Dear Carolyn:

I think I had better get this longish list off to you in the hope that you may find one or two of the titles there. Otherwise it will just get longer and longer.

- M. M. Coindreau- Apercus de la litterature americaine
- E.W. Moseley- ~~Four~~ Pseudonyms of Christ in the Mod. Novel.
- J. Hillis Miller- Poets of Reality
- DH Lawrence The Man Who Died.
- Valery Larbaud Ce vice impuni
- R. Detweiler Four spiritual crises in Mid-Century Amer. Fiction.
- M. Foucault Madness and Civilization
~~on order~~ (This is new, sounds important, NY Review has something on it in November)

Hope to get some of the others back soon. I realize people must be needing the Faulkner volumes.

I keep thinking of you and Victor. How is he? I hope later as the weather gets better he can get over. Or perhaps if J finally gets down here later in spring we can get over there, but don't count on that. J. is busy and harrassed in the office at the moment.

In any case, please give my very best regards to Victor. I keep you both in my prayers.

Gene Meatyard was over here with a couple of poets and took some pictures that ought to be very interesting. I think you know him?

All the best, and blessings, in Xt
