Case of
Mr. J. H. Roach

The Secretary read a communication from Mr. J. H. Roach, steward of the College Mess, setting forth that he had been warned to leave the dormitory and the College, by a person or persons who called to him from outside the dormitory, and again from just outside his room. A motion was carried to request the President to announce in Chapel, that, in view of these things - which are now matters of public knowledge - any student may meet a Committee from the Faculty, consisting of the President, Profs. Nelson and Roach, to lodge any complaint against Mr. Roach, on any ground.
