

January 26th, 1924.

Mr. W. B. Seaton,
% Arrow Head Hotel,
Sebring, Florida.

Dear Mr. Seaton:

John and I decided your were due a letter so we are sending what news we have herewith.

The C. & O. Railroad has executed and returned the contract and are arranging to start work at once.

Kendall left yesterday noon and will be back Monday noon with the folks.

The Ashland National Bank has back the converted Liberty Bonds and are sending Twenty Thousand Dollars worth to the Cincinnati Bank. John put the remainder in your safety deposit box in the bank. He is arranging with the First National Bank of Cincinnati to secure the balance of the securities.

We moved down stairs yesterday and I think we have everything in pretty good shape. Of course I can't say definitely until you get back and try to find something. I carried all of the drawers out of your desk myself however so I will be the goat if anything is misplaced. John has been trying to find some furniture for the front room as he says our furniture is not in keeping with the general appearance of the room.

You just got away in time for it turned very cold yesterday and has been pretty cold today.

There has been no important mail for you and I think the above covers about everything of interest.

It wasn't laziness that prompted me to use the typewriter on this letter but ~~not~~ consideration for the efforts you would necessarily have to use in translation had I written with a pen.

Trusting you are having a wonderful time and with best regards for everyone.

Sincerely,
