AST's Last Formal Event Attended By 350 Couples

Civilian tax intermingled with Army khaki at Friday's "Night Movers" last formal social function of the Army Specialized Training Program on the University campus, attended by approximately 350 couples.

Men in civilian dress foretold facts of the future when Army uniforms were at the maximum at the University social affairs.

Decorations All Army Yet hall room decorations were all Army, including the feet sticking realistically from under the pop tent over the orchestra platform.

One huge "Bad Sack" braiding a pointed side-sleeve a rifle, along with lesser "Bad Sack" creations of 19 AST's, decorated the walls of the Bluegrass room and tables, rare things at a campus dance, substituted for chairs which usually line the walls.

Beer bottles (san brew) served as holders for candles which lighted the tables, and also as cigarette lighters. Jitter of the evening: Bright rocking back and forth on a table surrounded by girls in fluffy frocks.

Proceeding the dance a banquet was held in the cafeteria for AST's and their dates, with only pre-arranged "Banana," the 1548th Service Unit's mascot.

The girls were given special permission during the dance to remain until 1:30.

Women's Dorms Elect Dance Committee

Announcements concerning the women's residence halls were made Tuesday by Miss Irma Poole, director of the halls.

The following officers were elected: Patterson Hall, Ann Bates, president; Winifred Fissell, vice-president; and Hilda Gunn, social chairman.

At the first house presidents' council meeting Monday, the following plans were made: There will be an annual room judging contest during the fall quarter.

There will be an annual room judging contest during the fall quarter. A ribbon will be given to occupants of each of the best rooms in the residence halls, severity houses, and additional housing units.

A grand prize will be given to the best of the three selected. The Elmside housing unit at Walnut and Fourth streets will extend its closing time from 10:00 to 10:30 p.m.

Boys hall will initiate the honor system by awarding extra library nights each week.

The first standard examination on the dormitory rule book was held at 7:45 p.m., Thursday, October 18, in the Pat Hall lounge. It was presided by the Inter-dorm council of residence halls.

The seven hundred girls of all the residence halls will give a formal "Annual Thanksgiving Ball" in the Bluegrass room of the Union building November 18. As yet, no orchestra has been announced.

The dance presiding committee consists of Margaret Courtney, Joan Beatty, and Libby McNeil.

Kentuckian Pictures To Be Taken Next Week Monday through Friday, Week After, Monday-Wednesday

Plans Announced By Yearbook Editor Mary Lillian Davis

Kentuckian pictures are being taken between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday of next week and Monday through Wednesday of the following week.

Mary Lillian Davis, editor, has stated that students must have their pictures taken according to schedule this year. Each senior will be taken in order to avoid mistakes.

Although pictures will be taken during the week, each student must be at Memorial Hall by 4:45 p.m. A. The main hope of the Kentuckian staff is to have material out by March, and they expect it to be larger than last year's because some sororities, fraternities, and other organizations have asked for more pictures than last year.

The staff this year includes: Mary Lillian Davis, arts and editor; Mildred Sparks, education editor; Lillian Boaz, education editor from Lexington, and Tommy Glast, arts and sciences editor from Secc, assistant editor; Jean Cobble, arts and sciences editor from Rowlets, business manager, and Dickie Cook, arts and sciences editor from Covington, sports editor.

Prof. B. H. Wall, the club's adult controller, gave the report of the speakers committee. The following were included on a tentative list of speakers which the club hopes to bring to the University campus: Governor Ellis Arnall, of Georgia; Senator Joseph Ball, of Minnesota; Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, and Sumner Welles, former under-secretary of state. The program of the speakers committee was approved after being read.

Two club members, Jim Brock and Elbert McClary, were appointed to serve on a committee to make preparations for the dance being sponsored by the club November 17. Another member of the dance committee will be appointed at a later date.

At the next meeting, an executive committee for the club is to be elected, and also an Armistice Day program will be discussed at that time.

Grubham Davidson, past commander of the Man of War Post of the American Legion, was a visitor at the meeting.

Prof. Victor R. Portnman, secretary-manager of the Kentucky Press Association, left this morning to attend the annual convention of the Illinois Press Association at Springfield. He will make an address at the annual convention of the newspaper contests. From Springfield he will go to Chicago to attend annual sessions of the Newspaper Managers Association, the Audit Bureau of Circulations, and the National Editorial Association.

The meeting is the first of a series of meetings to be held every two weeks. All reporters who have signed and others interested in becoming reporters are asked to attend.

La France Eternelle In late August of 1938, it was standing on the newly finished maritime station in Cherbourg, France, waiting for the Europa to bring me back from an absence of a year.

I have often told about the last time I was in Paris. I took the Subway to go to the station. My eye caught a gummed label still sticking on the back of a seat, "Remember that the numbered seats are for the mutilated of the war."

Before the years of our war are healed another more fierce and bloody is fought on the same soil! I have often been asked as to what was the most pleasant experience in France. I believe it was in 1933. That year I represented the University of Kentucky at the 59th anniversary of the founding of the University at Pullman. A reception was held at which all delegates presented greetings from their respective universities.

Practically every university in the world was represented. Italy and the University of Kentucky. To the historically minded, the reception was held in the same room in which the learned doctors of Pullman tried Joan of Arc for witchcraft more than sixty years before Columbus discovered America.

What a force for peace the combined efforts of all those universities which have been throughout the centuries! I have known France at war, at peace, at play and in her desire for peace which cost her the most humiliating defeat in modern history.

So They Say! Question: What courses do you think should be added to the curriculum? Oscar Huff, A.S. Junior: More courses in commercial education.

Peay Gabbard, Law, freshman: American Philosophy. Rex M. Tuley, A.S. Junior: A medical school and veterinary training would improve things a lot.

Betty Lee Fleishman, A.S. Senior: More courses in commercial education. Bob Smith, A.S. Freshman: Flight training.

Joan Scott, Agriculture, Junior: More astronomy—less supervision. Arnet Mann, Law, freshman: Add a course to the curriculum requiring no books in order to take care of students that the book store can't provide books for.

Martha Jacobs, Education, Junior: More courses in commercial education. James R. Jackson, Agriculture, freshman: More project courses in Agriculture.

Reba Smith, Agriculture, senior: More courses in commercial education. John Renfro, A.S. Senior: Why not a course in bridge? Jane Allen Wolf, Education, Junior: For some of these dumb people not taking Home Economics, how's about a course in marriage.

Upperclass Y... will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union building. Freshman club... will meet at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A New Constitution For a New Kentucky

As future taxpayers, voters, and office holders in Kentucky, the students at the University are definitely concerned in the question now current in the state 'Should Kentucky write a new constitution.'
As the constitution now stands, they are directly affected. The clause limiting the salary of state officials, which includes college faculty, to $5,000, is a serious handicap that reflects most seriously on the young men and women enrolled.

Conservative-minded voters of the constitution back in 1890 set up a restrictive set of do's and don'ts, shall and shall not, instead of a broad set of rules that would be a basis for governing for a century later. This one clause, Sec. 216, "No public officer, except the governor, shall receive more than five thousand dollars per annum, as compensation for official services, independent of the compensation of legally authorized deputies and assistants, which shall be fixed by law," has done more harm in the Commonwealth than unlimited salaries could have ever done.

Dr. Donovan pointed out in his conviction address on Friday that $5,000 in the 90's was equivalent of about $11,000 today, or if the salaries had been paid in tobacco that early evaluation would have jumped to $30,000. But the rule is there, and there seems to be no way around it. What man, with the education and experience, the background it takes to become president of a university, can afford to accept a salary of $5,000? He can make a personal sacrifice in the interest of his state institution, and turn down tempting offers from out-of-state schools who offer him $10,000 or more. Or in the absence of such generous service, the University might some day get a little man—worth only $5,000—in the big position of president.

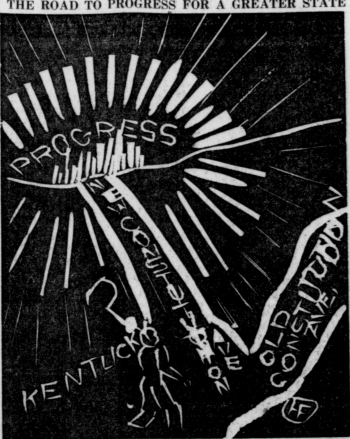

What of a faculty member who distinguishes himself in his field? Isn't it asking a lot to expect such a talented man to stay on the University campus just out of loyalty and the goodness of his heart. One thing is an absolute fact—all the faculty members who could find excellent and higher-paying positions on other campuses left the UK faculty would shrink to practically nothing. Think of the wonderful professors that could come here to teach if they were offered sufficient compensation for their efforts. How the students would profit, and the University grow. It is in the colleges that the future of a state and a nation is made; so much depends on the education of its leaders.

The commonwealth suffers in other ways from this one clause. It never can scarcely afford to hold public offices with a meagre salary when they can make $5,000 in one big fee in actual practice. Many of the best men leave the state, judges for example, when statements are so badly needed.

However, this is only one clause of the outdated composition. Experts on the question explain that the regulations on election, certain tax laws, and limits on the state debt, are costly.

INTERMISSION with Red Warman

Sonny Dunham, "America's foremost trumpet and trombone specialist," added quite a few admirers to his list on Friday night, when he put it as mildly as possible, unusual, unheard of high range and his dual playing at the Military ball and one hundred ASP khaki-clad and uniformed. Eimer Louis Dunham as the birth name for himself. Dunham's sweet, subtle, and slow records meet with the hearty approval of all present. His smooth versions of jump numbers were similarly received, especially by the less conservative dancers. When a musician has mastered the trombone and trumpet and can alternate between them, as Dunham does, he is definitely on the "eight-bar-ball." The musician can- Dunham playing with a local band. The Free Lance Introducing—Scotty McCulloch, Beckley, W. Va., back after a year's absence from the campus, will write a weekly analysis of current world affairs.

The conspicuous absence of any mention of the Russo-United States state department in the Near East in newspapers this past week, leaves one wondering what, if any, is the Russian strategy on this question. Since the V-J day proclamation and cessation of hostilities in Europe, our Red ally has gone in nine months out of the year. The amount of trade in the world market that can be handled by the U.S.S.R. is very limited. No nation however strong internally can live without participation in world commerce.

The logical location for such a base would be the Black Sea which is easily accessible. Unfortunately, the only passage from the Black Sea runs through the Dardanelles which is part of the Turkish-dominated area and the tariff on shipping through this passage would be fantastic if the Russians desired to trade on any large scale. Slowly the picture begins to take shape. If the Russians can control Bulgaria and Rumania, dozens of ports can be established along the Black Sea coast of these two nations. If Russian domination is felt there, it can easily be extended through Greece, which certainly is in no position to cope with a 'friendly invader' who was his greater by the war and who needs help more than that country?

Then, if Russia controls the ports of the Black Sea and has a way to the larger and more profitable ones of the Aegean, which is a direct route to the Mediterranean and then to Europe, the logical scheme would be to take over port of Turkey, per-

Proposed Honor System Supported By Alumnus

Dear Miss Editor: Students should adhere to an honor system as faithfully as should be their efforts to grasp what they read in books or hear from instructors. The character trained morally multiplies the efficiency of the mind trained intellectually. It does not merely add—it multiplies. Therefore, for a student to cheat the professor little or much he cheats his own mind and everything he uses much more. He forfeits some of the education he is paying for, hills himself into a mediocre self by a success that weakens where a failure would put him in his backbone. In the last analysis it is a selfish thing to adhere to an honor system—the more rigidly adhered to the more of self augmented. If there is any cheating done let the professor do it when he marks the fair. He can, and will, make a fair estimate of the student's learning and ability of the character that goes with the learning. He can and he should put down some of that character as a self-off to de-fault in learning against the day when the two will, as they must be, blended in one.

Words I View

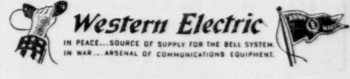

By Dora Lee Robertson
We All Like the Vets: Third States this fall, colleges and universities have had a tremendous increase in the number of veterans returning to their campuses. The University of Alabama now has over 400 veterans, which is 400 percent increase over last year. The University of California, referring to the ease with which the veterans have been assimilated stated, "You can't tell a veteran from a regular student." Colleges everywhere report that the ex-service men have become part of the student body without the slightest disturbance to the life of the campus.

Philosophy Club Active Five Years At University

Established by students interested in thought and the evolution of ideas, a little-remembered philosophy club has been quietly active during the last five years on the University campus under the sponsorship of Dr. John Knapp, head of the Department of Philosophy. This group is the approximately 40 interested students. The fascinating thing about the organization is that it is completely democratic; any student who is interested in ideas regarding classification, standing, college, or previous courses in the department. The only requirement is interest, and two consecutive attendances place the joiner on the roll of the group. The Philosophy club meets on alternate Monday nights in Room 150 Frazer hall at 6:30 p.m. The initial meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 22, at which time Pvt. Herbert Rickert, ASP, will present a paper on "The Mountain Looks At God." About half of the programs are under the leadership of members of the club and half are devoted to outside speakers. Some of the outstanding speakers last year were: Dr. James Jones, Philosophy department head at Centre College; Dr. Edward Ranells of the University art department; Scott Reed, Lexington lawyer and graduate of the University Law college; Dr. L. S. O'Bannon University professor; Dr. Charles E. Snow of the Anthropology department and Robert McClelland pastor of Maxwell Street Presbyterian church. Officers elected in the spring to serve this year include: Libby McNeal, president; Richard Baker, Vice-president; and Mary Bennett, La-Meats, secretary. Plans for the year include a symposium panel discussion on the atomic bomb and its relation to world peace. There is no levying of fees except for special events, according to the constitution of the organization of the organization. Next Monday night will mark the opening for the year of the club for which Dr. Kuiper states "the only qualification is interest and a willingness to participate." The club is open to all and transfer students are "more than welcome and urged to come" by Libby McNeal, president.

"OLD IRONSIDES" stood up throughout the war

LIKE the famous old ship, your telephone has come through the war with colors flying. What other aid to modern living has been so dependable under all conditions and so free from mechanical troubles? During the war years, when so little new telephone apparatus could be made for the home front, even equipment made many years ago by Western Electric has served you faithfully and has been a national asset in time of war. Quarters shows best when the going is tough. Western Electric, supply unit of the Bell System, is now tackling its biggest peacetime job. Furnishing materials and equipment to meet the System's immediate needs—then to carry out the System's $2,000,000,000 post-war construction program—promises record peacetime production and a level of employment higher than in the years just before the war.

One prosper on the campus at West Virginia U. has a new method of making pretty coats keep their difference. The first day of class, he simply warns them against 'apple polishing,' by saying, "My wife hates me sufficiently, which means I'm dead to all other compliments." West Virginia University has been authorized by the War Department to reactivate the four-year Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the beginning of any semester. Campus Night Club: At Alabama U., the University Student Night Club, to be in the remodeled game room of the Union building, is expected to be open and ready for use by the Spring quarter of '46. Alabama also has $15,000 worth of improvements under way on the swimming lake behind Comer hall. Included in these plans are new bath houses, a shallow beach, and a larger area of shallow water. "Dell Bones Gonna Roll Around": As a result of the unearthing of a party of Lexington archeologists around an old salt well at Blue Licks Sunday, the University is in possession of two sections of the bones of an ancient mastodon. The findings included an ivory tusk which weighed more than 100 pounds and was three feet long and seven inches in diameter, also was appeared to be part of a leg bone weighing 30 pounds. The party was financed by Major Victor E. Dodge, of Lexington, and included Dr. Charles E. Snow of the Archeology Department.

What other word could better describe the performance of a new band with a two-week holdover. Since then Sonny Dunham has played engagements at such exciting spots as the Hotel New Yorker, Hotel Pennsylvania and the Holly-wood Paladium. In addition he has made records for Columbia and Hit, was featured in RKO pictures and can be heard over CBS. Dunham's set of lips which have amazed physicians as well as musicians, are responsible for his skyrocket to success.

Dick Tracy Foe Appears-- 'P-Day Arrives'--Ditch Dates

By Margie Hall

Well, you can stop worrying now about getting that date for the Military Ball and start wondering how you can get rid of him. Personally, I've decided to discard my campaign hat and trust to luck from now on. It contains a record of boys in the "He-Looks-Cute-Wonder-If-He's-Sucker-Enough-To-Be-Club." As names are sometimes hard to get, a system was carefully worked out for keeping tab--such as, C.S. for "Cute Stuff," N.B. for "Not Bad," or T.B. for "Too Bad." I discovered my date was P.Q. for "Peculiar." (Some say he was P.U. for "Pretty Unlucky.") But it's a good idea to start lining them up now. There are only 58 more shopping days until Christmas!

Now that school is in full swing once more, most of us are catching up on our sleep by attending our favorite classes. One stimulating class is taught by Mr. Morris who has been heard announcing the Saturday afternoon racing program over WLAP. We keep our ears open wondering when he'll tell us who came in the sixth at Saratoga.

Speaking of full swing reminds me of the conversation last Saturday between two boys on campus. One was lamenting the fact he had a hard time remembering names of girls. His friend remarked, "Yeah, me too. But I never forget a shape."

I noticed Wah-Wah's brother was at the football game last Saturday. No doubt, you all heard the loud voice screaming every few seconds, "Come on, Wah-Wah! Get in there and show 'em!" I a big celebrity played that game too. I saw "Itchy"

Six Frats Giving Formal Rush Parties

By Tommy Gish

For the first time since the war removed most men students from the campus, a normal rush week is being held under the supervision of the Inter-Fraternity Council, with six fraternities actively rushing. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Sigma Chi are participating in the rush program, acting under T. T. Jones, dean of men and the Inter-Fraternity Council, Joe Covington, president of Sigma Chi, heads the council.

Parties Opened Sunday

Rush week began Sunday with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma each holding rush parties. The parties were merely part of the YVCA drive and it was only Y-Day, that is when you wonder why you came to college.

On Monday and Thursday Phi Delta Theta and Pi Kappa Alpha held their parties. Fifty persons were present at the Pi Kappa Alpha party Monday night at the Central Baptist church in the recreation room, and an equally large number attended the formal banquet in the Gold room of the Lafayette hotel.

Sigma Chi Serenade

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Chi opened their rushing Tuesday, and will finish today. On Tuesday, Sigma Phi Epsilon held an informal banquet in the Blue Grass room of the Union building, with 70 persons present. The same night, Sigma Chi held a snack supper and serenaded all sororities on the campus.

Three Have Houses

Clyde Tipton is president of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Other officers are: Cornell Clark, vice-president; Douglas Burnstead, treasurer; Puzzy Wells, secretary and historian, and James Wood, Jr., public relations officer.

Make a standard practice, too, of packing and wrapping securely, addressing clearly and starting early whatever you have to express. It will help all concerned.

Nashville-Bound Wildcats To Tangle With Commodores

Vanderbilt Favored In This Year's Traditional Meet

By Don B. Towles

The Kentucky Wildcats left at 8 o'clock this morning for Nashville, Tenn., where they will play the Vanderbilt Commodores. Coach Shively took a full force with the exception of Bill Keyser, who suffered a shoulder injury in the Kentucky-Georgia tilt last week.

Kentucky, defeated 48-6 last week by a strong Georgia team, will be careful when playing the Commodores, who are now favored over the Wildcat team. The game last week with the Georgia Bulldogs almost proved to be a scoreless one for Kentucky, but they did manage to score in the final minutes of play. Kentucky was out run, out passed, and generally outplayed in the Georgia tilt but will be all out to chase away the dark clouds of defeat tomorrow. Kentucky's record now stands at three losses and one win, while the Commodores have two wins and one loss.

Vanderbilt lost to Of Miss earlier in the season and then defeated T.P.I. and Florida. Last week, in the Vandy-Florida tilt, the Commodores upset a favored Florida team with a 7-0 victory.

To give a scant idea as to how the Commodores stand, Vanderbilt beat Florida by one touchdown. Florida beat Mississippi by two touchdowns, Mississippi beat Vanderbilt by one touchdown, and Mississippi beat best Kentucky by two touchdowns. Kentucky will continue to count on most of their advances by the running and bull-tie passing of the backs. Several of the bullet passes were good last week when end Wallace Jones snaggled them over the middle of the Georgia line. Although Jones was injured in the game last week, it is possible that he will be able to play. Barnett and Tansill are in good shape and will probably start. Although it is impossible to give credit to every man on the team, the opposition is keeping its eyes on guard Gene Hass, who has been playing some outstanding football in the recent games.

Vanderbilt has made most of their gains by the swift running of backs Tommy Gary and Bill Fuqua. Vanderbilt did not have a regular team last year, but did have an informal team that played some. Along with some of last year's informal team the coaches had the pick of some 200 Naval trainees. The Commodores have been using a "T" formation along with a single wing-back.

'Wah' Jones, Bead Boost Frosh List

By Joe Malinos

The Wildcats will be looking forward to another big year in the hardwood league this season with nine members from last year's squad including seven lettermen back in school. Also around and about are 11 freshmen, all of them plenty good.

The veterans who are back to aid the Cats' cause are the regulars, Captain Jack Tingle, Dick Parkinson, and Kenton Campbell — all Southeastern; Wilbur Schu and Johnny Slough plus Bill Sturgill, Buddy Parker, Singleton Yearry and Edward Compton. After 3 years away Jim Webber, who played with UK in '42 is back to give the opposition a little trouble. Jim stands six-seven.

Freshman Roster

At the head of the freshman list are Wallace ('Wah') Wah' Jones from Harlan and Ralph Beard of Louisville. Mike Jones who has been all-State since he was a freshman in high school, set a scoring record with 2,288 points in his 4 years of high school. During the '44-'45 season he personally accounted for 811 of the Green Dragons' tallies. Beard, a four-letterman was the big factor in Male's State Championship team last year and was a member of the all-state squad. Both Jones and Beard played for the Kentucky all-stars in the Kentucky-Indiana all-star game. Beard was the high scorer and outstanding player of the game.

Other New Men

Other new men are Malcolm McMullin, 18, six-six, center from Hamilton, Ohio. Sam Zeamer, 19, six-two forward, Pittsburgh, Pa. Joe Holland, 21, six-seven, former all-state from Benton, Ky. played center with Berea's Navy V-12. Darrell Lorraine, 18, six feet, all-state from Missouri. Johnny Crockett, six feet, Maysville and David Hines, New Albany, Indiana.

GEORGE BLANDA

LOTS OF KICK—George Blanda, freshman from Youngwood, Pa., is being tabbed as the best kicker to wear a Kentucky Wildcat uniform since the days of Ralph Kercheval. His boots have tremendous power, travel far and high. Blanda is an expert passer, so that both talents will come in handy at quarterback.

Introducin'

By O. C. Halyard, Jr.

From Youngwood, Pennsylvania, comes one of the Wildcat's ace back-field men, George Blanda. Powerfully built, standing six-feet-one, and weighing 190, the 17-year old freshman, a triple threat man, already shows signs of becoming one of the best backs to come to the University in several years.

George, in addition to being an excellent kicker, is an accurate passer, and a powerful runner. In fact, his kicking is good enough to earn him the honor of being tabbed as the greatest punter wearing a Kentucky uniform since Ralph Kercheval. His punts are usually very high, giving teammates plenty of time to get down under, yet they travel far down the field.

Has Uncanny Accuracy

His uncanny accuracy at passing needs little elaborating on after last Saturday's game with Georgia, when he pitched six consecutive passes and connected with all but one of them to help score Kentucky's only touchdown. Then he followed later with an accurate 66-yard pass to Chambers as the last flying seconds of the game passed on.

To get to his running, it has been

Bulldogs Pulverize Wildcats 48-6; Gridironic, Isn't It?

'Rabbit' Smith Leads T-D Procession

O. C. Halyard

Mr. "Rabbit" and three dozen fierce, fighting, ferocious Bulldogs from Georgia whipped the Kentucky Wildcats last Saturday afternoon, 48-6, on Still field.

The Wildcats spent most of the afternoon chasing Charles "Rabbit" Smith, but he was too fast, and had too much Bulldog protection for them to catch. As a result he almost ran and played at will in the autumn sunshine before the 11,000 spectators, and scored four of Georgia's touchdowns.

Georgia scored once in the first quarter, four times in the second, and one each in the third and fourth periods. Kentucky's lone marker came with only a minute and a half left in the game, when George Blanda made five out of six consecutive passes good.

Had the game lasted a few seconds longer, the Wildcats might have scored again. Blanda had just dropped back to his own 23-yard line and flung the pigskin 68 yards down the field to Bill Chambers, who juggled the ball with one of the Georgia backs and then made the catch on the Georgia five. The final horn sounded before the Wildcats could start another play and that was all for the day.

Both teams fought hard and went scoreless for 12 minutes, and then Georgia's 150 pound Charles Smith got loose and rumbled 60 yards to score. Three minutes and four seconds later, on the first play of the second period, Smith went over for the 2-yard line. A minute and 24 seconds later Georgia scored

'Glamour Cats' Urge Women To Join WAA

By Dora Lee Robertson

The intercollegiate hockey team known as the "Glamour Cats" (feminine version of the Wildcats), with its undefeated team of last year, is just one part of the Women's Athletic association on the University campus.

All women on the campus, interested in athletics, are urged to become members.

This national organization was founded at the University in 1922, and since that time, has directed teams in basketball, hockey, tennis, softball, and bowling. Other sports sponsored by the WAA are volleyball, golf, hiking, and swimming.

The organization is directed by a council headed by Pat Shely president; Mary Jane Dorsey, vice-president; Virginia Turry secretary; Betty Swift, treasurer, and Margaret Hall, publicity chairman. The council members for the coming year will be: Hockey, Betty Lee Fleschman and Ruth Wilde; basketball, Mary Jane Dorsey and Peggy Reynolds; softball, Sue Nicholas and Joy Francis; volleyball, Minnie Cohen and Jean Shorspire; tennis, Virginia Brady; hiking, Millie Johnstone; bowling, Ann Taylor. All interested students should sign up at the Women's gym.

Dr. Anderson Heads WBKY Roundtable

Dr. Arnold Anderson, acting head of the department of sociology at the University, has been selected to head that institution's weekly roundtable program, heard over WHAS, Louisville, each Sunday, from 11:45 to 12:15 p.m.

In his direction of the University roundtable broadcasts, Dr. Anderson will maintain a balance of subjects which will include timely topics of international, national, and state-wide interest.

again via air, Rauch to Mosey, giving Georgia a 21-0 lead.

Red Heffington, in the game for Barnett, hit the Bulldog line and went 43 yards to the 17. Chambers fumbled but Shannon recovered on the 24. Red again hit the line and moved the ball to the 11, but on the next play Jones was covered too well and Blanda's pass fell incomplete. Kentucky's threat faded out and Georgia took over.

On the second play, Smith again lived up to his nickname and raced 86 yards for another touchdown. Jernigan, Georgia's toe expert, who ran like a dash man in and out of the game, made four of his five first half extra point attempts good and Kentucky was behind 34-0 as they went to the locker room at the half.

Excess interception of Blanda's pass midway of the fourth period set up the last Georgia touchdown. The Bulldogs moved the ball from their own 46 to the Kentucky one yard line, and Cutpepper carried it over the goal. Jernigan made his sixth good kick, and the score read, 48-0, Georgia.

Late in the game, Blanda's passes to Jones, Hensley, and Campbell were good and moved the ball to the Georgia 29. Blanda missed Phillips, but his Chambers for a 15-yard aerial. Blanda, passing for the sixth consecutive time, connected with Phillips who was waiting on the other side of the goal line. Ferris' kick was low and the score ended, with Georgia victorious 48-6.
