ABOUT THE LIBRARIES

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES LIBRARY HOURS

The Saturday library hours of the Biological Sciences Library will be changed from 8:00 AM -- 12:00 noon to 1:00 PM -- 5:00 PM. This change will become effective September 15, 1979.

NEW PERSONNEL

The following five people have joined the professional staff this month:

Yvonne Chandler, who has a B.A. from Clark College and an MLS from Atlanta University, has joined the Reference Department. While in library school, Yvonne worked as an intern in the Coca Cola Business Information Center.

Catherine High has joined the Reference Department on a temporary appointment to provide coverage for the Business Library. Cathy has a B.A. from Carson-Newman College and her MSLS from the University of Tennessee. Prior to coming to Lexington, Cathy worked for three years as a reference librarian at the Memphis-Shelby County Public Library.

Cheryl Nyberg is the new circulation librarian at Law. Cheryl has a B.A. in English and an MLS from the University of Illinois where she worked in the law library and in general circulation.

Maureen O'Brien is the new Photographic Archives assistant. She has a B.A. from the University of Massachusetts and a library degree from Simmons College. In addition to her cataloging and circulation experience at the University of San Francisco, Maureen has worked with manuscripts and photographs in the special collections area of MIT.

Ebba Jo Sexton, who has worked both in our cataloging department and Music Library, has returned to take the temporary vacancy of music cataloger. Ebba Jo has both her Bachelor of Music Education and her MLS from Kentucky.

UK FACULTY WRITERS READ

Six UK faculty members will read their prose, poetry and translations in a new series on Tuesday evenings in the Gallery, King Library North. The programs begin at 8 PM and will be on 18 September, 9 and 30 October, 13 November, and 4 December.

In the first program, 18 September, Guy Davenport, professor of English, will read from his recent collection of stories, Da Vinci's Bicycle (John Hopkins, 1979), and other works.

The following program, 9 October, presents Elizabeth Libbey, a poet and new member of the faculty of the expanding creative writing program at the University. A prominent Kentucky writer, Gurney Norman, will read on 30 October. His most recent collection of stories, Kinfolks, is set in Kentucky. Another Kentuckian, Jane Gentry Vance, will read her poetry on 13 November. Joining Ms. Vance on the 13 November program will be Charles Rowell, editor of Callaloo and Acting Dean of Undergraduate Studies. The final program in the series will be a reading by poet Barry Spacks, visiting professor of creative writing from MIT.

The series is sponsored by the University of Kentucky Libraries and the Department of English. The public is welcome; admission is free.
