FOREWORD

This bulletin contains a list of the educational and training institutions in an approved status as of January 31, 1949, for the education and training of veterans under the provisions of Public Law 346, 78th Congress. This bulletin supplements and supersedes the bulletin dated August 1945, Vol. XII, No. 6, published by the State Department of Education.

This bulletin has been revised to bring up to date the list of currently approved institutions and flying services so that it will be of more service to the various persons and agencies, in Kentucky and other states, requesting information concerning the program of education for veterans.

The Veterans Administration will be notified by the State Department of Education immediately upon approval of other educational and training institutions, as well as withdrawal for any reason of approval of institutions contained herein.

This bulletin was prepared by the Bureau of Vocational Education, State Department of Education. For further information concerning the educational offerings and other matters, such as living conditions, housing and the like, veterans should make inquiries of the respective institution.

PREFACE

The revision of this bulletin is the result of numerous requests for information concerning the program of education for veterans in Kentucky.

This bulletin includes all institutions, public and private, as well as flying services, currently on the approved list.

The revision of the bulletin was made possible through the cooperation of the Veterans Administration. The Manager of the Regional Office of the Veterans Administration made it possible for his staff to cooperate with members of the staff of this department in preparing the copy for this bulletin.

We recommend the use of this bulletin to persons interested in the institutions and flying services approved to offer training to veterans who are eligible to receive training under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

- I. The veteran makes application on VA Form 7-1950 (June 1948) to the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 1405 West Broadway, Louisville 3, Kentucky. This form may be obtained from any Veterans Administration Office. It must be accompanied by acceptable documentary evidence of active service; i.e., a certified or photostatic copy of the official certificate of service.
 - II. Upon receipt of application and documentary evidence, the Veterans Administration will determine the eligibility of the veteran for education and training, and, if eligible, issue VA Form 7-1953 (June 1948), "Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement." This certificate will show total period of eligibility in terms of years, months and days. The eligibility is determined by adding one calendar year to the number of months of active service, other than dishonorable, on or after September 16, 1940, and prior to July 26, 1947, with a maximum of four calendar years. It will take approximately three weeks for the Veterans Administration to issue a Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement; therefore, it is advisable for the veteran to make application approximately thirty days in advance of the date he contemplates entrance into training.
 - III. Upon receipt of the Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement, the veteran will endorse the original and the copy of the certificate by completing Part II of VA Form 7-1953 (June 1948), and will present the original and the copy of the certificate so endorsed to the school or training establishment at the time he begins his course of education and training. The Veterans Administration will not be responsible for a period of training pursued prior to the effective date of the certificate.

Action by School or Training Establishment

1. Determine that the veteran has completed Part II, VA Form 7-1953 (June 1948).
2. Endorse certificate by completing the appropriate section of Part III, giving all requested information concerning the veteran's course of education and training.
3. Execute VA Form 7-1921, "Application for Course of Institutional On-Farm Training," on all institutional on-the-farm cases, rather than VA Form 7-1953 (June 1948).

4. Forward all required forms to the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 1405 West Broadway, Louisville 3, Kentucky, promptly after the veteran begins his course, retaining the copy of the certificate marked "Copy for School or Training Establishment." In order to insure that enclosures will not be detached, all documents should be securely stapled together before forwarding to the Veterans Administration.

IV. In all cases the school or establishment will be responsible for assuring itself that the veteran has not previously received education or training under Public Law 346 or Public Law 16. If veteran has had previous training he must have approval of the Veterans Administration before he can change his course and/or place of training. A Supplemental Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement, clearly marked as such, may be accepted by the school or training establishment in full faith, provided it is issued for the exact course, since its issuance by the Veterans Administration was in consideration of any prior periods during which the veteran pursued education or training under the law.

V. When an institution or establishment in which a veteran is pursuing a course of education or training under Public Law 346 recommends a related course of instruction at another institution as part of the veteran's present course, the veteran's enrollment may be approved, but the Veterans Administration will not issue a Supplemental Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement for this purpose. Procedure in lieu of the certificate is as follows:

1. VA Form Letter FL 7-14, "Request for Related Instruction," must be executed by the principal institution or establishment and sent to the Veterans Administration Office having jurisdiction over the territory in which such institution is located.
2. The Education and Training Section approves or disapproves the request for related instruction, and, if disapproved, so advises the principal institution, stating the reason therefor.
3. If approved, the Registration and Research Section, Veterans Administration Regional Office, will execute and distribute VA Form Letter FL 7-15, "Authorization for Related Instruction," to the principal institution or establishment.

4. When the veteran commences related instruction, the institution providing such instruction will execute and distribute VA Form Letter FL 7-16, "Notice of Entrance into Related Instruction," and forward it to the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 1405 West Broadway, Louisville 3, Kentucky.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Veterans may want to return to high school to prepare for college entrance, or to increase their civic and vocational efficiency. Interested veterans should get in touch with the principal of the school they plan to attend. The principal should then assist the veteran in planning his educational program.

The need for giving high school credit for educational experiences while in the Armed Forces has been recognized by the State Board of Education in the regulations passed on September 15, 1944. A summary of these regulations follows:

A Summary of Regulations Regarding High School Credit for Educational Experience in Military Service

1. Credit toward high school graduation may be allowed for educational experience in military service on the basis of recommendations made by the United States Armed Forces Institute, Madison 3, Wisconsin.
2. The pupil desiring such credit should request the Armed Forces Institute to send a complete record of his educational training and experience to the high school which he designates.
3. The local school should give special attention to the following items in evaluating the Institute's reports regarding Specialized Training Courses:
 - (a) the name of each course successfully completed.
 - (b) the grade made in each course successfully completed.
 - (c) the number of clock hours spent in each course successfully completed.
 - (d) in such courses 180 clock hours is the minimum time allotment for one unit of credit; 90 clock hours is the minimum time allotment for one-half unit of credit.
4. Off-duty educational courses such as correspondence courses should be evaluated by the local school on the basis of information furnished by the Institute.
5. Before a pupil may receive a diploma from an accredited high school under these regulations, the following conditions must be met:

- (a) At least twelve (12) units of high school work in regular attendance during the regular term must be completed. Variations from this standard must be approved by the State Director of Supervision.
 - (b) The regular subject requirements of the school granting the diploma must be met.
 - (c) The educational experience and achievement reported by the Armed Forces Institute should be evaluated in terms of units and must bring the total amount of credit up to sixteen units in order to qualify the pupil for graduation.
 - (d) Not more than two units of credit may be given for the completion of the various Basic or Recruit Training Programs.
6. Veterans who wish high school credit for educational or training experiences while in the Armed Forces should use the application blank, "Application for Educational Achievement During Military Service", USAFI Form 47, Revised Sept. 1944. Complete page one and mail to the Armed Forces Institute, Madison 3, Wisconsin. The Institute will complete and return to the principal of the high school designated by the veteran.
7. To assist him in the evaluation of the military training of the application as certified by the Institute, the principal should:
- (a) read very carefully the instructions accompanying the completed Form 47.
 - (b) consult the handbook, "A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experience in the Armed Forces", published by the American Council on Education, 1201 Sixteenth Street, Washington, D. C.
 - (c) consult the pamphlet, "Earning Secondary School Credit in The Armed Forces," published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, 363 Administration Building, Urbana, Ill

TRAINING FACILITIES AVAILABLE IN KENTUCKY'S VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS

Kentucky has twelve Area Vocational Schools for white persons. Each school serves several districts. For the most part these schools are operated by the local boards of education in cooperation with the State Department of Education, Division of Vocational Education. One similar school is operated for the benefit of Negroes. Facilities are available in each of these vocational school centers for training in many trades. Training in retail occupations is available in or under the direction of each Area Vocational School. The objectives of each course in all of these schools are to make persons employable in a specific occupation.

The vocational schools are so located throughout the state that those discharged veterans whose interests, needs, and aptitudes indicate the desirability of vocational trade training will find it convenient to enroll.

The facilities available for vocational training in trades and industries and retail occupations are described below. For the convenience of interested persons, the name and address of the superintendent of schools or other persons in charge of the local school unit is given, as well as that of the coordinator in charge of the various Area Vocational Schools. Contact with any particular school should be made through the superintendent or coordinator.

Discharged members of the Armed Forces who desire refresher training in an occupation, or who wish to prepare themselves for a specific occupation, should get in touch with the school nearest them which offers the desired training.

Courses Offered in Trades and Industrial and Retail Occupations in Area Vocational Schools

Each of these schools has facilities available for training in some or most of the occupations listed below.

Trades and Industries: Auto Mechanics, Barbering, Chef Training, Electrical Wiring, Foundry, Industrial Electricity, Machine Shop Practice, Masonry, Plumbing and Heating, Printing (hand composition), Printing (press work), Linotype Operation, Radio Service, Refrigeration Service, Sheet Metal, Welding, Woodworking (carpentry), Woodworking (cabinet making), and other building trades.

Retail Occupations: Sales Training for—department, variety, shoe, hardware and grocery stores, restaurants and similar businesses. Merchandise Training including—men's and women's wear, textiles, groceries, hardware and similar lines of merchandise. Business Promotion including—advertising, showcard writing and window and interior display. Management Training including—starting a small business, record keeping, employer-employee relations, business speech, business arithmetic, how to train an employee, and other similar supervisory training courses.

There are two types of trade and industrial training programs which returning veterans may want to enter besides full-time in-school training.

Apprentice Training: This training program is controlled by the State Department of Industrial Relations, Frankfort, Kentucky, and carried on through the cooperation of industry, labor, the vocational schools and the apprentice in recognized trades or occupations requiring 4,000 hours or more of on-the-job experience plus a minimum of 144 hours a year of supplementary technical instruction in a school.

Establishments eligible for approval have either submitted a written program of apprenticeship or they are participants in such a program.

The apprenticeship agreement specifies the schedule of processes, the approximate amount of time to be spent in each process, and the wage scale throughout the program of indenture. The wage scale must average at least 50 per cent of the journeyman's wage during the period of indenture.

On-the-Job Training: Establishments wishing to offer On-the-Job training (for two years or less) are approved for this type of training on the basis of a written program. The written program is specific in regard to such factors as: the quality of the instruction and supervision provided by the establishment; the provision of adequate facilities for training; a well organized sequence of job-experiences with provision made for the proper time allotment for each experience; keeping adequate progress records, and the payment of a progressive wage scale for the period of training, leading to a trained worker's salary.

Detailed information may be secured from the local coordinators of the Area Vocational Schools. Mr. Watson Armstrong, Chief of the Bureau of Vocational Education, Frankfort, Kentucky, or Mr. Harold G. Wilson, Director of Trade and Industrial Education, Frankfort, Kentucky, can also be contacted with regard to the question of trade and industrial or distributive education.

Plan of Operation: All Area Vocational Schools in Kentucky operate in accordance with the State Plans for Vocational Education which assure a sound program of instruction in mechanical skills, supplementary instruction for young workers in trades and distributive occupations and extension training for adult workers.

Admission Requirements: Because of the technical requirements for a person to become a highly skilled mechanic in a modern trade, it is desirable that trainees be high school graduates when enrolling in specific trade courses. However, students will be admitted if found to have enough general educational background to benefit by the instruction.

School Terms: Full-time day trade courses in specific trades are scheduled for 22 months in most cases. Some courses are operated for 11 months. The schools are closed during the month of August for summer vacation. Students may enter courses at any time during the year to pursue the complete course of 22 months or 11 months, as the case may be. However, a trainee may complete his training with recognition from the school at the end of 12 weeks if the instructor is assured that he has employment in the trade for which he is in training and has acquired sufficient skills to perform the duties in the situation.

Employment: The Area Vocational Schools are not employment agencies, however, the names of trainees who are finishing training are turned over to the State Employment Service for placement. Many employers contact the school direct and take the trainees as they complete training.

INSTITUTIONAL ON-FARM TRAINING

Institutional on-farm training in Kentucky is offered by public high schools having departments of vocational agriculture, in cooperation with the Bureau of Vocational Education, State Department of Education, Frankfort.

An eligible veteran may elect to pursue institutional on-farm training either as a self-employed farmer or as a farm-employee, in accordance with the provisions set forth in this publication.

This training program shall consist of two integrated parts and shall be a full-time training program for those in training.

1. Instruction

a. Class instruction in agriculture at the high school where the veteran is enrolled. This instruction shall be of at least 200 class hours per year, given as the course of study outlined herein.

b. On-farm instruction

(1) At least 100 hours per year for self-employed veterans, 50 hours of which must be individual instruction, on the veteran's home farm, provided through at least two instructional visits each month (24 per year).

(2) At least 50 hours per year for farm-employee veterans, 25 hours of which must be individual instruction, on the farm on which the veteran is employed, provided through at least one instructional visit each month (12 per year).

2. Practice in the Use of Improved Farming Practices

a. Each self-employed veteran shall have a farming program on a farm under his own control, of sufficient scope to use all of his time not taken up in class or individual instruction. He shall put into use in his farming program those improved farming practices in which he has had class or individual instruction and that are applicable to his situation.

b. Each farm-employee veteran shall spend all of his time not taken up in class or individual instruction in performing those jobs and improved farming practices agreed upon in his training schedule, under the immediate instruction of his employer in cooperation with his teacher.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE TRAINING

1. For Self-Employed Farmers

The aim is to provide full-time training in farming that will better enable the veteran to make a good living through farming and live well on his farm. The following objectives should be reached, insofar as possible, by each man enrolled in the training:

- a. Have a good, well-balanced farming program that can grow toward good size of farm business.
- b. Become progressively well established in farming as a farm-owner, or in some other favorable farming situation.
- c. Use good farm-management practices.
- d. Use good practices in producing and marketing his livestock and crops.
- e. Plan and get into operation a good program of soil use and improvement.
- f. Plan and get into operation a good program for improving the farm home, buildings, fences, water supply, and the like.
- g. Construct and repair farm equipment, and care for and repair farm machinery.
- h. Produce and properly conserve much of the family food supply.

The degree to which a man may reach these objectives will depend on his status and ability at the beginning of the training, his ability to make progress, and the length of time he may pursue the training. It is assumed that few men will be able to reach high attainment in all of these objectives in less than four years in training.

2. For Farm-Employees

The aim is to provide full-time training in some skilled farming occupation (such as farm manager, livestock herdsman, shepherd, poultryman, truck gardener, or orchardist) that will enable the veteran to become a skilled farm employee.

The following objectives should be reached, insofar as possible, by each man enrolled in the training:

- a. Become progressively well established as an employee in a favorable farming situation in the farming occupation for which he is training.
- b. Have the ability to use the improved farming practices in his farming occupation.
- c. Produce and properly conserve much of the family food supply.

It is assumed that a man should reach a satisfactory degree of attainment in these objectives with two years of training.

Local boards of education, through their administrative officers, have local administration of institutional on-farm training. The Bureau of Vocational Education has state administration of the program through a contract with the Veterans Administration. The Bureau of Vocational Education contracts with local boards of education to provide the training and administer the program locally.
