Local Groups Participate in Appeal for Soviet Jews

On Tuesday, December 9, at 8 p.m. at Temple Adath Israel, several area Jewish women's groups will sponsor "Women's Plea for Soviet Jewry", an evening of lecture and discussion on the topic of community advocacy for the rights of Soviet Jews. This program is part of a targeted national appeal.

Convened nationally by Hadassah, "Women's Plea" consists of a week of Soviet Jewry activities taking place in communities across the country. All members of the Central Kentucky community are invited to attend, Jews and non-Jews, men and women.

Rabbi Jonathan Stein, Senior Rabbi of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, will present a speech and slide show on the current plight of Soviet Jews. Rabbi Stein has recently returned from a trip to the Soviet Union and is anxious to share with American Jews his firsthand views of the hardships faced by Soviet Jews.

Active in religious and non-religious social causes, Stein made a favorable impression on the "Women's Plea" organizers when he came to Lexington to officiate at Rabbi Adland's installation ceremony.

This will be the fourth year that the Central Kentucky community has participated in an effort for Soviet Jews. Rabbi Stein's recent mission to the Soviet Union will help bring us up to date on the status and conditions of Soviet Jewry.

The Steering Committee for this event consists of Chair Judy Saxe (Hadassah), Susan Cantor (Hadassah), Gail Cohen (CKJF CRC Oppressed Jewry sub-committee), Sue Ezrine (Ohavay Zion Sisterhood), Bobbi Fried (Temple Adath Israel Sisterhood), Linda Ravvin (CKJF Administrator), and Simone Salomon (CKJF-UJA Women's Division).

Following Rabbi Stein's presentation, the committee will outline practical and effective ways for the citizens of Central Kentucky to expand their advocacy of rights for Soviet Jews.

"...Our message to the Soviets is simple," stated Secretary of State George P. Shultz in a speech to 400 Jewish leaders prior to the Reykjavik summit, "Token gestures or short-term lowering of barriers will not suffice. What the American people want to see is a genuine and lasting improvement in the situation of Soviet Jews as part of a broader commitment on the part of Soviet authorities to allow their citizens to exercise basic human rights, including freedom of movement. This goal cannot be detached from any of the others in the agenda including bilateral issues and arms control ... We need to let them (the USSR) see that the continuation of this behavior means that they pay a price. They pay a heavy price ... We will always keep after this issue and will have it right up as a top priority in our discussions."

Although pre-summit preparation by U.S. officials indicated a strong emphasis on human rights, and more specifically Soviet Jewry, no concrete progress in this area was made with the Soviets in negotiations.

However, the presence of a delegation from the National Conference on Soviet Jewry and the presence of Soviet emigres pleading for the rights of family members brought the Soviet Jewry issue to the forefront, superceded only by arms control. This Jewish delegation, at the behest of U.S. administration officials, brought to Iceland a two foot high catalogue containing substantial background information on each of 11,000 refuseniks.

In addition, the delegation was permitted to hold a Soviet Jewry press conference; held in the official summit press center, it was well attended and did make an international impact.

The following profiles are from materials distributed by national Jewish organizations. We ask that you take the time to write to these refuseniks or their families to uplift their spirits and assure them that they are in our thoughts.

Profile

Anatoly Goldberg is a 48 year old refusenik in Leningrad. Educated as a mathematician and physicist, he used to work as a high level computer scientist. After he applied for a visa in 1979, he was demoted to the lowest level. Likewise, his wife, Alla, a trained librarian, was dismissed from her position.

Their first refusal was based on the grounds of "secrecy". Later it was changed to "not suitable for family reunification". Because of the many years of waiting and suffering financial hardship, friends have requested visitors and letters from the West to raise the family's spirits.

The Goldbergs speak fluent English and have a 17 year old son, Boris.

Profile

Alexei Magarik was born in 1958 into a very educated family -- mathematicians who worked for the prestigious Academy of Sciences. For many years, he studied the cello and earned a living as a musician. In 1977, he started studying Hebrew, and in 1979, became a Hebrew teacher. Immensely talented, he is an artist, poet, singer and song composer. His wife, Natalia, is also a Hebrew teacher as well as physicist.

The couple has been trying to emigrate since 1983. In March 1986 Alexei became another victim of Soviet repression and anti-Semitism. He was arrested on the trumped-up charge of drug possession. Despite widespread protest in the West, on June 9, 1986, Alexei was given the maximum sentence of three years in labor camp.

Letter Writing Tips

- * Steady correspondence to one family or Prisoner of Conscience is preferable.
- * Keep writing even if you don't receive a response. It is possible that they are getting your letter even if you are not getting theirs.
- * Write about your family, profession, hobbies, school, etc. Send greetings for Jewish holidays and send a picture of your family.
- * Do not write on organizational letterhead.
- * Do not discuss political topics or name any Jewish organization.

Council of Jewish Federations

The Council of Jewish Federations adopted the following three resolutions at its national board meeting in New York in September.

Converts in Israel

In recent months, the Israeli Ministry of the Interior has indicated that it intends to stamp the word "convert" on the identity papers of Israelis who became Jewish by conversion. This procedure would fly in the face of Jewish tradition which urges us not to remind the convert of his former status. It could be interpreted as suggesting that there are classes of Jews or that we are something other than one people. This abhorrent practice must not be adopted.

Tourism in Israel

We call on Federations and all organizations in the North American Jewish community; we call on individual Jews throughout North America -- now more than ever to plan visits to Israel. A massive increase in tourism can be one of the signs of North American Jewry's continued solidarity with Israel. Such an increase can demonstrate that the enemies of Israel will not dictate our behavior and it can be a boon to Israel's recovering economy. The coming year marks the 20th anniversary of the unification of Jerusalem; it is also the centennial of the birth of David Ben-Gurion. Therefore, "this year in Jerusalem" should be a goal for all of us.

Terrorism and Tragedy

We share the grief and outrage of world Jewry and civilized people everywhere at the massacre in Istanbul where Jews had gathered to spend their Sabbath in prayer. Similarly, Americans and all good people were shocked by the recent airline hijacking in Karachi, the hostage taking and murder of passengers. We offer our condolences to the families of all the deceased and to the Jewish community of Turkey. These events underscore the necessity for all those in the community of nations to take whatever steps are necessary to stamp out terrorism. So long as terrorism continues anywhere no one is safe.

CJF General Assembly

Nov. 12-16, 1986

"Klal Yisrael -- The Federation's Role in Building Community" is the theme of the upcoming CJF General Assembly in Chicago.

The General Assembly, the largest annual gathering of North American Jewish community leaders, will feature plenaries, forums, and workshops on the theme and on a wide range of topics of broad interest and significance. Dignitaries addressing major plenary sessions include George Bush, Shimon Peres, and via satellite, Natan Scharansky.

Special events include a Soviet Jewry rally in Grant Park and a centennial commemoration of the birth of David Ben-Gurion.

CKJF President Gloria Katz, Campaign Committee Chair Gail Cohen, and CKJF Administrator Linda Ravvin will be attending the G.A. from our federation.

The CJF is the national association of 200 Jewish federations, the central community organizations which serve nearly 800 localities, embracing a Jewish population of more than 5.7 million in the U.S. and Canada.

Your support of the CKJF-UJA campaign assures our continued participation in this national educational and advocacy organization.

- * Do not write anything anti-Soviet.
- * Do not use Jewish symbols.
- * If possible, send all letters registered air mail with return receipt requested.
- * Avoid sending packages; taxes to the family might be steep.

The News... Is It Good For the Jews?

Co-chairmen of the CKJF Community Relations Committee have announced that their committee's major fall project will be a panel discussion and open forum on media coverage of Jewish concerns: "The News: Is It Good for the Jews?". It will take place:

Sunday, November 16, at 8 p.m. at Temple Adath Israel.

With co-chairs Marilyn Moosnick and Charlotte Baer moderating, the panel discussion will feature three representatives from the media, Elinor Brecher, who writes features and think pieces for the Louisville Courier Journal Sunday Magazine; David Green, city editor of the Lexington Herald Leader; and Jerry Sander, science and medicine reporter for WKYT-TV.

The panel discussion and open forum, including questions and answers, will be followed by a coffee and dessert reception.

This program is open to the public, and made possible through CKJF by your support of the annual fund raising campaign.

LIFELONG WORK OF WIESEL BRINGS NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

The award of the 1986 Nobel Peace Prize to author and human rights activist Elie Wiesel was applauded last month by Jews across the world.

"You are ceaselessly striking the bells of collective memory, the pain of the murdered Jews," Shimon Peres said in a telegram, "...by not forgetting our people's isolation in the darkness of the Holocaust, you teach us untiringly a holy lesson."

Wiesel is best known for his books and articles recounting the tragedies of the Holocaust. His commitment to the remembrance of this evil chapter of world history is shared with readers and his quiet reflection induces the same. In recent years, he has been a forceful advocate for human rights, especially the rights of Jews in the Soviet Union.

We'll Help You Clean Out Your Attic

This time we're asking for a different kind of donation....

In order to gather materials for our Kentucky Humanities Council grant project "The Jewish Experience in Kentucky", CKJF researcher Bobbi Fried is anxiously awaiting your response.

Bobbi would like to record your family's history in Central Kentucky. All historical documents, pictures, civic citations or awards, old newspaper articles, religious articles, heirloom clothing and immigration records are welcome. (All materials will be returned to their owners.)

Oral histories are in great demand.

CKJF Community Relations Committee co-chairs Marilyn Moosnick and Charlotte Baer wish to thank the extraordinary response from Jack Miller whose clippings and photos will make a good basis for our grant research.

Join Jack ... clean out your attic ... please help us make this a successful and accurate picture of the Jewish experience in Central Kentucky.

Contact Bobbi today at 269-1295.

BARUCH BLUMBERG VISITS UK MEDICAL CENTER

The CKJF welcomes Nobel laureate Baruch Blumberg to Lexington for his month-long tenure on the Ashland Oil Visiting Professor Program. Under the auspices of this program, Dr. Baruch will present seminars for the faculty and student body of the U.K. Medical Center. Several of his lectures will be open to the general public.

He will also spend April, 1987, in Lexington.

Noted for his extensive field work as well as lab work, Blumberg currently is the Associate Director for Clinical Research at the Fox Chase Cancer Center in Philadelphia. He was awarded the 1976 Nobel Prize in Medicine for his discovery of the hepatitis B virus.

GUARDIANS OF ZION

The Guardians of Zion Dinner, an annual banquet honoring those whose CKJF-UJA Campaign pledge is $1200 or more, will take place on Sunday, December 14 at Bugatti's in Chevy Chase.

The dinner for donors and their spouses will be followed by solicitation for the 1987 CKJF-UJA Campaign.

Guests will be treated to an interesting and informative speech by Yaron Svoray, a former member of Israel's Central Police Unit and a specialist on terrorism.

Co-chairs Arlene and Harry Cohen and their dinner committee have been busy planning this major CKJF-UJA Campaign event. If you are in this giving range, look for your invitation in the mail.

CKJF BOARD NOTES

CKJF ANNUAL MEETING

The next meeting of the Central Kentucky Jewish Federation Board of Directors will be its

ANNUAL MEETING
Wednesday
November 19, 1986
8:00 p.m.

To be held in the Regency Room of the Ramada Imperial on Waller Avenue, the meeting will be followed by a dessert reception. All members of the CKJF are encouraged to attend.

The meeting will feature a review of 1986's accomplishments, a formal nomination of candidates for CKJF elections, and a report on the General Assembly of the Council of Jewish Federations.

Nominating Committee Chair Erle Levy will present the slate of nominees for five available seats on the CKJF board. Nominees at the present time are Philip Berger, Stephen Bobys, Janice Brock, Evelyn D. Geller, and Cheri Rose.

Nominations from any federation member will be accepted at the meeting provided the nominee is eligible to serve and has agreed to serve.

Any federation member is eligible to serve providing there has been at least one calendar year since they last served two terms. A federation member is defined as any person, 18 years or older, who resides in Central Kentucky and has made a pledge to the 1985 and/or 1986 annual CKJF-UJA fund raising campaign or is a spouse of a member. The nomination must be submitted in writing and be seconded by four other CKJF members.

Within two weeks of the meeting, a ballot will be sent to all CKJF members. To be counted, a ballot must be returned within two weeks after it goes out.

CKJF RESPONDS

The following resolution was made at the Oct. 7 meeting of the Temple Adath Israel board of trustees:

Moved by Alvin Goldman, seconded by Jack Miller and approved unanimously, the Temple Adath Israel board of trustees resolves to communicate through its representative to CKJF our great concern about the allocation of funds raised by United Jewish Appeal in a manner that recognizes only one of the several divisions within Judaism and requests that the CKJF call upon the UJA board to take all steps necessary to establish a system of equitable distribution of those funds which serve religious purposes and institutions.

The Temple board continues to support UJA and related federated fundraising.

At the October board meeting of CKJF, David Kaplan, Temple representative to CKJF, made the following resolution:

Moved by David Kaplan, seconded by Bob Baumann,

We call upon the United Jewish Appeal governing board to establish equitable distribution of funds in Israel to recognize different divisions of Jewish religious organizations.

CKJF directors accepted, with one abstention, the Temple resolution as presented by Kaplan and has directed its administrator to relay its support of the Temple's position to Martin Stein, National Chairman of United Jewish Appeal, Alexander Grass, Chairman of the Board of United Jewish Appeal, and Stanley B. Horowitz, President of United Jewish Appeal.

LEXINGTON - ISRAEL A FAMILY AFFAIR II

"Coming home" to Israel, as the tourist promotions say, implies not only a sense of belonging to the land and the people, but finding old friends and family as well. This was particularly true for two Lexingtonians who visited Israel in September.

Stan Isenstein bumped into his former college roommate, and Jim Levenson discovered that he'd been on the plane with four Lexington young adults who were beginning a year long work-study program.

The Lexington connection to Israel developed a stronger family flavor this past September with the birth of Stan and Keitha Isenstein's second Sabra grandchild. Their daughter Devi and son-in-law

Mark Kennedy are the proud parents of a new son, Dotan, and of a precocious bi-lingual three-year old daughter, Mai-Tal.

Devi and Mark are members of Kibbutz Usha located in the Galilee near Haifa. The kibbutz was established in 1939 by a group of young Polish Jews who barely escaped the invading Nazis. Devi and Mark met at Usha six years ago and, with the exception of an extended trip to visit their families in the United States and New Zealand, have settled in with Mark working in the fields and Devi in the dairy.

Keitha Isenstein spent 10 days with her children and grandchildren immediately following Dotan's birth. Stanley followed two weeks later, bringing his 82 year old mother with him to visit her newest great grandchild. Summing up his impressions he exclaimed, "Terrific - it was terrific!"

Jim and Ann Levenson were also in Israel in September on a two week Hadassah tour. While they didn't see Keitha or Stan, they recognized Jeff Wekstein as they disembarked. Jeff, the son of David and Merle Wekstein, along with Barbara Baumann, daughter of Judy and Bob Baumann, Jon Berger, son of Sandy and Phil Berger, and Michele Mayer, daughter of Annette and Ken Mayer, are all participating in the 1986-87 Young Judaea year course. Jeff, Barbara, and Michele are currently living and working on Kibbutz Ketura, while Jon's base is Kibbutz Gesher in the Jordan Valley.

Tammy Fitzpatrick, daughter of Ruth and Joe Fitzpatrick, is also on a Young Judaea year program but is beginning her year with an academic program at the Hadassah Youth Center in Jerusalem.

All the parents have received letters and phone calls expressing much enthusiasm and satisfaction.

The Levensons, meanwhile, spent two packed weeks exploring Israel. Israeli tour guides are known for their knowledge of all aspects of Israel. Jim said their guide could also qualify as a general! He had their group up at an early hour each day and kept them moving at a steady pace throughout the country. Their anticipation was great, and their expectations were amply fulfilled.

Earlier in the summer, Bobbi and Drew Fried, together with their children Josh and Emily, joined Shlomit and Moshe Elitzur on a trip to celebrate son Ofer Elitzur's Bar Mitzvah.

The Frieds traveled throughout Israel seeing it from the perspective of a couple who had grown up with the history and drama of the land and its people.

Steve Goldstein, on the staff of the Radiology Department at U.K., spent a month as a volunteer at the Department of Radiology at the Hadassah Hospital at Ein Karem. Steve had previously worked at Hadassah and was delighted to renew friendships made at that earlier time. He is looking forward to a return visit here in Lexington by his Israeli colleague, Dr. Pini Levensort.

It's exciting to note how many of Lexington's young adults take advantage of opportunities to work and study in Israel. Danny Shain, son of Bobbie and Lou Shain, spent the entire summer in Israel working at the Vulcani Institute in Rehovot. Located near the famous Weizmann Institute, he was involved in a research project studying zucchini disease under the direction of Benny Rakah, an Israeli friend who had previously spent time in Lexington working in the Department of Plant Pathology at U.K.

Danny's sister Elisa, home for a summer visit, recently returned to Jerusalem to begin the third year of an independent study program through Empire State College, a branch of the State University of New York. Elisa also studies at a Yeshiva in Jerusalem and is working on a project to bring theatre and traditional Judaism together.

The new CKJF bulletin editor, Elissa Golin, participated in a B'nai B'rith Hillel tour, combining a historic survey of Jewish life in Israel with a general tour of the country. Elissa was enthusiastic about the opportunities to explore Israel on foot and to see Israeli life first hand. A special highlight was erev Shabbat in Jerusalem, when the group went in teams of 3-4 each to visit hospital patients and bring them flowers.

At her request she was able to visit Bikur Cholim, an older hospital to which her grandmother had contributed in years past. Elissa was most touched by the opportunity to visit with a South American Yeshiva student who had no other family available to help him make his Shabbat.

For further information about opportunities to visit Israel, please contact CKJF Administrator Linda Ravvin at 252-7622.

CKJF Administrator Linda Ravvin Reports on NJCRAC Orientation

For two days I had the privilege of being one of 15 participants in an orientation to the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council (NJCRAC) of which our own Community Relations Committee is a member.

We had briefings from key people working with each area of NJCRAC: Abe Bayer, who accompanied Elie Wiesel to the Soviet Union, spoke about Jews in Oppressed Lands - Russia, Ethiopia, Syria, Soviet countries, and Argentina; and, Harvey Paretzky discussed Summit II and the necessity of preparation continuing so that a strong Jewish presence would be immediately present, as it was in Iceland.

Diana Aviv works in the area of Domestic Concerns such as immigration reform and protection from discrimination for new Americans and those eligible for amnesty. Diane also covers Apartheid as a Domestic Issue because it reflects NJCRAC's concern with black-Jewish relations.

Jerome Chanes works with Domestic Concerns also. His areas are church and state, interreligious relations, anti-Semitism and civil liberties. This is a particularly active area of concern right now, as the political move toward the right affects state-church and church-school relations.

Kenneth Bandler addressed terrorism, Lebanon and the peace process, including Arab activity on college campuses. Gershon Gon from the Israeli Consulate talked about available media on Israel and other means for promoting Israel.

Jerry Levinrad spoke about a new leadership manual available next year. The first day was ably summarized by Irwin Schulman, Senior Community Consultant, and Albert Chernin, Executive Vice Chairman.

All the above took place on Monday. On Tuesday we visited different national agencies for an insight into their operations.

At the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, we were addressed by Jerry Goodman on such topics as letter writing to Refuseniks, twinning both individuals and communities with those in the Soviet Union, and adopting a prisoner of conscience or refusenik. The current figures used to indicate Jews in the Soviet Union are: 11,000 Refuseniks, 370,000 Jews identified as wanting to leave, and a total of 2.5 million Jews.

We then literally ran to the offices of the Anti-Defamation League where, over lunch, Marvin Rappaport and Tom Newman discussed the ADL and their work with legislation, interreligious relations, campus affairs, and South Africa.

The American Jewish Committee prides itself on being "on the cutting edge of issues" and researches what it believes will be the next areas of concern to the American Jewish community. It is a "membership" agency now dealing with the farm situation and anti-Semitism, and the effect of the tax bill. It also publishes the magazine "Commentary".

Our last stop was the American Jewish Congress where Assistant Director Evan Bayer, along with her staff, discussed the activities of AJC. There is an active department concern with Arab issues and the Arab boycott, and the AJC encourages countries to establish free trade with Israel.

There are many social welfare programs and tax issues that AJC monitors and reports on, as well as a Black-Jewish Information Center. In addition to these, AJC has an International Affairs Department with priorities of Israel and the Middle East, and a Commission on Law and Social Action for civil rights and discrimination.

The two days were absolutely packed with information, exchange of ideas, questions and responses, and suggestions. I now feel that our communities' contacts with our national agencies are strengthened as a result of this orientation.

ART A LA CARTE -- JEWISH STYLE

The Sherman family Klezmer Group will present a free noon-time concert on Tuesday, November 18 at ArtsPlace, 161 N. Mill Street. Bring your own lunch, and enjoy an hour of Jewish music.

This local trio of Marianne, Harold and Larry Sherman specializes in Klezmer music, including Bulgars, Chassidic Nigunim, Freilachs, Hebrew melodies, Israeli pop tunes and Yiddish lieder. They have performed at Bar and Bat Mitzvah celebrations, community receptions, weddings and other Jewish affairs in the Blue Grass area.

According to Larry Sherman, the director, this is a premiere of Klezmer music performed by local musicians for the general public. Larry hails the revival of Klezmer music in the U.S., noting the popularity of Giora Feidman and combinations like the Kapeleys, the Cleveland Klezmerim, the Negina Orchestra and the Boston Klezmer Conservatory Band.

CKJF Forum Update

On Nov. 2, Linda Dash Moore opened the 1986-87 CKJF Forum Series with a talk on Jewish Migration and Community. Ms. Moore's lecture was well received by those in attendance.

Forum Chair Susan Cantor wishes to remind you of the upcoming appearance of Reguesh, Sunday, Feb. 1, 1987 at 8 p.m. at the Recital Hall, U.K. Center for the Arts.

Having performed throughout South America and Israel, this youthful Jewish musical group from Buenos Aires, Argentina, brings their festivities to Central Kentucky.

Tickets are available through CKJF. Patron tickets are $30; Series tickets are $15; Special single ticket price for this event only is $6; Student tickets are $3.

Presented in conjunction with the U.K.'s Latin American Studies Program, this performance has been arranged through the Jewish Welfare Board Lecture Bureau, and is made possible in part by your contribution to the annual CKJF-UJA campaign.

HOME HOSPITALITY WANTED

If you would like to open your home to one or more Reguesh performers for their stay in Lexington, please contact Jack Miller at 269-5986.

Please help us provide a warm Kentucky welcome in the bleakness of February by responding to this need.
