

Dean to Be At Banquet, April 27

DATE, GIVEN AS APRIL 7, CHANGED AFTER MEETING

C. R. Melcher Is Serving 26th
Year As Dean of University Men

TWO GROUPS SPONSOR
PLANNED FESTIVAL
Bank of Professor Emeritus
May Be Conferred
In June

A change in the date of the banquet which will be given in honor of C. R. Melcher, dean of the University for the past 26 years, and head of the German department since 1914, was announced Monday, April 3, by the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair. This change was made because the Pres. Frank L. McVey, will be absent from the city on the date for which the dinner was scheduled. The committee deemed it unwise to hold the affair during his absence.

According to tentative arrangements the dinner will be held on Thursday, April 27, instead of Friday, April 7, as it was first announced. Members of the faculty and the student body, alumni of the University, and other friends of the Dean are expected to attend. This, in all probability, will be Dean Melcher's last semester at the University as an active professor. In June he will be eligible for transfer to the professor-emeritus rank.

Prior to coming to the University in 1907, Dean Melcher served six years as professor of ancient and modern languages at Hanover college, Hanover, Indiana. His alma mater. He received both his bachelor of arts and master's degree from Hanover college, and studied at the Universities of Munich and Leipzig in Germany. He holds doctor of law degree from the University of Kentucky and the University of Chicago.

Dean Melcher is a member of the Kentucky Academy of Science, Kentucky Education association, American Association of University Professors, Modern Language Association of America, Delta Tau Delta and Omicron Delta Kappa fraternities.

The committee which has been formulated to work out further details of plans for the dinner will be composed of Dean Sarah Blandring, Mrs. David Young, secretary to Dean Melcher; Miss Helen King, assistant publicity director; Gordon Burns, president of the Inter-faculty council; I. C. Evans, president of Sucky Circle; and John Erwing, president of the Men's Student council.

First Night in New Guignol Play Is Noted Successful

All Performers Give Creditable
Performances in Castella
Drama

By VIRGINIA ROBIN
Arranging to cast the actors, the Guignol theater opened last night for a week's run with "Death Takes a Holiday." The amusing production marks the high spot of the season. The play written by Alberto Casella is a charming, fantasy based on the observation of the little theater, as Prince Sirki of Vitalba Alexandri, does the most subtle piece of acting ever seen on the stage.

Mr. Fowler has been in many Guignol productions and has always given pleasing interpretations, but "Death Takes a Holiday" surpasses anything he has done before. He brings to the theater all the professional qualities especially noticeable in his dramatic entrance in the first act. Mr. Fowler is the only one in the cast who seems to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the set arrangements to make the audience an upstage center entrance. The dual role of Death and Prince Sirki is played with ease and calls into play many voice inflections, which Mr. Fowler is a complete master.

Spring pleading will be held by Chi Delta Phi, honorary literary society, and Phi Mu Epitome, honorary home economics society, during the banquet.

The Girls' Glee club, directed by Miss Mott, will give several annual numbers. Hazel Noll, Jane Ann Matthews and Elizabeth Montague will give a novelty tap dance routine.

The faculty stunt will be presented by the faculty brides, a division of the Women's club of the University. A students stunt will be presented made up of one girl from each sorority, one dormitory, and a town girl. A toast to women students will be given by Ruby Ewing, president of the Y. W. C. A hike sponsored in connection with the Civic League of Lexington, will be held on Saturday, April 7, at 1:45 p. m. from Gratz park (back of the City library).

And Then They Eschewed The Discovery

On one of the trips to Nature, Dr. Frank McFarland of the botany department and his class discovered a peculiar species of algae.

It was thought by members of the class to be certain species of algae, which had been found in previous years.

Accordingly it was thought to be a new species, and the students might introduce to the world in that field.

The usual experiment was followed by a discussion of the subject of the day. The speaker's topic dealt with the relation between bacteriology and genetics.

HIGH SCHOOL WEEK

Kentucky will host the week of April 11-15 to 2500 high school students representing 276 of the leading preparatory institutions in the state. The event is the annual high school week, with the high school music festival, April 13-15, as an outstanding feature of the program. These students will occupy the University residence halls during this period as the regular students for the Easter holidays.

All of the boys and girls taking part in this program are prospective students at the University. During the time that they are the guests of Kentucky, an excellent opportunity will be afforded them to become better acquainted with the University. Buildings will be searched thoroughly for intimate information as to their size and content, and a complete tour of the campus most likely will be taken sometime during the week. If only by private parties of students, the University is unusually interesting to high school students. They dream of the day when they will be able to matriculate at Kentucky.

The instructive and cultural side of the week's events is worthy of comment. Included among the various phases of the program, every school work are debate, oral interpretation, music, discussion, extemporaneous speaking, and oratorical declamation. Education in the state is given great stimulus by this high school week. The University is to be commended for its share in the praiseworthy work. The Kernel, on behalf of the student body, welcomes the students and their friends to Kentucky.

PSYCHOLOGY OF LIFE

When the psychology department announced last week that it would open a Personality Development bureau the news was received with enthusiasm by the student body. The move is in step with the time and will better fit those students who take advantage of the clinic for the psychological problems to be faced in life after graduation.

The service, which the department of psychology is to render will be free. Four hours are to be given each week by the psychologists who lead the discussion of the improvement of personality, vocational guidance, mental well-being, and other pertinent topics. Students must make appointments in advance by calling the department.

This Personality Development bureau resulted from a number of requests that came into the psychology department asking it to establish such a service. It is a great improvement on the old psychological clinic which for the past ten years has done similar work in a smaller capacity.

NARROW PATHS

It is a common fault among people to be ignorant of their surroundings. One may live within a short distance of a magnificent natural phenomenon and never visit it. One may dwell within the heart of a great coal district and know nothing of its mining. One may have access to the greatest library in the world and never take advantage of the opportunity afforded.

In the same way, college students frequently fail to become acquainted with their campus. Some of them have matriculated at a university or college for four years and are acquainted only with those parts of the campus where they have classes.

At the University of Pittsburgh, due to lack of space, a great cathedral of learning, constituting one of the largest skyscrapers in the city, was built. Students there have no campus. They are deprived of the opportunity of following higher academic pursuits in natural surroundings.

The University of Kentucky is more fortunate in this respect. Its campus is one of the most beautiful in the South. Students are given the opportunity to observe academic phases of nature. But many of them are inclined to regard the campus only as a group of buildings. Such an attitude is not conducive to reaping the entire benefits of intellectual growth. Those students who cannot appreciate their campus are losing an integral part of their education.

JEST AMONG US

By THE JESTER

It seems that a certain western college student gallantly drove his covered wagon on the campus and parked (or should we say hitched) it for the semester in order to save car fare and board bills. But you just can't force ahead of old Alma Mater, as previously mentioned there's a wigwag on our own dear campus.

If you see anyone turn to the editorial page of The Kernel, take one glance, and then stuff it in his pocket, you can wager that he thinks "Que Vadi!" is after him!

Finale—Good morning, Good evening, Good night—Good, good, how time flies!

A story file in the latter end of our dog chased the neighbor's and annulled her tail. (Blitz in the end.)

"Who Put the Screws to the Library"—headline. Five will get you ten that it was a Carpenter.

"Clyde Will Spend Year in Japan"—headline. Wotia depression.

"Try a Little Slenderness"—Some of our lady friends are "thin" enough to see their own mistakes and others try and trim down to it.

A'ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

By JOAN CARRIGAN

Naughty, gaudy, sporty. Forty-second street! Boulevard of Bluff and Ballyhoop, symbolizing America's (except for the "and" in all there... the very essence of effervescent Broadway is caught in Warner Brothers picture "42nd Street," playing this week at the Strand theater.

More than just a vivid backstage drama, its beats and pulses to the rhythm of nimble dancers' tireless feet, and the sensitive intonation of tuneful music dispensed by the flower of metropolitan orchestras. Warner Baxter, as the director of the show, is seen in what is probably his best portrayal. Ruby Keeler, Mrs. In Johnson everyday life, makes her screen bow as a little girl who gets the breaks and makes the most of them.

Bebe Daniels is the star of the show who lets her producer down on the opening night. Others among the 14 stars heading the cast of "42nd Street" are George Brent, Guy Kibbee, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers, Tris Merker, Ellen Jenkins and George E. Stone.

Diana Wynyard, May Robson, Ruth Selwyn, Hedda Hopper, and Mary Carlisle, who comprise the feminist members of the cast, "Men Must Fight," opening Thursday at the Ben Al. The two dollar prize for the best poem submitted in the March poetry contest is awarded, by the selection of Prof. Grant C. Knight, English department, to "M. P." for the poem "Charity." M. P., an undergraduate student at the University, wishes to remain anonymous. Other contributions by M. P. which have appeared during the last month are "Lines Provoked by the Study of Laodamia," and "On Interviewing Professor Danziger." "Charity" was judged best of all March entries, on the basis of its excellent verse form, and its clever correlation of idea and phrase with correct metrical form.

Her prize winning and one other poem appear below.

CHARITY

A beggar woman stopped to ask if I Had any dresses we would give away; I rummaged round and found an odd plique; It was the dress that I had worn the day And I were lost together. Could it be, Of our happiness was ours that day.

Nothing was left, but one worn white plique? Of my life—Life was not fair with me! Then I remembered her, who waited for me; I saw life had been cruel to her, too, But she did not complain. The hand was waving, the dress. And cold, which took the dress. She said, "Twirl do To make a baby cloak." She did not care. That life was hard. She gave me courage, too.

I shall remember At dusk, or in soft starlight, Old paths on some dark night When faded dreams again appear And ghostlike mood and linger Murmuring... then disappear.

I shall remember When grasses shift as winds steal by Whispering, soft and low, Their haunting themes and notes Of all the yesterdays we know.

199 Miles On A Dance Floor

Would You Hike That Distance? No, But Dancing To Good Music Is Different

By JOSEF INGSGING Although walking seems to be an awful task when one is not escorted, it is estimated that one can walk one mile in 15 to 20 minutes. If one were to walk 199 miles, it would take one 3,000 to 4,000 hours, or 125 to 167 days, or 4 to 5 months.

At the University there are 17 house dances which no guests outside of the dates of members of the fraternity may attend; 14 dinner dances; seven tea dances; five for a two-hour limit, and 25 guest dances. The steps of one person attending with a large number of guests, seven tea dances, including the dinner dances, easily make 199 miles.

By itself, this distance does not seem long for a night's traveling. However, when the distance is compared with the width of the state of Kentucky, which is 180 miles in the widest place, it is found that the student who has a few miles to look over the towns traveled through, when dancing across the state.

Students are very fortunate that there are not many negro bands booked at the University. The fast music that they produce would probably increase the distance almost one-third more.

Dorm Boys Are Quick To Stage A Trick And Pull a Hot One on 'Dead Eye Dick'

By ROBERT MCGAUGHEY The wind howled furiously about the boys' dorm a few nights ago. High in the sky rode the man in the moon, dreaming of beer to go with his quantity of cheese, while rocking on the storm infested clouds of the earth's night.

From the grim, intense blackness a masked figure emerged, and softly, yet steadily, he began to sing of Breckinridge Hall. At the door of the dorm, which contained four students, he stood for a moment, he paused, flinging wide the door, he crossed the threshold, and with a six-shooter threatening to go off any minute, he demanded the gold of the campus squanders.

One brave gentleman suddenly developed the C. T. and knock under the bed. The others stood by shivering (it was a cold night) and forked over their small change (the bank holidays were still on). A conversation ensued, and money changed hands.

The band then made his departure, but not without being seen by the crier of events, George Bushnell, who happened to be passing at the time. The boys are laughing among themselves, not lamenting. In fact they say the joke is the robber who turned out to be of this story. The ill-fated boys borrowed five dollars from him before he could get away.

WHY JIG - SAW PUZZLES?

By EARL BOURGEOIS Why do we like jig-saw puzzles? Why has the entire nation gone gaga over the appearance of an old nursery pastime?

According to the April issue of "Modern Mechanic and Invention," (yes that's the modernistic spelling of "mechanics"), both of these questions may be answered psychologically by a consideration of the circumstances which, innocently enough, have been great factors in promoting the popularity of the jig-saw puzzle game.

First, the depression has welcomed back the simpler, more substantial pleasures of life. Most jig-saw puzzles cost very little, and yet they provide much pleasure, because by working them out, laborers creative sense is satisfied.

The other important factor is the manufacture of jig-saws ranging in price from hundreds of dollars to less than a dollar. These fill the needs of men who have home workshops, and stimulate the interest in the manufacture of home-made jig-saw puzzles.

The wooden jig-saw puzzles are art.

That sealed room in the Columbia Broadcasting Headquarters sends out good music and good songs 6 nights a week to 50 million people from coast to coast . . . with the voice of Norman Brookshire . . . just about the best announcer in this country . . . to tell you "Chesterfields are milder and taste better."

Why is the Chesterfield Program broadcast 6 nights a week over a coast-to-coast network reaching 50 million people?

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By DELMAR ADAMS

Unless the heavens cease their pourings and the wind take on a balmy degree, Coach Bernie Shively's track athletes will hardly be in top shape for their opening meet which is scheduled with the Vanderbilt Commodores on April 15.

Several issues ago we started our pressbox with the statement that the only major sport at the University at present is the track team. Unfortunately the linotype operator left out the word "major" and the statement read, "the only spring sport is track."

These sports, rather new to the University, have forged to the front in recent years and the tennis team is ranked as one of the best in the South.

The athletic department a n d Coach Jones have added a frosh golf team to the list of athletic teams representing the University and with several experienced men on hand should be able to defeat all its foes.

ber of persons can see the games. Many of the boys who formerly played baseball on the Wildcat teams or who are prospective candidates for the team, will play the Eppings, the local semi-pro team.

All the prominent baseball prognosticators point out the unfortunate Cincinnati Reds as the logical choice for the collar place in the National League. We do not believe the Redlegs are a logical contender for the crown, but neither do we believe that they will finish last.

Winter trades improved the Reds quite a bit and their only weakness seems to be at second base and the need of another left hander of any kind or sort.

INDEPENDENTS ARE NEW CHAMPS

For the third successive year, the Independents have been crowned basketball champions of the University. They closed their season last week with a win over the Phi Delta Theta quintet, title holders of the fraternity division.

Since the reorganization of the Intramural department in 1930, when C. W. Hackensmith took over the duties as intramural supervisor, the Independents have monopolized most of the various competitions.

This year alone, teams representing the Independents have won in volleyball, basketball and cross-country intramural competition. In boxing and wrestling they more than doubled the number of points on the campus.

The Independents have no added advantage over the competing fraternities as they are allowed only 55 men at the start of each semester and any changes that are made in the original list can only be made when a vacancy occurs and must be reported to the intramural department.

Diamond ball is the next big intramural team sport to look forward to while the handball title to win their fourth title of the year as the prospects this season are brighter than ever.

The Yale tennis school is to become co-educational, it was disclosed this week in the school's annual report. The number women to be admitted will be limited to 10, however.

SAMUEL THAVIU PLAYS IN VESPER

Brilliant Young Violinist Takes Place of Harry Farham at Sunday Afternoon Musical

Samuel Thaviu, brilliant young Chicago violinist, ably assisted at the piano by Miss Agnes Roberts, Y. W. C. A. secretary when she spoke by the Home Ec Club last night.

Mr. Thaviu, who is acclaimed by the press as the "wonder boy" violinist, was born in Chicago in 1910, the son of A. F. Thaviu, a well-known musical family, his natural genius may be said to have been inherited.

In 1923 Mr. Thaviu made his debut with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, when he won instant recognition as a violinist of remarkable ability.

From the program so well rendered by Mr. Thaviu and his accompanist, it is difficult to say that any number excelled. However, the Concerto in G Minor, reached the height of the performance. The Adagio movement held the audience enthralled while the brilliance of the Allegro energetic won prolonged applause.

Miss Wittich rendered support and balance which was most effective. Her skillful technique became almost orchestral in effect.

TENNIS STARS ARE BEST BY 6-0

Although the first match of the 1933 tennis season was played on the indoor court in the Gym annex before a very small gallery, Coach H. H. Downing's varsity team made a nontheless auspicious beginning by overwhelming the Danville independents 6-0.

Four singles and two doubles matches were played and the Kentuckians took all of them with very little trouble. The Danville boys have been practicing on the indoor court, so it was no more of a disadvantage for them to play on the hardwood than it was for the locals.

No. 1 doubles match was played first; Howard Wilson and K. P. Smith easily defeated the Danville boys. In the state tennis tournament held here last year, 6-2, 6-0, Danville men conquered Clem Colman, former member of the Centre net team, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, in the most closely contested match of the afternoon.

In the No. 3 singles Smith handled Tevis Cobb, another former Centre man, 6-0, 6-3. During the first set Smith scored fifteen straight points on his opponent.

The No. 2 doubles were run off next, and Capt. Roger Klein, assisted by George Yost, defeated Charles Colman and Jack Thompson, 6-2, 6-2. Thompson was captain of the Bowling Green racketeers in 1928 and 1929, and is now principal of the Frohland High school near Danville.

New Guignol Play Voted A Success

Other members of the cast are Stephanie de Catalica played by Miss Mary Armstrong Shouse; Princess de Luca, Mrs. Letitia Gardner; Eric Foster, Hart Foster; Rhoda Pant, Faith Abbott; Felice, Jack Williams; and Cora, Mildred Shives.

Great credit for the success of "Death Takes a Holiday" should go to the members of the stage crew and the electrical staff. G. L. Crutcher, the ever efficient stage manager, has produced a beautiful Italian interior which has been tastefully furnished by the properties department. The light effects, especially those used on Death's face and the "rosy lamp of illusion" which lights the entrance of Prince Siroli and is extinguished at the wave of the Prince's hand, are perfect.

Dennison University—the campus newspaper reported recently that the male spent an average of 10 cents on a date with a co-ed. The biggest expense was an occasional trip to the picture show.

Home Ec Club Hears Talk By Augusta Roberts

"Personality Through Character" Is Y. W. Secretary's Subject

"Personality Through Character," was the subject selected by Miss Augusta Roberts, Y. W. C. A. secretary when she spoke by the Home Ec Club last night.

"We must first have an ideal, something much bigger than ourselves, towards which all the integrated parts of our personality should aim," answered Miss Roberts.

We must not be tempted to pattern ourselves after some person, perhaps an older sister, who during the college life blazed a path to glory. We must instead decide to be our best selves, regardless of how different this makes us from other people.

This brings up the question, "Is it more desirable to become perfect, or to be a unique person?" Being unique in this question does not mean being erratic or queer, but it means in the words of Ibsen, "Be true to yourself with all thy might, not piece-meal."

Miss Roberts went on to say that it is through uniqueness that we have personality. It can not be achieved merely by putting in certain qualities which we admire.

CASUAL OBSERVATIONS

By FRED H. SHEELS If one is permitted to judge consequences from news stories, the coming men of journalism will have to work about as hard from feminine rivals in the game. Theta Sigma Phi initiated only three and Theta Chi only two.

"Death Takes a Holiday" was recent; nearly two and one-half years ago, to more exact purpose, that will have nothing to do with how the University players and their director are going to handle a trial of it in the Guignol theater. Have you seen it?

Fellowers at the Royal Pigeon (football lovers, to be plain spoken) will have one last chance to give vent to their enthusiasm. Several teams of Stool field warriors will return, don in familiar togs of battle, and clash with the 1933 edition of Wildcat football team on April 7!

Pure innocence has been described in many ways; innocent purring is a given little attention; but, "A virgin forest is a place where the hand of man has never set foot." At-r-r-rump!

'Tis a long road that has no turning, but 'tis a longer road that has no Hot Dogs.

Just wondering if Miss Palmer came into McVey hall at any time Friday and noticed the number of copies of The Kernel being tossed aside AFTER her picture had been removed from the FRONT page.

Sig Epic The Observer heard, from authentic sources, that there were approximately 40 "guests" (or were they mostly "sweethearts") waiting in line, hungrily, at the Sig Ep house Sunday, from noon until P. M. The gallery crew must have been able to care for those 40 individuals. What about the depression?

A warning to owners, publishers, editors, and others having to do with the giving of trials for jobs on the many and varied Kentucky papers: Just listen to the appeals from the sudden overflow of ambitious young "paragraphers" and "columnists" that will be thrown out upon your patience by the coming graduation of approximately 30 college journalists. Better toss aside "Not In" and "Not At Home" signs painted early this year.

FICTITIOUS CASE FACES CONTEST

Four Law College Seniors Will Make First Appearance APRIL 10 IS DATE

Four seniors in the College of Law will present the fictitious, but none the less interesting, case of Danforth vs. Campbell, Monday, April 10, before the state court of appeals. The question contested in the case has never before been decided in the court of appeals, and these young lawyers are making their first appearances before this august body.

The four men who will present this case were selected in competition with a group of several in Dr. Frank H. Randall's class in Practice course and of those who competed for the honor volunteered. The members selected were J. D. Bond, Ashland; Kenneth Howe, Lexington; D. L. Thornton, Versailles, and G. R. Burkes, Alburquerque, N. M.

The latter two will appear for the defendant, an Ohio motorist, who is questioning the validity of a statute passed by the general assembly of 1930 making it proper to bring actions for negligence against non-resident motorists within the state. Formerly, where an accident was caused by reason of a non-resident motorist's negligence, the suit had to be filed against him in the state in which he resided.

Judge M. J. Cochran, in a recent decision handed down from the federal bench, held that the statute was unconstitutional. However, this decision is not binding on the state court of appeals. Similar statutes have been passed in other states and many of them have been upheld. For these reasons, the case presented by the students will be followed with interest.
