Grateful Med

The Medical Center Library has received notification that the National Library of Medicine has funded the "Grateful Med Outreach Project for Southeast Kentucky." This is an eighteen month project for the MC Library to design and conduct programs to introduce online searching via Grateful Med to health professionals in underserved areas and to provide them with a link to information services from health science libraries. The project is a cooperative venture with the Southeast Kentucky Area Health Education Center Library and will cover health providers in 16 counties in that region. The project director is Janet Stith.

From the "Watch Out Where You Strip" Department

The following important information concerning the placement of security strips was printed in a recent issue of the Heckman Bindery Newsletter:

"When inserting detection devices into individual serial issues, please be sure to place them in the center of the gutter margins. When detection devices are placed near the head or tail of the text block, trimming becomes difficult and in many cases will not be performed.

"Also, when placing detection devices in signature issues, be sure you do not insert them in the center fold. Otherwise we must remove them prior to sewing. The removal of such devices can amount to a substantial time charge and in many cases may damage the serial issue."

This same advice would apply to pamphlet-type monographs that might be sent to the commercial bindery.

Preservation Planning Program Update

The ARL Preservation Planning Program being conducted by the UK Libraries has entered the final phase of the nine-month study. The five task force reports have been submitted and the Study Team is preparing the final report, to be completed in December. Consultant Michele Cloonan will visit the Libraries on November 2 to meet with the Study Team and Task Force members for the third and final time. The Study Team expresses its appreciation to all of the task force members for their assistance and hard work over the past few months.

Call For Presentations

The KLA Academic Library Section is interested in receiving from its members proposals for 30-minute presentations to be given at the ALS spring conference April 11-12, 1991 at Barren River Lake State Resort Park. The conference theme centers on increasing access through improved services and cooperation. The conference is jointly sponsored by the Kentucky and Tennessee Library Associations' Academic sections. Suggested topics include:

Library Networks: Local, State, Regional, National -- Their Impact on Academic Libraries
Preservation Programs & Activities
Cooperative Cataloging, Union Listing. (among others)

To submit a proposal, send a 200-word abstract of your presentation by November 26, 1990 to Judy Sackett, Preservation Dept., King Library.

Symposium Planned

American Librarians at Oxford

The 1991 Oxford/Oklahoma seminar is an exciting opportunity for American librarians who wish to enrich their professionalism and learn more about the resources of one of the most distinguished libraries in the world. Held at Oxford's Bodleian Library, this 14th annual session is a cooperative venture between Oxford University and the School of Library and Information Studies at the University of Oklahoma.

Seminar participants will hear English perspectives on such topics as the education of librarians, computerization in library systems, research, and manuscript and other special collections.

In addition to the consideration of these common issues, participants will be encouraged to pursue individual study interests. Tours, excursions, and social activities will add to the seminar experience.

The seminar fee of $985 includes all seminar instructional activities and library field trips. Transportation, housing, and personal expenses are not included in the basic seminar fee.

If you have any questions about the Oxford/Oklahoma seminar, contact: CLS Oxford Seminar, 1700 Asp Avenue, Norman, OK 73037-0001.

Pats On The Back

Bernie Baldini, Asst. Director for Technical Services in the Medical Center Library, has been accepted into the Medical Library Association Academy of Health Information Professionals. This certification is a widely recognized credential of personal accomplishment and professional responsibility.

The following letters were received recently:

"Dear Sir or Madam:

I would like to extend a well earned thank you to Carla [Cantagallo] in the Reference Department. She is a credit to your library and the University of Kentucky.

Sincerely,
Byron Jacobs

To Russell Powell:

"Thanks again for your willingness to introduce our Elements of Mining students to the Engineering Library's holdings and to the capabilities of your staff. It is indeed important that we expose our students to these resources early in their career.

Please pass along my sincere thanks to Adil Razeeq for the fine job he did in hosting the two tour groups. His interest in the students' development of library skills is most appreciated. I especially appreciate his efforts in recommending a search strategy for each student's research topic.

Sincerely,
G. T. Lineberry
Associate Professor
