PROF. PORTMANN MADE DIRECTOR AT PRESS MEET

Journalism Professor Succeeds Prof. W. B. Jones, Georgetown College

PRIZES AWARDED FOR BEST SCHOOL PAPERS

First Place Given to "The Gavel" for All-round Superiority

Prof. Victor R. Portmann, journalism department of the University, was elected director of the Kentucky High School Press association which ended its forty-first year at the University, Saturday.

Professor Portmann will succeed Prof. W. B. Jones, head of the Department of English at Georgetown college. Delegates to the convention from Kentucky high schools also voted to change the official meeting place of the association to the University, as it has done in the past.

The convention followed the routine of addresses by Dr. Sherman G. Crayton, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Thomas R. Underwood, Joe Jordan, Prof. Enoch Green, Niel Plummer, Prof. Victor R. Portmann, and Joe Todd. At the close of the meeting the following were elected: George Watson, of Paducah, president; Miss Helen Klare, Dayton, vice-president; Miss Hamilton Howard, Louisville, secretary.

In the prize winning division, "The Gavel," of the Notre Dame High school of Covington, "The Log," of Danville High school, and "The Bell," of the Highmant High school of Paducah, were outstanding. "The Gavel" won first prize as the best all-round magazine, second prize for having the best headlines and second prize for the best editorial. "The Log" won first prize for the best news story, third prize as best all-round magazine and second prize for the best editorial.

The "U-Hi-Lights" of the University High school of Lexington won second prize for best headlines and second prize for best news story. Mention was given to the following school publications: for advertising, "The Bell" of the Highmant High school of Paducah; second prize to "Good Will" of St. Vincent's academy; and third prize to "The Lone Oak Enterprise" of Paducah High school. "The Lantern" of the Shawnee High school was adjudged to have the best editorial.

For feature writing, first, second, and third prizes were awarded to "The Daydream" of the University High school; "Hi-Spy," Mr. Sterling High school; and "The Lantern," Shawnee High school. "The Speculator" of Louisville Male High school was selected as the best literary magazine. "The Speculator" of Louisville Male High school annual was adjudged best in the state, and "Hi-Joe" of the Ashland High school was awarded first prize for the best designed annual.

Esper Soloist Is Featured in Sunday Recital

Earl Weatherford, New York, Heard in Vocal Numbers in Memorial Hall

By HARRISON ELLIOTT
Earl Weatherford, New York tenor, was heard in a recital by a large audience in Memorial hall, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Weatherford, now a resident of New York city, was born in Covington, and acquired his early training in Covington and Cincinnati. John Stibel, by Richardson, Lexington artist, accompanied Mr. Weatherford at the piano.

For his recital Mr. Weatherford chose an extraordinarily well-balanced program. The songs ranged in type from the lyric to the highly dramatic, from extreme pianissimo to dynamic fortissimo. Mr. Weatherford gave a fine pitch-accuracy in all keys and in all registers. His Weatherford's song interpretations are noteworthy and his stage personality commendable.

The recital divided his program into four groups. In the first group, the soloist presented "Sixth No. More," by Alken; "Go Lovely Rose," by Quiller; "Aria—La Fleur one to M'Avails Jete," by Bist. In the second group, "La Rose," by M. de la Dream; "Fleur Jete," by Faure; "Die Mainacht," by Brahms; and "The Sound of the Sea," by Brahms were featured. The third group included: "In the Silent Night," by Rachmaninoff; "Yarmouth Fair," by Warlock; "The Pipes of Gordon's Men," by Hammond; and "The Song of the Sea," by Rossini. The fourth group was composed of: "That Day We Met," by Braine; "The Bell," by Gaultier; "Memory," by Gaultier; and "Song of Songs," by Moya.

Tennis Squad Reviews Plans For '34 Season

U. of K. Netmen Hold First of Series of Get-Together Meetings

The first of a series of get-together meetings for the University tennis squad was held at 7 p. m. Friday in the dining room of the Heskell apartments. Prof. H. H. Downing, coach of the tennis team, officiated.

After dinner Professor Downing gave a short talk during which he introduced the new tennis captain, George Yost, Captain Yost has played two years on the varsity and is a former manager of the team. He is a senior in the Law school and is pledged to Phi Delta Phi, professional law honorary. He also is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity.

Coch Downing stressed the importance of good sportsmanship and good physical condition. Central training rules were put in effect and any member of the squad who drops immediately from the team.

George Yost gave a short talk in which he mentioned his appreciation for the captaincy and expressed the hope that the team would be a group of fighters not afraid to take the odds that will have to be met.

Cwens May Ease Many Worries of Holiday Buyers

Japanese Bazaar Will Be Held by Women's Honorary to Sell Trinkets

By VIRGINIA ROBINSON
There ain't no justice!

Just about the time that the poor Christmas shoppers are getting himself to the point where he could relax in peace, Cwens came forth with another war.

No doubt, took a lot of concentrated effort before the shoulder-havened Scotchman finally convinced himself that, after all, maybe he didn't know her well enough to give her a Christmas present this year—or maybe she's the understanding type who'd rather have him give his money than spend it on her.

But what was the use? Being the fifteen most active-minded sophomore girls, members of Cwens might have been expected to dig up some unique idea like having a Japanese bazaar last before Christmas.

So boys, in case you don't take well to gentle hints and soulful pleadings when you're dealing with women for the next two weeks—change your attitude toward life and live a Christmas. You may have a chance when you're surrounded by all those expensive things that will be in the Recreation building on Boyl hall tomorrow and Thursday.

Honor Fraternity To Hold Meeting O.D.K. Will Conduct Regular Fall Initiation on December 19

The regular monthly dinner meeting of Omicron Delta Kappa will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday, December 14, at the Teacup inn. Plans for the furtherance of the Student Union building will be discussed in detail.

The regular fall O. D. K. initiation ceremony was presented at noon, December 19, in Memorial hall. Seven pledges will be initiated into the fraternity. An initiation banquet will follow at the Lafayette hotel.

Kentucky Legislators Will Convene for Discussions

Pro-Session Conference Will Begin Today in McVey Hall

The pro-session conference of Kentucky legislators, held under the auspices of the American Legislators' association, will hold the first meeting of a two-day session today at 10 a. m. in room 111, McVey hall. Registration of delegates will be held in that room at 9:30.

This conference is being held in cooperation with the University for the purpose of holding a preliminary discussion on some of the important questions which will engage the attention of the legislature during the coming session.

The Legislators' association believes that a discussion of basic governmental conditions by members of the legislature prior to the regular session in January will result in a more effective solution of the problems which confront the State and will tend to reduce the number of fast and ill-considered legislative enactments which result from the lack of legislative planning.

Conferees similar to this one were held in West Virginia, South Carolina, and Tennessee during 1932.

Senator E. D. Stephenson will preside at the morning session, and speeches will be made by Leonard D. Owen, director of the State Bureau of Social Hygiene; James W. Cramack, secretary, Kentucky Educational Commission; James W. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction; and Prof. James W. Martin, director of the Bureau of Business Research of the University.

Park Institute Will Meet Here

Many Noted Kentucky Men Scheduled to Speak at Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow in McVey Hall

The opening session of the State Parks and Conservation institute will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in McVey hall, with Dr. Frank L. McVey presiding. This meeting is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Samuel W. Hill, director of the state parks; William E. Jackson, state forester; and Curtis Allen, superintendent of the State Game and Fish commission.

The reception committee, appointed to conduct the visitation, will meet at the banquet Wednesday night, includes Mayor W. T. Connelley, City Manager Ed. Harlow, Mayor W. H. Hillman, Circuit Judge King Snow, County Judge Chester D. Adams, Stated Mayor, Mrs. J. Arthur Edge, Mrs. Samuel B. Walton, Dr. Henry H. Hill, Dr. Jesse G. Herrington, Mayor, Mrs. J. Arthur Henry, K. Milward, Ed. Wilder, Col. John M. Skain, Desha Breckinridge, Mayor, Col. James H. Combs, Mayor, H. Courtney, L. B. Shouse, John G. Cramer, Carl B. Whose, Walter G. Jones, Wallace, Charles Manning, and Mrs. Cecil E. Cantrill, all of Lexington.

Invocation will be given by Rt. Rev. James Almond Abbott, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Lexington, and will be followed by a welcome address by Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education.

Other morning features will be a discussion of "Our Park Program" by Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell; a talk on "What State Parks Can Do for You" by Col. James H. Combs; Lieber, Indianapolis, followed by a round table discussion under the leadership of Robert W. Hoffman, Washington, D. C. of the national park conservation service, and Mrs. Robert Vaughn, Bartonsville, of the National Home Commission, concluding with an address on "The Scientific and Educational Value of State Parks," by Dr. W. D. Fankhauser, professor of zoology and dean of the Graduate school.

Riding Contest Winners Named

Helen Hogz Wins First Place in All Three Events at W. A. A. Co-ed "Up-and-Down Derby"

The Co-ed Winter Horse Show, or "Up and Down Derby," sponsored by the W. A. Commerse Sophomore Candidates who opposed her were Betty Davis, Delta Delta; Dorothy Curtis, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Elizabeth Leslie, Kappa Delta; Marie Verne, Phi Omega Epsilon; and Dunn, Alpha Xi Delta; Elizabeth Hardin, Delta Zeta; Marjorie Powell, Alpha Delta Theta; Freda A. Poirer, Phi Psi; and P. Tressler, independent.

These candidates were selected from different organizations by the "sophomore committee" composed of Roy Hahn, chairman, Bill Duncan, Bill Ross, Fred Moore, and Bob McDowell, and were voted on by the band Thursday afternoon. The winner was announced at the "Horn Tooters Hop" which was held Friday night in the gymnasium.

Walter O'Brien, sophomore, was selected as the band sponsor. He was cleared, lights turned out, and the candidates, one by one, were pronounced. The floor, under the gleam of the spotlights, but the winner was not announced until 11:30 o'clock. At that time the floor was again cleared, and Miss Sewell was proclaimed the winner of the election. The two drum majors, Bob McDowell and Alfred Eckles, faced each other in the center of the floor with their batons crossed, and Miss Sewell held her position between them. She was then presented with a bouquet of flowers by the present band leader, Margaret Walker. Miss Sewell will serve as sponsor of the university band from February 1934 to February 1935.

It also was announced at the dance Friday night that Marjorie Powell, Delta Delta Epsilon, of the College of Arts and Sciences, was the winner of the semi-annual "Dear Heart" contest. "Dear Heart" was selected by Harrison Elliott, University song writer, as the best for his song.

The song, which was featured by the Blue and White orchestra, and was dedicated to Miss Powell. She is a member of the Delta Delta Epsilon social sorority and Phi Beta, honorary music and dramatic fraternity.

CATS THROUCE TIGERS TO WIN BY 41-12 MARGIN

Kittens Defeat Bengal Cubs by Decisive Score of 47 to 21

GEORGETOWN STRONG IN FIRST STANZA

Wildcats Slow on Offense in First Half, but Hit Stride in Second

Coach Adolph Rupp's champion Wildcat basketball team, decisively throuced the Georgetown Tigers by the score of 41 to 12 for their second triumph of the season last Saturday night in the Alumni gymnasium. A preliminary game of the Kentucky Freshmen won easily over the Georgetown Cubs by the score of 47 to 21.

Coach Carey Spicer's Georgetown five, displaying the best brand of ball any Georgetown team has shown against Kentucky in recent years were able to hold the Wildcat hoopers to a 16-6 margin at the end of the first half.

Although the Tigers were playing their first game of the season against the Wildcats, they functioned like veterans and were able to control the ball much more than the Wildcats during the first half, but a good defense of the Kentucky club kept them from getting in close to the basket for many of the last ten minutes of the game.

Apparently confident that they weren't satisfied to blast away at the hoop from out on the court. During the first ten minutes of the initial period the Tigers were able to keep up with the stride of the Wildcats, and it was only during the last five minutes of the first half that the Cats were able to pull away to a safe margin.

Apparently confident that they weren't satisfied to blast away at the hoop from out on the court. During the first ten minutes of the initial period the Tigers were able to keep up with the stride of the Wildcats, and it was only during the last five minutes of the first half that the Cats were able to pull away to a safe margin.

Kentucky's reserve strength, displayed in a great brand of basketball, were able to continue the scoring and the game ended 41-12. Despite the 41-12 margin of victory, the Cats looked none too good in their second performance and they will have to show a great deal of improvement to maintain their position as the titlholders of the Southeastern conference.

"Frenchy" DeMosey again topped the scorers with 12 points collected by five field goals and two free throws. "Slip" Jerome and Dave Lawrence tied for second honors with seven points apiece.

Coach Len Miller's Kitten quintet made a spectacular and somewhat inspiring comeback, after being defeated by the Wildcats. The team last Tuesday night, to beat the Georgetown Bengal Cubs by the score of 47 to 21.

The Kittens started off in a flashy manner when Carlisle, the great Kavanagh ace, dribbled the length of the floor to make a crisp shot.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATOR'S CONFERENCE

A group of persons known as the Kentucky Legislators' association will meet at the University today and tomorrow. The purpose of the assembly is to meet beforehand, problems that are to come before the General Assembly of Kentucky in January, and to reach tentative understandings concerning such issues.

Pres. Frank L. McVey is cooperating with the legislators in making possible the conference at the University. The Association believes that, by convening here, lobbying and political trickery will be eliminated for the purpose of the conference, and its approval has been voiced in letters, publications, and other means of communication.

Among the problems to be discussed at the meeting will be adjustment of the real estate tax burden; readjustment of budgets to carry out the program of higher education in the state; the providing of funds with which to promote adequately the common school program; discussion of recommendations of the education committee affecting the budget; and to reach some conclusions concerning the welfare of Kentucky.

An attempt will be made at the legislators' conference to relegate politics to the background and to reach some conclusions concerning the welfare of Kentucky.

We believe that a discussion of basic governmental conditions in a pre-session assembly will be conducive to better legislation.

COOPERATION

Despite the depression, salary cuts, and all the hardships that go with them, the faculty of the University has contributed almost as much this year to the Y. M. C. A. and W. C. A. as it did last year. The majority of the staff have been the best friends of the organizations, and have aided them in many other ways aside from actual contributions. They are to be highly commended for their interest in these organizations and for realizing what a great uplifting influence they have on the campus.

However, although the students are not called upon for large sums of money to aid these groups, it is only fair to realize that they add their share to the work which is done. Many of the students put their hearts and souls into just such work as is done by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. They wish them well just as heartily as anyone on the campus and they are just as willing to devote their time and energy to making a success of the work undertaken.

Let us all, faculty and students alike, unite in a common effort to further the worthwhile work being done. This is truly a service to the University, and everyone who takes part is adding his bit to help the school, just as surely as the football and basketball men are doing their part to help their University.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL PERSONNEL

This editorial, the third in the series dealing with the set-up of the University of Kentucky Athletic Association, has to do with the immediate personnel of the Athletic Council.

The council is composed of ten men, including the chairman. The group, as it stands at this writing, is composed of Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman; Prof. M. E. Ligon, Prof. E. A. Bureau, Prof. Enoch Grehan, William Rodes, Wallace Muir, Louis Hillemeier, James R. Miller, and Walter Steiler. No successor has been appointed by the president to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Major Boltes E. Brewer, the tenth member of the body.

It is a rule of the Southeastern conference that the majority of the members of the athletic committees in institutions in the conference also be members of the faculty of their institutions. This is to prevent any affairs of the athletic associations falling into the hands of outside interests. Five members of the University council are faculty members with two student representatives also appointed by the president. The members are Doctor Funkhouser, Professors Grehan, Bureau, Ligon, and the staff member yet to be named by the president. The student members are Walter Steiler, who is a senior student in the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Engineering, respectively.

The remaining members of the council, Louis Hillemeier, Wallace Muir, and the staff member, are graduates of the University. Rodes and Muir were prominent in athletics during their student days. Rodes being considered one of the best backfield men ever developed in the University's football history.

Each of these men we confidently believe, has the best interests of the University and the student body at heart and has done everything in his power to give the students, the alumni and the general public, competitive intercollegiate athletics that reflect the greatest credit upon the University, famous everywhere for the character of its students and its traditions. The Kernel is confident that it cannot be truthfully said that any member of this group has ever violated the trust reposed in him by the student body and the University.

Let us endeavor to be just in our criticism of groups of our representatives who, from the facts presented in this series of editorials, are performing a difficult task with ability and steadfastness of purpose. Let us try not to put faith in hear-say and rumors until they have been proved beyond a reasonable doubt. If one follows these simple suggestions, one will be happy and satisfied in one's mind that students have not believed spread rumors injuring the character and integrity of our own counselors is The Kernel's suggestion. If in doubt, follow the golden rule: it has never been known to fail.

THE KINDERGARTEN AGE

Upon becoming a student at a college or university one is supposed to have passed the kindergarten age. However, it is evident that there are persons on our campus who have not yet given up their childish, playful ways. One instance of such evidence occurred yesterday morning in and around White Hall.

University students, not having reached the age when they could act as gentlemen, persisted in indulging in the sport of the seven-year-old child—shooting fireworks.

In itself the practice is simple and baby-like, but it is another question when it becomes an infringement on the rights of others.

Avoiding the actual danger of shooting fireworks around buildings there is the disturbance to classes and to those who are inclined to study. One must realize that the University is for all and not for any certain person or group of persons. So, if you do not respect yourself enough to put your toys while attending a university, remember the rights of those who are here to work.

PETITE PIECE

By LORRAINE LEPERE

"This terrible sameness!" the girl in the red hat said.
 I sat behind two co-eds in a restaurant. It seems to be quite the thing among girls to sit as boys, to get together and discuss their respective gripes. I prepared to bear the same story; there was a surprise waiting for me.

"Today is like yesterday, tomorrow will be like today. Nothing happens; nothing changes the dull routine of school, school, school!" the red-hatted girl chattered.
 "What's his name?" the other girl queried with an affectionate tug at her companion's arm.
 "It's not that at all. It's just as I told you. The same faces on the campus. The same hellos and nods, the same idle conversation, meaningless and common place. I neither loathe school nor adore it, but either fall into that worse indifferent state. Why don't we shut the place up on strike, do something anything? Why don't you say something. Alice? Why let me carry on like this?"

"No, I don't consider her water glass seriously. 'It is written,' she said slowly, 'that the best cure for dissatisfaction is to get on with it.'"
 "But actively, Alice? What does that mean? What sort of activity? If you mean going about in the fashion for entertainment, why then, this is what I am more tired of than any one thing."

"I see you mean those solitary things. You know good and well I can't stand being by myself. I need people around me. There's not enough in my own personality to either interest or amuse me. I get my inspiration from people. When I see things they do, I know what to do myself. I'd go mad if I had to spend an evening alone."
 "You're just crazy," Alice said mildly.
 "I mean that you and I and all the other people are never completely yours. They're only secondary anyway. I mean that they help you, they're sometimes a lot of help, but they never absolutely own them. The things about you that you've discovered for yourself, even though others may have made that same discovery, are the things that you and you pull you through the tight spots."
 "And how do you go about spending time by yourself?"
 "There you go again. How do I do it? Do it yourself. Take one thing that you do instinctively that you have tact. Tactfulness, then, is something you don't need to find out about you. It's something that's yours. Then say things that you like to read. And you do. Well, from your reading, you know things that you've done that other people have done too. And there's the difference. It's in that as you're discussing last Friday's dance with somebody. Remember, the person you can have an enjoyable time all by himself is the one who gets along."

Scandal Snickerings

By CAMERON COFFMAN

"The Rose Girl of the Week"
 To Alphonse plebe, Lillian Wilkey, we toss a rose. Her congenial personality and general frankness have made her a popular figure on the campus.

"Better Check Your Records Doc"
 Before we start the general jabber for the next few paragraphs we would like to put our contemptuous "Doc," straight on several things that she mentioned in her Friday's column.

"The first is Florence's column. We have Triangle Thornton Lewis' pin. (That is his firm statement). If she does have it, by chance, and we are wrong, then she had better dash over to the Alphonse house some of these Sunday afternoons and knock up on "The Lewises." The second matter is, we wonder where she got the idea for the May Day, which was in front of the Alphonse house on "The Kreskiving day, was in the basement of the Alphonse house. -- -- -- in the Alphonse basement. -- -- -- Doc? We would dash out to the Dell house some time and get out the "wells" in the wall just above the bed of Julius Jago.

Another letter was received from some anonymous person. "The contents of which was several suggestions for investigation. The more interesting ones were concerning Elsieph plebe, Tom Nichols." It seems that the popular and active young fellow does not give any of the co-eds a tumble regarding the number of pitter-patters that take place when he makes an appearance. An investigation showed that he has three "would-be" wives in the Three Dell beds.

We have been asked a number of questions recently. "Curious question, are there any women who 'Celairne doesn't play fair'?" Others are wondering about the much talked of playhouse of Duke, Doc, and Hardin. "Someone wants to know if Chio Java Crane is mascot of the football team."

"Why the Interest in the Dispensary"
 We have just learned of a little incident concerning Triangle Sidney Ford's "Doc" Musselman. It seems that "Doc" was wearing the "Doc" the yawning caused his jaws to become dislocated. There at "Doc" with his mouth forced open he was unable to speak. In fact he couldn't do much of anything. He quickly sought the aid of one of his classmates, who quickly rushed Musselman off to the dispensary to have his jaws reset there.

"Why Not Dredge the Kentucky River, Don?"
 Sigmack von Motzk has ordered a new pin. You see Don lost his original badge. He lost possession of the pin which he wears, but we have reasons to believe the pin might be in the river by now.

"It was called to our attention that Alphonse Mary King Koger is wearing the 'Dell' Puddel, Buck Woodford."

We wonder why some persons call Lambdaky Harry Scott by the name of "CP?"

Another budding romance which has recently been noticed is Alphonse Guy Ochs and Sigalph James Hunt.

Professor Lawrence recently informed Kadee Elizabeth Jones that he wished the water glass to be energy to speak rather than grunt when he called the roll. "Maybe the professor and the water glass are the lingo of these southern ladies."

The rumour that Kappa plebe, Nare, Phelias, and Sigmack, are the best of Kay Pelham Johnson. "What about this Greta?"

The sun room at the Kappa lodge has been leased for a period of 99 years by Kay Ditch Without and his courtier, Kitty Reynolds.

It said that DU plebe, Miles Hardin, and Alphonse plebette, Katy Grove, have come to a parting of the ways.

Random Shots: Tridell Jean Nagel has found a new game that she likes to play. It is "Simon Says." Kappa "Kappa" says that she is in school "to study only." Chio Ann Stevenson, niece of Kay Bob Snyder, and Sigmack Erwin Fater, pinner of Zeta "Babe" Martin, recently toured off to the night club wearing the "Dell" Puddel. (Watch her, Hargis). There will be a meeting of the Worm Club, 4 o'clock the afternoon of the next lodge. "One of our friends just received a postcard from a candidate for the convention of the W.C.T.U., who reported that 'the water glass' was fine." Tridell Betsy Frye has suddenly taken a dislike for soup.

Chio Lucy "Pat" Lacy, niece of Herron and Tridell Ruth Hodges. Sigmack Howard Smathers has been named as the speaker for the next Sigma Chambers, who attends prize fights and says she likes them, is sure as us for the production of the Kernel the desired publicity. Apologies to you, Scotty.

Study Nature --- Not Books

Distractions of Nature --- and of Natural Blondes --- Inhibit Students' Concentration

By WILLIAM H. NICHOLLS
 Study nature—not books!
 The advice of Louis John Rudolph Agassiz, the Swiss naturalist, was a very good one. It is followed by so many a zoology ruler, at the University Library. They study, not books, but nature, in the form of the blue sky over the campus, the green slope sweeping down to the many-arched stadium, the tree-bedded lawn of Maxwell place. These, of course, as they gaze out of the windows. But more often, nature, in the form of—blondes, brunettes, red-heads.

They sit in feigned concentration. "Napoleon's Last Stand" or "The Relation of the 1928 Corn Crop to Deaths by Accident," while their eyes scan the "horizon" for cuter co-eds. To quote a certain U. K. Miss, "They look one way, but I know they're thinking another."

The co-eds, however, are not immune to distraction. At least some of them come for reasons that "the library is the best place to get boys!" So follows, be on your guard for the young women who frequent the bookhouse!

But here comes an avowed woman hater. What of him? He sits down, reads, and reads. "The Effect on Nigeria." But to what avail? "What appeal can such a book have to him, who is a student of whippers from across-table, such as, 'And I see to him, Lissen here, big boy.' " "I fancy you're not about you?" "Let's rush her! She's got the key-you-test-boy-friend!" "Who ya gonna vote for for May Queen?"

Suddenly she slams his book shut, hurls it in his brief-case, and attempts to leave. He realizes his

AUTUMNAL NIGHT
 'Twas a night, and the whispering blackness around Held us clutched in its thickening
 There were stars, deftly specked in that field overhead,
 And a fire by our side as we lay.

In those coils, which were crawling And creeping with life,
 They lay wind to the sky;
 And we saw the orange flame slowly
 Wind to the sky;
 And we knew what our friendships
 Had meant.

For the flame, like the cuddling darkness above,
 Will disperse with the peeping of day.
 And the friends, though they sing
 May not e'er meet again, just this way.

 And the friends, though they sing
 May not e'er meet again, just this way.

"JAZZ"
 (A study in syllabic synecdoche.)
 When off into the dance we reel,
 And I forget my rhythm, I reel
 Into our blood, never to congeal,
 What do we feel?

..... STARR
 I had groped for you
 But you were too shallow
 A vessel to hold it
 And as I filled you
 Messer soul
 And I loved on—
 As it splashed or fell
 On others—
 You called me faithless.

Whenever Joan Crawford, Fanchoe tone, and Clark Gable are co-starred, a new high in entertainment is reached. In "Dancing Lady," which is currently showing at the Kentucky, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has provided an exceptionally good vehicle for its principal stars. They had Robert Leonard, the director of "Smiling Lady," as director; Miss Crawford was given a role which gives her every opportunity for singing, dancing, and emotional acting; Clark Gable was unusually well cast; a chorus of one hundred dancers was assembled; and Lee and Prinz were hired as the musical directors. In addition the supporting cast includes May Robson, Winnie Lightner, Fred Astaire, Robert Benchley, Ted Healy, Gloria Fay, Art Jarrett, Grant Mitchell, Maynard Holmes, Nelson Eddy, and Sterling Holloway.

The story concerns the rise of Miss Crawford from a cheap burlesque singer to a star with her name in lights on Broadway. In the filming of the picture, which shows her debut into musical comedy, absolute fidelity to reality was aimed at. The picture is supposed to show her production of a regular musical comedy meticulously.

Songs heard in the production include "Let's Go Bavarian," "Heigh Ho," "Everything I Have Is Yours," "That's the Rhythm of the Day," and "Dancing Lady."

In the film the fight sequences Max Baer and Primo Carnera for "The Prizefighter and the Lady," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film now playing at the Ben All, the sound technicians were confronted with an unusual problem. Carnera was so much taller than the ordinary man that it was impossible to pick up all the sound in the ring with the usual large microphone. At last the difficulty was solved by secreting four additional microphones about the ring.

A bang-up prize fight is presented in the picture; and, all in all, it is corking good entertainment. Several famous individuals of the ring of yesterday and today are shown along with some actors who have no trouble at all in making the fiction of the film interesting.

Lillian Harvey, who has been the star of a number of Continental photoplays and of the American feature film, "My Weakness," is now playing at the Strand in "My Lips Betray." In this picture she has

SHOP SIGHTS

Night gowns are of lace-trimmed pastel satin. Some of the hems are edged with lace but the smartest return. A gray lined leather suitcase has a removable color fitted tray. This tray has a two-inch extension, and makes a week-end bag. Since it is removable it is easily carried to the dressing room. A leather-lined Gladstone has a shirt pocket on one side and a zipper pocket for ties and hose on the other. In fact, there seems to be luggage for each person's individual need.

Your married sister would like a Martex set from Mitchell, Baker, & Smith. A beige set of wash cloth and bath towel with a checked stripe is new. Peach and brown are combined to make a set of two cloths and towel with a border of vertical stripes. Or give her some hand-made beverage towels of natural or white linen. They have appropriate prints of cowboys, sailors, and plain men. One was a bar-keeper with the bar, mugs, apron, and border of appliqued plaid.

John Boles as her leading man; and in support of these two the cast contains Ed Brendel, Irene Brown, Henry Stephenson, and Herman King.

The story is laid in a mythical kingdom, and the two principal characters are a cabaret entertainer and a romantic king. Miss Harvey, as Lili, is the cabaret entertainer. She loses her job, and then through a mistake of Ed Brendel, the royal chauffeur, a rumor is started that she is the king's favorite.

HERE TODAY GONE TOMORROW!

And you can't borrow one unless you're lucky!

THOUSANDS of men are still trying to borrow a copy of the last issue of ESQUIRE—the magazine for men only. Those who were fortunate enough to buy one, did so the morning it came out. By noon most of the men's stores and newsstands were frantically re-ordering and, though we printed over forty thousand additional copies, that wasn't enough. Anyway, the second issue of the first and only general magazine for men is out today. And if you were one of those who got left at the post in the scramble for copies of the first issue (or even if you weren't) this is to offer fair warning that the first issue of ESQUIRE gave only a sort of budding notion of what this second issue is like. Ernest Hemingway, John Dos Passos, Gilbert Seldes, Morley Callaghan, Montague Glass, George Ade, Robert Buckner, Bobby Jones—all back! But, in addition, (slow down, big names ahead) we've included Emil Ludwig, Paul Morand, Louis Golding, Westbrook Pegler, Irvin S. Cobb, Dwight Fiske, Alexandre Millerand, André Maurois, Owen Johnson, Thomas Burke, Jack Dempsey, Louis Joseph Vance, and—well, this could go on forever—or at least for 160 large and lively pages of the most varied entertainment a man ever picked up between two covers—and couldn't lay down. There is actually the wordage—total of two popular novels in this issue. There are over forty pages in color. There are full page cartoons galore. There are full-color pages of men's clothes that are men's clothes—not "fashions." (We mean, you can wear them.) As for the ladies, we have just one word of comfort. ESQUIRE makes a swell Christmas gift for any man. With this issue it becomes a monthly—50 cents a copy, 5 dollars for a year's subscription. Coach Adolph Rupp, the genial Wildcat basketball mentor, again has a right nifty quintet. In the opener against the Alumni last Tuesday night the Big Blue played superlative ball throughout and in the first half did not make a bad pass. The coach said after the game that he was highly pleased with his boys and expects to have another good team this season.

Coach Rupp wishes to thank the fans and students for their abstinence from smoking at the games and asks that they continue to refrain from smoking during games as it is a great help to the teams who are playing. Athletic officials also greatly appreciated the appearance of so many alumni players for the game.

Here's a big blow to the nudist movement!

We're no fools—we can see the advantages of a good nudist colony. But we can also see how Arrow's new Aratals may be a big blow to the bare-to-the-breezes folk. For it's the best looking tab-collar shirt ever made—the kind of shirt a young man likes to see himself in. Sanitized Shrunk.
