxville papers admitted after Kentucky's wonderful Wildcats clawed out a scoreless tie in mid-November gridiron battle with their traditional arch rivals at the University of Tennessee.

To a great many Kentucky followers, that phrase also seemed to sum up the 1948 season for the University of Kentucky gridiron aggregation. The Wildcats of Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant could boast a 5-3-2 record at the conclusion of a grueling, 10-game schedule that included five Southeastern Conference opponents.

But to Coach Bryant, the man who never gave up hope in the face of defeating odds, there is no such thing as moral victory. He counted his season as "above par for the course."

And certainly he had a point. It was a tough season in many respects—the schedule, the loss of material from the season before, and three early-season defeats. But the Wildcats, like their hard-working coach, seemed never to give up hope and got up off the floor after three stunning knockouts to pick up enough points and show enough promise to gain the decision of "successful season."

It was not as good a record as many of the 'Cats more hopeful followers yearned for, but it was a moral victory to achieve a record that included a majority of wins or ties; to turn a potentially-disastrous season into a winning one after three straight, early-season losses; and to scuttle the hopes of Gen. Bob Neyland's Tennessee Volunteers against heavy odds.

The campaign would have been a success in the eyes of most U.K. fans and players had the Tennessee game closed the season. Traditionally, a victory (actual or moral) over any one of the SEC's "Big Three"—Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama—in the space of a single year is regarded as climaxing that season and marking it down as an automatic success.

Bryant's Bluegrass boys gave even further impetus to the appropriateness of the moral victory label on the campaign just closed by virtue of the fact that the gridiron gods were smirking at their chances from the word "go" back in September. In the words of the youthful Kentucky mentor, the 1948 season prospects could be summed up in a single question: "When you lose nine players from your starting eleven and five more from your squad in one season, what can you expect to happen?"

The heart of Kentucky's line—fellows like All-Conference center Jay Rhodemyre and two-ton tackle Wash Serini—were missing as the underdog eleven from the horse country took the field. So were numerous other starters and capable replacements from the year before. The replacements were necessarily second, third and fourth-string reserves, due to the non-freshman rule of the SEC, but they fought like All-Americans and the season record gives evidence of the success they attained despite the odds.

The 1948 season, which might be called "Bryant Year III," got under way successfully on Sept. 25 as the 'Cats displayed too much power for Xavier of Cincinnati and won handily 48-7.

The big question of what Professor Bryant had been able to teach his class of football players remained unanswered, however. Some fans thought they saw the answer in the second game on the night of Oct. 2 as Ole Miss, defending champions of the SEC, trounced the Wildcats to the tune of 20-7. More optimistic followers looked to the Georgia game the next week-end. While not expecting victory against the traditionally powerful Bulldogs of Wally Butts, the U.K. supporters thought the contest might supply the answer to the question of Kentucky's potential power. It was a dismal trek back from Athens, Ga., after the Wildcat attack bogged down to allow the Cracker State warriors to win 35-12.

Ky. Tackle Chosen "Player of Week"

Bob Gain, Kentucky's outstanding sophomore tackle from Weirton, W. Va., was chosen "Player of the Week" Nov. 23, in the Atlanta Journal poll of the Southeastern Conference, following Kentucky's 0-0 tie with Tennessee.

He was chosen for his great defensive work against Tennessee. Bob also made the first All-Southeastern sophomore team this year.

Next came another toughie—Vanderbilt. Fair-weather friends of the Kentucky gridders were beginning to think seriously of deserting the ship as the third major test in as many weeks ended in a loss, 26-7. The ranks of the U.K. squad were riddled by injuries in increasing numbers since the opening of the season and the team just could not seem to catch fire.

But mid-season was approaching and better sailing was ahead, game outcomes proved. The 'Cats lived up to their name and fought back in the home stretch to topple Marquette 25-0. In a surprise shakeup of his offensive force, Coach Bryant cut three first-string players from the traveling squad. The consternation caused by this strategy apparently jarred the team out of its lethargy. Non-travelers Boller and Howe redeemed themselves in the next contest with the University of Cincinnati as the U.K. gridders took a decisive 28-7 victory over the fighting Bearcats.

One of the season's biggest thrills came in the Villanova game on Stoll Field Nov. 6. With less than 30 seconds remaining and Kentucky on the short end of a 13-6 score, half-back Howe took a short pass from quarterback George Blanda and raced 69 yards through Villanova tacklers to chalk up a vital TD. Seconds later little Bobby Brooks, a promising sophomore from Gary, Ind., booted the pigskin through the

Cats Honored At Alumni Grid Banquet

Close Successful Season With Dinner

More than 400 gridders, coaches and fans attended the Alumni Association's annual football banquet Dec. 2 in the Bluegrass Room of the Student Union, honoring the 1948 varsity and freshman squads.

Termed the most enjoyable party yet sponsored by the alumni, those present saw the team vote Quarterback George Blanda honorary captain for the season just closed, and also designate the tall, Pennsylvania T-Master the outstanding senior on the team, thus winning for him the much-coveted Jerome Lederer trophy awarded annually to the outstanding senior griddier.

Letters were awarded to 37 varsity players and wrist watches were presented to the four graduating seniors—Captain Blanda, Wallace Jones, Norman Klein and Doc Ferrell, from alumni and friends of the team.

Chief speaker at the event was SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore, who lauded the Wildcats "for the confidence and courage which they showed in coming back, after suffering three straight losses, to go undefeated in their six remaining games. Many teams could not come back in such a fine manner after losing three games," said Mr. Moore.

Other speakers included Coach Paul Bryant, who paid high tribute to members of the 1948 Kentucky squad. "I have been connected with some great teams—some of them championship teams," the mentor said, "but I have never before been connected with a team which could overcome a two-touchdown deficit at the half."

Reviewing the past season, Coach Bryant said: "if we had won all our games we might have lost a great deal in the long run. The boys might have missed the thrill of playing on a team which could come from behind to win or tie. They might have missed playing on a team which goes better and tougher as the season progressed."

B. A. Shively, athletic director and vice president of the Alumni Association, presided and called on Allen Hamilton, of Louisville, letterman on the '48 squad, to offer the invocation. Other short messages of greeting to the team were expressed by Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, University vice president, and John R. Bullock,

Enrollment At UK Sets New Record

The largest student body in the 83-year history of the University of Kentucky—a total of 7,863 full-time, resident students—was registered for the fall semester which closed in January.

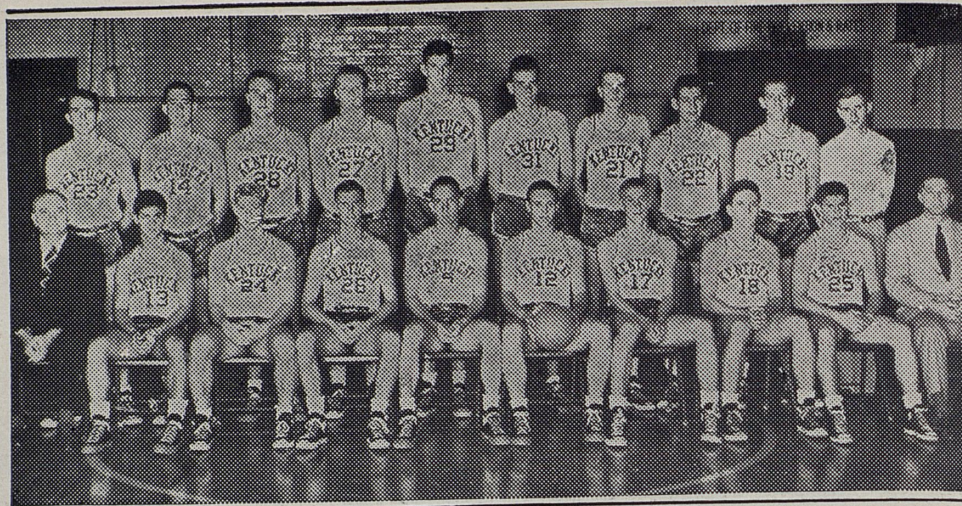

The fall registration total exceeds the previous record enrollment of 7,840 established a year ago. Official statistics also disclose that the fall figure was more than 18 per cent greater than the number of students enrolled in the University for the fall term of 1946 and represented an increase of more than 106 per cent over the normal pre-war total of approximately 3,800.

The University actually had a much larger enrollment than the above figure indicated, according to Dr. Maurice Seay, dean and registrar. Not included in the total were more than 1,000 students taking courses by correspondence and an undetermined number of persons enrolled in special late afternoon, evening and Saturday classes conducted by the Department of University Extension in various parts of the state for adults and special students.

uprights for the extra point that knotted the score at 13-13.

Still operating in high gear, the 'Cats next swamped the Florida Gators 34-15 before a homecoming crowd that included the seven living members and coach of the "Immortals of '98," only undefeated, untied and unscored-upon grid team in U.K. history. The following weekend saw the Kentuckians invading the stronghold of the Neyland Volunteers in Knoxville as a two-touchdown underdog. What happened in the ensuing ball game was sweet music to the ears of Kentucky followers, many of whom were resigned to the expectation that Tennessee would bowl over the 'Cats. The surprising scoreless deadlock that the U.K. gridders managed to precipitate elated the thousands of partisans who traveled to the East Tennessee metropolis from Lexington and other Kentuckiana ram-parts.

As the climax to a successful campaign the Kentucky footballers slipped out of the shivering Bluegrass country and set up headquarters in Orange Bowl territory for a season-end tilt with Miami, which they won handily 25-5, and a few days vacation on the sunny Florida beaches.

It was definitely a moral victory and above par for the course, that 1948 football season. Disappointment was eased by the spectacular stretch drive put on by the Wildcats. Although extreme optimism is not to be found in the Kentucky camp, it's no secret that there are a lot of hopes being pinned on the remaining varsity performers and the numerous highly-promising freshman gridders for a great 1949 season.

St. Louis Ends Kentucky's Winning Streak

By KEN KUHN
Sports Publicity Editor

"What happened?"
That was the standard query heard everywhere as the new year 1949 was ushered in and Kentucky's front running Wildcat basketeers rounded the turn leading to the home stretch in their 1948-49 national championship basketball race.

Adolph Rupp's defending NCAA and Olympic champs had survived the traditional defeat jinx of the annual Eastern invasion and were riding high with a season victory string of eight games, despite one of the toughest early season schedules ever devised. The Kentuckians had looked every inch All-Americans as they trounced Tulane 78-47 in the first round of the Sugar Bowl tournament in New Orleans at year's end.

Then came the Billikens of St. Louis University, who eased by a fighting Holy Cross outfit in another Sugar Bowl preliminary to gain the right to meet Kentucky in the "dream game of the century." Assuming the role of giant killers, the St. Louis boys managed to conjure up a magical game-end freeze maneuver and eke out a slim 42-40 decision over the Wildcats.

The complete explanation of how Coach Ed Hickey's sharpshooting aces managed the upset of the century will undoubtedly never come out. It probably will remain unexplained fully not because the Kentuckians have anything to hide or be ashamed of, but because no basketball authority has ever prepared a diagnosis of an "off night." That was the principal cause for the Kentucky defeat, according to the men who know basketball best. Flat as they seemed to be, in comparison with their reputation and the sparkling performance against the high-ranking Tulane Green Wave, the Nation's No. 1 team looked better and proved better than St. Louis as they forged ahead to a 27-18 advantage at the intermission.

Big Alex Groza, realizing the chips were down in his bid for All-American honors, blanketed Easy

Ed Macauley. The baby-faced, St. Louis scoring ace was able to get off only seven shots at the bucket during the entire first half and completed none. Team statistics on scoring at the half revealed Kentucky the more accurate by far, but off form. There appeared little doubt, however, as the country's two leading quintets resumed play in the second half, that Kentucky would not emerge victorious. But that second half proved the longest (or was it the shortest?) 20 minutes in basketball history. The Billikens caught fire and hit from all angles while the Wildcats' flings bounded crazily and rimmed out of the basket continuously. The story was told by statistics again—each team had shot 25 times, the Kentuckians had hit for four while St. Louis completed 10.

Far from downhearted, the Bluegrass basketeers looked forward with vengeance to the disaster-loaded schedule ahead in 1949 with a New Year's resolution to win them all if possible. If they could polish off Bowling Green of Ohio, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, DePaul at Chicago, arch-rival Notre Dame, Alabama, Bradley Tech and a host of other tough opponents, all pointing for an upset of Kentucky to make a successful season, the Wildcats stood a good chance to regain lost prestige and their number one rating.

A great many experts felt confident that Kentucky, barring an "off-night," was the better team than St. Louis and capable of handling any and all challengers of their championship honors.

The basketball conscious Wildcats, who were beginning to wonder if there was such a thing as an off season as the result of almost uninterrupted training since the beginning of the 1947-48 season caused by Olympic play, displayed unexpected finesse in copping their eight victories prior to the Sugar Bowl disaster. Following an eye opener

Alex Groza Named Captain of 'Cats

Alex Groza, twice All-American center of Kentucky's fabulous Wildcat basketball team, was named captain of the 1948-49 squad by his teammates in December, just prior to departure for Louisville to meet the DePaul net team in the Louisville armory.

Groza, a senior from Martin's Ferry, Ohio, succeeds Kenny Rollins as the Wildcat leader for two seasons before his graduation last June.

In addition to being twice named All-America, the big pivotman last year was selected as the outstanding player in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament in New York, won the Jerome Lederer trophy as the outstanding member of the Kentucky squad, and was one of the top performers on the U. S. Olympic team this past summer.

against Indiana Central, which they took 74-38, Rupp's Raiders amazed even their most ardent followers with a second half explosion that laid DePaul low 67-36 in a Louisville exhibition. Next came two home warm-ups before the Eastern invasion. Tulsa was shellacked 81-27 and the Razorbacks of Arkansas U. were stopped cold 76-39. Playing for the first time in Boston, Kentucky overcame the surprise of control ball and slow down strategy attempted by Holy Cross to emerge on the long end of a 51-48 score. New York sportswriters and fans were set agog by the whirlwind attack of the 'Cats on the St. John's Redmen two nights later at Madison Square Garden. The Brooklyn favorites, previously undefeated and classed as one of top teams in the East, were scalped 57-30. Returning to their favorite stamping grounds, the 'Cats took the measure of a fighting Tulane quintet 51-47 after a see-saw battle in the Louisville Armory.

All reports to the contrary, Kentucky's gridiron Wildcats are pretty sure to have the services of Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant for a good while yet. The youthful and successful U. # Fire Destroys Old University Mining Building

An early morning fire destroyed Norwood Hall November 12, the old mining engineering building which at the time was housing the botany department, State Department of Mines and Minerals and the Kentucky Geological Survey. Loss was officially estimated at $200,000.

Comptroller Frank D. Peterson said the estimated loss was based on $100,000 for the 39-year-old structure and $100,000 for the contents.

Among articles lost were all the State Mines and Minerals Department's laboratory equipment and records, a 25,000-piece botanical collection of Dr. Frank T. McFarland, a 3,000-piece botanical collection more than 100 years old, and most of the equipment belonging to the botany and Geological Survey departments.

Dr. McFarland also lost a personal library valued at $8,000 which he had been working on for over 30 years. Dr. Herbert Riley, head of the Botany Department, said "practically all equipment of the department was destroyed." He added that the microscopes were saved but would all need repair.

A. D. Sisk, head of the Mines and Minerals Department, said his equipment could be replaced for $30,000 to $40,000 but that the records were irreplaceable.

Dr. Donovan, one of the first persons on the scene, said he "never saw a building go up so quickly." The fire was out of control when the first rigs of the fire department reached it, shortly after 4:45 a. m.

Salvage work was begun as soon as the fire was extinguished. Leaning walls were torn down by wrecking crews to remove possibility of further damage to adjacent buildings. A steam feed line used to heat the building which had broken, causing several buildings to be without heat, was repaired. Gas also was shut off in several buildings for a short time.

University officials said the building was erected at a cost of $55,000. Insurance on the structure was $35,000 and on the contents, $65,000.

Although several buildings were close by, including the mining department's laboratory just 20 feet away, none was damaged extensively.

About two-thirds of the plants in a carefully-watched greenhouse used in research experiments were destroyed, Dr. Riley said. The botany department head said he was able to salvage some of the books of his collection, but "most of them were water-soaked." Several cases packed with pamphlets were removed from the building unharmed.

U. K. Sociologist To Advise Cities

JOHN H. GIVEN

Communities throughout Kentucky soon will benefit from a program of research and education to be conducted by a new University of Kentucky Bureau of Community Service under the field direction of John H. Given. The U. K. sociologist will visit local communities to advise on problems of community betterment and provide technical aid to official and private agencies. The bureau on the University campus will serve as a clearing house for information pertaining to community development and the experiences of other communities.

President Makes Annual Report On University

The 1947-48 school year was "one of the greatest years" in the 83-year history of the University of Kentucky, President H. L. Donovan declared at a press-radio dinner Monday evening, Nov. 22.

Dr. Donovan reported that 7,802 students registered at the beginning of the 1947 fall quarter (7,863 are enrolled this fall), while the largest pre-war enrollment was 3,805. Thirteen hundred and six students received their diplomas at U.K. this year. "During the 42 years Dr. James K. Patterson occupied the presidency of the University, he signed only 396 diplomas," President Donovan pointed out.

"There were many great accomplishments during the current year," Dr. Donovan said, "but the greatest victory gained by the University was a decision made by the Court of Appeals, which reversed a former decision limiting the salaries of professors to $5000, the constitutional limitation on officers of the state. . . . The statesmanlike decision made by the Court has saved the University of Kentucky from becoming a mediocre institution, one that would have been a joke throughout the academic world."

Commenting on the use of temporary buildings to help care for the greatly increased enrollment, he said that "If the Federal Government had not come to our rescue and erected these temporary buildings, at a cost of approximately a million dollars (to the Federal Government), the University would not have been able to serve the students it has enrolled. . . . These are only temporary buildings . . . and must be replaced as rapidly as possible with permanent structures."

Construction of several buildings should be started just as soon as the necessary funds can be obtained, Dr.

AUDITOR RAPS OVERCROWDING AT UNIVERSITY

A report prepared and published in November by Kentucky State Auditor Harry N. Jones, criticizes overcrowding of class room, dormitory and eating facilities at the University of Kentucky.

"This Commonwealth can ill afford to delay further relief for its highest educational institution," Jones said.

Rooms designated for two or three students now quarter three or four, he noted. This has an adverse effect on the living and academic conditions of students, Jones commented.

Kitchen and dining room facilities for girl students "are almost unbelievable," he said. The dining room seats 360. There are 700 women to be served at each meal. Food is prepared in the basement and hauled up to the dining room on a dumbwaiter. Tables must be reset at each meal to accommodate the co-eds.

Jones singled out the chemistry and physics departments as sorely in need of new and larger quarters. "These departments have outgrown their facilities," he said.

The auditor lamented all the red tape that financial papers must clear at the University. Red-tape reduction reforms have been achieved, but the situation can stand much more improvement, he said.

U. K. ought to have a larger petty cash allowance, Jones suggested.

Donovan declared, and those most urgently needed are an enlargement of the heating plant, a Pharmacy building, a women's residence hall, a central kitchen and dining unit for the women's residence halls, a men's residence hall, a second dormitory for women, and a Chemistry-Physics building. Total cost to the state of this immediate program would approximate $5,000,000, he said.

And the $300 limit on purchases should be lifted. Purchases of $300 or more must clear the state finance department before they are culminated. The $300 law should be amended upward to harmonize with inflated prices, he said.

In particular need of expansion is the University's printing plant. Delays in printing make some publications "worthless before available," he said.

But on the whole, U. K. shows a "quite successful management of all funds," he said.

In the past 10 years, the school's enrollment has doubled. Yet the heating plant is carrying a load twice as large as it was designed for, he said. Buildings now under construction will make expansion of the heating plant imperative, Jones added.

The auditor said 37.6 per cent of the U. K. budget is spent on agricultural services and 36.7 per cent on the other colleges. "It seems apparent that the greatest need is for funds for further use in the academic field," he said.

U K Engineering College Gets Large Scholarship

A perpetual scholarship fund, now valued at approximately $50,000 and provided for in the will of the late Ernest B. Ellis, Fayette county road contractor who died in 1923, has been established to aid graduates of Lexington and Fayette county schools who want to study engineering at the University of Kentucky.

The fund, under terms of Mr. Ellis' will, was not to be effective until after the death of his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Ellis. Mrs. Ellis died last October.

After making provisions for his wife and setting out specific gifts, Mr. Ellis provided in his will that one-half of the residue of his estate would go to the scholarship fund, to be known as the Ernest B. Ellis Foundation and to continue perpetually. The fund will be administered by the Security Trust Company, trustee of the estate.

Mr. Ellis provided that the money be used "for the purpose of educating and defraying the expenses of educating worthy young men during a four-year course in the School of Engineering of the University of Kentucky."

To Advertise Conditions

Under plans for the scholarships, each summer the trustees will advertise for four weeks the terms and conditions of the foundation.

"Any man a resident of Fayette county who is unable financially to support himself either in whole or in part during his four years at the University of Kentucky and who is qualified to enter the freshman class in the School of Engineering at the University shall be eligible to the benefits of said fund," the will states. It adds that the men who apply must be graduates of Lexington or Fayette schools and must enter the University's engineering section. Those awarded scholarships by the foundation must "maintain a class standing which shall be satisfactory to the dean of engineering."

To Be Repaid

A man granted a scholarship "shall be pledged to regard the amount of money furnished as a debt of honor without note or interest to be repaid by him to my trustee whenever he is able to repay it, wholly or in part, and all funds so received by my trustee shall be added to the principal of the foundation," the will provided.

Recipients of the scholarships will be selected by a committee composed of the judge of Fayette Circuit Court, the superintendent of Lexington schools and the dean of engineering at the University. The trustee will set the number and amounts of the scholarships for each year. Payments will be made through the comptroller or business agent of the University.

Mr. Ellis specified that he created the fund "because of my friendship and high regard for Prof. Paul Anderson as an appreciation of the wonderful work he has done in building up the School of Engineering at the University of Kentucky and with the full confidence that the beneficiaries of this fund will receive at the School of Engineering at the University of Kentucky an education which will fit them to succeed in life."

Dillard Home Given to UK

A 12-room house at 270 S. Limestone street has been presented to the University of Kentucky by Miss Annie Dillard. The home is now Miss Dillard's residence.

Eventually the house, which is nearly 100 years old, will be made into a cooperative house for women students who otherwise might not be able to attend the University. The girls will do their own housekeeping on a cooperative basis.

Jimmie Brown, former University journalism student and Kernel reporter, is following the University of Louisville Cardinals in the Courier-Journal sports columns this year.

"Yankee" At U. K. Describes Kentucky

Herbert Hall, of Andover, Maine, a University of Kentucky student, has written a poem about Kentucky and the University which we consider worth passing on to you. Here it is:

"There is a stranger in your midst,
He's been with you now one full year,
Last Golden Autumn first he came,
And still remains as Fall is near.
He left the rock-bound coasts of Maine

With soaring gulls above the bay,
And traveled far across our land
To study here at U. of K.

He brought his nasal Yankee drawl,
A love for pinewoods wet with rain,
And flashing skis on frosty snow,
And white sailed boats upon the main.

He found a sweeter, softer tongue,
Magnolia blossoms in the Spring,
The rolling Bluegrass, emerald green,
And birds quite mad with caroling.
He found a friendly, helping hand
Extended to him in his need,
Politeness, understanding, warmth,
All things on which the soul must feed.

All these he found at U. of K.
As well as educators' lore;
He learned of subjects writ in books,
Associations taught him more,
And though he'll tarry yet a while,
Too soon he'll have to journey on,
And leave a little of his heart
Behind, when from your midst he's gone."

Cutler, '03, of Frankfort, Ky., consulting engineer, Kentucky State Highway Department, has been appointed a member of the Council on Higher Education as a representative of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees. Mr. Cutler is an alumnus member of the board and a member of the Alumni executive committee.
