THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Entered at the Post Office at Lexington, Kentucky, as second class matter under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Lexington Board of Commerce National College Press Association Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association International News Service

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER?

Extravagant social expenditures have long been a subject of debate at the University—much has been said pro and con on the subject.

On last Saturday this rule was violated by its very maker and with dire consequences. These consequences consisting of a deficit of approximately $100 on the dance that was given, principally due to the fact that the Council spent beyond the limits for an orchestra.

That it was unwise to pay such a price for a band was doubtless realized beforehand by the organization or at least it should have been, due to the fact that this very subject has been the topic of much debate on the Council for the past few years.

It will be recalled by the older students that the very same thing which caused the disbanding of the old Panhellenic Council, forerunner of the Interfraternity Council, was the assessment made on the various fraternities to make up a deficit on the Greek Ball of that year.

The mere fact that technically the rule concerning expenditures for dances was not passed until after negotiations had been started for a band does not excuse the action of the Council in the matter.

The Kernel therefore criticizes the action of the Council in this matter, but at the same time giving just praise to the dance which was a success as far as those who attended are concerned, and expresses the hope that the difficulty may be solved without impairment to the effectiveness of the Interfraternity Council, which is really a very worthwhile organization.

OUR BRITISH COUSINS HAVE IT ON US

One advantage of the British system of government is that elections are irregular and unexpected, and are usually held with a minimum of disturbance. For instance, there has been no election there since 1931, and none needed to occur by law until expiration of a five-year period.

Prime Minister Baldwin, feeling his policies generally approved, decided to call an election now instead of waiting until opposition strength might improve. Consequently on October 23 he announces that a commons election would be held on November 14. Three weeks notice!

How different from the United States, in which with our fixed election date the country begins to feel election fever from eight to fifteen months ahead of time. Likely candidates accept more invitations to make public speeches, while announcements and policies of the administration are gauged for their effect on the electorate.

Our British cousins have it on us in this respect. Instead of knowing for months ahead of the necessary visit to the dentist, they are given short notice and consequently little time for apprehension and worry. "This may hurt a little," says "Doc" Baldwin, "but we'll be finished in three weeks."—Star-Herald, Scotsbluff, Neb.

HOW NOT TO DO BUSINESS

A Wright county merchant once went out of business. While in business he made no money for himself. He succeeded in keeping his competitors from making money.

He landed in the county with a stock of goods, and announced that he would undersell his competitors. If his competitors offered merchandise at a dollar, he announced that his price would be 90 cents.

When he went out of business he owed a large sum of money. He settled with his creditors on a basis of about 10 cents on the dollar.

His idea of business was to cut the price. That is all that he knew about business. As a result he chalked up a miserable failure, folding his tent, and quit.

Not only did he lose his money but he deprived his competitors of a profit, and the trade was demoralized. And his creditors footed the bill. It even caused other business houses to fail, and because of no fault of their own.

No community can thrive unless people do business make a profit. This applies to merchants, farmers, industrialists, and all. When some fellow thinks he can outsmart the rest of the crowd by elimination of profit he is nothing short of ridiculous. It costs money to operate a business, and anyone who thinks he can escape this cost is absurd.—Independent, Belmond, Iowa.

NEW LAND AT HOME

A practical answer to Italy's demand for additional territory to relieve population pressure comes from Dr. O. W. Willcox. His latest book, "Nations Can Live at Home," explains that strict application of scientific methods to crop production would result in a sufficient food supply to nations now dependent.

In a scientifically based answer, Willcox concludes that the earth can easily support thirty-three times the present population, which would postpone the advent of general Malthusian saturation something like 1,000 years, even if there should be no slackening of the rate of increase. Although the world's population remains as unevenly distributed as it is today, the "have-not" governments need not seek additional territory if scientific farming methods are employed.

Even such uncertain weather complications as droughts, floods, frosts and insect plagues need not upset the production balance. Such a scientific plan would destroy the generally accepted alternatives to gradual starvation that have been resorted to in the past. Nations have turned to reduction of birthrates to bring the population to a standstill or have engaged in wars of conquest.

Willcox's plan offers a peaceful way out, not only for Italy but also for Germany and Japan. Although it may appear somewhat theoretical for the present, it does approach the general problem of the world from a logical standpoint. Until the underlying causes for war are removed, the international parleys for peace will prove as futile as the League of Nation's attempt to prevent Mussolini from invading Ethiopia.—The Oklahoma Daily.

FEAR AND INTELLIGENCE

Everywhere, up and down Europe, the fighting men and the fighting machines are gathering. And for what—if not because every nation is deathly afraid of every other?

It is a tragic commentary on this generation's inability to come to grips with its fundamental problems. In all these warlike countries the basic difficulty is the same—unemployment, stagnant business, the baffling complexities of a society which has learned how to multiply the production of goods, but has hardly begun to learn how to distribute them among its people.

As long as fear rules, the powers must pile up great armies, hold maneuvers on a scale only less expensive than war itself, fill the sky with grimly droning air squadrons, and get the costly gray warships aloft on the seas.

The money, the energy and the devotion that might go to make life easier for millions of people must instead be spent to prepare for death and destruction.

Here is a man, arrived at last at the point where every human being in the world could be provided food and shelter and all the comforts and luxuries of modern civilization, with a minimum of properly apportioned labor. He possesses the machinery, every factor necessary to that long visioned goal—except the intelligence to properly use them.—Leader-Times, Kittanning, Pa.

Princeton students can now cut as much as they like, so long as their "standing remains unimpaired."

And so again we must lead off this column reprinting the gripers on the campus. The general consensus of opinion of the student body was for a rather strong, bold social column, and as this department aims to please, we tried to satisfy.

After a time it became evident that the boldness of the copy apparently shocked a few people. Now it has come to our attention that there is a handful of students who are not pleased with some of the items published herein. So we placed, please bear with us, and if anyone knows of a means whereby we may please everyone concerned, let us please step forward and present the plan to accomplish such a feat.

The Roses

Who is this little girl from Winchester who had the whole football team in a class, and continues to keep them going? What, you don't know? She's the little girl who is the recipient of the roses this week. Yep, none other than the bedimpled Billie Holliday. She certainly has the local boys going around in circles.

The following is a letter to this department which is worthy of space: "Something to bear watching—PLACE—Benton's Tavern TIME—Any Friday between eight and nine.

Fun Mail

Frances Woods, UK beauty queen, had a picture published in an Indianapolis paper. Several medical students at the University of Indiana saw her countenance gracing the pages of the sheet, and decided to become acquainted. What a letter Frances received. These Yankees are certainly bold devils.

Debauchery

From a recent press dispatch we learn that George Levy's "dating bureau" at M. I. T. made a survey which revealed some interesting sidelights concerning Greater Boston co-eds. It discloses the fact that fifty per cent of the girls smoke and that eighty-five per cent drink.

Questions and Answers

Question: Why was it that Mahatma Gandhi had to leave college? Answer: Because all of the girls wanted his pin.

Pinnins

The dashing young president of Delta Chi has placed his pin upon the frame of luscious Gerry Gilbert.

Congratulations to you two—nice going. Ken. You hooked a mighty sweet little gal.

George Kerler was initiated into the secrets of Sigma Nu last Wednesday. As soon as the rites were over, he borrowed Jim Allen Moore's jewelry pin, left the house, and hooked on the lafayette blouse worn by his love of many years, Evelyn McAllister. Did you know who's pin you had, Evelyn?

Drippings from the Quill

It may interest the Deltas way out there where the air smells of pastures that their house boy, James Duncan, was recently married. Funny you boys didn't know about it.

Happy birthday to Mickey McKee way up there at Smith College, and hello to all of the girls in Mandell Annex. Understand that the wife of one of Kentucky's top footballers expects a blessed event soon (apologies to Walt Winchell)...

SHOP SIGHTS

By BETTY EARLE

Probably by this time you've made out your Christmas list including everybody from Cousin Milton to the dog. While you're waiting for the brilliant ideas to crop out, here are just a few suggestions that might help.

Denon's has one of the cleverest and most unique selections yet—a new gift counter on the second floor, featuring Vogue and House and Garden's "Fifty Christmas Gifts"—and they're really nifty, too.

A corresponding one for the girls is also on a leather thong—square, black and gold metal case about an inch and a half across.

And more for us gals—good-looking suede belts with detachable initials in gold or silver; dressing cases and cosmetic kits with all the fixings; a comb and prophylactic brush in a rubber-lined bag. The "Little Shaver" really cuts 'em down, though—a tiny case containing the littlest razor you ever saw, blades and brush in the opposite end! And for evening, the latest is mittens—no foolin', they are mittens—in black or white, or crushed ermine velvet.

If you're at your wit's end about what to buy "her," take Wolf-Wile's advice—"there's no finer gift than famous Wolf-Wile's gloves." The price is very reasonable—$2.95 to $5.00, in pigskin, suede, or kid. The cleverest of all was a pair of white pigskin, handstitched, with a new double-button fastening on the top of the wrist—something she'll never get herself, cause she's too practical.

Turning back to the men, watch for the monogram pavilion Graves-Cox will feature this week—new monogrammed shirts especially for this season. Their Paisley and Hunt Club pajamas are quite nice, too, particularly the latter. Then there are all sorts of gloves—Mocha, a new soft kind—capelin, or pigskin. You have your choice of linings, fur, wool, or none at all—but- not zip fastenings—plain or hand-stitching—gray, black or brown.

Claude Stone Pierce, A. B. '05, was a welcome visitor at the Alumni office, Dec. 5. After graduation, Mr. Pierce taught in the Philippine Islands from 1906 until 1916. Then he returned to the United States and became located at Tallulah, La., where he is a cotton planter and merchant. His last visit to the University was in 1919. He was accompanied by his brother, George B. Pierce, who was also a former student '03 and now resides at Burlington, Ky.

Grover C. Tompson, LL. B. '10, was elected president of the Mountain club at its annual election at the Phoenix hotel, Friday, Nov. 22. The Mountain club has a membership of about 600 and meets quarterly. The annual banquet of the club will be held Jan. 30 at the Phoenix hotel. Many of the leading professional and business men of Lexington are members of the Mountain club.

Julian Larabee Pinkerton, A. B. '14, joined the Army after graduation and served in France until 1918 when he was mustered out as captain of Infantry. He was appointed to a clerkship in the American Consulate at Bordeaux and later became United States Consul with subsequent posts in Portuguese West Africa, Portugal, British South Africa, Norway and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Captain Pinkerton is now on furlough visiting relatives in Versailles, Ky., his native city. He will resume his duties as U. S. Consul to Haiti soon.

Captain Pinkerton was a member of the committee representing Versailles, Ky., in the ceremonies Nov. 30 on the reception of the urn containing earth from the grave of an unknown soldier who died in France. The urn was a gift from the municipality of Versailles, France, to the city of Versailles, Ky.

Now that we're getting into the second week of December, the collegiate basketball whirl is just beginning to gather momentum.

Kentucky's Wildcats have brushed aside their first obstacle with comparative ease but are now working harder than ever so as to be ready for the invasion of the powerful Pittsburgh team which will be entertained here on December 23.

So far, Coach Rupp has not succeeded in booking another engagement for the 'Cats before the Pitt skirmish. He is still trying to schedule a team which will give his club one more good workout before the Panthers come to town.

Make no mistake about it, this Pittsburgh ball club will furnish the 'Cats with a delightful evening of entertainment when they get together over at Alumni gym. They'll be plenty tough when they reach Lexington as they will have several games already behind them.

Pitt will play L. S. U. as one of the feature attractions at the Mid-winter Sport Carnival at New Orleans, of which they will be in football game is the highlight.

While we are on the subject of baseball we might pass on to you a few notes we have gathered recently.

The big-time basketball season at Madison Square Garden gets underway on December 16, when New York University clashes with the University of California.

The West Coast team suggested to Ned Irish, Garden's basketball promoter, that the center jump be eliminated entirely for this game or at least used only for one-half the game.

However, when Irish approached Howard Cann, N. Y. U. coach, with the proposition, Cann refused outright.

Another item about Madison Square Garden, where Kentucky meets N. Y. U. January 8, concerns the new floor. Last year was the first time that collegiate basketball the students are entitled to see what's going on, and what's the bouts are really worth seeing.

BAND TO INAUGURATION
The University band will participate in the inauguration ceremonies in Frankfort, Tuesday, December 10, when Governor-elect A. B. 'Happy' Chandler becomes governor of Kentucky.

Sport Sketches

"Howdy, howdy, folks, this is Sam Potter...that old mountain Wildcat from Whitesburg...I'm 21 year old, 6 feet tall and weigh 160 lbs. at 185...senior in the Education college learning to be a football coach...how did I lose my front teeth?...swallowed some in a football game once...and woke one morning to find a couple more gone...must have been fighting in my sleep...yes, it is true that I played in the basketball at high school, and was the nation's leading scorer in 1931 with 234 points to break into Ripley's "Believe It or Not"..."

Sam is a natural football player...being fast and aggressive enabled him to pull off of his guard Suroddo up upon a set of unopposed backs for Bert and Bob...he is the sort of guard that makes a sure Notre Dame system which Wyzam learned under the immortal Rockne..."

Stanley Nevres, 205-pound tackle of the Wildcat football team, comes from New Britain, Conn...he is 21 years old, six feet, two inches tall...a junior in the College of Education, majoring in Biological sciences with a 2.0 standing..."

"Stan" is the best tackle we have had in many years...the power-house of our line. Recently the football squad voted him the most valuable man to the team...a sure tackler, a demon on the defense...made the All-Southeastern and also the All-South teams this year..."

"Besides his work on the gridiron, 'Stan' is a member of the track team...throws the discus and shot...has no weakness for any certain food so long as there is enough of it...dislikes hunting but enjoys deep sea fishing..."

Kernell, "Wanted—Babies to be kissed. Must be 18 years or older. See Stanley Nevres...the 'Yankee' is greatly interested in winter sports, especially ice hockey and skating...sorry 'Stan' but our ice down here is not thick enough for you...wish it were, so we could see you go through some of your fancy maneuvers...Stan is so tough that even broken bones do not bother him..."

"He suffered a foot injury in the Tennessee game but paid little attention to it at the time...after the game...it was found that the metatarsal bone was broken all the time he was sneering Volunteer backs..."

Harpists Feature Sunday Musicale
