GREETINGS

It is a privilege, an opportunity, and also a responsibility to assume the presidency of the Alumni Association at a time when the membership is the highest in the history of the organization. This is evidence of the missionary work of the Alumni office staff, part of which was arranging for alumni priority for football tickets. Many active alumni have done much to make this priority really a privilege. I sincerely hope that this privilege carries with it a feeling of responsibility toward the University.

Please read the article in this issue concerning Dr. Donovan's budget request. By comparison with other state colleges, the University of Kentucky has not fared well budgetwise in the past. Perhaps we can play a part in showing that adequate support for the University is an investment for Kentucky, not an expense.

In this edition we are reporting to you on a scholarship plan developed by John Bullock and James Shropshire. By sponsoring and carrying forward this project, we shall be able to take our place alongside other alumni associations in promoting this phase of University life which we have neglected in the past.

Your officers and the members of the executive committee will do their best to represent you. To that end, we shall welcome your advice, your suggestions, and your constructive criticism.

LE ROY MILES, President

UK'S BUDGET REQUEST

When the Kentucky General Assembly convenes early next year, President H. L. Donovan will present a budget request for the University which will show a considerable increase both for maintenance and operation and for capital outlay.

The University administration is asking for $6,000,000 in capital outlay, and $7,370,812 for general operational expense for the next two years. While these sums seem large in comparison to the University's modest requests of other legislative years, the time has come when the people of Kentucky must realize that its state university, to function and grow, must have a budget adequate to the educational needs of the state.

The alumni of the University have an opportunity to be of invaluable assistance to the administration in the next two months, through a militant promotion of the school's program among the legislators of the state. With this in mind, the ALUMNUS is published

Alumni Institute Annual Giving Program

Scholarships To Be Set-Up With Funds

An annual giving program, to be known as the University of Kentucky Loyalty Fund, was established and approved at the September meeting of the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association, with John R. Bullock, '28, Cincinnati attorney and elective member of the committee, as chairman of the fund.

The purpose of the program is to establish scholarships for worthy students and to promote other alumni-sponsored projects. All funds to be raised will be used only for charitable and educational purposes in connection with the University, and, according to the recommendations of Mr. Bullock's committee, which were unanimously approved by the alumni executive board, all funds raised will immediately be turned over to the Kentucky Research Foundation for administration.

While funds collected will be turned over to the Research Foundation for administration, the alumni fund committee will request that all such moneys will be kept separate as the University of Kentucky Loyalty Fund and that such moneys be expended for scholarships and for advancement of the University generally, in accord with the recommendations of the Alumni executive committee or its sub-committee, the Kentucky Loyalty Fund committee.

For the first year, at least, the Loyalty Fund committee hopes to operate without expenses, through limiting direct mail solicitation to prospective donors and through general stories in the KENTUCKY ALUMNUS. The first aim of the committee is the creation of at least one all-expense alumni scholarship of from $600 to $800 a year for a four-year term. This in itself would require the earmarking each year of from $2,500 to $3,000, and it would be the aim of the committee, at all times, to have sufficient moneys in the fund to assure the annual giving of at least one scholarship of this type.

President LeRoy Miles, '28, has named James S. Shropshire, '29, of Lexington, who worked with Mr. Bullock in formulating plans for the fund, Robert McDowell Allen, '00, Newark, N. J., Milton S. Smith, '08, New York City, Mrs. John N. Brown, Maysville; Sam Manly, III, Louisville, and L. K. Frankel, Lexington as

Louisville Reorganizes With 125 Active Members; Manly Is Prexy

More than 175 persons attended the reorganization meeting of the University of Kentucky alumni of the greater Louisville area, held May 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mirror room of the Kentucky hotel.

Homer L. Baker, Ex. '20, wheelhorse of the reorganization activities and temporary chairman of the group presided, and first item on the business agenda was election of officers, with Sam Manly, III, '33, unanimously chosen as president; Mrs. Edd R. (Cissy Peterson) Gregg, '24, named first vice president; Arthur Nutting, '26, elected second vice president and Mrs. J. M. (Dorothy J. Neal) Jackson, '40, elected secretary-treasurer.

Executive committee members chosen were: Homer Baker, Joe Creason, '40, Reed Miller, '26, Mrs. William (Connie Richmond) Boston, '41, and Grover Creech, '20. The group also named Mr. Manly to represent the Louisville body on the executive committee of the national association.

Following the business meeting the film of the Kentucky-Michigan State game last fall was shown. Present for the meeting was Helen G. King, executive secretary of the general association who made a brief talk, as did Grover Creech, immediate past president of the Louisville group.

Last April a smaller group of Louisville alumni had met with Miss King at a luncheon meeting at the Brown hotel to form the nucleus of the larger organization. At that time Jack Green, Ex. '24, presided at the business meeting and Homer Baker was elected temporary chairman. Also appointed to help in the reorganization were: Sam Manly, Garner Willey, '30, and Jim Pence, '42, committee on constitution; George Hillen '32, Mrs. Jackson and Eldon DuRand, '32, one committee on nominations; and Jim May, '29, J. H. Callaway, '31, J. M. Kane, '33, and Reed Miller, '26, the other committee on nominations.

Sam Manly III, '33

The group voted to charge $2.00 local dues and asked all members to join the national association. Since that meeting a total of 125 have paid their dues in the Louisville club and two meetings of the executive committee have been held, one on May 29 in the form of a luncheon at the French Village, and the other on July 29 at the home of the secretary-treasurer.

At the first meeting of the executive committee the group agreed to call the organization the Louisville Alumni of the University of Kentucky and the following committee chairmen and co-chairmen were named: membership: Margaret Cantrill, '42, and Lindsay McMahon, '34. Entertainment, Joyce Oldham, '42, and K. A. Barker, '38. Ticket committee: Homer Baker, Ex. '20, and C. Hunter Green, '27. Rules committee: J. A. Dishman, Ex. '19, and Lee Huber, '41. Publicity: Joe Creason, '40. Honorary membership: Tom Ballantine, '25, and Jere Beam, Ex '22. Program: Eldon DuRand, '32, and Helen Horlacher, '41. Telephone: Jane Wigginton, '45 and Mary Kemp, '42.

A. D. Kirwan, '26, New UK Dean of Men

Albert Dennis Kirwan, '26, former Wildcat football captain, track man and campus leader in his student days, has been named dean of men at the University, succeeding Dr. Theodore Tolman Jones, '02.

Dr. Kirwan, or "Ab," as he is known to hundreds of Kentucky alumni and former students, is a native of Louisville, and a graduate of Male High School in 1922. He entered the University in 1923, participating in football and track, and was a member of Keys, Mystic Thirteen, Lamp and Cross, Omicron Delta Kappa and Sigma Nu social fraternity. He received his A.B. degree in 1926.

He served as assistant football coach at UK for one year following his graduation, then went to Male High as teacher and assistant football coach where he was employed from 1927 to 1931. From there he went to Manual High School in Louisville, serving in the same capacity from 1932 to 1937. In 1938 he was named head football coach at Kentucky and remained here until 1944.

He holds the M.A. degree from the University of Louisville, the LL.B. from the Jefferson School of Law, and obtained the Ph.D. degree from Duke University last June, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Doctor Kirwan is married to the former Elizabeth Heil of Louisville, and they have two sons, Dennis, 13, and Brit, 9.

committee it was proposed to have a dance Sept. 12 at the Louisville Boat Club. The group planned to sell chances on a pair of season tickets to Kentucky home football games at this dance, as well as two box seats to the Georgia game.

It was agreed at this meeting that alumni in counties surrounding Louisville be invited to join the Louisville club. The executive group also voted to meet the last Tuesday of every other month.

Homecoming Set Nov 22 With Tennessee

Alumni Party To Be Held At Lafayette

Kentucky's traditional grid rivals, the University of Tennessee Volunteers, will furnish the meat for Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant's victory-hungry Wildcats at the annual homecoming festivities Saturday afternoon, November 22 at two p. m. on Stoll Field.

Friday night, preceding the football game, many social and house groups on the campus will entertain returning alumni at informal parties. Kentucky Epsilon of Sigma Alpha Epsilon has notified the Alumni Office that a banquet for their returning alumni will be held at the Lafayette Hotel on Nov. 21. Saturday night Zeta Beta Tau will entertain with a dance.

On Saturday morning the annual judging of house decorations will be held, and SuKy Circle will offer cups to the groups presenting the most effective decorations.

On Saturday night, following the game, the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association will be host to all returning graduates and former students, at a get-together party in the ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel. An orchestra has been engaged for dancing. It is the thought of the executive committee that there should be one, central place for alumni to gather, following the game, and with this in mind they have arranged this party.

Alumni headquarters will be established in the lobbies of the Lafayette, Phoenix and Kentuckian hotels on the morning of the game.

President and Mrs. Donovan will entertain alumni, students, faculty and friends of the University at their home Saturday afternoon, following the game, with their annual homecoming tea.

speed record of 623.8 miles an hour.

Mr. Broffitt is an active member of the Alumni Association, a contributor to its Loyalty Fund, and was a visitor in the Alumni office in August.

Farmer, Engineer, Teacher; Railroaders At Heart

Freedom Medal Is Given J. V. Proctor

J. Virgil Proctor, '30, graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Engineering from Lexington, was awarded the Medal of Freedom by Gen. Curtis Lemay in ceremonies at the Army Air Forces Headquarters, Washington, D. C., last January.

Civilian member of the Operations Analysis Section, Headquarters, Twentieth Air Force, Mr. Proctor "performed meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy from January to September 1945," according to the citation which accompanied the award.

Mr. Proctor's service began with the Office of Scientific Research and Development in May 1944. After indoctrination at Princeton and M.I.T. he was sent to England where he worked with the Ministry of Home Security and with the Eighth Air Force Headquarters. The information he gleaned there was then transferred to the Pacific theater and applied to Japanese targets.

The UK graduate returned from Guam in September 1945 and established the Proctor-Ingels Engineers, Associated in Lexington.

UK MAN CREDITED FOR WORK ON JET ENGINE

Wilgus S. Broffitt, '38, formerly of Lexington, now attached to the Allison Division of the General Motors Corp., at Indianapolis, has been credited with being one of the engineers responsible for the development of the Model 400 Allison jet engine which recently powered a P-80 airplane to a world

WELCOME, PHARMACY COLLEGE GRADS!

It is with sincere pleasure that the University of Kentucky Alumni Association welcomes graduates of the Louisville College of Pharmacy into the ranks of Kentucky alumni.

At the June meeting of the association, in annual assembly at the Lafayette Hotel, the group voted membership to all graduates of the Louisville College of Pharmacy, and the response of these men has been enthusiastic and immediate. Many of them have already paid annual dues, a large group has taken out life memberships, and many have made substantial contributions to the Loyalty Fund. Their appreciation of the privilege extended to them, and their whole-hearted cooperation should prove an inspiration to graduates of the other colleges of the University.

ALUMNI TICKET PRIVILEGES

With the rejuvenation of Kentucky football last fall, brought about by an able young coaching staff and a greatly improved team, the demand for season tickets to home contests grew to the point that your Alumni Association became concerned with the possibility that the demand for tickets would be so general, that many paid-up alumni would be denied the privilege of seeing Kentucky play on Stoll Field this year. Because of this very real anxiety, your Association appealed to the Athletic Committee for priorities for alumni on home football games.

The Athletic Committee's problem in this regard was so great that it appointed a sub-committee to work out a feasible, fair plan, whereby all those men and women who, through the years, had supported Kentucky's athletic program, would have their chance to purchase season tickets.

This sub-committee finally worked out a plan whereby there would be two periods set aside for priority groups. The first one was to include faculty and staff; original donors to the stadium fund and contributors of $25 or more to the recent athletic fund drive; and men and women who had season tickets for three years prior to the 1946 season. The second priority group was set for paid-up alumni.

It is unfortunate that McLean stadium, built in the middle 1920's and, at that time, much too large for the demand for seats, should have been outgrown before the time when it will be possible to build additions to the concrete stands. But such is the fact, and the University, valiantly trying to accommodate all who wish to attend, has, in the emergency, purchased new steel bleacher to take care of the overflow.

To many of the alumni has fallen the lot of occupying seats in these steel bleachers, and, while they are not as desirable as stadium seats, they have made it possible for every paid-up alumnus who applied during the alumni priority period to obtain tickets to home games.

No alumnus regrets the current situation more than does the Alumni Association. It is an exigency of the times, and we hope that, although many of us will sit in the bleacher seats, all of us will accept the assignment in the spirit in which it was designed—that of providing, in an emergency, for those men and women who wished to see Kentucky play this year.

If an alert Alumni executive committee had not foreseen the emergency, many of you who came under the alumni ticket privileges would not have seen a single game on Stoll Field this season.

KING OF ENGLAND TO HONOR UK GRADUATE

Lt. Colonel Edward R. Young, B.S.C.E. 1926, Staff Engineer for the Eleventh Air Force, has received word that he will be called to the British Embassy in Washington to receive the insigne for the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, degree of Honorary Member of the Military Division, conferred upon him by His Majesty, the King of England, for meritorious service rendered at the Southern Base Section, Communications Zone, European Theatre of Operations, U. S. Army, for perfecting quartering of troops plan with cooperation of the British, greatly facilitating movement to the Continent.

Journalism To Have New Home On Campus

Architects' drawings have been made for a new building to house the department of journalism and publications at the University.

Plans include a basement partially above the ground level that will house the expanding print shop; journalism offices, publications, a few classrooms and laboratories in the first floor; and class rooms and laboratories on the second floor. All available space has been planned to give the maximum use which will make this one of the most efficient journalism instruction buildings in the country.

The building will extend 140 feet by 78 feet and will be situated in the center of the University campus, just north of McVey Hall which houses the present journalism classrooms and printery. Estimated cost is $420,000.

The architects, Wayne W. Haffler, '20, and Robert W. McMeekin, '21, Lexington, are now at work on the plans for the building under a loan-grant of $10,600 from the Federal Works Agency. There is possibility that construction will start next spring.

Dr. A. M. Peter, '80, Oldest Living Alumnus, Was 90 Last May 25

Dr. Alfred Meredith Peter, '80, emeritus professor of soils and technology at the University, celebrated his 90th birthday last May 25. As far as the Alumni office has been able to check, Doctor Peter is our oldest living alumnus.

Doctor Peter came to the University in 1872 as a student in the old preparatory department of the A & M College, going from that department into the college, from which he received the B.S. degree in 1880. He obtained his M.S. from the college in 1885 and the University conferred the honorary Doctor of Science degree on her distinguished alumnus in 1913.

Doctor Peter was one of the organizers and first president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association in 1889, and was first listed in the University catalog of 1879-80 as adjunct professor of chemistry and natural history.

At the age of 70 Doctor Peter was given a change of occupation status by the University, and in 1927 was given the title of emeritus professor.

FLASH!

The distinguished alumnus whose picture appears on the cover is the recently elected Governor of Kentucky. Future issues of the ALUMNUS will carry more detailed stories on his career—past and present—but just now, because of the time element in printing we must be content to salute the chief of our state government and to pay tribute to another of Alma Mater's noted sons.

UK Fields Teams In Four Sports

by Roy Steinfort, '46
Athletic Publicity Director

The University of Kentucky fielded teams in four sports—golf, tennis, track, and baseball—for competition this spring.

And of the quartet, the Wildcat golfers achieved the most successful results, winning 17 victories in a 19-match schedule.

Early in the season, the Wildcats mashed a tie with Notre Dame while defeating the University of Louisville in a triangular match.

Their one loss was to Southeastern Conference opponent Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Prior to the Atlanta defeat, however, Kentucky had beaten the Yellow Jackets in Lexington to preserve a perfect record on the Lexington Country Club course.

Other Southeastern foes to fall to the par-busting Kentuckians were Vanderbilt and Tennessee—and the much-hated Vols were twice nipped by the Wildcats, which in itself, made the season a tremendous success.

The track team, still in the stage of being rejuvenated from the war years, competed in only five meets and the annual Southeastern marathon. The final count for the season was three wins and two losses.

Both setbacks were close, however. Vanderbilt nosed out the Kentuckians 61-56, and Tennessee edged the 'Cats 59½-57½.

In the Southeastern meet at Birmingham, Kentucky qualified two men from the small squad which made the Southern sojourn. Don "Dopey" Phelps, who had recorded a 9.7 for the 100-yard dash during regular season competition, clocked a 9.9 to qualify for the century run. Jumbo Jim Weber qualified for field events.

Off to a poor start—which could partially be attributed to a rainy spring, the Wildcat baseballers closed fast to capture five of their last six contests to complete the season with seven wins and nine losses being marked in the

Jim Line Voted Outstanding Freshman

Winner of the Keys gold cup as the outstanding freshman for 1946-47 is Jim Line, engineering student from Akron, Ohio, and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, John Crockett, president of the sophomore leadership society, has announced.

This is the first year that the award has been made, Crockett said, adding that hereafter it will be an annual presentation to the outstanding Keys pledge.

Ol' Adolph will be Rupp and Ready again this basketball season.

Late in November when the Wildcats open their eighteenth campaign under Adolph Rupp's guidance, the Baron will be confronted again with one of those whirlwind 30 games schedules.

The schedule is still in the tentative stage, but Coach Rupp plans to open the campaign on the Alumni gym floor November 29 against a team which has yet to be selected.

The personnel situation is something like this. Three All-American guards—Ralph Beard, Jack Parkinson, and Jim Jordan—will be back along with All-American Center Alex Groza.

On the front line, Jack Tingle is gone along with Buddy Parker and Muff Davis via graduation, but there's Wah-Wah Jones, Joe Holland, Jim Line, and Dale Barnstable to fill in the gaps.

Ermal Allen, Kentucky's mighty mite, who's field generalship, running and forward passing have won him a permanent birth among the University's all-time grid greats, has signed a one-year contract with the Cleveland Rams of the professional football league.

Allen was granted a year's absence from the Kentucky coaching staff to try his fling at professional football.

youngster from Harlan walked off the field victorious. Vanderbilt was his first victim 8-0, then Tennessee fell 6-2, and Eastern bowed graciously 12-2.

Battling spring rains, the tennis team encountered a poor season, winning three matches and dropping five decisions to opponents. Squeezing practice in between the rain, the Kentuckians won their three matches, however, by decisive scores, taking Berea 8-1, and 9-0, and Xavier 7-0.

Ralph Beard Named Outstanding Athlete

Ralph Beard, all-American basketball player at the University of Kentucky, Oct. 7 was awarded a trophy as the outstanding amateur athlete of the year in Kentucky.

The award was made by the Kentucky Amateur Athletic Union at its annual dinner here. Beard is a Louisvillian.

Joseph D. Scholtz, former mayor and present Louisville postmaster, made the presentation. Adolph Rupp, basketball coach at the University, hailed Beard as one of the "finest boys and greatest athletes in America."

Beard has been nominated by the Kentucky AAU for the Sullivan award, a trophy presented annually to the leading amateur athlete of the nation.

Rupp scored penny-pinchers who opposed expansion of recreational activities in a community. "Boys like Beard," he said, "come from the playgrounds. Any money put into recrea-

Roy Steinfort, '46, of Covington, former sports writer for the Louisville Courier Journal, was named sports publicity director at the University last April.

Roy was graduated from the University in 1946 after returning from service, but would have been a member of the class of '43 except for the war. While a University student he served as part-time sports publicist for the school, and was sports editor of the Kentucky Kernel in 1941-'42.

The extremes—that's the way you could describe the Kentucky Wildcats in their first two games of the young 1947 gridiron campaign.

The opener, which the Wildcats blew to Ole Miss 14-7, was extremely bad, but the Kentuckians in their second game against the Cincinnati Bearcats looked extremely good, and to Ringmaster Paul Bryant, the 20-0 score favoring his battling eleven looked even better.

The Wildcats just weren't ready for the '47 debut down Oxford way, but the following week they were ready to kill or be killed.

The Cincinnati eleven, smarting from last season's 26-7 Kentucky upset, invaded Stoll Field September 20 with one single thought: revenge.

The 'Cats from the Bluegrass set them straight on that notion in the first half, and then went on to smack the cocky crew from Over-The-Rhine all over the field in the final two quarters.

After Kentucky's battling comeback against Cincinnati, the Ole Miss loss can be regarded as something of a fluke.

Cincinnati was a stronger eleven than Ole Miss, and the Wildcats found the Bearcats a tempting delicacy.

Individually, Kentucky had only one really outstanding performer in the season's early stages, the veteran Senior Center Jay Rhodemyre.

Rhodemyre was given advance notice as being All-American timber, and against Ole Miss and Cincinnati he more than lived up to that reputation.

But the season is still young. Some star will be made. Don (Dopey) Phelps was something of a sensation against Cincinnati when he ran for two touchdowns and set-up the third. More will be heard from the Danville comet before the campaign is concluded against Tennessee on Stoll Field, November 22.

YOU CANNOT HAVE A GREAT STATE ...

WITHOUT A GREAT UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON 29.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Your Excellency the Governor of Kentucky and Members of the General Assembly

Gentlemen:

This brochure has been prepared that you may be better informed with regard to the needs of your university. Today, the University is required to instruct twice as many students as it enrolled in prewar years. Each of its dollars will purchase only 56 cents worth of goods and services as compared with 1939.

Griffenhagen and Associates, an out-of-state agency, in a recent survey of the University recommended many additional expenditures if this institution is to meet its responsibilities to the youth and the adults of this state. It urged the appointment of 50 additional teachers, an additional appropriation of $100,000 for general university research, a higher salary scale, a budget for the engineering experiment station, a number of new buildings and repairs to many of the old buildings.

This bulletin furnishes you accurate information relative to what our neighbors are doing for their universities. Kentucky should match their efforts.

The state now has the largest surplus in its history. Much of this surplus should be invested in permanent improvements. We request you to invest a part of this surplus in the University where it will yield a dividend. The University does not ask for charity. It promises to return to the people a dividend on every dollar invested in the University of Kentucky. As an example of this I recite the fact that the work of the tobacco laboratory returns to the farmers of this state an annual income greater than the total investment of the state in its university over a period of twenty-five years.

You cannot have a great state without a great state university.

Cordially yours,

H. L. Donovan

FACULTY INCREASES LAG BEHIND GROWTH IN ENROLLMENT

Before the war, the peak enrollment at the University of Kentucky for any single term was 3,807 (fall, 1939).

Seven years later (fall, 1946) the enrollment had increased to 6,638—an increase of 74 per cent.

The teaching staff in 1939 numbered 374; in 1946 the number was 482—an increase of only 29 per cent.

Fifty-five classes now have more than 75 students each.

TO EMPLOY MORE TEACHERS THE UNIVERSITY
MUST HAVE MORE MONEY

THE REPORT OF GRIFFENHAGEN AND ASSOCIATES RECOMMENDS:

1. "A plan for building construction should take account of the urgency and importance of buildings to the operation of the university. The university's student enrollment has greatly increased since the winter of 1946 . . . the farm is a miniature farm for a state university. It is likewise true with respect to most of the rest of the plant that the university is a miniature university, trying to carry a heavy load." (p. 242)
2. The "university building program should include, for immediate construction if possible, a service building, expansion of the heating plant, two men's dormitories, a women's dormitory, a fine arts building, a dairy center, and repair to existing buildings." (p. 20) "Of the students who cannot commute to Lexington or who do not live at home, one-fourth are not accommodated in the university dormitory facilities." (p. 153)
3. "Some . . . buildings, such as dormitories, instruction buildings, and service building are badly needed. These should be first." (p. 241) "At present the only limitations on the number of enrolled students are the physical facilities of the university and the City of Lexington to house students and the facilities for instructing them . . . there is a backlog of veterans desiring to enter this and other state universities." (p. 25-26)
4. "An addition to the library building should be constructed so as to provide more stack room and more seating room for students." (p. 11)
5. "At first it was thought that the essential buildings could be constructed for $8,000,000. This would be sufficient to construct a number of the most essential buildings, but it would not be adequate, at present costs of materials and labor, to supply all of the desirable additional facilities and replacement of several old buildings that are too dangerous for further use. It would be hazardous to make cost estimates for a 10-year period. Building costs have greatly increased and the competition for building materials and skilled labor may result in further increases." (p. 243)
6. "Additional campus area is needed. . . . The experiment station farm should be expanded by the purchase of adjoining or nearby land and the university campus should be expanded by encroaching, to the extent necessary, on the university farm. It is suggested that the experiment station farm be increased by at least 500 additional acres." (p. 236-237)
7. "On the basis of student credit hours taught in the first quarter of 1946-47, it is indicated that about 50 additional instructors are required." (p. 107) ". . . there should be employed additional instructors in the colleges of arts and sciences and commerce to relieve excessive teaching loads in these colleges." (p. 8)

8. "The state can well afford to appropriate more money for organized research in fields other than agriculture. The general assembly should . . . appropriate to the university to be used as the deans and president, on the advice of their faculties, deem to be to the best advantage of the university and the state. It would be an excellent investment for the state to make an appropriation of $100,000, annually, for research and to increase the appropriation after research in the several departments becomes better established." (p. 125)
9. "Practical research is important to the people of Kentucky, to business and industry, education, agriculture, social life, and general living standards. With industry developing in Kentucky, it is about time that Kentucky develop research in engineering." (p. 125)
10. "The decrease in the value of the dollar makes the constitutional limitation too low for the maximum salary for professors and associate professors. It is necessary that the constitutional limitation be removed and that the top professional salaries be increased beyond that limit. . . . The Constitution should be so changed as to permit the payment of salaries that are in line with those of other land grant colleges and universities in the United States." (p. 79)
11. "It would be most uneconomical to establish a second school of medicine in Kentucky to train physicians. Also, it would be extremely bad policy for the state to support the school of medicine as a part of the University of Louisville, or to support any other part of a second university. Any professional schools that are supported by the state should be incorporated into the University of Kentucky without any condition whatever. The same would apply to dentistry and to nursing." (p. 69)

THE GRIFFENHAGEN SURVEY FINDS:

1. From the distribution of students "it may be concluded that the University of Kentucky renders widespread instruction service to the state." (p. 23)
2. "It is doubtful if any institution of comparable size has done more to meet the needs of the many veterans seeking admission." (p. 154)
3. "The administrative policy of the University of Kentucky regarding the allocation of dormitories to men students and the supervision of community housing for women students is particularly commendable." (p. 239)

4. "The library collection is strong in Americana of the southeastern region of the United States, with emphasis on travel. It also has one of the best collections on public finance in the South and the collection on rural economics and sociology, with special emphasis on tobacco cooperatives, is especially good." (p. 146)
5. "When compared with the university libraries of the 12 southern states, in terms of the total number of volumes and the number of volumes per student, the University of Kentucky has creditable standing." (p. 143)
6. "The university, although it is nonsectarian, is interested in the religious life of its students and cooperates with the religious programs of the community." (p. 171)
7. ". . . it must be concluded that the university administration, in establishing the University of Kentucky Athletic Association, Incorporated, took a step toward making the best of a bad situation, from an educational standpoint." (p. 173)
8. "The financial accounting system of the University of Kentucky has been greatly improved during the last six years, since the position of comptroller was established. . . . The comptroller is taking steps to further improve the accounting system." (p. 192)
9. "The disbursement procedure from the point of view of the university is carefully controlled." (p. 190)
10. "Recognition is here given to the fact that the present budget and procedures are far superior to those that prevailed before the present comptroller reorganized the business department." (p. 180)
11. "An examination of the sources of the degrees of the university faculty indicates that the members of the faculty with the doctors degree obtained their degrees from strong universities, many from the strongest universities in the United States." (p. 90)
12. "On the whole, the organization of the university is sound, and the relationships among positions are clear. . . . In general, functions and duties that should be together have been brought together, and effective lines of authority and responsibility for the personnel of the institution have been established." (p. 58)
13. "The general assembly wisely left the determination of the functions of the university, with a minimum of restrictions, to the board of trustees." (p. 27)

Kentucky Needs More College Graduates!

HOW MANY KENTUCKIANS ARE COLLEGE GRADUATES?

College graduates make up

3% of the adults in Kentucky,
5% of the adults in the nation, and 7% of the adults in California.

Only Arkansas has a smaller percentage of college graduates than Kentucky!

HOW MANY KENTUCKIANS ARE IN COLLEGE NOW?

In October, 1946, there were

26,530 students enrolled in Kentucky's overcrowded colleges.

But—

If this state equalled the national percentage of college attendance, there would be 44,000 college students in Kentucky.

WILL LACK OF FACILITIES CONTINUE TO KEEP KENTUCKIANS FROM GOING TO KENTUCKY COLLEGES?

TWO STATE UNIVERSITIES

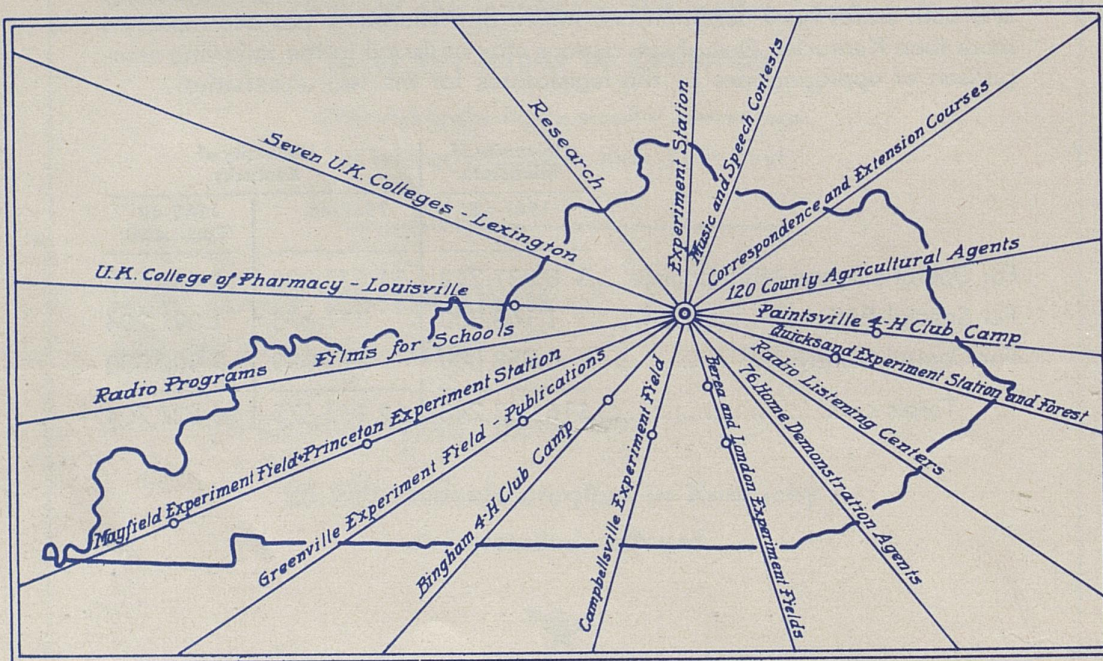

The states of Minnesota and Kentucky are comparable in certain important respects. The populations are almost identical, though the area of Minnesota is about twice as large as that of Kentucky. Both states are primarily agricultural. Minnesota is rich in iron ore deposits, while Kentucky has one of the best coal fields in the world. The University of Minnesota and the University of Kentucky were both founded in 1865. Both states have had approximately eighty years in which to build great institutions of higher learning, and both states have accomplished much. But Minnesota has accomplished more than Kentucky. One of the reasons may be found in the following comparison of appropriations by the legislatures for the two universities.

	University of Minnesota	University of Kentucky
	1947-48	1947-48	1948-49 (Requested)
For Operations and Maintenance	$ 8,337,248	$1,671,000	$2,536,500
For Special Projects	1,168,000	771,675	1,091,204
For Capital Outlay	6,558,000	525,000	3,000,000
Totals	$16,063,248	$2,967,675	$6,627,704

J. T. Cotton Noe's Eighth Book Of Verse Published By UK Press

A new volume of the verses of J. T. Cotton Noe, Kentucky poet and beloved former teacher at UK has been published by the University of Kentucky Press. This is the eighth volume of poetry by Dr. Noe, who was named Kentucky poet laureate by the General Assembly in 1926.

Called "Tip Sams Again," this latest collection includes recent work as well as a selection from previously published volumes.

Dr. Noe was born in Washington County, Kentucky, 83 years ago. After being graduated from Franklin College, in Indiana, in 1887, he taught in many Kentuckiana schools. He was at the University of Kentucky until his retirement in 1934, and during this time gave more than a hundred commencement addresses in this region. He now lives at 165 N. Carson Road,

Beverly Hills, Cal.

An example of his style is to be found in the final verse of "Tim Meek:"

"His lies had all the twang of wine;
Though not the truth, they were divine.

When Peter, standing by the gate,
Heard old Tim Meek prevaricate,
He swung the pearly portals wide,
And said, "You win, please step in-side."

New Mexico A & M Honors UK Man

Dr. Hugh M. Milton, II, B.S.M.E. '19, M.E. '22, until recently president of New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, has resigned to accept the position of superintendent of New Mexico Military Institute.

The new Student Union building at New Mexico A. & M. College, erected and furnished at a cost of nearly three quarters of a million dollars, has been named for Dr. Milton at the request of alumni of the school, because it was largely through his efforts that the Union was built.

The naming of a building for a living person breaks a long-standing tradition at New Mexico A & M College.

"Hebe" Honored By Associates, Friends

Tribute was paid to John George Heber, '38, for 25 years coach at Henry Clay High School in Lexington, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by high school alumni, Lexington associates and former University schoolmates, Friday night, Sept. 26 at 6:30 o'clock at the Phoenix Hotel.

He was a star football player for Kentucky during his undergraduate days, and a number of his teammates and fraternity brothers in Sigma Nu returned to Lexington for the testimonial dinner on Sept. 26.

Many gifts were presented the popular football mentor at the party, including $2,500 in war bonds, representing one hundred dollars for each year he has served Henry Clay as coach.

Microscope Is Presented To UK

A $15,000 electron microscope, to further scientific research at the University of Kentucky, has been presented to the University by the Keeneland Foundation.

At special dedicatory exercises held at the University on June 6, Governor S. S. Willis accepted the gift on behalf of the people of Kentucky, and President H. L. Donovan expressed the appreciation of the University. Dr. Morris Scherago, custodian of the microscope, thanked the Foundation on behalf of the University scientists.

Dr. Fred W. Rankin, chairman of the Keeneland Foundation Board of Trustees formally presented the microscope and explained the objectives of the foundation in aiding research and said that he hoped that the electron microscope "would be one of many instrumentalities that may be added in the future for the purpose of promoting research in Kentucky."

An explanation of the microscope's operation was given by Dr. O. F. Edwards, associate professor of bacteriology, who has received special training in its operation.

The mighty Baron, Adolph F. Rupp, signed a ten-year contract to coach at Kentucky last May 24. The contract is dated May 1, 1947.

Druggist, 81, Observes 60th Year At Sebree

Sells Groceries, Hardware, Too

Sebree, Ky.—Eighty-one-year-old William I. Smith hasn't had his fill of filling prescriptions yet.

On July 26 the good-humored druggist observed his 60th business anniversary at the same location here. And the word "retirement" hasn't entered his vocabulary.

It was in 1887 that Smith first hung out his "drug" sign here. Although his store has been destroyed twice by fire he never has moved from his first location.

Has Second Certificate.

When Smith began his practice of pharmacy only an apprenticeship of record or a diploma from an accredited school was required.

He was graduated from the A. & M. College which later became the University of Kentucky, and instead of returning to his home town of Zion he came to Sebree to open shop.

The man who holds the second registered pharmacist's certificate in the state began work in a small frame building. He saved his money by sleeping in the back of the building and received a week's board for $2.

Never Has Held a 'Sale.'

Five years later he had a brick building constructed and used the frame store as a warehouse. A fire destroyed the new building which was rebuilt and destroyed again in 1908. The larger store which replaced it still is being used by Smith.

Only three lines of merchandise—drugs, groceries, and hardware—have been handled by Smith, and his drug account is the oldest active one on the books of Charles Leich & Sons.

In his 60 years of business he never has held a "sale." His business motto is "Quality remains long after price is forgotten."—Story and newspaper cut, courtesy Louisville Courier Journal.

The University of Kentucky added its seventh college on July 1st with the transfer of the administration of the Louisville College of Pharmacy to the University. However, the school will continue to operate in Louisville until all students now enrolled have completed their work. New students will begin nonprofessional subjects of their study on the Lexington campus this fall.

James E. Henry, '37, of 203 Parkwood Dr., Dayton, O., chief of the aerial photogrammetry unit, photographic laboratory, Wright Field, is credited with development of a new mechanical device which greatly improves aerial photographic techniques.

Operating in conjunction with Shoran radar equipment, the development permits flying straight and parallel flight lanes in aerial mapping and charting.

Termed the "straight line indicator," an experimental model of the development already has enabled the flying of 125-mile flights with a general deviation of only 250 feet from pre-set courses. Perfected models are expected to narrow this deviation to 100 feet or less.

The combined electronic and mechanical operations of Shoran equipment and the indicator provides the pilot of a photo plane with an immediate, visual and precise indication on his instrument panel of any right or left drift from a straight line mapping course.

Mrs. Henry, the former Ruth E. Forman of Lexington, was graduated from the University in 1935.

Robert B. Hensley, '36, and Fred B. Redwine, '46, have formed the law firm of Hensley and Redwine, with offices at 227 S. Fifth St., located in the Fifth Street branch of the Liberty National Bank and Trust Company in Louisville. Mr. Hensley opened the office upon his return from military service and later formed the association with Mr. Redwine.

Kenneth Agee Fugett, B.S. in Agriculture, 1942, of Stamping Ground, Ky., was awarded the Master of Science degree at the commencement exercises at the University of Minnesota last June.
