Yours of the 19th to hand & whilst its contents are not the most encouraging or such as I could have desired still I must thank you for your former letters in reply.
I would trouble you no farther was it not that you as well as myself seem to have laboured ~~under~~ <sup>with</sup> slight though not serious misap-rehensions - You seemed to think my letter was intended for your Father which was not the case as I was cognizant of his death but was under a wrong impression in suppo-

I can't even begin to think how without good security - will be satisfied it looks too much to arrangement - but as I have the right - either in the ar-face of the transaction, or the which would alter the arrangement -

that I offered to you you would be giving the book course might be expected but my the deep knowledge - which of above your further to attempt Again you say you are not pleasing to you - extraordinary - which accounts for my of - as at the time of his death his means & interest was to say that you had written
