WHAT CAN BE DONE? The worst of the depression has been passed...

Our heads of industry and commerce by failure to pay reasonable wages, were definitely destroying the market on which their welfare depended.

The outstanding menace to humanity, and the one thing which more than anything else hastened the advance of the enemy was the advent of the machine age.

Our heads of industry and commerce by failure to pay reasonable wages, were definitely destroying the market on which their welfare depended.

Steadily, the increase in the use of machinery has been accompanied by a concentration of the nation's riches by a small group.

The following appalling facts are extracted from an official federal report called "National Increase and Its Purchasing Power," compiled by the Bureau of Economic Research:

What shall be done? What can be done? President Roosevelt making a valiant effort, working against tremendous odds, to right the wrong that has shaken financial towers of the world to destruction.

Y. M. EXCHANGES

This is the first year that the Y.M.C.A. cabinet members of the University have exchanged visits with another university.

The secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Knoxville suggested the idea to Bar Peak, and it was started when four boys representing the "Y" cabinet of the University of Tennessee came to the campus the first of April.

THE POLITICAL CHALLENGE TO YOUTH

On March 4, 1933 our government became to be a government of laws, and ceased to be a government of the people.

It was thought by our forefathers that no matter how corrupt our men, our governmental system could be kept purified by the enacting of more laws.

When the widening of Limestone street in front of the University was completed, the walk to the south of the entrance on the campus was concreted.

Students, as a whole, are proud of their campus; they should be, and much praise ought to be given to the Buildings and Grounds department for its work in remodeling the campus.

Scientists, who claim that perpetual motion is still only a dream, apparently overlook that which is more motionless—the gossiping woman's tongue.

From a downtown paper: "The University of Kentucky baseball team easily defeated the Maroons, 15 to 4, yesterday afternoon at the Epping park."

Conducted by DOROTHY WHALEN

Literary Gems Edna St. Vincent Millay, who has been in Europe for some time, probably will bring back with her, when she returns in a week or two, the manuscript for a new book of poetry.

The Prix Femina American in literature for 1933 has been awarded to Leonard Erlich for his novel about John Brown, "God's Angry Man," which Simon and Schuster published.

From the archives of a Russian magazine called "Splinters," was recently found a short, short story by Anton Chekhov, which has never before been translated into English.

Did you know that the three best-selling novels for March were, "Anthony Adverse," by Hervey Allen; "The Sign of the Cross," by Margaret Ayer Barnes; and "The Sign of the Cross," by Margaret Ayer Barnes.

For the more serious minded might add that Harry L. Stimson, former Secretary of State, has written a book to be called "Democracy and Nationalism in Europe."

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor: While spring brings out the beauty of our campus, it also brings out impractical elements during the rainy season.

When the widening of Limestone street in front of the University was completed, the walk to the south of the entrance on the campus was concreted.

Students, as a whole, are proud of their campus; they should be, and much praise ought to be given to the Buildings and Grounds department for its work in remodeling the campus.

PETITE PIECE

By LORRAINE LEPERE

From all I've heard about the recent interfraternity functions that have been going on and the results of the convolve, I can't help wondering why the girls don't take the idea for a get-together of all the Pan-Hellenic societies and have some speakers and a lot of conferees and maybe a dance too.

The April selection of the Literary Guild is "The Dealers" by the unofficial observer member of the New Deal is portrayed. Some are amusing, others pathetic.

When Scott Fitzgerald wrote "The Great Gatsby," his readers knew that he would have to write another story, which would be the consummation of all his books.

SHOP SIGHTS

MARY REES LAND

Seventy per cent of the professional riders in this country are outfitted by Meyers Brothers. This store has the largest line of riding merchandise in stock in the country.

For these lazy days B. B. Smith has a pair of beach pajamas which may be used for lounging. The jacket and trousers are of natural linen and the blouse is of brown and white striped tub silk.

There are several awfully good reasons for cutting out these warm spring days. Don't you wonder what it is that makes you want to slip into your slippers on the campus, and maybe you're just a few doors from your class—but you want to play bridge or you don't feel like staying indoors.

Have you noticed the roadster that comes to school full of boys and girls every noon, and requires that somebody stand on the running board to hold the radio aerial in the air so that those riding in the limousine may be entertained?

The idea the Y.W. has presented about having an outdoor service sounds very nice. Here's hoping it doesn't rain and spoil all the inspiration.

so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends
that's why you'll find Luckies do not dry out

We think you'd be impressed if you saw Luckies being made. You'd see those clean, silky center leaves—and you really wouldn't have to be a tobacco expert to know why farmers get higher prices for them. They are the mildest leaves—they taste better.

You'd be impressed by Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted"—designed for your throat protection. And we know that you'll be truly fascinated when you see how Luckies are rolled round and firm, and fully packed with long golden strands of choice tobaccos. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. And you'll get the full meaning of our statement that Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By JAY LUCIAN

"Pat" Devereaux's baseball team crashed through with their first win of the season Saturday. The boys played cool, collected ball throughout the contest and their superiority in the field and at bat was unmistakable. An interesting instance was the fact that both DeMoisey and Settle had brothers playing for Eastern. No brotherly regard was in evidence, however, as both of the Eastern boys went hitless.

It was especially interesting to watch the smug smile of satisfaction on "Frenchy's" face when his brother faced him in the batter's box. Old John had his number every time and fanned him the last time up.

Perrin Walker of Georgia Tech lived up to his press notices Saturday. In all the events he entered, except for the shotput, he was not extended and seemed to operate under raps all afternoon. His taking of the high jump was unimpressive. He patted all jumps until everyone had stopped at five foot eight inches, then went over on his first try without removing any of his wraps. Although the score was rather one-sided, it was Walker chosen to enter other events.

Everything indicates to Walker's participation in the 1936 World Olympics.

I stand corrected on last week's story, Mr. Tanner. Jeffries first appearance in the big leagues was with the Chicago White Sox and not the Chicago Cubs, as I had stated. Thanks for the letter, especially the reminder of it.

The University of Louisville tennis team put on a great display of tennis and sportsmanship. Due credit goes to all of them. Captain Schuman played a smooth game and was especially courteous on the courts. Webber comes in for a compliment. He played 36 games and tennis with a badly blistered hand before he took time out to get his hand bandaged up. It was his stamina combined with the terrific driving of his partner, Clive, that won the last and deciding set of the match.

Captain Yost also comes in for a good bit of praise. George was steady and sportsmanlike at all times. Once when his partner, Randall, made a hot shot and relieved his feelings by yelling "Aw, hell," George stepped up and said back to normal with the admonition, "Listen here, Chuck, there isn't any nets in this game, play tennis!"

Changes Made In Keatsiana Exhibit At U. K. Library

Recent changes that have been made in the Keatsiana exhibit at the University library include material pertaining to Keat's "Ode on a Grecian Urn." One very interesting picture is that of the Grecian vase which served as an inspiration for the great poem.

Students of drama will be interested in the case which shows Keat's connection with the stage shows of his time. There are pictures showing the theaters and actors of his day as well as certain interesting theater programs used.

Later in the week, material pertaining to Keats and his connection with the medical profession will be shown. This is the last week of the exhibition. Those who have not seen it should arrange to do so for it is well worth while. This wonderful display should be especially interesting to Kentuckians since John Keats' brother, George, lived in Louisville, Kentucky, many years.

GERMAN RELATIONS A FLOP

The newspaper Petit Parisien adds proof that a vast undercover campaign of the Nazi propaganda has been started in all countries. German agents abroad are warned against the A.P. and U.P., as well as French and British news agencies, called "not approachable." Stories are to be planted in individual newspapers or bureaus and then categorically denied in others. It is suggested that American newspapers be undermined through the advertising department.

UK INTRAMURAL HALTED BY WEATHER

Play in the Intramural golf, tennis, diamond ball, and horseshoes has been progressing very slowly due to inclement weather. Because of this, no forfeits were declared Saturday as scheduled, and the participants in the various sports were given a few more days of grace.

The first two rounds of diamond ball brought no changes among the leaders in the respective divisions. The Phil Taus, the only team challenged, rallied to score five runs in the last inning to defeat a determined, but shaky, Alpha Gamma Rho team, 16 to 13. The losers drove Kingsbury off the mound with a barrage of timely hits. However, they could do nothing at all with the offerings of Lucian, relief hurler, who fanned five men and allowed but two hits and two runs in the three innings he pitched. The Pi Kaps continued their winning ways with an easy victory over the Kappa Sig. Kelly, Pi Kaps pitcher, was never extended and coasted along behind his teammates who were collecting ten runs to their opponents five.

Only three matches, one singles and two doubles, have been played in the golf tournament. Pat S. A. E., defeated Rush, A.T.O. and the hand Kirk teamed to beat Rush and Goldsomed in the doubles. In the other match, Brook and Hind, Phi Delta Theta, eliminated Eckles and Bryant, S.A.E.

Tennis has drawn greater play than the last mentioned sport. Eight matches have been played. The results follow: Pontaine defeated Fowler, Lucian defeated Blythe, Gottshall defeated Whipple, McConnell defeated Hillemeier, Smith defeated Goldstein, Craig defeated Borries, and Miles defeated Franz.

Excessive state interference in criminal administration, such as a Scotland Yard and registration of citizens as in France, would inevitably lead to fascism, said Professor Sheldon Glueck of the Harvard Law school.

Louisville Netters Defeat Kentucky

The University of Louisville tennis team defeated the Kentucky netmen 4 to 3, yesterday afternoon on the U. K. courts. Clive, Louisville, No. 3, paced the winning team by defeating Jenkins, 6-0, 3-6, 6-4, as well as taking Yost and Randall in the doubles, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5, when teamed with Webber.

Captain Yost won his singles match easily by defeating Imorde, Louisville No. 3, 6-1, 6-2. Bishop, Kentucky No. 1, lost to Schuman in a close match 6-4, 4-6, 3-6. Tulloch and Moore, Kentucky No. 4 and 5 respectively, won their matches in straight sets. Tulloch licked Wagner 6-1, 6-2, and Moore defeated Webber 6-1, 7-5.

The doubles team of Tulloch and Weed lost to Imorde and Wagner, 1-6, 2-6.

Coke Consumption Coolly Calculated

(Continued from Page One) "one—two, or three cokes, please," so that they may continue to enjoy their dividends.

Now, would you like to know in what straits your taste runs? Of course, there are and always will be those who take it straight. Then come the Commons and Dunn patrons who prefer it with a dash of cherry. The Tavern reports that its particular customers like a touch of lemon. If we conclude that one is seen at the Commons before twelve, at Dunn's after twelve, and at the Tavern after six—and since lemon is a sour touch for cynical persons—well, let's not draw too many conclusions. We could go on and on, soiling our quills on the disquisitions of the college youth, whose symbol is the glass and straw, whose motto is "Be refreshed at all costs," whose standard bears the initials C.C.C. (Cola Cola Consumer), but what's the use? He's happy and contented, though, oblivious to the fact that the ocean is composed of drops and the millionaire becomes so by accumulating nickels.

These humble quatrains are composed To tell a sprightly tale Of how a witty junior nosed A senior with a frail.

The tale, ye hearties, goes like this: It seems two lads were nuts About a certain little miss Whose name, we'll say, was Lutz.

The junior's Christian name was Tom; The senior's name was Bert. They both considered for the prom The same blond, blue-eyed skirt.

Now Bert had honors, letters; he Was quite the well-known lad. While two-bucks-ten and faith-in-me Were all that Tommy had.

When blond Miss Lutz declined to go With Bert, he wondered why. That Tommy should get all the show Was quite a blackened eye.

He learned the night the prom was thrown Why he had lost the date. For Tom had made the timely loan Of someone's Ford V-8!

about Cigarettes

As to the cigarette paper on Chesterfields

THIS reel of cigarette paper is sufficient to make 42,000 Chesterfield Cigarettes. It is of the finest manufacture. In texture, in burning quality, in purity, it is as good as money can buy. Cut open a Chesterfield cigarette. Remove the tobacco and hold the paper up to the light. If you know about paper, you will at once note the uniform texture—no holes, no light and dark places. Note also its dead white color. If the paper is made right—that is, uniform—the cigarette will burn evenly. If the paper is made right—there will be no taste to it and there will be no odor from the burning paper. Other manufacturers use good cigarette paper; but there is no better paper made than that used on Chesterfields. You can count on that!
